LIGHTNING CONDUCTORS FOR SHIPS.

The destruction by lightning, of the ship Golden Light, has waked up an interest in the subject of lightning conductors for ships. One writer in the Boston Journal says:

"It is very singular that the numerous losses which have occurred to ships from lightning, should not have called the attention of underwriters to the subject, and induced them to make it imperative on all ship owners to fit their ships with Snow Harris's conductors. All vessels belonging to the British navy have been so completely protected since their adoption, some years since, that not a single instance has been known wherein lightning has been destructive. The value of the invention has been so appreciated by the British government, that the inventor received the order of knighthood."

It is said that no damage by lightning has ever happened to the vessels of our navy, which were furnished with metallic conductors.

The Portland Advertiser states that the East India Company's ships, as well as those of the British navy, are furnished with Sir W. Snow Harris's conductors. The merits of these conductors may be thus summed up: Their cost is trifling; they are never out of place; and are a perfect protection from the disastrous consequences of the electric fluid. We quote from Sir W. S. Harris's letter to R. B. Forbes, Esq., dated April 7, 1848, the following description of them:

"I quite agree with you, as to the common chains or other conductors of a temporary form, applied as rigging. They are neither safe nor efficient, as I have shown fully in my pamphlet. My conductors are based upon more general principles than are usually entertained in the consideration of lightning conductors generally. My object is to bring the whole mass of the ship, from truck to keel, into that perfectly conducting or passive state it would assume as regards lightning, supposing the whole were metallic throughout. To effect this, a line of copper sheet, in two layers, is incorporated with the masts, from truck to shoe, forming a series of short joints, and so applied as to withstand any strain to which the spars may be subjected. Then we have bands of copper applied in a similar way under the beams leading to the iron knees or metallic fastenings, passing through the side of the ship, and also fore and aft bands from the foremast to the stern, and from the mizzen mast to the stern post, whilst the conductors at the steps of the masts unite with metallic bolts passing through kelson and keel to the water, and thus the conductors at the mast head become tied as one great connecting link with all the metallic masses in the hull, and with the sea; and it is proved by 18 years experience in the British Navy, that directly as lightning strikes aloft upon the conductor, all the dangerous and explosive action vanishes."

With regard to the expense of conductors, I have only to observe that it is reducible to the labor of fitting, and interest on the outlay; the material supplied is so much bona fide property, always convertible into money at the market price of copper. The conductors have saved to this country from £3,000 to £10,000 annually in this material alone, besides the safety of its fleets. We have saved within 20 months full eight ships from whole or partial destruction, as you will see by my pamphlet, and we have since its publication accounts of others.

Some ships built here have been furnished wholly or in part, with these conductors. The subject is worthy of attention.

CALIFORNIA.

Our files of California papers to March 1, are received from our attentive correspondents.

On Washington's Birth Day, the Sansome Hook and Ladder Company of San Francisco, presented $1000 to the Washington Monument Association, to aid in the completion of their great work. The receipt of the money is duly acknowledged in the Placer Times, by N. A. Haven Ball, Esq., Sub-Agent of the Association, residing at San Francisco.

The following account of an encounter with a grizzly bear, is furnished by a Shasta correspondent of the Sacramento Union.

On Sunday last, a man by the name of Isaacs, who had been, for a year past, a cook on Daingerfield's ranch, went hunting on the east side of the Sacramento river. The next day, (Monday) his body was found by two hunters, nearly opposite the mouth of the bottom wood, most horribly mangled—the head half gone, bowels torn out, and the whole person awfully disfigured. The next day, Tuesday, the two hunters, with two other men, returned with a wagon for the body, when they found a large bear watching it.—Mr. Webb shot the bear, when it attacked, surrounded, and got him down. Mr. Ross then ran to the rescue, when his rifle accidentally discharged, and the bear left W., and attacked Ross, knocked him down, and tore and mangled him very badly, before he could be rescued. Ross was severely, though not dangerous y wounded; Webb's injuries were not so severe. The body was then left in possession of the bear, the party with difficulty succeeding in getting the two wounded men away. The next day, a large party of men went to the rescue of the body, when it was found deserted by Bruin.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 1853.

APPOINTMENTS AND DISAPPOINTMENTS.

The division of the spoils in New York city is becoming quite interesting. The New York Herald says, "the great question is definitely settled as to who is to be Collector of this port. The agony of suspense is over—but the excitement appears to have just begun. Marcy stock is below par, and the hards are going up. The President has been too strong for the Premier. General Pierce is President."

This is true. Governor Marcy was and is, we suppose, a member of the Albany Regency, which in days past was sufficiently potent to rule New York state, for many years, to control the general government for a few, and to break down and destroy the United States Bank. But there are other powers now! The Presidential chair, at this important juncture, is filled by Gen. Franklin Pierce, who has enjoyed a high reputation as the skilful and politic conductor of the Central Cliqus of New Hampshire, which has been scarcely less powerful, in its smaller circle, than has the Albany regency in its larger sphere. There is a school for the politician, as well as a school for the soldier: in the former Gen. Pierce has been thoroughly trained: and unless we greatly mistake him, he is an apt scholar in the principal branches there taught, viz. strategy and management. He is in a place now, where he will find a use for all his tactics, and will often, at the end of conciliatory devices, find himself called upon to take the responsibility of doing what he thinks best, notwithstanding contradictory advices: and he will do it.

The Herald says,

"The fight between Secretary Marcy and the hard shells was on the Collectorship, and although he succeeded in excluding Augustus Schell, the appointment of Daniel S. Dickinson, we should suppose, would be still more unpalatable to the Secretary of State. The difference is, that, instead of a subordinate officer, the commander-in-chief of the hard shells, (who, more than other man, is responsible for the defeat of the movement for the nomination of Gov. Marcy at Baltimore) is made the Collector of this port."

The reader from this, will get an inkling of the reasons why appointments come along so slowly. There are so many conflicting and contending interests, in every state, that it will require a great deal of time to hear and decide upon them.

HAWTHORNE, THE NOVELIST.

Among the Presidential appointments which are confirmed, we notice that of Nathaniel Hawthorne of Massachusetts, to be Consul of the United States at Liverpool, to take place on the first of August next, in place of Thomas L. Crittenden, resigned. This delay, we suppose, is for Mr. Hawthorne's convenience: and if Mr. Crittenden holds on till his successor arrives, it will be quite a rich concern to him—for the place is one of the best under our government, yielding not less than $20,000 per annum, while some say much more.

The Salem Register presumes "this appointment to have been made in deference to the long and intimate personal friendship which has existed between Hawthorne and the President since their college days, rather than with any special reference to his literary talents, although this last consideration is claimed as a feather in the cap of the Democracy. Any way, Hawthorne is as well entitled to, and will be likely to make as good a use of the fat pickings as any other of the party."

We presume that the personal preference alluded to, had some weight in the appointment—and it would not be strange if Hawthorne's writing the life of General Franklin Pierce had also gained him some favor at the Court of Washington.

Hawthorne, we doubt not, will make a good consul; we know he writes good novels; and we consider his appointment honorable both to the president and the country.

PETER STILL

A colored man, named Peter Still, called at the Chronicle Office, on Thursday, desiring us to aid him in getting before the public with his object, which is to buy his wife and three children from slavery. He represents himself as having been forty-four years a slave, being kidnapped when six years old.

He publishes a strong certificate of his truthfulness, signed by S. K. Lathrop, Ellis Gray Loring, Ephraim Peabody, Wm. I. Bowditch, J. Ingersoll Bowditch, John P. Robinson, and Th. Starr King, all of Boston, who say they have examined his letters and papers, and obtained knowledge of him from other sources, satisfying them that he has a strong and peculiar claim on the public sympathy and aid.

He expects to return to this city in a few days, and solicit aid from our citizens.

The citizens of the town of Keene, N. H., have voted unanimously to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of the settlement of that town, on the first Wednesday of May next.

CATHOLIC PAPERS.

The Pilot contains the following paragraph, translated from the Univers:

"In the number of facts which indicate the progress of Catholicity in the United States, we must class the extension of the religious press. As there is no smoke without fire, so there are no journals without readers. Could these useful publications, in a country where Catholics are poor, be multiplied, if the number of the faithful did not also increase?"

There can be no need of proving what every body knows, viz. that Catholicity, by immigration, does make rapid progress in these states: and we suppose it also progresses by the natural increase of Catholic families. It is certain that it has made some converts among natives of this country: and as certain that it has lost some who have been converted on the other side. It would seem probable that it must lose members by thousands, from the operation of free presses, cheap papers, free schools, intermarriage, &c., &c.

The increase of Catholic papers, only proves the increase of readers, or of ability to buy papers. Both these increase in this country.—Ten thousand children of foreign catholics, who have learned to read in our free schools, read their papers—and with the cash employment they or their parents get, are able to pay for them. This is well; we rejoice at it: but it does not prove any increase of Catholicity.—We think, in the long run it must tend to liberalize the whole mass of mind on which it acts.

There was a day, not quite fifty years ago, when there was no Protestant newspaper in all this country. But it must not be inferred from this fact, that there were no Protestants here at that time—nor that our various religious sects increase or diminish in exact proportion as their several newspapers rise or fall.

INTERVIEW WITH PRESIDENT PIERCE.—A Washington correspondent of Zion's Herald, thus speaks of the interview of the Methodist clergy, residing in Washington, with the President of the United States:

The Saturday before his inauguration, the President elect invited to his room, the Methodist clergy of the city and vicinity, and during a free conversation on religious experience, he alluded, in a beautiful manner, to the faithfulness of the lamented Cookman, and his unwearied public and private efforts to lead to Christ all classes.

"After," said President Pierce, "after a walk through these streets, as we came to his house, he would invite me in to see the loved ones there, and, then, as about to leave, he would say, 'It will not hurt us to kneel down and spend a few minutes in prayer before we separate."

The President had no hesitation in acknowledging his indebtedness to Mr. Cookman and his faithful fellow laborers, for his personal knowledge of salvation through Jesus Christ.

When Mr. Pierce was in Congress, the Rev. Mr. Cookman was Chaplain, it is said. The statement or implication in the last paragraph, is news to us.

TRIAL BY JURY.—A Philadelphia item of the 28th, states that McQuillan, who served upon the Spring jury for Mr. Corr, was sentenced to sixty days imprisonment, for contempt of court; and a fine of $30 was imposed on Corr for non-attendance as a juror, being the highest penalty that could be inflicted.—The argument for a new trial was to take place on the 29th. Spring was in the dock—he looked very haggard, and almost ten years older.

As a matter of course, we suppose, the new trial must be granted. These ignorant and stupid foreigners, who made the exchange as jurors, must have odd ideas of courts of justice. The sham juror seems to have swallowed all the oaths and gone through all the motions with entire gravity, and probably had no idea that he was doing wrong.

It seems by the Philadelphia papers that Spring was tried by a jury of Irishmen, he being a native of Ireland.

ANOTHER COMPROMISE.—The case growing out of the abduction of the girls Rachel and Elizabeth Parker, and the murder of Joseph C. Miller, of West Chester, Pa., has been finished, at last. It has dragged its slow length along from Dec. 1851 till now, when it has been finally settled by "compromise."

McCreary and Merrit, from Maryland, kidnapped Rachel Parker, a free girl, from Pennsylvania, in December 1821, and they, or their accomplices, murdered Joseph C. Miller, a Pennsylvanian, for attempting to rescue her. Rachel Parker was carried forcibly to Baltimore, and kept in prison. McCreary and Merritt were permitted to go at large. For over a year after J. C. Miller's murder, Rachel Parker was retained in Maryland, although the fact of her freedom was established, and when she was finally released by Governor Lowe, it was only on condition that Pennsylvania would consent to give up all proceedings in relation to the prosecution of McCreary or Merritt, either for kidnapping or murder.—Pennsylvania, that is, Governor Bigler, consented, and the whole case, therefore, is said to be settled by "compromise."

It is stated that ex City Marshal Tukey sailed for California in the steamer Crescent City, which left New York on Monday last.

LOCAL.

City Council—March 31.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—A petition was presented, numerously signed, for a new school house at Gravelly Ridge, representing the present school house as unsuitable—referred.

Petitions were presented for liberty to use common sewers—referred.

A communication was received from the Adjutant of the 1st Regt. in relation to enrolling the 6th company. The Mayor was authorized to appoint some person to enroll said company.

A standing Committee was appointed to locate the Gas Lights, consisting of Ald. Stackpole, Brown and Jenkins.

A communication was received from Albert R. Hatch, Esq., as attorney for Charles Robinson, Esq., proposing that the City drop all suits against him; in which case he proposes to drop all suits against the City, and to close his gate and give an obligation that it shall remain closed. Laid on the table.

A resolution was then offered directing the City Solicitor to commence a suit against Mr. Robinson for cutting down the fence on the city land. Laid on the table.

The Board then went into Executive session to appoint the City Watch.

EXETER, March 31.

Cases 83 and 101, Rundlett and Godfrey vs. Dearborn, were argued this morning, by Mr. Wells for the Deft. to whom Mr. Emery is now (4 o'clock, P. M.) replying. Considerable interest is manifested in the result.

Cases 101, 113, 119, 120, 121, 129, 134, are next in ordor.

In case 376, Blaisdell vs. Floyd & Lovering and Trs., the Trustees were discharged.

*An old lawyer informs us that this means, the parties have settled, and the case is taken out of court.

CONCERT.

We understand that MISS JULIA WHEELOCK, with splendid musical assistance from Portland, will give a grand Concert at the Cameneum, on Monday evening the 11th inst. We feel assured that our citizens will not permit this young and accomplished vocalist to depart, without a full hearing. Her voice, besides being one of the sweetest-toned, is also rich and powerful, which enables her to produce surpassing effect in all that she undertakes.

Miss Wheelock is a favorite with the New-Yorkers. She has led the singing in one of their principal churches, and is to leave Portland, her native place, the last week in April, for New York, to take her place again as first soprano in one of the best choirs in the city.

Further notice of her Concert will be given.

☞ Margaret Lynch, who was arraigned on Wednesday, and charged with assaulting Mrs. Sullivan, was brought up for trial on Thursday morning, and sentenced to the House of Correction for thirty days.

Ellen Lynch, who was concerned in the same assault, has not yet been arrested.

CAUGHT A TARTAR.—A few days since while passing dinnerward, protected from the pelting rain by the courtesy and umbrella of a friend, a sort of comic-tragedy gave us increased appetite for dinner. A large shaggy dog came round a corner at full speed, in pursuit of a cat, who hadn't time to gain the protection of the fence she was aiming at, ere Bruno had her by the back and she was rolling in the mud. We expected to see poor Tabby shaken to atoms, amid the "spitting," scratching and growling—but no. Philanthropos furled the umbrella "quicker than (we) thought"—leaving us to the mercy of the rain, regardless of our best hat,—and rushed to the rescue. By his motions, we supposed the dog would get terribly belabored; but our friend had only time to "give him one," when, presto! the tune was changed, and Bruno beat a quick retreat, crying "Yi, yi—'t wa'n't I,"—puss clinging to his side with her teeth and claws. Tabby loosed her hold in a minute or two, dropped to the ground, mounted a lofty fence, and stood with arched back and tail, smoothing her rumpled fur. Philanthropos opened his umbrella and went on his way—and we passed on, convinced once more that "the battle is not to the strong."

RHODE ISLAND.—A Providence item of the 30th March says, "Cyrus Harris, Esq., the Whig nominee for Representative to Congress in the western district, has declined having his name used as a candidate for that office. It has been decided not to run a whig candidate in the district."

There must be a number of screws loose in the Whig party machinery in Rhode Island. We thought it had dropped to pieces some weeks ago, when it suddenly started up and tried to run—but it goes on with a ricketty motion.

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE NIAGARA.

Liverpool dates are to March 19th.

Parliament.—Lord John Russell spoke of Austrian proceedings towards Sardinian subjects, in consequence of the Milan insurrection. The Sardinian government had requested the British government to interfere against sequestration. Great Britain had written a strong letter to Vienna, but in the meantime the Austrian authorities stated their intention to remove sequestration from parties proving themselves innocent. He also stated that the government had received notice that the Grand Duke had liberated the Madiai family, and would allow them to leave Tuscany.

The estimated import of gold during the next three weeks is about three millions sterling.

The mail steamer Australian, after four attempts, has given up the voyage to Australia.

The British ship Bernice was burned by mutineers, Javanese and Manilla men, and the captain and officers murdered, in the Straits of Gaspar.

FRANCE.—The Emperor's policy at the present moment is to preserve a quiet aspect towards all governments until after the coronation.

Political news scarce. Great anxiety is manifested for the Pope's visit to Paris. It is likely but not certain that he will come. On dit, that the Emperor of Austria insists on the Pope coming to Vienna to crown him; but to this Napoleon will not consent.

FATAL EXPLOSION.—New York, March 30. Radfield's pyrotechnic establishment, at Williamsburgh, blew up this morning, killing two persons—a girl and a boy—and fatally injuring, as is supposed, one of the workmen. The adjoining building, known as the old North American Hotel, was much damaged.

Charleston, March 30.—The jail at Chesterfield was burnt yesterday together with eight prisoners.

ITALY.—The political consequences of the late attempt at revolution in Milan, are thus alluded to by a correspondent of the London Daily News, writing from Naples, under date of Feb. 24:

"An error, said Voltaire, is a crime, and so, I fear, Italy will find it to be. Already is the untimely effort at Milan producing its unhappy fruits in this kingdom, as might have been predicted, for bad or weak governments are ever willing to seize on the mistakes of others to cover their crimes. Arrests are the order of the day again, and amongst people of some consideration, of whom I may mention two advocates and the fashionable medical man of Naples, who was much liked by the young nobility. Other arrests are expected. Thus it would seem that the reign of terror would never cease, and that the powers that be are determined to rush upon the fate which inevitably awaits those who are resolved to reign by fear."

AUSTRALIA.—A letter from London says: —Overland news has arrived from Australia to the beginning of January, being a month later than our last advices. On the whole, they are extremely favorable. The production of gold in the colony of Victoria was decreasing, but only to the extent to be expected from the dry season and the absence of the miners during Christmas. In New South Wales, where summer is the most favorable season, the receipts were increasing. A bill, however, had been passed by the Legislative Assembly for the management of the mines, of an extremely harsh and troublesome character, which was likely to create a bad feeling. One of its unwise clauses provides that the license fee payable by foreigners shall be £3 per month, or double that paid by others.—The expectations with regard to the yield of the various quartz veins were increasingly favorable. Large arrivals of goods of all kinds had taken place, but prices were generally well supported, except for flour.

THE BRAZILIAN SLAVE TRADE.—Despatches lately forwarded to the State Department by Mr. Schenck, the American Minister in Brazil, in reference to the slave trade, and the utter inefficiency of our cruisers to put a stop to the desecration of the American flag, propose four remedies, of which the first is a strong measure, viz:—

1. To prohibit all trade in American bottoms between Brazil and the African coast, so as to prevent the evasions now practised.

2. To prohibit the exportation from Brazil, in American bottoms, of articles useful only in the slave trade, as gunpowder, gewgaws and cloths.

3. To prevent the transfer of vessels, by ceasing to issue Consular sea-letters.

4. An immediate reorganization of the naval force belonging to the Brazil an station, so as to provide swift vessels of light draft, capable of following the slavers into the creeks and behind the islands where they take refuge.

HORRIBLE.—In New York, on Tuesday afternoon, a woman was detected in the act of attempting to throw her son, a child nearly three years of age, into the East river. She stated that his father was in the country, and she, having no means to support the lad, had made up her mind to drown him rather than let him suffer. She was taken to the Station House.

PUGET SOUND.—[Extract from a letter, dated San Francisco, California, February 23, 1853.] Since September I have been visiting Puget Sound, Oregon, and found that part of this coast to be a very interesting country, having the best of salmon, herring and halibut fisheries. The Sound contains the best series of harbors I have ever seen, accessible at all times with any wind, and entirely free of bars and shoals. It is yet but sparsely populated, but is destined to be second only to San Francisco for business.—Boston Courier.

Health and Strength.

SPRING is the proper time of the year to purify the Blood, by taking Medicinal Bitters. We are ever taking sweet food into the stomach, forgetting that the system demands a proper amount of Bitter to counteract the sweet. Among the many articles in the market, none have proved better or of more efficacy than the following:

Dr. S. O. Richardson's Sherry Wine Bitters;
Dr. Pierce's Indian Restorative Bitters;
Dr. Langley's Root & Herb Bitters;
Dr. Atwood's Vegetable Jaundice Bitters

These Bitters are purely medicinal; and are not made for any other object and any person purchasing of the subscriber who is not satisfied, shall have the money returned.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.

The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 36 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair, —with all necessary barns and out-buildings.

The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.

The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain; the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.

Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.

If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all minera properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

ETIQUETTE.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Havana, thus notices the ceremony attending a turn out to a fire in that city:

"A Spaniard, who arrived at the place soon after the fire showed itself, found the firemen of the place ranged in front of the building, inactive, while the flames were devouring everything in their way. He asked why they did not commence to extinguish the fire. They replied that their chief had not come, and they were waiting his commands. In a quarter of an hour the chief appeared, and all the authorities, military and civil, in their uniforms, as stiff as starch. Then came the calling of the muster-roll. The flames had now gutted the building, and done other damage, and a party of French soldiers, from two men-of-war, with their engines, had put the surrounding buildings out of danger, leaving to the noisy and much applauded Spanish chiefs and their crew, the harmless embers to extinguish."

WHITE HAIR DYE WANTED AT WASHINGTON.—The old fogies are in the ascendant at Washington. White beards and bald heads have it all their own way. A full head of hair—black, brown, or red—is said to be considered prima facie evidence of the incapacity of the person for a fat office. He is too young. Therefore, the candidates of Young America are very desirous of obtaining a white hair dye, which will change, over night, the most raven black locks to a hue as white as the driven snow; or—

"Leave no hair on the top of the head,
The place where the hair ought to grow."

Powder and pomatum won't do for the approaching hot weather. Young America wants a white hair dye. Apply at all the hotels at Washington.—N. Y. Herald.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present the advantages, in applying Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

Specimens of the article may be seen at the office of the subscriber.

THE HOME OF JEFFERSON.

"Old Hundred" writes to the Vincennes Gazette, an account of a recent visit to Monticello, the homestead of Jefferson. Here is an extract from his letter:

The estate is now in possession of a naval officer, who makes it his summer residence. We found on the first floor a bust of Jefferson, a portrait of LaFayette, one of Washington, and a couple of miniature "hard cider" barrels with "Whig principles" written on them. The estate is in a very dilapidated condition. The stone fences are falling down.—But a small portion of the soil is cultivated, the gardens bloom no more, and the ivy clings but timidly to the walls.

Mr. Jefferson had some queer notions concerning his domestic matters. He had "subterranean passages" constructed, leading from his house to the quarters of the servants, so they could carry on their work and still not be seen by the guests.

Among other things he built a "wind mill" on a high elevation, (so my friend informed me, who knew him well, and was acquainted with all his peculiarities,) but after its completion, having spent a considerable amount of money in its erection, the question was proposed to him by him by his millwright, "How in the world were the logs to be raised to such a height?" This was a poser to Mr. Jefferson; the mill worked admirably, but there was no way to to get the material to it to work on, and so the project failed, and the portions of the "old mill" stand, a monument of error.

MOUNT VERNON.—The neglected condition of this estate, which must remain, for all time the Mecca of freedom, is a disgrace to the nation. The New York Sun makes a capital suggestion, that it be bought for a Summer residence for the President. It ought to belong to the people. The house should be restored, as nearly as possible, to its condition when it was occupied by Washington, and the grounds should be kept in perfect order. A good road should be built to it from Washington, and every facility should be offered to American citizens to refresh their patriotism by visiting the home and the grave of America's greatest man.

A SHREWD POLICE MOVEMENT.—The Berlin Police have just done a smart thing.—A Jew, occupying an old dilapidated house, in an obscure street, and suspected as a receiver of stolen goods, was secretly arrested during the night, and carried off to prison. His shop, however, the police opened next morning as usual, and a policeman, disguised as a Jew, took up his position behind the counter, while several others of the force secreted themselves in the cellar. It was not long before customers began to make their appearance.—They were politely requested to step into the cellar, where the owner of the store was busy, and would make trade. There the unsuspecting customers were seized, gagged and handcuffed, and kept till they could be conveyed, at night, unobserved, to prison. By this stratagem, the police succeeded in entrapping not only the chief professional thieves, with full evidence, but also several employees, who were in the habit of robbing their masters.

A HIT.—Dr. Cox, in a conversation with Chalmers, thus alludes to the prevalent English ignorance of America. "I am nauseated," said he, "with the arrogant ill manners of the English, and their obstreperousness of assault, on all occasions and at all hazards, indiscriminate and vociferous, about slavery. Some of them seem only to know of America, that it is a great place far over the ocean, with slavery there, and besides that, the cataract of Niagara."

QUEEN VICTORIA'S DISCRIMINATION.—After the yacht America had beaten all competion at the "World's Fair," the Queen wished to visit the wonder. With her husband and attendants she was received on board with great cordiality and honor. The royal pair behaved with the quiet simplicity and unpretending grace which belong to true greatness. They were anxious to see every peculiarity in the model and rig of the yacht; and expressed themselves highly gratified, acknowledging with promptitude and good humor the American superiority. But there was one small circumstance which moved the curiosity of her Majesty—it was the peculiar whiteness and purity of the inside paint. She supposed it was English and said to the captain;

"I presume, by the extraordinary whiteness and beauty of this paint, you have just had the inside of your yacht painted for my reception."

"No, your Majesty," replied the captain, "this paint was put on in New York, and has been exposed to sea water and rough usage for some months."

"But," says the Queen, "I never saw paint so smooth, white and glossy—what kind of paint is it?"

"It is Zinc paint, your Majesty—made in New Jersey; it will not tarnish by time or bilge water, or smoke; it is cheaper than white lead paint, and will endure nearly twice as long."

"Can I get any of it?" she asked with speed.

"Very easily," was the reply.

"Let me give you an order now," she replied, "and I will paint a part of Windsor Castle with it."

She gave the order, and the Zinc paint is now adorning some of the best parts of the royal residence.—Hartford Courant.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, APRIL 2, 1853.

TO ADVERTISERS.

☞The Chronicle offers excellent advantages as a means of communicating with the public in this vicinity. We have regular and proportionately-large lists, supplied daily by carriers in our employ, in Newcastle, Kittery, Greenland and Epping; which, with our Daily circulation in the city, and on the Eastern, P. S. & P., and Portsmouth & Concord Railroads, and our Weekly circulation in all the neighboring towns—advertisements being inserted in both papers—affords a very thorough medium of communicating with "the people," at a low rate. ml

COMMON SCHOOLS.

The reader will perceive in our Dover correspondent's letter, some account of an attempt to break down the High School, made in one of the Districts of that town. This is one of the attempts which are and will be made in all parts of our country where there are Catholic voters enough, and where the priests have influence enough to set them on, to crush and destroy any and every Free School, high or lower, which cannot be brought under the influence or control of the priesthood. They and their papers openly avow the principle that it is better for the people to have no learning at all, than to have it without being mixed up with profound reverence for the papacy, priesthood and supremacy of the Catholic church.

In Dover, they raise the standard of opposition against the High School: and round it gather whatever of disaffection there may be among other citizens, on account of parsimony, disappointment, ignorance, or any other causes.

The friends of free schools every where in our land, have to contend, and must continue to do so, by vote and otherwise, against ignorance, bigotry and jealousy.

BANKS IN MASSACHUSETTS.

Two years ago, the Coalition, then in power in that State, passed what we thought a very fair Free Banking Law, somewhat on the New York plan, with a few variations. We have been expecting to see some new banks spring up under it; but there has not one arisen.

This year application has been made to the legislature for many new banks, and for great enlargements of capital on existing banks. An attempt was made to place all these new institutions, and all the older ones which enlarged, under the rules of the Free Banking Law.

This proposition was rejected a few days since, by a large majority, and the new and amended charters will pass in considerable numbers. The same old principles of banking are to be sustained in Massachusetts.

LOW SUNDAY.

Hundreds of juvenile readers, and some not very juvenile, in Puritan New England, have wondered what the Almanac means by Low Sunday, which they will find this year on the 3d day of April.

Rev. Mr. Fox, in his "Duty of Public Worship," thus answers the question, why the next Sunday after Easter is called Low Sunday. He says, "some part of the service of the Church for this Sunday, respects the resurrection of Christ from the dead, as the collect and the gospel. But it is a lower festival than Easter, and therefore called Low Sunday; Easter-day being accounted one of the greatest and highest festivals in the year."

His idea here seems to be that it is a sort of continuation of the sacred feast of Easter, only with a diminution of splendor; and as all things are high or low by comparison—this being eclipsed by the superior feast day, took the name of Low Sunday.

DIVISIONS.—A Washington item of Thursday, says the Senate will remain in session another week. There was much excitement among some Southern Senators, caused by the report that the President had determined on the nomination of Mr. Henry Watson for postmaster at St. Louis. Mr. Watson is a strong Benton man. It is reported that Senator Atchison and Mr. Phelps of the House had protested to the President against the nomination.

This looks a little like jealousy, evil surmising, and discord.

WAITERS' PROTECTIVE UNION.—We have already mentioned that Hotel keepers in Boston and elsewhere had undertaken to raise the price of Board, because provisions were dear.

Now we have to record a large meeting in New York, over five hundred men, waiters in hotels and saloons, who ask to have their wages raised from $12 to $16 per month, offering similar reasons. Their proceedings are reported in the New York Herald, and will compare favorably with those of many other public assemblies.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

MATTERS AND THINGS IN DOVER.

School Meeting in District No. 2—General Intelligence—Parish Meeting at the Unitarian Church, Locust Street.

DOVER, March 31, 1853.

Messrs. Editors:—One of the most exciting school meetings ever holden in town came off in District No. 2, at the Town Hall, on Saturday the 26th. George T. Wentworth, Esq., was called to the chair, assisted by James Hanson, Esq., Secretary. The first thing in order was the report of the Superintending School Committee through Dr. Smith their chairman. It was an elaborate document, well written and evidently savored strong of the "midnight lamp." The report spoke in high terms of praise of the teachers at the High and Grammar Schools, and the advancements of the pupils throughout the district. It was accepted and was followed by the great "bone of contention,"—the doings of the high school building committee. It seems from the statement made by the chairman that thus far the House has cost the moderate sum of $14,644.55. On the acceptance of this report a strong and violent discussion arose, abounding in quick, sharp and witty retort, with the "You lie" thrown in occasionally, all of which would have well become at times our U. S. House of Reps. It was impossible to control the crowd, and "direful sounds" were the order of the hour. It was finally voted that a copy of the report containing all the receipts and expenditures be published and one copy be left at the residence of each legal voter in this district.

A motion was then made by Patrick Burns, Esq. that the 6th article in the warrant, (which was to see what sum the district would raise for the support of the high school) be indefinitely postponed. Then came the tug of war, and not till then had we ever the pleasure of witnessing a practical Bedlam.

The debate was carried on with much sharp shooting by Messrs. Burns, Caverly and Guppey for a postponement, and Messrs. Smith, Hill, Wendell, Sawyer and Greenwood against the proposition. The latter gentleman in a few feeling and pertinent remarks poured oil on the troubled waters. The question was determined in the negative by polling the house, when the enemies and friends of education stood face to face. The sum of $1200 was immediately raised amid shouts of applause for the support of the school for the ensuing year. The following gentlemen were chosen Prudential Committee, Thomas J. Palmer, Winslow Hall and James Varney.

Thus ended one of the most fiery school meetings that ever transpired within the precincts of "old Dover," and we can but rejoice at the victory so triumphantly obtained on the occasion. The Moderator behaved with becoming dignity throughout the trying scene, and deserves the thanks of voters for the impartiality of his decisions.

The annual school-meeting in No. 1 District, was held at the school-house on Wednesday, E. J. Lane Esq. in the chair. The object of the meeting was to choose the various Committees, and to test the propriety of building a new house at an expense of $3000 to $5000. The motion to build was debated at some length by John H. Wiggins Esq., who favored the measure in a strong speech, when a ballot was taken resulting in its defeat. The following gentlemen were chosen Prudential Committee for the coming year: Richard N. Ross, George Piper and True Scavy.

The season for the "rod and line" has opened charmingly, and already the "boys" are actively engaged with "flies and hooks" for this rare sport. The prospect for success is good, although our brooks last season were fished "to the death." We saw yesterday a string of speckled trout, twenty-five in number, captured by one of our ardent young sportsmen.

On Monday afternoon the parishioners of the Unitarian Church on Locust street, held their annual meeting, ex-Senator John P. Hale in the chair. Z. S. Wallingford, George P. Folsom, and E. Wadleigh, Esqs., were chosen Wardens for the ensuing year. The old board reported the finances of the society in a good condition, and the treasurer asserted that he knew of no outstanding debts against them. Their pastor, Rev. Mr. Bond, has been compelled to leave the pulpit on account of ill-health, for the purpose of snuffiing the balmy winds of the Island of Cuba. He sailed on the 28th inst., in the ship "John Henry," from New York—a free passage having been generously offered him, through one of the owners, a wealthy member of the society. We understand the vacancy is to be filled by clergymen during his absence, and that a regular course of religious instruction will be kept up.

No political appointments have as yet been made in this section, although daily looked for with much anxiety. There are many applicants for the Post Office in town, some of whom must ere long chew the "cud of bitter disappointment." It is understood that Dr. Kittredge has left for the city of "magnificent distances," and as "coming events cast their shadows before," the question will probably soon come to an end. DOCTOR.

LOCAL.

City Council—April 1.

IN COMMON COUNCIL, Friday evening, April 1. A petition of 53 inhabitants of District No. 1, for a new School House at Gravelly Ridge, was read and referred.

IN CONVENTION.—Balloted for an Assessor, vice Leonard Cotton, Esq., declined.

Whole number of votes 23; necessary for a choice 12; scattering 4; Sampson B. Lord 6; Alfred D. Moses 13, and was elected.

Mr. Knowlton was appointed on the Committee on Claims, vice Mr. Nelson, resigned.

Both boards adjourned to meet on Thursday evening, April 14.

Reported for the Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Adj. Term.

EXETER, April 1.

Cases 83 and 101—Rundlett & Godfrey vs. Dearborn, Deputy Sheriff—were given to the Jury last evening, and after being out about an hour agreed upon a verdict, that the goods were the property of the Plffs. Upon suggestion of the court a formal verdict was taken, assessing the damages as laid in the writs. The parties agreed upon Thomas J. Melvin, Foreman, as Commissioner to assess the Plffs. damages, and the verdict is to be amended agreeable to his report.

McMurphy, Shapley & Emery for Plffs., Bacon, Stickney & Wells for Deft.

Case 110—Berry vs. Daniel Haley—Assumpsit, on an account annexed for board.—The plaintiff making no appearance, was nonsuited.

Hackett for Plff., Hatch & Webster for Deft.

Case 113—Currier vs. Fellows—Assumpsit on a promissory note. After the partial examination of one witness the case was taken from the Jury, and the examination completed before the Judge at Chambers. The parties agreeing as to the facts, a case was agreed, to carry to the Superior Court.

French for Plff., D. & D. J. Clark for Deft.

Case 119—Claggett plaintiff in review vs. Gilman—The plaintiff making no appearance was non-suited with permission to show cause why it should be taken off.

Claggett pro se, Vaughan & Christie for Deft.

Case 120—Elisha Smith vs. John Harvey—Trespass quare clausum fregit, for breaking and entering Plff's close and cutting and carrying away trees. The deft. admits the entry & cutting, but claims to be owner of the land. The dispute was about an old division line.—Several deeds and depositions have been read and one witness examined.

Marston & Porter for Plff., D. & D. J. Clark for Deft.

LECTURES TO YOUNG MEN.—The fifth of the series of Lectures to Young Men will be delivered on next Sabbath evening, at the Middle Street Church. Services to commence at 7 o'clock.

MR. EDITOR—What purported to be the report of the proceedings of the Aldermen, in Friday's Chronicle and other papers, was incorrect. The proposition referred to as coming from me, was presented to the old city council, previous to the suit brought against me. Since that time nothing has been sent in by me except my bills for settlement, which amounted to about two hundred dollars above the bills of the city against me, for damages: and on their refusal of settlement, Mr. Hatch was authorized to sue the city forthwith.

CHARLES ROBINSON.

☞ The reporter only omitted to say that it was business brought forward from the old board, which was by them referred to the new.

A GOOD ANSWER.—A Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal gives the following good anecdote of Pres. Pierce.

A few days since the President appointed an individual to a respectable and lucrative office in a distant part of the country, on the recommendation of two of the United States Senators, and the Senate confirmed the appointment. This gratifying event produced an exhilarating effect upon the successful applicant for office, who so far forgot himself as to indulge in a "glorious jollification." As he was lodging at a fashionable hotel, his disgraceful conduct became known and was freely commented on—indeed, it became the "town talk." The Senators who had recommended him to the favor of the President, finding that he had disgraced himself and was unworthy of confidence, waited upon the President, stated the facts, and asked for his removal from office. "Gentlemen," said the President in reply, "this man was nominated by me, on your recommendation, and at your solicitation, to an office under the government, and the nomination was confirmed by the Senate.—You now say that his habits are intemperate, and that he is unworthy of the situation. But if I were to remove him now, the consequence would be inevitable ruin to him. The shame and disappointment attending his dismissal from office under such circumstances would lead him to find solace in the intoxicating bowl, and he would become a confirmed inebriate; whereas if this conversation is repeated to him, he may and probably will reform, and become a sober and exemplary citizen. I shall not remove him from office for this offence—but this, as it has been the first, so will it be the last time I can forgive him.

We can hardly imagine a better answer, or better action in such a case: and we hope the whole official career of its author may be as unexceptionable.

CONVERTS IN PORTSMOUTH.—The Pilot says, Nathaniel Brew and John Fritze were among the converts to the Catholic Church in Portsmouth, N. H., the last year."

The last accounts from London show that the returning tide of gold from Australia, is beginning to be felt. The receipt of gold and silver at London and Liverpool for the first half of March, from all sources, was nearly twelve millions of dollars.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

SAN JUAN DEL NORTE SEIZED BY AN AMERICAN VESSEL.

New York, April 1.—Advices received here yesterday announces that the port of San Juan del Norte was seized on the 12th of March by the sloop-of-war Cyane. The city government immediately resigned.

The affair grew out of the quarrel between the citizens and the Nicaragua Transportation Company.

The Tribune says that the Cyane was sent to San Juan by the late administration, on the representations of the accessory Transit Company, that their property and rights were in danger of violation at the hands of the City Government.

A difference arose between the Co. the Government, and lessees from the Mosquito king—the merits of which we do not understand. In the height of their quarrels and lawsuits the Cyane arrived, and on the representation of the clerk of the company, proceeded to land a corps of marines and put an end to the courts of San Juan and their writ, under protest of the Mayor and corporation, and to the great dissatisfaction of the citizens.

The authorities finding themselves under the control of the military force, at once resigned.

On the morning of the 12th of March, the flag of the city was lowered with a salute of 21 guns, and the commercial agent of the United States of America, Henry L. Stevenson, furnished with a duplicate protest, as companied by a note. The Consuls of other nations were furnished with copies of the protest. No government exists—all having been surrendered. The citizens had organized a committee of vigilance and safety. Two clipper schooners were immediately despatched—one to Blewfields, and the other to Jamaica—to inform the British Consul General and the Admiral of the West India station of these extraordinary events.

A meeting of citizens was held subsequently to the resignation of the city authorities in which that act was fully justified, and the proceedings of the Commander of the Cyane denounced as an unjust and illegal usurpation.

THE NEW YORK APPOINTMENTS.—Washington April 1.—The confirmation of Mr. Hiller as Marshal of New York was last evening reconsidered.

Intelligence was received yesterday that Messrs. Dix and Dickinson held their nominations under advisement. It is understood that the yeas and nays on the Dix nomination will be taken to-day. Opposition has been made to Dix because he is a Free Soiler. His nomination was reported on favorably yesterday, when Senator Bright raised the question of confirmation to settle a principle. Objections he said had been made that to confirm Mr. Dix would be to endorse the platform, nevertheless he, Mr. Bright, would vote for him.

Messrs. Atchison, Mason of Va., and Borland, declared that they would not vote for Gen. Dix, although they respected him.

Mr. Hunter was favorable to the confirmation.

No Free Soiler participated in the debate. The extreme Southern rights men wished to avoid the yeas and nays, but the Northern and Western Democrats insisted on them as an endorsement of the amnesty agreed upon by President Pierce's nomination and election.

Mr. Bright observed that attempts had been made to kill off a Free Soil Postmaster, but here was a whale, and he should like to see who would throw the first harpoon.

MAINE.—The Whigs of Maine, in Legislative Convention, have unanimously re-nominated Gov. Crosby for re-election. A legislative nomination for a second year is in accordance with the usage of the party.

The supplementary liquor law, which passed the Legislature, received a majority of members of the House from every county except York and Oxford.

SANTA ANNA.—The British mail steamer which arrived at Vera Cruz 4th ult., reports that Santa Anna had accepted the Presidency of that country, and would return there on the 1st of April. Santa Anna's language was unmitigated hostility to the citizens of the United States, whom he calls the national enemies of Mexico.

SUICIDE.—John S. Hathaway, brevet Major of the 1st artillery, U. S., committed suicide at the Astor House, N. Y., on Thursday. He had just returned from California.

A CAVE UNDER BOSTON COMMON.—The Boston Post of Friday states, that on Thursday as the workmen were engaged in digging a hole upon the Common, in which to set a tree, they came upon a brick arch, which, upon opening, and waiting awhile for the nitrous gass to escape, one of the workmen descended and explored this cave. It was about ten feet deep, fifteen feet in length, and six feet wide. Upon the north side was an iron door, from which issued a flight of stone steps.—This door was nearly decayed with rust. The brick were of a very quaint mould, differing entirely from any that we have ever seen or heard of before, being of a semicircular shape. Four small earthen jars or pots, of a curious form, with uncouth heads moulded upon them, were found in one corner of this vault; one of which was filled with amorphous pieces of silver, covered with a yellowish brown mould or rust. The other three contained a motley assortment of jewelry of the most singular form and make—consisting of heavy gold rings, elaborately wrought with chasings of beads and antique armour, entwined in scroll-work and flowers: bracelets, buckles, ear-rings, &c. In a crevice between the bricks was stuck a dagger, which upon touching, the blade immediately crumbled to pieces, being completely eaten up with rust. The handle, upon a little rubbing, proved to be of fine gold, set with six costly diamonds.

Here is a problem for antiquarians to solve. The only clue to this strange affair is the inscription found engraven upon the handle of the dagger, which some of our learned pundits are now trying to translate; it reads thus—"LO. OF. L. IRP.A."

The articles have been deposited in the City Hall.—Boston Post of "April Fool's Day."

Health and Strength.

SPRING is the proper time of the year to purify the Blood, by taking Medicinal Bitters. We are ever taking sweet food into the stomach, forgetting that the system demands a proper amount of Bitter to counteract the sweet. Among the many articles in the market, none have proved better or of more efficacy than the following:

Dr. S. O. Richardson's Sherry Wine Bitters;
Dr. Pierce's Indian Restorative Bitters;
Dr. Langley's Root & Herb Bitters;
Dr. Atwood's Vegetable Jaundice Bitters

These Bitters are purely medicinal; and are not made for any other object and any person purchasing of the subscriber who is not satisfied, shall have the money returned.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.

The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 33 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair, —with all necessary barns and out-buildings.

The house stands in the eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.

The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.

Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.

If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

LYON'S
KATHAIRON
FOR THE HAIR

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair, CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N. Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

MAJOR STEVENS.—The Boston Post states that since the appointment of Major Isaac I. Stevens, of Andover, as Governor of the new Territory of Washington, the President has determined to put him in charge of a party to explore what is called the Northern Pacific Railroad line, under a recent act of congress making an appropriation to explore the different routes to the Pacific. The party for this purpose will rendezvous as soon as it can be organized, at some point in Iowa or Minnesota, and will probably be on its way to the Pacific about the 1st of May. The Columbia River is the natural northern line on the Pacific side, and that river, from its mouth till the forty-sixht degree of latitude, is the southern boundary of Washington territory.

BOSTON RELIEF FOR THE MADEIRA SUFFERERS.—A letter from the American consul at Madeira, J. Howard March, dated 28th February, states that the Nautilus, from Boston, with relief for the Madeira sufferers, has arrived, and delivered her cargo in good condition. He adds that "it is the first succor the starving inhabitants of Madeira have received from abroad in the shape of provisions, and the very sight of them has already gladdened the hearts of thousands." "Long after those who will be kept alive by it shall have gone to their last homes," says Mr. March, "the very name of Boston will be almost worshipped by Madeira."

HEALTHY EXERCISE.—Several gentlemen who "lead a confined life," were seen early this morning, in the neighboring fields, hunting after the "harbingers of Spring," notice having been given the other day that they had arrived, and were making the "fields merry with their songs." The gentlemen returned, saying that they saw plenty of robins and blue-birds, but no "harbingers!"—Manchester American.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.
PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.
The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.
☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

Among the passengers on board the steamer Canada, from Boston to Liverpool are Professor C. E. Stowe and wife, (Harriet Beecher Stowe) Mr. Charles Beecher, and Mrs. S. L. Beecher and child, and others of Boston.—Great preparations have been made at Stafford House to give the authoress of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and troupe the most cordial abolition reception ever accorded to any Americans in England. The Duchess of Sutherland and her associates in the late address to the ladies of the United States, in behalf of the abolition of Southern slavery, and some thousands of women of England who have signed that petition, will be gathered at Stafford House to do honor to the authoress of Uncle Tom's Cabin.

"They will (says the Boston Mail,) have eating and drinking, and feasting, in abundance, and speeches and songs, and lamentations over the sufferings and oppressions of the slaves of the South, while thousands, if not millions, of her Britannic Majesty's subjects are starving in the three kingdoms, for want of a morsel of bread. And yet we should not be surprised if many of the miserable victims of British taxations, monopolies, and exactions—the most unfortunate slaves of hopeless destitution—were to join in swelling the triumph of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe. We should hardly be astonished if the people of the cotton mills of Manchester, dependent for their daily bread upon the slave-grown cotton of our Southern States, were to join in the hue and cry against the hands that feed them."

We should not wonder if the "slaves of destitution" should swell Mrs. Stowe's triumph. But the cotton-mill people of England will not cry against the "hands that feed them"—those hands are black. Their cry is against the master and the system: not against the slave.

The Mail says again,

"We wish Mrs. Stowe much joy of her journey. It is almost a pity that Mrs. Swisshelm did not accompany her, and Mrs. Abby Kelly Foster, for the sake of illustrating to the ladies of England more fully, not only the condition of the abolition societies in the United States, but the progress, also, which our Turkish women in pantalets and our old grandmies in pantaloons, are making in the cause of "woman's rights."

Neither of the three women here named dress very differently from others of their age and condition—and Mrs. Stowe, (against whom the whole thing is aimed) is neither a "Turkish woman," nor a peculiar advocate of "woman's rights," nor that we ever heard of, a member of any "abolition societies"—but a woman of taste, talent, and genius, of domestic virtue, and of general sympathy with the suffering every where, who happened to write a work of fiction so faithful to nature, as to gather from it a world-wide fame.

She belongs to the same class of writers with Hawthorne, who is to go out by and by as Consul to Liverpool: and her Uncle Tom's Cabin will continue to be read and admired, as long as Hawthorne's Scarlet Letter, his House of Seven Gables, or even his Life of General Pierce.

Writers of various calibre may try to belittle Mrs. Stowe:—but it is of no avail—unless perchance they may thereby belittle themselves. Her literary fame and fortune are made, just as surely as Hawthorne's—and long may they both live to enjoy them. Their works will live, whether the authors do or not.

How to Serve a Borer.—Quick, the comedian, one day passing through Broker Row, Moorfields, was seized upon by a barker of a furniture warehouse, who, without ceremony, pulled him into the shop, and began puffing up his tables and chairs. Quick, being old and infirm, made little resistance, but asked the man if he were master of the shop? "No, sir," said the barker, "but I will fetch him immediately." The man returned with his master, to whom he put the same question. "Are you master of the shop, sir?" "Yes, sir, what can I do for you?" "Only," replied Quick, "just hold your man a minute, while I go out?"

Judge not Rashly.—A modern writer says, that "to judge of a man's character by his profession, is to be wilfully misled. Some of the quietest and steadiest men I have ever known were consistent supporters of the opera and the turf, and some of the flightiest and lightest-hearted, men of letters. The jolliest person beyond all question I ever met with was an undertaker; one of my most cheerful friends was a Presbyterian clergyman; and the sternest a comic actor.

It has been suggested by a worn out wag, who gives his mornings to conundrums and his nights to puns, that Louis Napoleon, instead of being called Bone a-part, should have confirmed on him the title of Grab-the-whole.—Punch.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, APRIL 4, 1853.

TO ADVERTISERS.

☞The Chronicle offers excellent advantages as a means of communicating with the public in this vicinity. We have regular and proportionately-large lists, supplied daily by carriers in our employ, in Newcastle, Kittery, Greenland and Epping; which, with our Daily circulation in the city, and on the Eastern, P. S. & P., and Portsmouth & Concord Railroads, and our Weekly circulation in all the neighboring towns—advertisements being inserted in both papers—affords a very thorough medium of communicating with "the people," at a low rate. mi

LABOR IN ENGLAND.

A sensible and timely article in the Boston Courier, on the increasing value of Labor in England, does not agree with the supposition which ascribes this to the influx of Australian and Californian gold, though specions at first sight, does not seem, on more mature examination, to be well founded. The importation of gold from Australia has caused an exportation of coin from England to that country nearly if not quite equal in amount; and as the bullion does not pass through the mint without much delay, the influx of gold cannot be felt in the shape of an increased circulation of coin. In fact, wages rise in Great Britain not because she has more money, but because she has fewer men. For the last five or six years the emigration from that country has been immense, and it has now reached a point where it is sensibly felt in the augmented value of labor. Sailors, in particular, are scarce in England. For many years past they have known that higher wages and other advantages can be obtained in American ships, and this has attracted thousands of them across the Atlantic. In addition to this drain into a foreign channel, may be mentioned the rapid increase of commerce between Great Britain and Australia. This intercourse was never so active as now. The cargoes and passengers destined for that country can hardly find ships sufficient to carry them. Steam navigation to Australia, the East Indies and the Pacific, is another cause of the increase of British shipping and the demand for sailors. A steamship on one of these long voyages must replenish her fuel several times on the passage. Depots of coal have therefore been established at various points, and these require constant filling, which gives employment to a large number of vessels.

Should the present state of things not be disturbed by war, (says the Courier) there is reason to think the demand for labor and its consequent augmented value will rather increase than diminish. Such a fact is not unworthy to be kept in mind in our general views of commerce and great political speculation.

THE BALTIMORE & OHIO RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—We published a brief statement of this, the other day, and announced eight deaths: 17 are still confined in houses near the scene of ruins, but will probably recover. The two cars went down over a bank 100 feet high, turning over four times.

The passengers were all more or less bruised or scratched. Mrs. Ogle, of Philadelphia, states that she was lying on the sofa in the ladies' saloon, at the time of the overturn, and the sofa being fortunately fastened to the car, she managed, with the aid of the sofa pillow, to preserve herself from any harm, although she followed the car in its four evolutions down the embankment, alternately on the ceiling, side and floor.

This is the second wonderful escape of Mr. Abat, one of the passengers. Several years ago he was in a train of six cars near Paris, in France, which took fire, and seventy-five persons lost their lives, but he escaped unhurt.

MR. ATHERTON.—We notice with great pleasure by a card in the Amherst Cabinet from J. G. Davis, that Hon. Charles G. Atherton placed in his hands a very liberal sum to be expended for charitable purposes. Mr. D. in his card says; "having appropriated about one half of it for sick and destitute, I have purchased eleven copies of Webster's large Quarto Dictionary for the use of our schools." A copy is to be placed in each school house in town. Mr. Atherton has recently become possessor of a magnificent estate, and the above is an indication that a portion of it at least, will be cast upon the waters in a manner creditable to himself, as well as beneficial to the public.

DEATHS OF EMINENT LADIES.—We have but just recorded Mrs. Fillmore's death, and her burial has just taken place. Mrs. Cass, wife of the Senator, died at Detroit, Mich. on the night of March 31. Mr. Rives, wife of Hon. John C. Rives, died at Washington on the morning of the same day.

NAVAL.—The U. S. Steam Frigate Mississippi sailed from the Cape of Good Hope, Feb. 3, for Japan.

SWINDLING.

The Boston Post says, "It appears from the report of the committee of the U. S. Senate appointed to investigate cases of alleged fraud, that Thomas Corwin, while Secretary of State, gave to John McGinnis a private contract to build eight light houses on the Pacific for the sum of $136,000, on condition that he should take a man named Delano as an associate. Delano then introduced into the concern Robert G. Corwin, a near relative of the Secretary; and McGinnis, with T. Corwin's knowledge, sold the contract for a bonus of $15,000, which was paid to Delano, who gave McGinnis $5000 as his share, and kept $10,000 to divide with Robert G. Corwin.—The new parties to the contract were accepted by the treasury department, and Delano afterwards obtained for them a modification of it, which was worth to them $7500, and for which they paid Delano $900. All this was a very pretty piece of jobbing. And while it was going on, Secretary Corwin was humbugging Congress by pretending that the contract could not be negotiated, nor the work done at all, without additional appropriations!"

Now here is either a great swindle, or else a prodigious lie. If there is not another side to the story, as there may be, then the Hon. Secretary and his kinsman are a couple of as precious scamps as are to be found outside Washington. The Post closes its article by saying, "The people ought to be thankful that they are rid of the Galphins."

To this the people ought to respond Amen, if the Galphins were all gone. This is too good news to be true, however. Our distant Mormon territory, our golden Ophir California, and our new dark-eyed sister Texas, are most prolific of opportunities for frauds and swindles generally. We have seen statements, never contradicted, of immense amounts of Texan scrip held by our own politicians and statesmen, while that "child of our own" was asking to be "re-annexed" to us, that we might pay her debts.

When rich and profitable swindles are temptingly lurking around, there is no harm in watching all the great men who hold the purse-strings of the nation. Good watching will hurt no man's honesty; but on the contrary, may help to preserve it.

THE BOSTON APRIL FOOL.

The Courier says,

"The Post joke, concerning the discovery of treasures on the Common, was the general source of mirth on Friday. Some thousands of people—including a Senator, and the senior proprietor of the Post—visited the 'cave;' and hundreds called at the office of the chief of police to see the 'golden dagger.' Some of the callers at the police office were so far befogged as to go from the City Hall to Mr. Greene's office, in search of the curiosities, and returned again with a statement that 'Mr. Greene says he haint got 'em; they're here.'"

The Post says, "Many of O. F. M. visited the Common, and instead of seeing a 'cave' they discovered a cell!

"Cave curiosities were sent to the Post counting room instead of to the City Hall. Purely accidental. The chief of police must excuse it. Hence members of the house did not see them, but saw the elephant. The key of the cave is extant. It has more substance than the dagger—decidedly."

The same paper states that "the bars of the Revere and Tremont houses were closed at 12 o'clock on Thursday night, the licenses for the sale of liquors having expired."

Wonder if there is not some cell about this business also.

SANTA ANNA.—Speaking of Santa Anna, and of his remarks about the United States, the Boston Post says:

"He told the Mexican commissioner sent to invite him, that the United States and Mexico are natural enemies, and expressed his unmitigated hostility to this country. It is a pity the Texans spared him after the evidences they had had of his cruelty and bad faith."

Is there not something unkind here, toward the memory of the deceased President Polk, who gave him the memorable pass into Mexico, if not out of it also?

A REVOLUTIONARY PATRIOT GONE.—The Dover Gazette chronicles the death of Ebenezer Hill, who died at Wakefield, N. H. March 20, aged 93 years. He was an honest, industrious man; and, in his declining years a Revolutionary Pensioner. Mr. Hill was at the battle of Bennington, and while stationed at West Point, was one of the Guard over Maj. Andre the night previous to his execution. He leaves a widow with whom he lived seventy years. Their descendants are eleven children, fifty grand-children, and nineteen great grand-children.

MR. ESTEE, THE WOUNDED FIREMAN.—One year ago to-day, (says the Boston Daily Advertiser of March 31,) Mr. Estee was so seriously injured at the burning of the Tremont Temple that it was thought he could not live but a short time, and newspapers have since repeatedly pronounced him as fast declining, greatly to his annoyance and that of his friends. He is at the present time quite smart, and has nearly recovered from the effects of his recent attack of fever, and he entertains the most sanguine hopes of his entire recovery.

Punch says that the best way to crush a question, is to appoint a parliamentary committee to sit upon it.

LOCAL.

Reported for the Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Adj. Term.

EXETER, April 2.

Cases 114, 115 and 118 were continued; 116 was marked for the Court; 117 was continued, the Deft. to pay costs of the adjourned term and tax none.

Case 120, Smith v. Harvey, is still on trial, and will occupy a part of Monday. Cases 121, 129, 134 and 135 are next in order.

A new Jury will take the places, next week of the twelve discharged to-day.

Frederick W. Rogers, Ward 1;
Aaron Akerman, Ward 2;
Samuel Langdon, Ward 3.

The Court adjourned at 2 1-2 o'clock, P. M. till 9 1-2 o'clock Monday morning.

PORTSMOUTH OFFICES.—Zenas Clements, of Chester, N. H., has been appointed Collector of Customs.

Nehemiah Moses, of this city, has been appointed Navy Agent.

RAILROAD CHANGES.—The Summer Arrangements on the Eastern Railroad, commence to-day. The second train from Boston starts 15 minutes later, and the last train 30 minutes earlier than heretofore. The last train to Boston starts 30 minutes later. The other trains start at the same hours as formerly.

On the Concord Railroad the time of starting the last train to Concord is 15 minutes later. Our outside was printed before we received notice of the alterations.

PRESIDENT PIERCE AND PRESIDENT FILLMORE.—The following tribute of condolence was addressed by the President to his bereaved predecessor:—

EXECUTIVE MANSION, March 30, 1853.

My Dear Sir—Information has just reached me of the death of Mrs. Fillmore. I beg you to accept the assurance of my earnest condolence in this great bereavement. Yielding to my deep feelings of sympathy, and in testimony of respect for the memory of the deceased, I have directed the meeting of the Cabinet this day to be suspended, and the public offices to be closed.

I am, with great consideration, your friend,
FRANKLIN PIERCE.

Hon. MILLARD FILLMORE,
Washington, D. C.

Fitly spoken. "Words of course," somebody may say. Well, be it so. We are glad to see a public man, and a New Hampshire president, say his words of course, as they ought to be said, using neither too few nor too many, but doing it exactly right.

☞ U. S. revenue cutter Morris, Capt. Walden, from a cruise of 67 days on the coast, for the relief of vessels found in distress, arrived at Boston on Friday. The Morris has boarded and spoken 247 vessels, and has relieved six; and has sailed during her cruise 1977 miles.

LONGEVITY.—At Barnstead, N. H., at the presidential election, fourteen persons voted, whose united ages were more than twelve hundred years, the leader being one hundred and two years old. In the same town, a lady having lived many years, thought that previous to her death she would join some church, and as her next birthday would occur on Sunday, she selected that day to make public profession of her faith. She was baptized by immersion in a pond, by a Baptist clergyman, on her hundredth birthday! She died six years afterwards.

A few years ago, an old lady from New Hampshire visited her grandson in Boston.—She was ninety-eight years of age at the time, and was smart enough to attend church twice each Sunday of her visit. She has since died at the age of one hundred years and six months.—Boston Transcript.

DEATH OF AN OLD CITIZEN.—Major James Phillips died in Boston, on Thursday morning, at the advanced age of 86 years.—Mr. Phillips was well known in this community. He was the last surviving original member of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association. He had been a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company for about sixty years, and for fifty-four consecutive years participated in the annual festivals of that corps. For the last quarter of a century he has been Secretary to the Board of Overseers of the Poor, and remained at his post to the last. It is highly honorable to our city that Mr. Phillips was retained in his office till his death. Few men have enjoyed the respect of all classes of our citizens to a greater degree than Mr. Phillips.—Transcript

PROSPECTS OF FRUIT.—The winter has been favorable for good prospects of fruit. If no late nipping frost comes, the tender germs will have a good season. We have just examined the peach buds in different parts of the county, and find them to be, in almost every case, green and vigorous. The apple buds are not sufficiently developed to judge of their condition, but we found those having orchards looking at them with confidence. The frost is nearly out of the ground, and the farmers may be ploughing in a week. We trust that a good season is before them. If they prosper, we all prosper.—Chicago Trib., March 24.

A NOVELTY.—Willis says he saw in the streets of Augusta, Ga., a novelty which told of climate and usage different from the North—"A very common, dirty looking man strolling along leisurely in his shirt sleeves and gazing in the shop windows, but with a negro man behind, carrying his coat!"

A rather funny incident occurred at the jail at Holidaysburg, Pa., on Thursday last. Major Raymond of the Whig, being curious to see the prisoners, the sheriff was very politely showing him through, when, in an unguarded moment they suffered one of the "darkey" prisoners to step outside of his apartment and close and fasten the door upon them. Mr. Darkey then made his escape, leaving the Major and Sheriff prisoners. They were soon released, however, and the fugitive recaptured.

"Nowhere but in Rome," writes Mr. Thompson, "have I seen the people living in such poverty, such squalor, and such dejection.—One looks almost in vain for the respectable middling classes. These are in prison, in exile, or have perished on the scaffold or the field of battle. Cardinals ride in unrivaled state, but the streets are filled with soldiers, priests and beggars."

Mr. Moses, Navy Agent, Portsmouth, N. H. Zenas Clements, Collector, Portsmouth.

Dr. Sturgeon was confimed as U. S. Treasurer.

The nomination of Mr. Petit as Director of the Philadelphia mint, was opposed on the ground of his being a free soiler, but was finally confirmed.

Several army officers in line of promotion were nominated.

APPOINTMENTS.—The Senate has confirmed all the Philadelphia nominations, as reported; also all the New York nominations except Dix and Fowler. The President has nominated the following for Baltimore:—Philip F. Thomas, Collector; James G. Davies, Postmaster; John Ketterly, Naval Officer; J. S. Briscoe, Navy Agent, James Polk, Surveyor.

The Hon. Willis A. Gorman of Indiana has been nominated for Governor of Minnesota.

MURDER IN NEW YORK.—Lewis De Corn shot Eugene Melville in the store of the former, at New York, on Thursday, and killed him instantly. Melville had merely handed him a letter; De Corn immediately ran to the lodgings of the murdered man's wife, who locked him up in her room and went to see if her husband was dead. Melville and his wife had recently separated; he was in the habit of borrowing money of De Corn, and was said to be jealous of him. The murderer has been committed. Both the men are French; the woman, aged 19 or 20, says she was born in New Haven.

MELANCHOLY OCCURRENCE.—Mr. Samuel Watts, of Buxton, caused his death on Sunday by hanging himself. For more than a year past, Mr. Watts has labored under a partial insanity, with the exception of some intervals of a few weeks.

It appeared that some physical derangement led to an oppressive feeling in the head; this was followed by extreme depression and melancholy state of mind leading to despair. When thus exercised he viewed himself the most wicked of all men; no words of hope or encouragement could be rendered, which he would admit as touching his case; yet he was a man of unimpeachable moral character, and had sustained a consistent religious profession for a number of years. He was universally respected where he was known. He has left an affectionate and devoted wife to mourn his sudden and painful departure from life. His age was 43.—Farmer and Mechanic.

THE LOWELL POST OFFICE.—A telegraphic despatch from Washington states that Mr. Goodhue has been confirmed as Postmaster at Lowell. Mr Goodhue is a cripple, in both legs, to such an extent that he is obliged to move about in a small wagon propelled by himself, but he is nevertheless said to be an active business man.

AN EXTENSIVE SUGAR REFINERY.—The Grocers' Steam Sugar Refining Company are erecting an extensive and very substantial sugar refinery on the site of Swift's sugar house, corner of Washington and Laight sts, which was destroyed by fire in May last. The new establishment, the second story of which is now going up, extends from Washington to West streets, being 98 feet on Washington, 225 on Laight, and 98 on West streets. Its height will be 100 feet from the basement, and it will be divided into 11 stories. The building is to be entirely of brick and iron. The brick walls are 3 1-2 feet in thickness at the bottom, and are laid in cement. The beams floors, roof—everything about the building which is not of brick and mortar, is of iron. Heavy columns in rows sustains the floors.—There will be fireproof dividing walls through the building. It will be erected so as to be conducted on a different working principle from any other similar establishment in the United States. The Company has been organized with a capital of $400,000. The building and machinery, aside from the site, will probably cost about $300,000. Included in the machinery of the concern will be four large vacuum pans, nine feet in diameter, two of them to be of iron and two of copper.—Twelve large steam boilers will be used. They will employ about 300 men, and will turn off about 1000 bbls of refined sugar per day.—N. Y. Tribune

FROM HAVANA.—A letter from Havana, received in New York, dated 22d, states that in the neighborhood of Quircan, 35 miles from Havana, robbers are prowling about in gangs of 100, defying the police soldiers.

A few days ago two of these bands met each other, when a fierce combat ensued between them, each being under the impression that the other was a detachment of troops.

The late Mrs. Fillmore is said to have been an amiable and excellent woman, a devoted Christian, and faithful in all the relations of life.

At a negro settlement on Wood river, Illinois, the door was opened to a traveller by a tottering black man, 90 years old, and within was found his mother Chloe, 119 years old.—She was a slave in South Carolina, and remembers Lord Cornawllis and other British officers of the revolution. She has a grandson of fifty.

Health and Strength.

SPRING is the proper time of the year to purify the Blood, by taking Medicinal Bitters. We apprehend no risking our food into stomach, forgetting that the system demands a proper amount of Bitter to counteract the sweet. Among the many articles in the market, none have proved better or of more efficacy than the following:

Dr. S. O. Richardson's Sherry Wine Bitters;
Dr. Pierce's Indian Restorative Bitters;
Dr. Langley's Root & Herb Bitters;
Dr. Atwood's Vegetable Jaundice Bitters

These Bitters are purely medicinal; and are not made for any other object and anyone purchasing of the subscriber who is not satisfied, shall have the money returned.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.

The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 33 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair, —with all necessary barns and out-buildings.

The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.

The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.

Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.

If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

LYON'S
FOR THE HAIR.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all minera properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.
PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.
THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.
The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.
☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.
Specimens of the article may be seen at the office of the subscriber.
No. 73 Market Street, up stairs, and orders received by

PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, APRIL 5, 1853.

RELEASE OF THE MADIAI.

The release of the Madiai Family, by the Grand Duke of Tuscany, though in itself a mere discharge of two State Prisoners, is yet an event of some importance in its religious and political aspects. "They were imprisoned, (say the English and American remonstrances,) for exercising the rights of conscience, and for reading the scriptures." No: it was for disseminating the spurious (king James') Bible, and Prayer Book, (say the Catholic papers and Bishops,) and for trying to make proselytes; which is a political offence in a Catholic country."

We suppose the latter, or catholic version of the story to be the true one, and shall treat the subject accordingly. In this view, the Grand Duke does not open the prison doors and let the prisoners go because they are guilty of only a small crime—but because two powerful governments remonstrate against his course, and ask for their release.

These things show that there is a force in the public opinion of the world, before which bigots and tyrants are compelled to bow obsequiously in the face of the rest of mankind, though they may privately gnash their teeth against it.

The released prisoners will doubtless visit England, and we presume this country also: and their story will be heard with interest every where. If they tell it well, modestly, and simply, through our land, the influence must be favorable and somewhat strong. We infer from previous statements, that they belong to the Church of England.

FREE SOIL APPOINTMENTS.

The correspondents of the Tribune and Courier wrote, on Friday, of the confirmation of Mr. Dix:—

"The Senate to-day in Executive Session was occupied four hours in discussing the nomination of Mr. Dix. Messrs. Soule, Douglas, Seward, Chase, Houston, Pettit and Weller, spoke in favor of his confirmation; Messrs. Bright, Rusk, Butler and Mason against it. Mr. Broadhead rather argued against, but finally voted in the affirmative. The debate was exceedingly rich. One Democrat hoped, if Dix was confirmed, that the small fry nominees of Free Soil sentiments would not be mercilessly shot, big free dirt sinners being spared. When the vote was taken the confirmation was carried by a vote of twenty-eight to eight. The nays are as follows:—Messrs. Atchison, Bright, Butler, Evans, Rusk, Morton, Mason, and Thompson of Kentucky.

The debate was earnest, but not excited. At one time forty-one Senators were present, and the full vote of these would have shown thirty-one ayes to ten noes. The nomination of Mr. Pettit as Director of the Philadelphia Mint was also opposed on the ground of his being a Free Soiler, but was finally confirmed, as were all others who came up. The amnesty is now considered to be fully established, and the breach in the party healed."

That is, the spoils are equally distributed, between two wings of the party. But in the meantime, what has become of the National Party? How will the Union be preserved? What will be the effect of Mr. Seward's speech in favor of Mr. Dix? Will it answer at all, to think that Seward's higher law principles, and Chase's freesoilism, harmonize with the democracy of Houston, Soule and Douglas.

As to Mr. Dix's appointment, no better could be made. He is known to people in this city, and throughout the country as a man of talent, energy and efficiency. But now that he is nominated, Messrs. Hale, Tuck, Atwood and others, need not despair of good appointments under the next democratic administration of the general government.

How the Whigs go out of office.—The New York Herald has these humorous remarks on the subject.

They [whig officers] have been duly warned—they know their fate—and they submit with a remarkable and dignified spirit of resignation. We remember well when the "no-party" scruples of poor old honest General Taylor were broken down, and the doors were broken open, and the half-famished whigs rushed in and hurried out the fat and sleek [incumbents] to execution; we remember well how they howled upon the scaffold, and how piteous were the sympathizing groans of Father Ritchie with every fall of the guillotine. He kept us chin deep in the bloody horrors of the Jacobins for at least six months. By contrast, the present gentlemanly submission of the whigs and the whig press, now that their turn has come, gives them something of the sublime port and bearing of the ancient Christian martyrs at the stake.

New Trial Granted.—At Philadelphia, April 2, the Court decided to grant a new trial to Spring, convicted of the murder of the women Shaw and Lynch.

☞ John Marden, son of Wm. Marden, printer, and door-keeper at the Museum, died Saturday morning from falling at the Commercial Coffee House, on Friday.

Adrian, Michigan, is a model city—has had no justice of the peace for three months, and "individual cases of immorality and vice are exceedingly rare."

ELIZABETH S. GREENFIELD.

This is the colored songstress, sometimes called the Black Swan. She gave a concer at New York on Thursday night, which must have been as profitable, as if Sontag or Alboni had been the attraction. The Courier says of her reception:—"She was received with hearty and prolonged applause, which however did not quite overpower a sound of gentle good natured laughter which ran through the room. She was heartily applauded after each performance, and was not left without floral honors. It is her intention to prosecute her vocal studies in Europe under the best masters.—She will first give some concerts in England, where the effect of Mrs. Stowe's book cannot fail to prove a very valuable auxiliary to her pecuniary success."

The New York Herald says, "Miss Greenfield, the alias of the Black Swan, is a fine looking woman, of low stature, but most magnificent roundabout proportions. She was dressed simply and neatly, in a low-body blue silk dress, with a deep lace collar, and wore some white flower ornaments in her hair. Her tout ensemble was, if not captivating, at least pleasing. The ladies, as usual, criticised her appearance and her performances very minutely.

All birds of the same plumage as the Black Swan were very arbitrarily excluded from the gathering, a notice in the advertisements and bills particularly calling attention to the arrangement that no colored persons would be admitted to the concert, as no provision was made for their accommodation."

Half a dozen clergymen of her own color complain of this arrangement, and ask her to repeat her concert for the benefit of two charitable societies, at the Tabernacle, on Monday evening, to which she cheerfully assents.

The musical critic of the New York Herald says her natural sweetness of voice at first astonished and captivated her hearers, but as she proceeded, the defects of her executions, partly caused, we think, by want of confidence, became apparent; yet still she concluded amid universal applause. Again she came out and sang the English version of the "Brindisi," from 'Lucrezia Borgia"—"Come, let us be happy together;" and in this she exhibited the wonderful compass of her voice; comprising the tenor, baritone and bass notes. She again received great and continued plaudits, and a few bouquets. A general call for an encore followed, and the Swan, with much condescension, came out, took her seat at the piano, and sang in an exquisite bass voice, the ballad, "When the stars shine in the gentle sky."

The Duchess of Sutherland's petition to ladies of the United States, we understand, is on the way here to be intrusted to Mrs. Stowe, whose absence was not calculated upon. One of these papers is said to be signed by half a million of ladies, and another by 16,000.

Such a petition may prompt return petitions from the United States for the emancipation of the people of the East Indies from British thraldom; for religious liberty and equality in England and Ireland; for the better government of the Irish nation; for the separation of the Church from the State, and for the abolition of hereditary rulers, such as monarchs, dukes, lords, &c.—New York Express.

Well; we think that would be fair play; and would not object to one of these petitions: but we cannot see why the good people on either side need to be so dreadfully touchy when their known and acknowledged faults are alluded to. A poet who could see and portray very clearly, said,

"England: with all thy faults, I love the still."

And the patriot poet in our own land, who sees and portrays our our faults most clearly, can also adopt similar language.

Language in the Cabinet.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says

General Cushing is the only man in the cabinet who can talk anything besides English. At the diplomatic dinner given by M. de Bodisco on Wednesday, the Attorney General charmed and surprised the distinguished party by his captivating and versatile accomplishments. Like a veritable polyglot, he conversed in French with M. Le Compte de Sartiges, in Spanish with Don Calderon de la Barca, and in Dutch with Baron Testa; spoke German with Baron Von Gevolt, Portugese with De Figaniere, and the most unexceptionable Tuscan with the representative of the Two Sicilies.

Another April Fool Joke.—On Friday a countryman lost his pocket-book, containing a large sum of money, in the vicinity of Quincy Market, Boston. Several gentlemen of the "white frock," saw the tempting prize, as it lay upon the sidewalk, and with a knowing wink "passed by on the other side," watching the green ones, who, as they picked it up, were greeted with laughter, and loud and derisive shouts of "April Fool." Several persons picked it up in this manner, and dropped it because they were laughed at. Meantime the owner missed his money and went back for it, though he had but slight hopes of finding it. He was surprised to find it where he had dropped it, with a posse of sharp young men keeping watch over it. After ascertaining by examination that the contents were all right, he left, saying he had no idea that Boston folks were half so honest. The "Vigilance Committee" then dissolved, the chairman muttering to himself—"I suspected there was something in it."—Herald.

Court of Common Pleas—Adj. Term.

Exeter, April 4.

Case 120—Smith vs. Harvey is still on trial. The nature of this action was stated in the Chronicle of Friday. D. Clarke, Esq. of Manchester is now engaged in argument for the defence. J. Porter, Esq. of Derry will follow for the plaintiff.

Elderoy Bunker of Lee, indicted and convicted at the Feb. term of being an accessory before and after the fact in a series of burglaries, committed during some time last year in the town of Nottingham, was called this morning. Said Bunker appearing and answering not, his sureties Robert Thompson of Lee, and John S. Walker of New Market, were called and their recognizance of $1000.00, declared forfeited.

At the coming in of the Court this afternoon, Messrs. Wells & Christie were heard in favor of the motion of the former gentleman for a continuance of cases 25 and 53, called the "Flowage Cases," and Messrs. French & Marston in opposition.

The Court decided that neither cases would be tried at this term, but at a future adjourned term, probably in May, the time to be fixed hereafter.

The following are the names of the new Jurors:

Richard Greenough, Atkinson;
Richard J. Sanborn, David Smith, Deerfield;
Joseph Montgomery, Edward Ballou, Derry;
Edwin A. Fickering, Greenland;
James Nevans, Londonderry.
Reuben L. Lane, Newington;
Geo. O. Dow, North Hampton;
Frederick W. Rogers, Ward 1, } Portsmouth.
Aaron Akerman, Ward 2, } Portsmouth.
Samuel Langdon, Ward 3, } Portsmouth.
Joseph Locke, 3d, Rye;
William Woodbury, Salem;

Police Court—April 4.

[Before Justice Parker.]

At the Police Court in this city, on Monday, Ellen Lynch was brought to trial for assaulting Mrs. Sullivan last week, and was sentenced to 15 days labor in the House of Correction. She was concerned in the assault with Margaret Lynch, who was sentenced on Thursday; but Ellen kept out of the way till Sunday, when she was taken. They are all Irish.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOC.

The young men of this city are just organizing a society, designated as the "Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association." The objects are to collect a library for the use of the members; to have debates, deliver essays, lectures, etc., at their room; and in every practicable way, to help diffuse knowledge among and elevate the members. At their meeting on Friday evening, the following board of officers was elected:

Samuel Gray, President;
Charles C. Harvey, Vice President;
Nath'l K. Raynes, Secretary;
Thomas Neil, Treasurer;
J. Fletcher Paul, Librarian;
Wm. O. Head, } Directors.
Daniel J. Vaughan, } Directors.
Chas. T. Emery, } Directors.
Thos. H. Odiorne, } Directors.
James C. Brown, } Directors.
Freeman G. Beal, } Directors.

☞ It will be seen by his advertisement, that Mr. Gerry has postponed the opening of his new class in Drawing, to Thursday next, on account of the bad weather on Monday.—This is his last term for the present, and all who wish to avail themselves of his instruction will bear this in mind. Evidences of Mr. Gerry's success, as well as that of his numerous pupils, are to be seen in very many dwellings in our city and vicinity,

Rockingham Agricultural Society.—The Exeter News Letter copies from the Chronicle, the communication of K. on this subject; and answers the questions, when and where will the next meeting be held, by saying, "Next fall, at Exeter."

A Mistake.—We set down Mr. Clement, the newly appointed Collector of this port, as a resident of Chester; but we are now informed that he lives at Sanbornton Bridge. The error is of little consequence; but we make the correction thus early, that seekers of office under him may know where to direct their letters.

Broke Jail.—John Bennett and Charles H. Doe, who were confined in Exeter, N. H., Jail, on a charge of theft, made their escape on Saturday night last. The Jailor offers a reward of $100 for their re-capture.

Re-Captured.—Sheriff Dearborn of Exeter pursued and apprehended both these fugitive prisoners, at Concord, on Monday forenoon, just as they were taking their departure for the North, per railroad—and in the afternoon returned them in safety to their place of confinement in Exeter jail.

Augusta South Western Plank Road.—The stockholders have engaged young Mr. Tuttle, of Boston, son of Hugh H. Tuttle, Esq., formerly of this city, as engineer, to survey and locate their road.

A person while firing at a mark near North ampton depot a few days since, discharged a ball from his rifle, which glanced and struck a wood sawing machine, near which a man was standing, from which it glanced a second time, striking the man's side, and falling into his overcoat pocket.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

FROM HAVANA.

NEW YORK, April 3.—The steamer Empire City, from New Orleans via Havana, March 29, arrived at this port at nine o'clock this morning, with 60 passengers. Left at Havana, U. S. steamer Saranac.

A private correspondent of the Herald, writing from Havana under date of March 29th, says that more slaves had been landed, at which the Captain-General, Canedo, was apparently very angry. He had cause! a large number of persons to be arrested, but what will be their fate is unknown.

General Santa Anna arrived at Havana on the 28th, and left the next day for Vera Cruz. He was accompanied by his wife, daughter, and a large number of officials.

The health of Vice President King had not improved; he contemplated leaving for Mobile about the 6th inst. in the U. S. steamer Fulton. Mr. King is reported to be disgusted with the discourteous conduct of the Captain-General, and would leave the island without seeing him.

SAN JUAN.

The city government which Capt. Hollins has just upset at San Juan, seems to have been a clique of American fillibusters, which had assumed more power than was agreeable to Mr. Fillmore's Cabinet, which sent out the Cyane on purpose to regulate matters. The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says—

The "surrender" which the Juan authorities made, or wished to make, to Capt. Hollins, was not at all a matter of necessity, but of choice. He did not molest the town at all, but confined himself rigidly to the protection of the company's property on the opposite shore. In this he obeyed orders, and we are inclined to think the orders were correct. The nature of the government established at San Juan was not of that settled, unquestionable character, which required a United States ship of war to look on and see the property of American citizens destroyed by that government. If the title of Punta Arenas is in the government of Nicaragua, then of course the United States government is responsible to to Nicaragua for the act of Capt. Hollins in landing men there, and not to the village of San Juan. Nicaragua will be much obliged to him for the service.

The San Juans (or rather the few Americans who have contrived to be its rulers,) seem anxious to make it appear that Great Britain will be displeased with the course of Captain Hollins. We doubt it very much. On the contrary, having withdrawn her protection from the Mosquito territory, we are inclined to think she will be happy to see the American government indirectly discountenancing an incipient Texas game in the same territory. Give to Yankee adventurers the village of San Juan for a foot-hold, and all the adjacent territory would, under one pretext or another, be in due time annexed, as a matter of course. Now we understand it to be the policy both of England and the United States to seek no advantage over each other, in any arrangement which may be made for the government of Central America, or the prosecution of the canal.

The arrangement mutually assented to by Great Britain and the United States on the 30th April, 1852, for the adjustment of Central American difficulties, conceded San Juan to Nicaragua. But Nicaragua did not consent to the arrangement, having objections to some features of it, and thus it failed. The pretensions of San Juan to independence date from the 1st of May, 1852, just one day after the conclusion of the arrangement aforesaid, between Great Britain and the United States, which arrangement was only defeated by the dissent (not long since ascertained) of the state of Nicaragua.

RAILROAD IRON FOR CANADA.—Three ships at East Boston, the past week, have been discharging railroad iron for the Canada railroads, to be forwarded over the Grand Junction Railroad. The pattern is quite different from that used upon our railroads, it being the U pattern instead of the T.—Bunker Hill Aurora.

A "BOXED" SOLDIER.—At Halifax, N. S. a short time since, a soldier in the British army was arrested on a charge of obtaining a quantity of goods by false pretences. He was placed in charge of a Sergeant, who proved false to his trust and agreed to desert with his prisoner. A few days after, the Sergeant gave himself up and informed as to the whereabouts of his fellow deserter. He was found at the place designated nailed up in a box marked "Boston, this side up with care." When released from his disagreeable position, he was in a state of great exhaustion. His intention probably was to come to Boston in the box, but his liberation saved his life.

FALSE PRETENCE.—At Cincinnati, on Wednesday, Charles A. French, of the firm of Champlin & French, was arraigned for obtaining a draft upon New Orleans for $2525, from Ellis & Morton, to whom he gave a bank check for the amount, which was not "good," and his firm was bankrupt. Esquire Marchant decided that he did not obtain the draft with felonious intent, and French was discharged. —Boston Courier.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER TO HON. JOHN P. HALE.—The Free Soilers of Massachusetts are making arrangements for a complimentary dinner to their greatest champion, Hon. John P. Hale, who is at present in Boston. It will take place early in May, and will be attended by the foremost men of the party.

CLAMS.—It is estimated that New York wholesales and retails clams to the value of $600,000 per annum. Some 2100 craft of various sizes, valued at $150,000, are engaged in the clam trade. About 8000 persons are variously employed in the trade. Large quantities are pickled and sent as far as California.

STABBING.—Geo. S. Eldridge of Brewster Mass., is arrested and committed for stabbing a young woman in the side, who had refused to receive his addresses. The knife struck a bone and glanced off, which saved her life.

Health and Strength.

SPRING is the proper time of the year to purify the Blood, by taking Medicinal Bitters. We are ever taking sweet food into the stomach, forgetting that the system demands a proper amount of Bitter to counteract the sweet. Among the many articles in the market, none have proved better or of more efficacy than the following:

Dr. S. O. Richardson's Sherry Wine Bitters;
Dr. Pierce's Indian Restorative Bitters;
Dr. Langley's Root & Herb Bitters;
Dr. Atwood's Vegetable Jaundice Bitters

These Bitters are purely medicinal; and are not made for any other object and any person purchasing of the subscriber who is not satisfied, shall have the money returned.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.

The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 33 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair, —with all necessary barns and out-buildings.

The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.

The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.

Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan of payment made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.

If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

French Zinc Paint.
Ground in Prepared Linseed Oil.

THE Subscribers having made arrangements to receive PURE FRENCH ZINC, fresh ground from the Factory, would respectfully call the attention of the trade, and consumers in general to this beautiful article, which when properly prepared and used makes the MOST BRILLIANT and DURABLE WHITE in use. It has been used in France for the past five years, and has entirely superceded White Lead as a paint.

The FRENCH ZINC, prepared as above, is offered in quantities to suit purchasers at the Manufacturer's Depot.

LYON'S
FOR THE HAIR.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,
For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to campare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all minera properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can have avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE,

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

Commissioner of Patents."

COUGH REMEDY!

FOR THE COMPLETE CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood,

AND ALL OTHER LUNG COMPLAINTS TENDING TO CONSUMPTION!

THE above Expectorant, prepared by an experienced Physician and Chemist, has now become a standard Preparation, and is offered for the COMPLETE CURE of those diseases of the Throat and Lungs, which, if neglected, usually terminate fatally in Consumption. It contains no Opium, Calomel, or any mineral whatever, but is composed entirely of those Roots, Herbs, and Vegetable substances which have a specific influence upon the Lungs and their connected organs. Its immediate effect is to allay all irritation, and gently remove the phlegm and other morbid secretions from the throat and Air-passages, thus relieving the Cough, by subduing the inflammation and other causes which give rise to it. It is approved of and recommended by Physicians of the highest standing, and may be given with perfect safety to the youngest child or the most delicate female.

MISS LOUISA SWARTZ.

THE STRANGE GIRL IN CINCINNATI.—The Cincinnati Times, of the 27th ult., gives the following conclusion of the singular fancy of Miss Louisa Swartz:—This young lady, of whom we spoke a few days since, as having excited much wonder among the citizens of Newport by her singular determination to live nine days and nights in the woods, on bread and water, completed her term of penance at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon. During her stay there she has been visited by ten thousand persons; on Good Friday afternoon alone, four thousand persons visited her in three hours and a half. She has been closely guarded by her friends, for much fear was entertained for her safety on account of the astounding developements which she made in regard to the nunneries. Indications were rife that an effort would be made to abduct her, or close her mouth, by fair means or foul. So great indeed was the exasperation in a certain quarter, that on Thursday night her straw covering was fired, and by a miracle, almost, she escaped burning. As it was, she lost considerable clothing, and several valuable keepsakes. It being generally known that she would join the Protestant church yesterday morning, the German Lutheran chapel, of Newport, was densely crowded at an early hour, and many went away unable to gain admission. Her appearance, as she passed down the aisle, created a great sensation, and a whisper ran through the whole congregation. After the sermon, she was admitted into membership, the excitement of which, however, together with her exhaustion, produced a sudden illness, and she was carried into the parsonage next door. She soon became better, and when the services closed, no doubt was entertained of her recovery. On being questioned touching the peculiarity of her course, she answered by laying her hand on her heart and saying:—"This satisfies me—perhaps you would take some other means of easing your conscience." She has heretofore always appeared sane, and, at present, to all appearance, is entirely rational. Now that she has finished her eccentric course, and become an humble citizen again, we leave this convert from Catholicism as we found her—the modest Louisa Swartz.

THE FAT MINISTER OF BEVERLEY.—His name is Mr. C., and as I wrote Helen in my last letter about the biggest bell I had ever seen in my life, let me now write little Fanny about the biggest man I have ever seen. He is so heavy that he cannot walk; he would weigh more than two like your papa. We found him sitting on an arm chair that could have been made into a bed for you and Helen to sleep in. When he goes to the church to preach, which he does very often, he gets upon a wooden horse called a velocipede, which runs upon wheels, and with this he moves through the streets, and through the church till he gets to the foot of the pulpit, and then two great strong men servants push him up the stairs and through the door of the pulpit with their backs and their shoulders, when he sits squash down upon an immense cushion, and preaches, sitting, to the people; for to do it standing, would be impossible. He received us with great politeness; is a literary and gentlemanly person, and so much esteemed that his odd movements in public excite no ridicule, he being very much respected and sympathized with.—Correspondence of Chalmers.

ENGLISH.—An English paper describing the provisions taken on board a life-boat for a trial trip, says that a barrel of porter was carefully stowed in the hold, and a large jar of water was placed in the netting. The only reason for taking the water at all, probably, was that somebody might be sea-sick, when it would be wanted for medicine!

SENSIBLE HORSES.—Laing, in his "Travels in Norway," says that the Horses in that country have a very sensible way of taking their food. Instead of swilling themselves with a pailful of water at a draught, no doubt from the fear of not getting any again, and then overgorging themselves with dry food for the same reason; they have a bucket of water put down beside their allowance of hay.—It is amusing to see with what relish they take a sip of the one and a mouthful of the other alternately, sometimes only moistening their mouths, as a rational being would do while eating a dinner of such dry food. A broken-winded horse is scarcely ever seen in Norway. This is a practice we strongly recommend in our own stables.—Spirit of the Times.

SEQUEL TO UNCLE TOM.—The Boston correspondent of the N. Y. Herald writes:—

"One reason why the publication of the Key to Uncle Tom's Cabin has been delayed, is, that the publishers may hear from England, where it is to be published simultaneously with its appearance in America. The exact number of copies ordered is 46 thousand, and 60 thousand copies are printed. The first copy of Uncle Tom's Cabin was sold on the 19th of March, 1852, since which time there have been 305 thousand copies disposed of.—The publishers say they would give Mrs. Stowe one hundred thousand dollars for her property in the two works. They have been made rich, as well as she, by the publication of only one of them, and there is no saying where the sales will stop. Mr. Jewett, the principal publisher, is an old liberty party man, and voted for Mr. Birney, in 1840, when there were but few political abolitionists here—about a thousand or so."

SMALL POTATOES.—Mr. J. Case, of Troy, Pa., says:—"I have seen several large stories in the papers lately on raising potatoes, and must tell you one that has not been in print. One of my neighbors planted last spring, one bushel of the smallest kind of all sorts of potatoes, (and cut every one at that, making two pieces to a hill,) and harvested 80 bushels of good sized tubers from the one bushel planted."

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6, 1853.

THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—A recent census of the Sandwich Islands exhibits some facts of startling interest. The present population of the seven islands forming the group is 80,641. The deaths during last year were 7,943, while the births were only 1,478—an average of six deaths to one birth. The foreigners number only 1,787. This is an extraordinary state of things, and we doubt whether its parallel can be found in the history of the world. In the time of Cook, this people numbered 400,000; thus in seventy years they have decreased 320,000. In 1836 they numbered 108,579—decrease in seventeen years, nearly 28,000 Such a rapid decrease of native population is a deeply melancholy spectacle. At the present rate of decrease, another generation will hardly have passed away ere this people will be blotted from the face of the earth.

Vices, not to be named, have been their destruction. Their own former customs, and their native mildness, made them an easy prey to the most demoralizing usages introduced among them, by unprincipled, reckless, and debased white men. The introduction of Christian Missions may have mitigated some of the evils there existing: probably it has—but the downward progress is but too apparent, as well as fearfully rapid.

To every human heart, the spectacle of a whole people's extinction must be in itself a sad one: and to the eye of one who has no belief in another and better world, nothing but thick darkness is visible in the scene: but to the eye of faith the sun shines beyond the cloud, and the darkness flies away before the light which it cannot comprehend.

BLUNDER UPON BLUNDER.—Some time ago, it was reported from Washington, that the Japan expedition was countermanded by Pres. Pierce.

Next, the Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce writes, "No public order has been promulgated to that effect. But we know that the Columbus, which was intended for the Japan expedition, has been ordered to the Mediterranean."

Lastly the Portland Advertiser says,

"The statement that the Columbus has been withdrawn from the Japan expedition, and ordered to the Mediterranean, must be incorrect. The Columbus, 74, the only vessel of that name in the navy, is laid up in ordinary at Norfolk, and there has been no intention of commissioning her for any station. We understand that the Macedonian razee, nearly ready at New York, has had her destination changed to the Brazil station, probably to relieve the flag ship Congress, whose term of service has about expired."

AN INDEPENDENT PAPER.

Such an one has some great advantages, but there is also a disadvantage, viz.: being suspected of being or doing the most contradictory things. There is a lively little daily in Newburyport, called the Union, democratic in its politics, but pledged to no sect in religion, and meaning to be courteous to all sects.

The editor says:

"A year ago, or so, we thought we would report a sermon from each of the clergymen in town, with perhaps some remarks upon the men and their societies, the same as we would make of a Free Masons' or Odd Fellows' celebration. We commenced with giving a Fast Day sermon from a very talented clergyman, upon the relative duties of parents and children. Now the people of this place generally are very liberal and free, and we have often had occasion to know this. A few days after, however, as we were passing, some one cries out, "infant damnation;" and looking round we saw a friend who took us to task for publishing that sermon. "What does he know about the duties of parents and children, who believe that little infant innocence will be damned?" said he. Again we published an orthodox discourse, and some liberal minded persons told us, that we did not believe, and it was too bad that such stuff should be published in this age. We passed to a third which was a Universalist sermon, when some of our congregational acquaintances asked us how long we had been of that belief; and one of them with tears in his eyes said, "when I voted in Newbury to shut them out of the town house, I did not think they would ever have a church of their own, and a newspaper to defend them." In a little while came Thomas Paine's birth day, and we noticed that revolutionary patriot, when both Jew and Gentile came down from Mount Zion and from Jericho upon us. At the dedication of the Catholic church we made another trial of this matter, and gave a slight description of their house and their services. Since then we have been called a confirmed Catholic, and two or three honest old ladies have been at our house to see what was to become of our better half, when we shall have taken priest's orders and become a frightful Jesuit."

Charles Kennedy, a respectable citizen of Pittsburg, Pa. while attempting, a few days since, to leap upon the platform of a train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, miscalculated the distance and fell on the track; the four cars passed over his body and killed him instantly.

The Assembly of Wisconsin have finally passed a bill abolishing the death penalty, and substituting therefor imprisonment for life.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

Broadway Railroad—Mrs. Fillmore's Funeral—Black Swan—Hippodrome—Strike—Dust—Amusements.

NEW YORK, April 4, 1853.

Messrs. Editors:—Yesterday the decision of the Supreme Court was given continuing the injunction against the grantees of the proposed railroad, and therefore against all railroads. Judge Morris's opinion differed from a majority of the bench, and unquestionably his was the correct view. He argues that the streets are not private property, but under the control of the corporation, which has the power to permit a railroad to be laid on Broadway. However unwise may be its grant, its right is indisputable.

Mrs. Fillmore's remains were consigned to their final resting place Saturday. The funeral was solemn and impressive. If the most sincere sympathy could console Mr. Fillmore under this divine affliction, he must be resigned; for he has the sympathy of his countrymen. President Pierce's letter to him was very affecting, and he who went into the White House clad in the garb of mourning, can feel for him who has left in grief—not at the loss of the high position, but the companion of his honors and love. Mrs. Cass was buried yesterday.

Miss Greenfield, the Black Swan, gave her first concert at the Metropolitan Hall on Thursday evening last. Without discussing her musical abilities, which are of an inferior order, I will only say she was "black as the ace of spades," and I never saw darkness more visible. She was awkward to perfection—if I may so speak, and blushed frequently, though my friend St. Nicholas declares that her blushes were not perceptible. Gross scandal! The Black Swan is soon to leave our shores for England, where Mrs. Stowe will doubtless take her by the hand, and the Duchess of Sutherland will entertain them both.

The interior of the main building and enclosure of the Hippodrome is completed.—Artists and upholsterers will commence to decorate the interior this week. Florists are also employed in laying out the gardens, &c. On the whole it will be the grandest affair of the kind ever undertaken in this country. It will share attention equally with the World's Fair. I notice that St. Nicholas is strongly opposed to the Fair, and sarcastically terms it "a hot house." I would remind him that the smallest of jewels are sometimes the most precious. He is prejudiced.

The house carpenters of this city have struck for increased wages, and resolutely backed their demand. They formed a procession and paraded the principal streets, headed by a band of music. These strikes occur often, and are quite right, for their wages are comparatively small, and provisions of every description are at unusual prices.

The dust in Broadway for nearly a month past has been intolerable. Something must be done to remove this evil. In London the streets are swept by carts which collect the dirt as they pass over the pavements. A similar plan should be adopted here. It is disgraceful that so splendid a thoroughfare as Broadway should be rendered almost impassible.

At Broadway Theatre the plays announced for this evening are Brutus: To London and back for Five Pounds. Niblo's—La Favorita. Burton's—Paris and London. Wallack's—Faint Heart never won Fair Lady. American Museum—Fortune's Frolic.

I remain yours, respectfully,
METROPOLITAN.

MAYOR OF PORTLAND.—James B. Cahoon is the "Citizen's Candidate," in the Portland Advertiser. Neal Dow is the Maine Law candidate. Both these are whigs. And Mr. Edward Fox, a democrat, came within one of being nominated on Monday evening—but he was not. Both parties, or rather all parties there, are in confusion; and the election will be a lottery.

THE TWINS.—Among the petitions presented to the Mayor and Aldermen of Boston, on Monday evening, was one from the Siamese Twins Chang and Eng, for a license to exhibit themselves and children. It will doubtless be granted.

A bill has been reported in the Pennsylvania Legislature, fixing the price of a license at $200 for the sale of spirituous liquors, in Philadelphia city and county, and also limiting the number of licenses to be granted, with other guards and preventives against disturbances of the peace and violations of law.

The church of the Rev. Mr. Ginstiniani, a convert from the church of Rome, at Cincinnati, was attacked by a mob with stones and clubs, and the congregation had to leave the church for safety. The church has been attacked three times.

A contemporary learns that a "contribution box" is placed in one of the bar rooms in Boston, where people can deposit for the benefit of the house; but the landlord declares he will sell no more liquor—he is going to try the experiment of giving it away!

LOCAL.

Reported for the Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Adj. Term.

EXETER, April 5.

Case 120, Smith vs. Harvey, trespass quare clausum fregit. This case was submitted to the Jury this morning, who returned in a short time a verdict for the Deft. in the following terms: "The Jury find that all that part of the close in the Plff.'s declaration mentioned wherein the alleged trespass was committed, was the close, soil and freehold of the said Deft. as in his said plea alleged."

The Court decided that the two "Flowage Cases" would be tried at an adjourned term, to be holden in Exeter on the 16th day of May, proximo.

Case 121, Tilton vs. Town of East Kingston, is now on trial. This is an action of trespass on the case, for the neglect of the Deft. to keep a highway in repair, in consequence of which the Plff. travelling in the night time, was damaged in preson and property.

The defence is that the said road had been abandoned, a new one having been laid out.

Marston for Plff.; Wells & Bacon for Deft.

TEMPERANCE WATCHMEN.

EUREKA CLUB No. 32, of Temperance Watchmen, at their Quarterly choice of officers on Saturday evening, elected the following board:

John Dame, S. O.;
William C. Hatch, J. O.;
Levi Lamb, R. S.;
Frank W. Miller, C. S.;
Rev. A. R. Bradbury, C.;
Wm. W. Dow, M.;
David Tooke, A. M.

On our fourth page to-day, we give an extract from the Concord Crusader, explaining the objects of this organization.

TWO CRAYON DRAWING.—We would remind the reader that the last opportunity, for the present, of beginning a term of practice in this beautiful art, is presented in Mr. Gerry's School, which is to commence on Friday, as per advertisement.

NEW NAMES.—A Manchester newspaper styles Portsmouth and Concord, the Joppa and Jerusalem of New Hampshire. Well: Joppa was a seaport; so is Portsmouth. Jerusalem was the holy city—shall we fill out the parallel?

POSTMASTER.—It will be seen by our news column, that Gideon H. Rundlett, Esq., is to be our new Postmaster. We have no doubt he will perform the arduous duties of the office with exactness and precision, and to general satisfaction. We have never had a better P. M. than the present incumbent—always so prompt, attentive and courteous. We only wish his successor to do as well.

☞ In the report of the trial of Nathaniel Woodworth, we stated that he was bound in the sum of $200 to keep the peace for one year. We are requested by one of his bondsmen to state that he is under bonds to keep the peace only till the September term of the Court of Common Pleas.

The Exeter News Letter says that the machinery, &c., of Exeter Factory is to be materially improved. It says that owing to the cutting off of the forests, the water power of Exeter River has materially decreased within twenty years.

For the Chronicle.

MISS SALLIE HOLLEY.

MR. EDITOR:—I am happy to learn that Miss Sallie Holley from Western New York is expected to speak at the Temple in this city once or more in behalf of the enslaved, and sincerely hope that all who can will listen to her. She is said to be one of the most eloquent speakers in the country, male or female. A writer from Wilmington, Delaware, speaking of her second lecture there, says:

Before the hour appointed for the meeting arrived, notwithstanding nearly every church in the city was open for public worship at the same hour, such was the effect produced on the audience at the previous meeting, that every seat was occupied. Many attended who had never before listened to an anti-slavery lecture. Sallie commenced, as at the previous meeting, by reading a chapter from the New Testament. On each verse she commented, as she read it, in a tone of voice and manner that carried conviction to the minds of the audience, that her heart and soul were fully alive to the cause she had espoused; after which she addressed the throne of grace, petitioning the Most High, if consistent with His will, to open the eyes of all to the horrors and evils of the slave system, and if consistent with His divine will, to break every yoke, and let the oppressed go free. After which, for nearly an hour, she completely enchained her audience with one of the most eloquent and heartfelt appeals to their religion, humanity and sympathy, I ever listened to. During her lecture, many shed tears, who had never shed a tear for the slave before in their lives.

We also hear similar reports from her lectures in many other places. N.

A GOOD OFFICE.—The consulate at Panama is estimated by the correspondent of the New York Courier and Inquirer to be worth from $35,000, to $100,000 a year. The commercial agency at St. Thomas is estimated on the same authority at from $6000 to $10,000.

A large number of army appointments were also confirmed.

RAILRGAD ACCIDENTS, &c.

Pittsburg, April 4.—The river measures eight feet, and a further rise is expected. It has been raining all day.

Yesterday morning, at Rodebaug's station, near Gransburg, on the Pennsylvania railroad, Mr. Rodebaugh was standing on the road, when a locomotive came up and struck him, throwing him sfx feet off the track. His back was broken and he sustained other injuries, causing instant death.

Baltimore, April 4.—Yesterday a car run off the track on the Richmond and Petersburg railroad. The bottom of the car was ripped out and the passengers thrown to the ground. Six persons were badly injured, but no lives were lost.

Burlington, April 5.—The house of Arnold Farr of West Claremont, N.H., was burned last night about 11 o'clock, together with three of his children.

Cincinnati, April 2.—Hon. Thomas F. Marshall was killed by one of his own tenants, near Marysville, on last Wednesday.

FOREIGN MISCELLANY.

Mr. Borrows, the master of the Cottesmore hounds, has sold two hunters, Guardsman and Evergreen, to Napoleon III., for £400.

It appears from an official report that the directors of the East India Company have spent £53,000 in house dinners, during the last eighteen years.

Protestantism is said to be rapidly on the increase in Florence, notwithstanding the efforts of the Jesuits to check it.

An immense order for handcuffs and legirons is now in course of execution in Birmingham. A large quantity has already been shipped for Melbourne.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Syracuse is engaged on some important excavations in the necropolis of the ancient city of Cumæ. A report of the interesting objects there found will shortly be published.

The young sculptor Gayrans, of Paris, has received the distinguished honor of a command from the Empress to execute her bust in marble.

The Germain portrait painter, Winterhalter, is at present visiting Madrid. He is to paint a portrait of the Queen Isabella.

The Duke of Brunswick has met with a sad mishap in Paris. On returning home from the ball given by the Senate to the Emperor, he found that his diamond star had been cut from his coat.

There are two Emperors of Japan; the temporal Emperor has the seat of his authority at Jeddo; the ecclesiastical Emperor reigns at Meaco, a descendant of the Sun Goddess, the tutelar deity of Japan.

Sir Henry Bulwer is sinking under the effects of a disease, the seeds of which were received at Washington.

In the Danish theatres the gas lights in the audience part of the house are turned down during the acts, and the stage alone is illuminated. This adds greatly to the effect of the scenes and costumes. It has an effect also upon the treasury.

Mrs. Trollope, the busy novelist, resides at a handsome villa in Florence, which passes under the name of Trollopina. She is still as industrious as ever, and has for a near neighbor Charles Lever—"a bluff, humorous looking Irishman, quite in keeping with his works."

That eminent champion of Romanism, the Grand Duke of Tuscany, has conferred the honor of knighthood of the Order of St. Joseph upon the Jew Rothschild, in consideration of the service of that wealthy unbeliever in negotiating a loan. Can liberality go beyond this? A Jew admitted to an order dedicated to the husband of the blessed Virgin, and conferred by a prince who imprisoned men and women for daring to read the Testament of the Divine Son of that Blessed Virgin!

It is reported that Madame de Montijo, the mother of the Empress of France, is to be married to the Prince of Hesse. It appears that the Prince has a fortune of £12,000 a year, and that the Emperor proposes to settle an equal sum on the lady.

There is much talk at Rome about the proposed formation of a regiment of Irishmen, to support the Papacy. A Mr. O'Brien is said to have submitted this project to the Papal government.

It has been estimated that in Macclesfield the large silk manufacturers are annually plundered to the amount of £15,000, and those of Manchester to the extent of £20,000, by the work-people in their employ.

Notice.

THE subscriber having disposed of his entire Stock in trade, to WM. ALFOSTER, would cheerfully recommend him to his former patrons and the public. JOHN WALL.

Health and Strength.

SPRING is the proper time of the year to purify the Blood, by taking Medicinal Bitters. We are ever taking sweet food into the stomach, forgetting that the system demands a proper amount of Bitter to counteract the sweet. Among the many articles in the market, none have proved better or of more efficacy than the following:

Dr. S. O. Richardson's Sherry Wine Bitters;
Dr. Pierce's Indian Restorative Bitters;
Dr. Langley's Root & Herb Bitters;
Dr. Atwood's Vegetable Jaundice Bitters

These Bitters are purely medicinal; and are not made for any other object; and any person purchasing of the subscriber who is not satisfied, shall have the money returned.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.

The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 36 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair, with all necessary barns and out-buildings.

The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.

The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.

Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.

If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralizes the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its unrivalled—its incomparable virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all minera properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

Sold to the trade at a liberal discount, but commissioned in no instance.

TEMPERANCE WATCHMEN.

We wish to call the attention of our numerous readers to the temperance associations known as "Watchmen." We do not do this with the design of disparaging any other temperance organization, but in order to lay this new association before the temperance people, as one peculiarly adapted to our wants in getting and keeping the Maine Law.

It is a fact denied by no true lover of the temperance reformation, that in order to secure success in this as in all other undertakings, we must have some perfect organization, untouched by the prejudices of the people, and uncontaminated by a mingling with party or sect, and which will secure the attendance of the people at the weekly meetings. Without this freedom from all side issues it will be a work which will never be accomplished; but if taken on its own merits alone, without giving or asking favors from any party, the much wished for law will be obtained in a very short time.

The Watchmen Clubs are just the associations needed to fill the gap in the wants of the temperance men, as they combine all the good qualities of the other associations, and on some accounts are better calculated to effect the end desired. The expense (which too many of the temperance men make a turning point for their principles) of those Clubs is but a mite, so that no person from poverty will be debarred from the privilege of meeting in the council chamber.

It is owing to the efforts and power of Watchmen Clubs to a great extent, that the Liquor Law of Maine was ever passed, and to them do the people look to sustain it. Nor will they look in vain. In this State the same good effects can be secured by the means, and the example and proof of their efficiency shows that no delay is necessary to decide on their being worthy the countenance and co operation of all the temperance men.—Crusader.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1836) determined to present a new face, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and since we were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,
Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.
The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.
☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.
Specimens of the article may be seen at the office of the subscriber.

NEW YORK DRY GOODS TRADE.

From "Putnam's Monthly for April."

The great leading business of New York, that which gives employment to the vast fleets of sailing vessels and steam vessels that continually crowd its magnificent harbor; which builds the superb hotels that ornament its streets; creates banks, erects warehouses, extends its docks, attracts thousands of traders from all corners of the continent, and makes it the great, wealthy, elegant and busy metropolis it is—is Dry goods. Under this comprehensive head is included everything that is used for covering the human body, excepting shoes. New York is, in truth, what some of our ambitious tailors call their establishments, the great clothing emporium of the world.

A very considerable part of all the various articles used in clothing the limbs and backs of this entire continent, the calicoes of Manchester, the cloths of Yorkshire, the laces and hosiery of Germany, the millinery of France, the silks of India, and the cottons of Lowell, pass through the warehouses of New York, and pay their percentage to our merchants, who constitute a calico aristocracy. During the last year there was imported into the port of New York, foreign merchandise to the amount of one hundred and eighteen millions, seven hundred and sixty-three dollars; and of this amount, sixty-two millions, six hundred and eighteen thousand, four hundred and twenty-one dollars came under the head of dry goods.

More than one half the commerce of New York is in dry goods. We get a better idea of the immensity of this great branch of trade, by looking at that part of the city which the business almost entirely monopolizes. The U. S. Bonded Warehouse, fronting on Broadway, is used mainly for storing dry goods; and there were recently stored in this one building, goods to the amount of three millions of dollars. The dry goods dealers were once confined almost exclusively to Pearl-street.—But now Pearl-street has been nearly abandoned by the business, and the wholesale dry goods men occupy almost entirely ten other streets and about a mile of Broadway, besides having numerous large stores in other streets. These are all wholesale stores. The retailers of drygoods are nearly as numerous.

It is startling to enumerate the number of churches which have been pulled down and displaced to make room for the great business which spreads with such astounding rapidity over the whole lower part of the city, prostrating and utterly obliterating everything that is old and venerable, and leaving not a single land-mark, in token of the former position of the dwelling-places of our ancestors. Within the past twenty years six stately houses of worship and parsonges have been torn down, the contents of their grave-yards and family vaults ruthlessly scattered, and the sacred ground covered with long blocks of brick and free-stone warehouses for the storage of dry goods. Hotels, theatres, and private mansions have shared the same fate.

Calico is omnipotent, and whole streets melt away at her approach. On the sites of the time honored and venerated Mansion House and the City Hotel, on Broadway, are now blocks of brown-stone dry goods warehouses. Where the National Hotel once stood is a white marble building, of Elizabethan architecture, devoted exclusively to the sale of silks and ribbons; Stewart's "Marble Palace" is on the site of the Washington Hotel, and where the old Park Theatre once stood, there are now spacious brown-stone stores, occupied by drygoods jobbers and clothiers. Dey street, which, but a short time since, was exclusively occupied by private dwellings and boarding-houses, has been entirely torn down and rebuilt for the accommodation of drygoods dealers.

Stewart's is the only retail drygoods store on the east side of Broadway; the tide of fashion sets on the sunny side of our great thoroughfare, but the scarcity of stores will compel some of the great establishments further up to cross over, before long, and we hope to see more white marble fronts on the shady side of the street, where they are more needed than on the other side.

Murray street, which, but a short time ago, was wholly occupied by private dwellings of most intense respectability, has felt the influence of the great change that has overcome the lower part of our city.

The Universalist society, under the pastoral charge of Rev. E. H. Chapin, have sold their church in this street, to be converted into the inevitable drygoods stores.

A DILEMMA IN LOVE.—At a temperance meeting in London lately, an incident occurred which occasioned some mirth. In consequence of the remarks made by Mr. Fry on the subject of courtship, a note was handed up to him from a young lady at the end of the room, containing as follows:—"I have a lover who is a moderate drinker. If I discard him, will you warrant me a tetotaller in his stead?" After the laughter occasioned by the reading of this had subsided, Mr. Fry advised the lady by no means to discard her lover, but to use all her influence to make him a tetotaller. He thought that if she used a little address, and exercised a little patience, she would win her lover over before 1853 had expired.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, APRIL 7, 1853.

HOLY DAYS AND HOLIDAYS.

Webster defines a Holy Day, as "a religious festival; sometimes applied to a festival of any kind, for which Holiday is the most appropriate term."

His definitions of Holiday, are 1, a day set apart for commemorating some important event in history; a festival: 2, a day of joy and gaydty: 3, a day of exemption from labor; a day of amusement.

It is easy to see how the meaning of the word became gradually and pretty thoroughly altered; by annexing civil sports to religious festivals;—and merging the memory of the Saint and his deeds, in the enjoyment of a literal feast of fat things full of marrow, and of wine on the lees well refined.

To those who cared less about feasts, or who had no money to buy them, the cessation of labor and school, gave a respite for idleness and diversion.

This latter change has gone so far that among some mechanics, the term holiday has something passed over slightly, or forgotten. Thus among caulkers and ship painters, a place on a boat or vessel where the tar or paint brush has left little or no impression, is called a holiday.

In the sense of a play-day our fourth of July is our greatest holiday—though it can hardly be called a Holy Day in a religious or ecclesiastical sense. Fast Day, as observed by the New England Puritan Fathers, was a holy-day, but not a sporting holiday.

Fast Day, in these years, is a day of civil humiliation, by order of government. A few devout people of each denomination go to church, while the masses lounge about home, roam the fields or tempt the tide. A few devote the day to their usual work; the many spend it in idleness and dissipation.

CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD.—The construction of a new steamer, to be about two hundred tons burthens, has just been commenced by Mr. Pook. The work is being done under contract, by Mr. Blaisdell, of Medford.

The iron steamer Bibb is at the yard. Her boilers are being removed, and will be placed in the new steamer.

The work on the Vermont is progressing slowly, partly in consequence of inability to procure good seamen to man her under the present regulations.—Boston Commonwealth.

The regulations are defective—but worst of all, the wages are too low. If the present democratic administration and congress are true to their name, they will raise the wages of the common soldier and the common sailor. It ought not to be a party question, but one of general interest. If we desire to employ soldiers and sailors, we ought to pay them a reasonable compensation.

Sailors are with difficulty obtained for the merchant service at $20 per month; how can it be expected that the U. S. ships can be manned when $12 is the highest price paid.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.—Several gentlemen of Boston have desired the Courier of that city to notice publicly the honorable conduct of their friend, JOHN PERRY, Jr., formerly of Boston, and now resident in San Francisco, California, "inasmuch (they say) as he has fulfilled to the letter his moral obligations to us, while not legally bound so to do. Demands of long standing have been nobly met, and fully discharged, both principal and interest—the debtor having exerted every effort to trace out and satisfy his creditors. Such instances, to the honor of human nature, do occasionally occur, and every case of the kind should be placed on record as a transaction worthy of universal imitation, as well as redounding to the lasting credit of all who thus faithfully perform their duty."

CONCORD CITY GOVERNMENT.—The new city government is strongly democratic. At the second trial for Mayor, on Tuesday, Gen. Joseph Low was elected, having received 828 votes; Bradley, whig, 635; scattering 4. The democrats have 5 of the aldermen, and 11 of the 14 common council men.

PORTLAND.—At the city election, on the 5th, J. B. Cahoon, whig, who ran on the citizen's ticket, was elected Mayor, receiving 1313 votes; Neal Dow, temperance, had 353; FOX, democrat, 611; Sam'l Fessenden, free soil, 75; scattering 99. The whigs have four of the seven Aldermen, and 12 of the 21 Councilmen, and there was no choice of five.

It is a little singular that five of the presidential candidates—one, Webster, is dead; another, and the successful candidate, lost his little boy, soon after his election, by a most distressing accident, and his own and wife's lives were saved almost miraculously; while the third, fourth and fifth, viz: Fillmore, Cass and Douglas, have each had to mourn the loss of their wives since the canvass. Surely, death strikes in high places.

GENERAL THOMAS F. MARSHALL.

The death of General Thomas F. Marshall has been anounced. He was killed in an affray with one of his tenants, a death which from the impulsive temperament of the deceased, is not strange. General Marshall was for some years a member of Congress, and was a man of fine talents and frank manners. He was notorious as a duellist, having fought, among other duels, one with Hon. Henry Clay and another with Col. Webb of New York. The Louisville Times says:

"General Marshall was warmly esteemed by a large number of ardent friends, who will learn his unhappy fate with deep sorrow. He was an impulsive, quick-tempered man, and had been, by the force of his excitable temperament, involved in many sudden and desperate broils; but he was as magnanimous as he was brave, and ever ready to forgive, make reparation, and be reconciled, when his anger cooled. He was highly popular in the region of the State where he resided, and was frequently elected to represent his county in the State Legislature. He served his country in the war of 1812, and was a Brigadier-General in the war with Mexico."

Mr. Marshall, while in Congress, was quite dissipated, but subsequently reformed, as is reported, through the influence of Governor Briggs. He became an eloquent and enthusiastic lecturer in the temperance cause. We have heard it stated that of late years he had partially relapsed into his old habits—a fact which, considering the associates which his eventful career, and frank and ardent feelings brought around him, is not a matter of wonder.

His history, in this respect, is like that of hundreds of political and public men in all parts of the country, who seemed to become temperance men during the height of the Washingtonian reform, but relapsed into their sottish habits when the novelty and excitement were past. We had several of them in this state.

The N. Y. Tribune, noticing him as the "Tom Marshall" of Congress, says:

Mr. Marshall was a member of the memorable XXVIIth Congress, where he distinguished himself by his advocacy of a National Bank and a Protective Tariff, as also by his hostility to a National Bankrupt Law. He was elected as a Whig, but being (we believe) a descendant from an old Federal stock, he never cordially liked Mr. Clay, and was bitterly hostile to Tylerism. He disliked the Taylor movement, and took the stump for Gen. Cass in 1848. Last year he was a canvasser for Gen. Scott, so that he has had the luck to be on the losing side in every contest since that of 1840.

Mr. Marshall must have been about fifty years of age at the time of his death. Tall, erect, and graceful, he was one of the best natural orators of our country, with talent sufficient to fill any station with credit. But he lacked steadiness of purpose, and perhaps fixedness of principle. He formerly drank too freely, but was converted to the faith of total abstinence in 1842, and became one of its most eloquent and attractive advocates. He never weaned himself, however, from the love of tobacco, which he continued to use immoderately, and which ultimately dragged him back to his old habit of drinking—we hope not to the excess to which he had at one time been addicted. We believe he had not recently been ambitious of political position. Mr. Marshall had many brilliant, and some admirable qualities, and, with a better training, might have been eminent and eminently useful.

THE LATTER-DAY SAINTS—On the 19th inst., there arrived at St. Louis, via New Orleans, about three hundred and thirty persons, Mormons, on their way to Salt Lake, chiefly from England. The St. Louis Republican learns from Mr. Wheelock, late presiding elder of the church in that city, and just returned from England, that there are six more ships on the way, chiefly freighted with members of this church and their families. He estimates the number expected by those ships at from twenty-five hundred to three thousand. He is advised of the arrival of a ship at the Balize with about three hundred persons from Denmark. Arrangements are making for the transportation from Europe next year, of about ten thousand. The growth of this body is one of the most singular novelties of the day.

STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION.—The New Orleans Delta of April 4, contains full details of a dreadful steamboat disaster which occurred near Galveston, occasioned by the explosion of the steamer Farmer. The total number of killed is 36, including 13 of the crew. No eastern names on the list.

Among the wounded is Mr. Barnum of Maine, who has since had his arm amputated. Beyond question the two boats Neptune and Farmer were racing at the time of the accident. Mr. Stackpole, one of the passengers, who had been expostulating with the Captain on the recklessness of his conduct, was getting the passengers to sign a written protest. The Captain, Engineer and Clerk are among the killed.

DEATH OF AN OLD AND RESPECTED GENTLEMAN.—Abel Hutchins, well known as the landlord of the Phœnix Hotel, at Concord, N. H., for a long series of years, died on Monday evening, at his residence in that place, at the age of 91. His venerable partner, the wife with whom he had lived 68 years, died about a week since, at the age of 86, and the husband, without any apparent disease, followed her in death as he had adhered to her in life.

Rev. Samuel J. May, of Syracuse, was invited to participate in the St. Patrick's celebration at that city, but declined from the reason that intoxicating liquors were to be provided. He wrote a very frank letter to the committee, the chairman of whom was the Mayor.

LOCAL.

FAST DAY.

In accordance with Gov. Martin's Proclamation to abstain from labor on Fast Day—we shall abstain this day from our usual avocations, and consequently issue no Chronicle on Friday.

NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.

The Messenger helps along the project for a High School House with a hearty assent: and not only so, suggests a location for it, or rather adopts that of an intelligent citizen, "who proposes to exercise the right of the city to open a street from the Universalist church to Auburn street, fence in the Court House so as to leave an open passage-way on each side, and in the rear thereof; between that and the new street, erect the proposed building. The situation would be a pleasant and retired one, and the new street would have the tendency to cause a speedy improvement in that at present neglected part of our city."

We hope the City Council will make a speedy move for a new school house of competent size, elegant proportions, and durable material.

As to the location proposed, it is pretty good, without being the best. We should prefer a high, dry spot, if such an one can be found in a situation sufficiently central.

CITY WATCHMEN.—The following persons were appointed Watchmen for the current year, by the Board of Aldermen in Executive session, on Thursday evening last:

WARD 1.—Geo. Hodgdon, Ephraim Downing, Haskell Brown, George Clark, Albert Spinney, Oliver Ham.

Court of Common Pleas—Adj. Term.

EXETER, Wednesday, April 6.

121. Tilton vs. East Kingston.—The jury returned a verdict this morning, in favor of plff., assessing the damages at $12.

Cases numbered 122, 123, 125 and 128 were marked for the Court. 124, 127, 130, 131, 132, 142 and 143 were continued to the Sept. term. 126 was defaulted, and 133 was settled by parties.

Case 134. Atlantic Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. Ira Goodall.—This was an action of assumpsit, brought to recover assessments made upon a promissory note given by deft. for a policy of insurance.

The defence set up, was, that at the time the policy was issued, insurance upon the property existed in favor of the deft. in another office, and that by agreement of the parties that insurance was to be withdrawn, and was withdrawn shortly after the receipt of the new policy. The deft. afterwards apprehending that the existence of the old policy rendered the new one void at the time of the issue, requested the plffs. to endorse on the policy their assent to what had been done in regard to the old policy. The directors neglected or refused to do so. And therefore the deft contends that he was never lawfully insured by the plffs. and that the premium note was without consideration and void.

It appeared at the trial that deft. was insured in class No. 4 of the Atlantic Ins. Co., and that in issuing policies in that class the Ins. Co. numbered from 50 upwards—so that every policy bore a number fifty larger than it was entitled to. The deft. contends that this was a fraudulent misrepresentation of the true condition of the company, and that his premium note was not binding upon him.

A verdict was taken by consent for the plffs. subject to be set aside and judgment rendered for deft. according to the opinion of the Sup. Court on the foregoing facts.

Wells & Bacon for plff., Marston for deft.

Case 135 was continued, to abide the issue of the preceeding action. Cases 136 and 139 were settled. 137 was continued upon an agreed case. 138 was continued, plff. to pay costs of this term, and tax none. 147, case was agreed upon.

150. John W. Elliot vs. Jarvis McDuffy & Warren Q. Dow.—

This action, now on trial (4 o'clock P. M.) is trespass for taking and carrying away stone from Exeter to the Dry Dock in Portsmouth District Navy Yard.

Wood for pliff., Wells & Bacon for deft.

The Court will adjourn to-night, until Friday morning. There will be no more jury-trials after this day.

It is said that hundreds, if not thousands, of the parcels of land given away by Hon. Gerrit Smith, to poor and worthy white and colored people in the State, were advertised to be sold for taxes, 27th of December last.

Probably they were not sold, however: it would be just like Gerritt Smith to pay the taxes himself.

CONNECTICUT.—The election is a triumph of the democratic party throughout.

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

VARIOUS MATTERS AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, April 6.—The New Orleans nominations have been agreed upon. Ex-Senator Downs is to be collector; A. G. Penn, Commissioner of the Custom House; M. Miles District Attorney—all Unionists.

Lieut. Meigs, of the army, has been detached to act as general Superintendent of the building of the Capitol.

The administration has decided to approve the conduct of the Commander of the Cyane in the San Juan affair.

There is a rumor, apparently well authenticated, that Mr. Cushing, the Attorney General, will be sent as Minister to Spain.

Washington April 5.—The National Intelligencer of this morning states that private letters from Madrid say that the American minister had succeeded in obtaining the pardon of the Hungarians of the Lopez expedition, who had been sentenced to the mines.

Baltimore, April 6.—New Orleans papers of Wednesday contain later advices from Mexico. The authorities of Vera Cruz had decreed that the day of Santa Anna's landing should be held as a festival. Two states had voted for Cavalos.

EXPLOSION.—Cincinnati, April 5th.—The boiler in Phelps & Jordan's rolling mill, at Covington, exploded at noon to-day, and destroyed the building. Eight persons were dangerously wounded and a great many were injured, as about two hundred were working in and around the building. The boiler was carried 200 feet, and fell into the Licking river. The explosion is attributed to the neglect of the engineer.

DISASTER TO A GOVERNMENT VESSEL.—Savannah 4th.—The U. S. steam frigate Saranac, from Havana for this port, is badly ashore on Warsaw Sound. She left Havana on Tuesday, and went ashore on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. She has thrown overboard all her coal, and some of her officers have arrived here for assistance.

BANGOR.—A telegraphic despatch of April 6, informs us that the river was open, and cleared of ice; and that vessels were coming up.

☞ From the latest versions of the report, it appears that Gen. Thomas Marshall is the deceased person, and not his cousin, the Hon. Thomas F. Marshall.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARCTIC.

NEW YORK, April 5.

The steamer Arctic, from Liverpool, arrived at this port this afternoon, with 61 passengers.

The Madiai family have arrived at Marseilles.

Mr. Rives will return to the United States in May.

Mazzini is believed to be still in Piedmont.

There is a brisk demand for American eagles on the continent, where they are selling at a premium.

The Prince of Wales' tower, at Windsor castle, was lately burned from an overheated flue. Ten or twelve apartments were gutted. Damage estimated at £20,000.

The Duchess of Sutherland and forty ladies met at the Stafford House to report progress on the Harriet Beecher Stowe address, which is 26 folios in length, and on public exhibition in London.

Twenty sample bags of cotton, grown on the estates of the Pacha of Egypt, have been received by the Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

The reduction in the value of money in England begins to tell upon most classes of the community. Strikes have occurred in Liverpool among nearly all the trades; many of them obtained an advance without difficulty.

Lady Franklin's steamer Isabel was to sail during the week for Bhering's Straits, under the command of Mr. Kennedy.

The war steamer Napoleon is being fitted out at Toulon. Rumor says she is going to Civita Vecchia to bring the Pope to France.

On the receipt of the intelligence that the English Charge at Constantinople had sent to Malta for the English fleet, the French fleet lying at Toulon was despatched with all haste to the Archipelago. M. de Lecour was sent direct to Constantinople, and M. de Poupquincy to Vienna.

The Times correspondent states that the French government sent three notes to the Austrian government, remonstrating against the Lombardy confiscations.

The latest submarine telegraphic despatch from Paris says the news received by the French government leads to the belief that the Turkish affair will be amicably settled.

FROM JAMAICA.—The Savannah papers contain several additional items of intelligence from Jamaica, by the steamer Conway.

A correspondent of the Jamaica Standard, writing from Westmoreland, says:

"I regret to state that the small pox prevails to a fearful extent in this, the windward part of the parish. The people are dying rapidly, all without medical aid; and many, particularly the Africans located in the "bush," without any assistance whatever being rendered them. Nothing has been done by the authorities to alleviate the distress under which the people are laboring, except such cases as occur at Savanna-la-Mar, which are sent to the poorhouse for treatment.

The Falmouth Chronicle states that small pox still prevails at Savanna-la-Ma, and some deaths have occurred during the past fortnight.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.

The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 36 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair, —with all necessary barns and out-buildings.

The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.

The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.

Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.

If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair, CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralizes the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

Sold to the trade at a liberal discount, but commissioned in no instance.

A THRILLING INCIDENT.—The old flag staff at Jefferson Barracks had been shaking and toppling all winter, and the day being calm, the General had a party detailed to take it down.

A soldier, Michael McAnally, of Col. Bragg's battery, accordingly mounted the cross-trees and unshipped the topmast: from some cause it became unmanageable and glided through the platform to the ground. The mass at masthead kept his post composedly, and gave timely warning to the party below "to stand from under." Nine men out of ten with a spar fifty feet long shooting and rasping like an arrow through their hands, with an insecure footing at a dizzy height, would have "left the yard" and tumbled from the platform.

While the party below were removing the topmast, to the dismay and consternation of the by-standers, the main-mast with the soldier still poised at the mast-head, now swayed over, broke short off at its base, and plunged with a tremendous crash to the ground.

The soldier in the meantime, was seen to change his position as the mast went over, and circling high through the air with frightful velocity, he with perfect self possession, adjusted himself to clear the frame work of the cross-trees, and as the mast neared the ground, he, evidently with a well measured leap, alighted with safety amidst his comrades. All were startled into amazement, as much by the intrepidity displayed, as by the imminent peril it averted.

The main-mast was forty-eight feet high, the soldier landed at fifty from its base.—St. Louis Republican, March 23.

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.
PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.
The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.
☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.
Specimens of the article may be seen at the office of the subscriber.

AN EPIDEMIC AT COLLEGE.

A writer in Putnam's Monthly for April, gives a graphic description of Life in a Canadian College—where, among other odious restrictions, it was a rule to exclude the students as much as possible from the society of ladies. The following very natural scene occurred among the young gents, on the introduction of a young widow in their midst. The sight of a woman in California never produced more excitement. The writer says:—

Our correspondence was, of course, under strict surveillance, and woe to the billet-doux that was intercepted! The Faculty held that species of composition in holy horror. Every thing they could say or do was employed to guard us against the blandishments of dear woman. The Virgin Mary could be loved; but every other member of the sex, excepting those ladies who perished at the stake, and are immortalized in martyrology, was presented to us in no very prepossessing light.—Had we believed those sainted woman-haters, it was quite as dangerous to meet one's grandmother at noon-day, as to run against a pretty cousin of "sweet sixteen" behind the door.—We were, accordingly, very cautious how we cast our eyes about when at the parish church, or in walking out on holidays.

Flirtations were necessarily rare. The most noted affair I now have in mind is a bold swain, who fell head over ears in love with the daughter of the proud Siegneuresse at the village manor. But—alas! for "the course of true love,"—his passion went unrequited, and his sonnets to the infuriated "Prex," who thought proper to expose the poor fellow's secrets in presence of the whole Communauté. The young man was afterwards styled Monsieur le Seigneur.

Solicitous as the Faculty were of our Platonism, they could not very well do without the presence of women in the institution. But such as they had were a great deal worse than none. A glance at the most passable among them froze the heart—a Gorgon's head could not have done it more effectually. Those females were old, blear-eyed, horribly marked with the small-pox, and of the most unamiable tempers in the world. Such a collection of unapproachable Vestals, Mr. Barnum himself, indefatigable as he is in the pursuit of novelties, could never have assembled in one room together. His achievement with the Ceylon elephants is child's play compared with the success that crowned the Faculty in seeking out the repulsive in petticoats.

We were not even permitted to choose our laundresses, although we were obliged to pay our washing bills. They lived in the village, and came every Saturday afternoon to the parloir, but made no advances, in word or expression, to romantic young men.

I ought to except a fine old lady who presided over the hospital department. She had been a good-looking person in her day, and was a very tender nurse. Her daughter, who came to visit her for a few weeks, was quite pretty. But, what was a calamity for the peace and quiet of the collegians, she was a young widow. Regardless of "Mr. Weller's" admonitions to "Sammy," the Faculty admitted her within their walls. Her advent was the signal for an epidemic among the elder students. The sanitary condition of the institution was probably never worse than at that epoch. Young men were stricken down in all their vigor, and the "Infirmerie" was soon too small to receive them. The cases, too, had never been so inveterate before.—Treatment of the most violent nature was adopted in many instances; but dose after dose disappeared, and the sufferers still continued in agonies.

The matron's skill was baffled, as well as the village Galen's. In vain did they put their wise heads together, and devise hot baths and cold, mustard on the soles of the feet, ice around the head, and even emetics; every thing failed. The only improvement noticeable in the patients occurred when the exhausted old lady called in the assistance of her widowed daughter. Sunken eyes would brighten at her presence, and pale cheeks grow ruddy. Heart-rending groans were silenced, and the poor patients gained strength enough to converse with her.

The Faculty were for once at fault. They suspected everything but the true cause of this "general affection of the heart," which at length was accidentally discovered. The widow, having singled out a couple of good-looking fellows as her favorite patients, made private rivals who had to be jealous. They quarrelled. The feud spread from bed to bed more wildly than the epidemic which had prostrated them. Now that there was a "Helen" among them, their energies were aroused; contention grew rife, and, to the Directeur's horror, he one day surprised the patients he expected to find very nearly in articulo, loudly abusing one another in a strain that ill became death-bed scenes—all about the little widow lady!

The President opened his eyes in a moment to the real state of affairs in the infirmary, and drove every impostor out of bed, with copious prescriptions of pincons, or supernumerary tasks, to be performed during hours of recreation. As for the innocent cause of so much devotion, strife, and anguish, the Faculty politely requested her to abridge her stay with her mother.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, APRIL 9, 1853.

RAILROADS.

We are in favor of every new enterprize which promises usefulness commensurate with the outlay incurred—and we have an interest of a more painful kind in every instance where well meant effort has been unsuccessful, or where it has aided the public at the expense of its own projectors and executors.

We therefore give place, at the earliest opportunity, to the following article from the Manchester Mirror, urging the importance of a six mile branch of Railroad, to connect Manchester with this city. We have no doubt it would be a good thing for business at both ends, and all along the route.

Give us a road from Rowe's corner on the P. & C. R. R., a distance of only six miles, to Manchester,—and then Manchester will have a seaport much quicker and easier of access, and vastly cheaper, than to go to Boston for all the manufacturing materials of which such a vast amount is and will in all future time be consumed here. The distance from Manchester by railroad would be 42 miles only. Portsmouth would become, what she ought, the port of New Hampshire and a great portion of Vermont.

Great Falls, Dover, Rollinsford, New Market, Exeter, Manchester, Concord, Claremont, Suncook, &c., and all the manufacturing towns north of Nashua and Nashville, would make their market at Portsmouth, and, with one of the safest and best harbors in the world, with every facility for business. New Hampshire would yet take a stand alongside of her sister States in every enterprise of foreign and domestic commerce. Manchester is the important manufacturing town in New Hampshire. Give her trade to Portsmouth, and then all the other towns I have named will experience the benefits of her increased trade, and will find a much cheaper market than they can have elsewhere. As it is now, New Hampshire furnishes but little inducement to our capitalists to invest their money at home, or to do their trading at home. Give back to us, what we ought to have, Portsmouth, connected together by the golden links of interest, and we can, with our unrivalled water power, our extensive forests of wood, building and shipt imber, compete with the world, in proportion to our extent of territory. We could say much on this matter, but we leave it to be discussed by more competent men at the proper time, with the remark, that, if it be objected that the Concord Railroad could not with this road by her side make her 15 per cent., then the Concord road ought to be satisfied with 8 or 10 per cent.

One hundred thousand dollars will put the 6 miles of road from Manchester to Rowe's corner in running order, which would be a better investment than in any other enterprise in the State, and would accomplish more public good than all the Bank charters that have been created since the first factory was built in the State.

COMMON SCHOOLS TRIUMPHANT.

In the recent city election in Cincinnati, Ohio, the grand point at issue was, Shall we sustain common schools on the New England plan? or shall we break them down, by dividing the school money among religious sects to sustain sectarian schools? The returns show an overwhelming majority for the free schools. Pratt, the leader of the Catholic movement against the schools, was defeated for Councilman in the ward which elected him for the two past years. The Democratic candidate for Mayor is probably chosen.

This election was one of great importance. The Catholic Bishop sought to influence the voters against the school system of Ohio.—We have never seen more spirited and able articles in favor of free schools, than have been put forth during the canvss in Cincinnati. Wherever the school question has been agitated in the west, the friends of the free schools have triumphed by overwhelming majorities. The Jews in Cincinnati were active advocates of the present school system.

The popular demonstrations in favor of the New England school system, (says the Boston Transcript,) have been of so marked a character, that we should suppose the Catholic Bishops in the west would not again agitate the question of separate public schools. In every instance thus far, those who have advocated the separate schools have been defeated by immense majorities.

Rhode Island.—In the election on Wednesday, as to politics, the state of Rhode Island exhibits another democratic victory. As to temperance, the Maine law in Rhode Island is nowhere, having been decisively rejected by the people. It is a settled point for the present, and perhaps for some time in the future, that Rhode Island will either have a license law to regulate the selling of liquor, and make it reputable—or no law at all about the matter.

—Thus far we wrote on Thursday—but the Evening Traveller of Friday, gives the following: the total vote is 8288 in favor of repeal and 9280 against, a majority of 222 against repeal.

So the liquor law is sustained, and not repealed, by the people of Rhode Island.

Mrs. Meagher, wife of Thomas Francis Meagher, the Irish exile, has arrived in England. She will visit Ireland, and then take passage for America. She is expected at New York about the 20th of May.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

WAR OF THE NEWSPAPERS.

Journal of Commerce—Tribune and Times—The Evening Mirror. Mr. Burton and Young of the Albion.

New York, April 5.

Messrs. Editors:—In reference to city newspapers, I cannot refrain from saying in the words of Damon:

"I am sick, at my inmost heart, of everything
I see and hear."

Not a paper but has part of its columns devoted to a disgusting controversy, or contains a slur upon some honest man. "Novelty is the spice of life;" but editorial combats at the present time are more spicy than novel. The Journal of Commerce continues to throw its red-hot shot into the Courier & Enquirer, and that war-loving publication reheats and sends them back with more zeal than discretion. The Tribune and the Times (Greely and Raymond) are lashing each other on the International Copyright subject, without mercy or modesty, and in a manner disgraceful to both. The Herald levels its guns at all the combatants, caring very little who it takes "under the ribs," (vulgar parlance,) being quite satisfied so long as it hits somebody.

Laying ignorance aside, there is nothing that makes a paper more ridiculous than boasting. The Herald indulges occasionally in exalting its horn after a style peculiarly funny. A few days since, an article of two closely printed columns, told the public what an indispensable and powerful paper it was; how it started years ago a little yellow sheet at a penny a slice, and what an immense circulation it had at the present day. Beside this it was quite romantic and biographical; all of which was very true, very interesting, and very egotistical nevertheless.

The Evening Mirror is yet growling (with reason) under the unjust verdict pronounced against its editor, Hiram Fuller, Esq., for libeling Mr. Forrest, the tragedian. How such a verdict could be agreed upon by twelve sane men, is a matter for contemplation too deep for my philosophy. A paragraph from a St. Louis paper was copied in the Mirror without the cognizance or consent of Mr. Fuller, by a sub-editor, or one whose duty it is to glean matter from exchanges. At this Sir Hotspur took umbrage, and though he would have the world think he "did nought in hate, but all in honor," still it is too palpable that malice, and not an injured honor, prompted him to bring a suit against the Mirror. I think I once heard Mr. Forrest in the character of Iago repeat these words:—

"Who steals my purse steals trash, 'tis something, nothing,
'Twas mine, 'tis his, and has been slave to thousands;
But he that filches from me my good name,
Robs me of that which not enriches him,
And makes me poor indeed."—Othello.

I am prone to suppose he is "poor indeed," if $250 will repair, comfort and console his mutilated "good name." Mr. Fuller faces the music like an opera singer, and after parting with the "trash" to defray the "costs," (some six hundred dollars) he thus addresses his sympathizing subscribers:—Touching is'nt it?

"We have this day (at the first call) paid "the judgment and costs" in the late Forrest suit. There is nothing like prompt payment, in keeping up a good understanding between debtor and creditor. And, by the way, some of our friends who have been so profuse in their professions of sympathy at the "verdict" in this case, are respectfully reminded that what we stand most in need of just now is "material aid" in shape of balances due this office." Please not oblige our Collector to call half-a-dozen times for "that small bill."—Verbum sap:"—Nuf sed.

If this does not go to their hearts, it certainly will make an impression on their pockets.

The last gladiators who have entered the Type-Fight arena, are W. C. Burton of Burton's Theatre, and Wm. Young, manager proprietor and editor of the Albion. The case stands thus: Mr. Burton refused to put two of Young's plays on his stage, "a ponderous drama" and "a petit farce;" so the author has been playing the "Critic," much to the discomfiture of the comedian. The editor of the Albion, though called young, is by no means a chicken, as is shown by his reply to Mr. Burton's letter in the Herald. Mr. Burton, I learn, used to edit a magazine or something of the sort, and handles his pen as dashingly as he acts merry Jack Falstaff.

Eternal warfare must be expected between newspapers here, for there are some of every denomination, defending every imaginable cause. The christian and the atheist have their votaries alike. Amid the one hundred and twenty daily and weekly papers published in New York city, peace finds no place to rest her head. Yours respectfully,

St. Nicholas.

Maine.—We perceive, that in some quarters, the defeat of Neal Dow, as mayor of Portland, is regarded as a defeat or condemnation of the Maine law,—and in others as a defeat of temperance. We do not so regard it. The Maine law can live without him—and temperance without either. The new mayor of Portland, if we understand him, will try to execute all the laws; this among the rest, while it remains a law.

LOCAL.

STOCKING FACTORY BURNT.

On Friday afternoon about six o'clock, our quiet city was disturbed by the cry of fire, which proved to be in the spinning and weaving shops of the late Portsmouth Hosiery Company. Both the buildings were on fire in a few minutes, and both were burnt to the ground. They had not been occupied since last December, at which time the machinery was removed to Franklin in this State. The fire therefore must have been the work of an incendiary. The buildings belonged to the company who now operate the machinery at Franklin; and were probably insured in Boston. They were large wooden buildings, saturated with oil, and burnt with great rapidity. When first seen, the fire was in the porch of the western building, and spread almost instantly to the other.

A small house in the rear of the Factory buildings was in great danger, but by the prompt and energetic action of a few young men it was saved. One young man, a son of Mr. Thomas Martin, probably deserves the credit of saving this building. He, by means of ladders, mounted to the top of the house, and remained there through the hottest part of the conflagration, throwing water continually, with such good effect as to keep the top wet. When the fire in the other buildings had spent itself, the young man was relieved by the engines.

A barn belonging to this building was destroyed.

Any person on that side of the fire could not help noticing the inefficiency of the engines which have no suction apparatus. No. 6 wandered round like a duck in search of water, and could find no resting place.

The buildings destroyed was worth about $2000, though they could not be replaced for less than double that sum.

The barn was owned by Mr. Anthony Peavey, whose loss is about $150.

Launch.—The splendid clipper ship Wild Duck, about 900 tons burthen, owned by Messrs. Oliphant & Son, New York, will be launched from the yard of George Raynes, Esq. next Tuesday at noon.

Exeter, April 7th.

Messrs. Editors:—I was pleased with the remarks alluding to Mr. Tullock, late Post Master of your city, which I read in your paper of Tuesday. It is not the least of the evils connected with political proscription that we sometimes lose the services of a man, who, of all, seems the best fitted for his position. †

Fourth of July.—We understand that the Free Democracy of Portsmouth, have voted to have a grand celebration of the 4th July in this city, Dover, Newmarket, or Exeter; and expect to have a gathering of several thousands—that an orator is to be appointed, and the Hon. John P. Hale and Hon. Amos Tuck will be invited guests. A committee of arrangements has been chosen.

Fast Day.—On Thursday, the Advent, Methodist, and Universalist churches in this city were not opened—but the others were as well, and some of them better attended than is usual on Fast Day. The weather was very fine, and the outsiders enjoyed their recreative rides, walks and visits, with a rare zest.

Reported for the Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Adj. Term.

Exeter, Wednesday, April 6.

Case 150. Jno. W. Elliot vs. J. McDuffie & W. Q. Dow. Trespass. The Jury returned a verdict for deft. as to McDuffie (i. e. Not Guilty) and for pltf. as to Dow, assessing the damages against the latter in $150. This was the last trial. Wood for pltf., Wells & Bacon for McDuffie, Emery for Dow.

The Court will adjourn to-night, until Friday morning. There will be no more jury-trials after this day.

Exeter, Thursday, April 7.

The Court held yesterday an evening session, and a large number of cases were marked as settled, or were dismissed by order of the Court.

It was supposed yesterday morning that the Court would sit again on Friday after Fast, but to the great joy of lawyers, jurors and sheriffs, it adjourned to Monday the 16th of May, at 10 o'clock A. M., when it is expected that two flowage cases will be tried, the trial of which may consume two or three weeks.

Judge Morrison, the Presiding Justice, has earned the reputation of a prompt, impartial and exceedingly laborious administrator of justice.

☞ We tender our sincere thanks to the friend at Exeter, who has so promptly and in so thorough and satisfactory a manner, reported each day's proceedings of the Court, "for the Chronicle." Such service to ourselves and our readers, is the more esteemed by us, from being a "labor of love," in a case where we should have found it difficult to buy it at all. It is not every man knowing facts, that can give a good "report" of them.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the Nutritive Principle, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and decomposing living matter from time to time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting desease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

2 WEEKS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE DANIEL WEBSTER AT NEW ORLEANS.

Steamer Tennessee Lost—Steamer Independence Missing—Destructive Fire.

A telegraphic despatch from New Orleans, of the 6th (Wednesday), announces the arrival there of the steamer Daniel Webster, from the Isthmus, with California dates to the 15th of March, two weeks later than previous advices. The following intelligence is communicated by this despatch:

Loss of the Steamer Tennessee.—The steamship Tennessee, from Panama to San Francisco, was totally lost near the latter port on the 12th ult., in consequence of running ashore in a fog. She had on board over 600 passengers, every one of whom, with the officers and crew were saved, as also the mails. The Tennessee was valued at $200,000, of which $100,000 were insured in England.

Steamer Independence.—Much anxiety is felt at San Francisco concerning the Vanderbilt steamer Independence from San Juan. She had a large number of passengers on board, and had been overdue 30 days. The steamer Sea Bird had gone in search of her. She was last seen, Feb. 15th, off Cape Luca. Hopes are entertained that she had put into some intermediate port.

The Mines, &c.—the news from the mines continues favorable. Gold mines of great value have been discovered in Oregon.

Destructive Fire.—The town of Weaverville, in Trinity county, was destroyed by fire. Loss $100,000.

CONFIRMATIONS.—Washington, D.C., April 8.—G. W. Kendall, of the Picayune, was yesterday confirmed as Postmaster of New Orleans. Also, J. G. Jones as Collector of Frenchman's Bay, Me.

RENUNCIATION.—Baltimore, April 6.—Rev. Mr. Baker, recently a minister of the Episcopal church, in this city, publicly renounced his faith yesterday, and made a formal profession of the Roman Catholic faith.

SAN JUAN.—A letter from Washington states that the Government has sent instructions to Capt. Hollins, of the Cyane, to remain at San Juan until relieved by Capt. Newton, Commodore of the squadron.

LIQUOR LAW IN PENNSYLVANIA.—The Senate, yesterday, passed the resolution submitting the question of the enactment of a prohibitory liquor law to a vote of the people. This postpones the subject for a year.—Phila. Ledger, 6th.

We extracted the following paragraph from the County Union:—

GOLD IN JAMAICA.—We state, on the most perfect authority, that several lumps of metal, pronounced by parties competent to form an opinion, to be gold, have been picked up in Hector's river, forming, we believe, the boundaries of Manchester and Trelawny, and that they have been forwarded to be analyzed. The Crown Surveyor for Cornwall, who is our informant, is about starting for the spot to investigate the truth of the reports, and will explore the river, over which, to prevent diggers, there has already been placed a restrictive guard.

INDEMNITY FOR A SLAVE.—A report has been made in the Maryland Legislature endorsing the course of Dr. Allen Thomas, of Howard county, in demanding from the State of New York indemnity for the loss of his fugitive slave, who was sent to Sing Sing prison, in 1849, for two years, and pardoned out at the instance of the abolitionists three days before his term of imprisonment expired, by which means he managed to reach Canada before his owner could make a demand for him. A copy of the report is to be sent by the Governor of Maryland to the Governor of New York, to be laid before the Legislature of that State.

SCARCITY OF SEAMEN.—The Boston Journal is informed that there has not been for a long time such a scarcity of seamen as now exists at that port. Quite a number of vessels are detained in port for want of men.—The highest wages are being paid, but they fail to produce the men. From $22 to $25 advance is being paid to New Orleans; the same advance and $20 per month to Liverpool; $20 per month to the West Indies, and to other ports in the same proportion.

NAVAL.—Over three hundred men have been lately discharged from the Gosport Navy Yard, in consequence of the regular appropriation having run out. Several master mechanics, who have held that position for many years, have been razeed to foremen of their respective shops, which curtails their salary about 12 per cent.

A young lady in Louisville, recently, whose parents refused to allow her to marry the man of her choice, took a dose of poison, and then lying down on the sofa, commenced screaming dreadfully. Friends rushed in, and learning what was the matter, sent for the doctor and a stomach pump, which latter unromantic instrument soon relieved her of the dangerous draught.

BEQUEST TO QUEEN VICTORIA.—It was stated sometime since that a man named John Neald, who died in England last year, had left a will bequeathing all his property, worth $250,000, to Queen Victoria. The validity of the will, we notice by late London papers, has been duly confirmed, according to law, without opposition.

Mr. Fletcher Webster's House at Marshfield was struck by lightning on Monday afternoon. The interior was somewhat shattered, and the fluid passing over the bell-wires, literally dissolved them. Mr. Webster was not at Marshfield, but his wife, who had gone thither in the morning, was in the house at the time. She was, naturally enough, much frightened—but we are gratified to learn that she escaped injury, as did also her household.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.

The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 35 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair, —with all necessary barns and out-buildings.

The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.

The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.

Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.

If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralizes the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

Sold to the trade at a liberal discount, but commissioned in no instance.

SPRING.

The following lines from an Irish magazine, are the best of the kind that have made their appearance this season:

Spring is coming—Spring is coming!
With her sunshine and her shower;
Heaven is ringing with the singing
Of the birds in brake and bower;
Buds are filling, birds are trilling,
Flowers on field and bloom on tree;
O'er the earth, and air, and ocean,
Nature holds her jubilee.
Soft then stealing comes a feeling
O'er my bosom tenderly;
Sweetly I ponder, as I wander,
For my musings are of thee.

Spring is coming—Spring is coming!
With her mornings fresh and light,
With her noons of chequered glory,
Sky of blue and clouds of white.
Calm grey nightfalls, when the light falls
From the star-bespangled sky;
While the splendor, pale and tender,
Of the young moon gleams on high.
Still at morn, at noon, at even,
Spring is full of joy for me,
For I ponder, as I wander,
And my musings are of thee.

Still on thee my thoughts are dwelling,
Whate'er thy name may be;
Beautiful, beyond words, telling,
Is thy presence unto me.
Morning's breaking finds thee waking,
Wandering in the breeze's flight;
Noontide's glory mantles o'er thee
In a shower of sunny light;
Daylight dying leaves thee lying
In the silvery twilight ray;
Stars look brightly on thee nightly,
Till the coming of the day.

Everywhere and every minute
Feel I near thee, lovely one;
In the lark and in the linnet,
I can hear thy joyous tone.
Bud and blooming mark the coming
Of thy feet o'er vale and hill;
And thy presence with life's essence,
Makes the forest's heart to fill.
Low before thee, I adore thee,
Love creative, thee I sing;
Now I meet thee, and I greet thee
By the holy name of Spring!

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal of the application within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can there avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I accupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE,
"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.
"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.
PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.
THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.
The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.
☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

CANAL ACROSS THE ISTHMUS OF DARIEN.

"The plan of making a ship canal across the Isthmus of Darien, is not without warm advocates in England. The route is 39 miles in length, from Port Escosses to the Gulf of San Miguel by the way of the river Savannah. A dividing ridge is crossed by transverse vallies, and cutting would be about 150 feet. The canal would be without locks.—The harbors at both ends are good."

The Manchester Mirror, whose editor has been to California and seen the elephant for himself, offers the following statements and remarks on this subject.

The above is a sample of many articles which appear in newspapers, of like import.—The first part of it may be true; the rest is false. No 39 miles can reach San Miguel from Lake Maragna, the only inland sheet of navigable water near the former place. Besides, all the working classes in the State of Nicaragua could not dig the requisite canal in one hundred years, if they worked at it, and did nothing else; and it is too hot there for Yankees or the Irish to work at digging. At least, ten miles of it would be worse than cutting a canal in the swamps of Florida. That ten miles is boggy, and from its stagnant waters continually rises a miasma, as destructive to life as the cholera; all kinds of reptiles, vermin and poisonous insects infest it—rattlesnakes, scorpions, tarantulas, mosquitoes, red flies, and many other objectionable live things, the names of which would convey no definite idea to our readers. This refers to that part next to San Miguel.

The writer of our heading must have supposed that the Lake is much higher than the Pacific Ocean, or else he would not have supposed that it could be constructed "without locks." That is not the fact. Lakes Managua and Nicaragua are connected by a small stream nine miles long, which might be easily widened and deepened so that ships could pass through. But what human process can make the San Juan river navigable for large vessels? It is 90 miles from the head of the river, Fort Carlos, to the town of San Juan, or, as the English call it, Greytown, where it enters into the ocean. It has three rapids, long and torrent-like, which the natives in their dug-outs never pass without saying their prayers. It took three months to get one of Capt. Vanderbilt's steamers over them, and another was cast on the rocks and ruined in the attempt. The successful one came into the port of the city of Granada the first day of January two years ago, much to the surprise of the natives, who flocked to the shores to witness the strange sight, with as much astonishment almost, as years ago persons saw a man riding through the air in a balloon. This city is 120 miles across the Lake from Fort Carlos. Many have thought that these rapids were made by the old Spaniards, by putting in huge rocks, to prevent the Bucaneers from coming up the river to plunder the inland cities, and that consequently they can be removed. We have never known any one who has passed over them to entertain such an opinion. But if these could be removed, and the other parts of the river made navigable, it would be the work of a century.

Supposing this to be accomplished, and the water made to run smoothly, how is a large merchant ship, drawing 12 feet of water, to be got up it? We confess we do not know.—No paths for horses can be constructed on the banks, as they are either swamps or huge mountains, jutting down to the waters edge. We think they could not be towed by steamers, the current would run so swiftly, even in the dry season. Six months in the year, in Nicaragua, it rains on the high table lands, and brooks run through streets and over the fields daily. But on the low lands, on the rivers lid to San Juan, there is really no dry season, and the river is liable to rise several feet in any twenty-four hours. In the rainy season, it runs like a torrent, and it is all that a steamer of two feet draught can do to pass up it. In short, we regard the whole talk about constructing a canal across the Isthmus as a farce. Our government and the English government have been fooled into a favoring disposition towards it, by the party interested. Blinded by an idea of a ship canal, the Nicaraguaneses have been ready to grant anything to parties of either country who would favor it. On the strength of this idea, Vanderbilt got his line of steamers established, and has reaped a golden harvest; and on the strength of it, the British have most of the trade in Central America. Some good has come out of this project; the route has been surveyed, we have the right of transit across it, and have become acquainted with the country.

QUICK WORK.—Married, in Weston, Steuben Co., N. Y., March 21, Mr. John P. Emerson, from sea, to Miss Mary J. Bennett, of Weston. The above marriage took place under rather singular circumstances. The bridegroom is about 25 years of age, a brother of Mrs. Hoover, a lady carrying on an extensive business as a tailoress at Weston. He has been at sea most of the time for ten or twelve years past, and after an absence of about five years, had just called up to see his sister.—Finding that she had in her employ some sixteen or seventeen young women, learning the trade, he strolled into the room in a free and easy manner, and told the girls that if there was any one there who wanted to marry him right off, to say the word. The bride above named, forthwith dropped her work, and declared herself ready for the nuptials. Within an hour from that time the parties were "spliced." A jolly wedding took place, and the next day he left his charming bride for another voyage on the briny ocean.—Dundee (Yates Co., N. Y.) Record.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, APRIL 11, 1853.

A CONTROVERSY SETTLED.

A London correspondent of the Boston Post denounces the English women, who are about to meet Mrs. Stowe, as Pharisees; and to prove that they are so, he copies from Lloyd's London Newspaper, part of a letter written by a London Sempstress. After describing the system which prevails in the great dress-making establishments of London, this sempstress says:

"In what state of health could "July," the termination of the season, be expected to find us poor "English slaves?" The sequel is easily told. Each one, instead of going to enjoy a little recreation, went home to be laid upon a sick bed. For myself, I had a serious illness, which laid me up three months, and has greatly impaired my constitution. Now for this cruel inhuman treatment of womankind, who, in dress-making houses, toil harder than any laborer in the brick-field, there is one very simple remedy—employing a proper number of hands to do the work. There are always plenty seeking employment, but it is from a sordid love of gain, that those already engaged may work themselves into their coffins, in order that their employers' cash-boxes may be the more speedily filled.

Perhaps many will say that the system I have spoken of is now rarely adopted; this I positively contradict, as I can prove that it is the general system of west-end houses, during the time the "drawing rooms," "state balls" and fashionable dejuners and concerts are pending, while, perhaps, one or two large 'trousseaus' are in hand at the same time."

The Worcester Spy replies,

"We do not dispute the genuineness of the above letter. It may have been written by an English sempstress, notwithstanding the charges of brutal ignorance and degraded bestiality that have been brought against the British working classes, by our pro slavery countrymen.

The correspondent of the Post has undoubtedly established one fact by the production above, and that is, that there is a poor sempstress in London who can write an infinitely better letter than Julia G. Tyler, wife of the Ex-President of the United States. Which of our Southern slaves can do the same."

We (the Chronicle) must be the third man between the combatants. We answer the last quest on by saying Fred. Douglass; he can write as well as either of them. Moreover, there are genius, and refinement, and taste, and pride among the poor laborers, or if you please slaves of England: and the English birth-right of complaining, petitioning and protesting, as we see by the letter;—but the slaves on this side the water enjoy no such privileges; the ability to write among them is held to be dangerous—and the right of peti tion and protest is denied to them.

The sufferings of the distressed poor of England, and the oppressed poor of Ireland, we have no doubt are real and great; those of many states on the continent of Europe are still greater perhaps. And the Oriental and African slaveries are horrible. In short—and he who attempts to apologise for it, in any one form, always lays himself open to criticism on a weak side, when he undertakes to condemn it in another.

"Disguise thee as we will—Slavery thou art a bitter draught"

No matter whether you call the slave a Coolie or a Kanaka, a Boor or a Chattel—if I must work without wages at the will of another, and if I can neither own my tongue nor my hands in fee simple, I am only a slave; and while I may pity the oppressed in other lands, I must feel my own oppressions much more keenly.

Finally, there is no nation which is not guilty of some oppressions on its weaker members; and we have little doubt that Great Britain and this country both deserve the hardest things on these subjects, that each has said against the other. Both live in glass houses;—and therefore had better throw stones carefully if at all, lest they get annoyed by a return volley.

NEW YORK CANALS.

The New York Senate sat until twelve o'clock on Wednesday night, and adopted the proposition to amend the constitution, with a view to the speedy enlargement of the canals, by the commanding vote of twenty two to six. Of the fourteen Democratic Senators present and voting, eight recorded their names in the affirmative, and six in the negative. The leading principle of the proposition finally adopted is an amendment of the constitution with a view to the borrowing of money to prosecute the public works.

The proceedings in the House of Assembly on Thursday show that the measure has a majority in that body.

The above statement shows how much stronger the claims of interest and business are than constitutions and parties. We predicted this change, years ago, when a portion of the legislature left their seats to destroy a quorum, lest the majority should violate the constitution. Their places were filled—the law passed—contracts were made to widen the canals—but the Courts declared them to be unconstitutional and void.

Now, a majority of all parties unite in altering the constitution, by creating the power to borrow money and pledge canal incomes for payment. And now New York will have really Grand Canals.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

PROVIDENCE, April 4, 1853.

Messrs. Editors:—Unquestionably, the best time to expatiate on the virtues of temperance in eating, is just after an unusually bountiful dinner. Equally true is it that, just before dinner, the human mind instinctively meditates on whatever agencies are in existence for the supplying this first want of our frail nature, and is filled with the greater delight, in proportion as the machinery in operation for accomplishing this, attains to greater and greater efficiency. As to the delicacy of the dishes which smoke upon the table of a Providence hotel, in the absence of positive knowledge it does not become me to speak disparagingly; besides, the facts rather go to prove that they are not altogether unfriendly to the extensive development of physical humanity. We see too many fat men asleep in the bar-room, to harbor for a single moment, the dreadful suspicion that in these hotels, people starve to death. But, this one can assert without fear of gainsaying, that in external appearance, the hotels of Providence are a leetle the shabbiest edifices that ever undertook to entertain the dusty traveller. I have no doubt but that if the better class of your Portsmouth pigs should have occasion to sojourn in Providence, they would turn away in disdain from places contrasting so strangely with their own comfortable and even sometimes elegant mansions at home. Perhaps some clumsy sign-board creaks angrily in the wind, displaying to the admiring passers-by an animated sketch of a horse race, or of a mortal combat between two bull dogs. All of a sudden, a hand-organ grinder commences operations. The loafers on the opposite corner leave off work, and hasten across the street, to fill their lazy ears with the delicious harmony. The discussion on the Maine Law now going on in the bar-room, thus suddenly interrupted, the excited disputants tumble out to swell the crowd in front. A few masterly executions of brilliant airs, a few involuntary outbursts of applause from the appreciating throng, a rattling of coppers into the artist's supplicant hand, complete the scene, and the brilliant spectacle vanishes. The loafers resume their work; the Maine Law, which was laid on the table, is taken up again for discussion: the happy landlord takes his place under the counter—his dog occupying the other corner—and the preparations for dinner in the hotel go on with redoubled activity.

Two o'clock, P. M. Just as I thought it would be. I have been to dinner, and it seems to me very foolish now, for people to care so much about what they eat. I am sorry I said so much against the Providence hotels. It don't matter what kind of houses people live in; we should not live to eat.—While this mood of penitence is upon me, I will seize the opportunity to pass to other subjects of remark.

You remember I told you in my last, that the temperance folks were waking up here. But we have some staunch friends left yet. There's a Rev. Mr. Lovejoy—bless him! he opposes all these fanatical, unchristian movements of the day; and wants to bring back the good old times when church-members drank in great moderation, and deacons kept tavern for the public good. He says the patriarchs were fond of fermented wine, and therefore the Maine liquor law aint right. I think it follers. But whether we shall be able to convince the people in Rhods Island so, mark you, is very doubtful.

Our friends up in New Hampshire must not be surprised to hear that we are essentially beaten. In fact, that is the way of the world. You know Scripture says the wicked flourish like a green bay tree.

I suppose you have heard of the great meeting the Democracy had last week. Our distinguished Senator, Gen. James—you must have heard of him—was one of the speakers. I never in all my life felt so patriotic, as when the General, rising up to his full height, which is about six feet thirteen, called on the "Democracy" to rally for the coming struggle.—But the most eloquent part of his speech was where he introduced to the people the next speaker, a gentleman—as the General remarked in his peculiarly happy style—"of whom you are all well acquainted." It is needless to say, that the General, after wiping the sweat off his face, sat down amid cheers. The Whigs pretend to say we ought to keep that man muzzled; that he can't speak a single sentence in good English. That is very true, he can't; but I consider it is very aristocratic for any man to be able to do so.

If a man is going to study English grammar, and take on all those airs,—why, he shan't be a dandidate of the Democracy, that's all. I regret to say there is some ground for apprehending that we shall not be much benefitted by the triumph of democratic principles in the late election, after all. The democracy are fighting so hard with one another about the offices, that maybe they will come to the same sad end as the Kilkenny cats did—you know these indiscreet cats fought till they tore each other all to pieces. In that case, I suppose Gen. Pierce will have to give those awful Whigs all the offices. That this calamity may be averted, let all Portsmouth democrats devoutly pray. Yours, SPECTATOR.

LOCAL.

RAILROAD TO MANCHESTER.

A merchant, well qualified to judge, assures us that the projected six miles of Railroad between Manchester and the Portsmouth & Concord Road, present an enterprise where the outlay will be small, and the advantage great to all parties concerned. He says this connection would make the P. & C. a paying road at once, and be of immense advantage both to Manchester and Portsmouth, in all matters of trade and freight. It will doubtless be built sometime—but the interest of the two cities and of the road demand it now. Let it come before our next General Court, which sits in less than two months.

AN ANTIQUE DOOR.—We saw, on Friday, in the hands of Mr. Thomas Norton, a curious old door, of which he knows not the origin, having found it hung in his house at its purchase—and the house being comparatively new.

The door appears to have been made for a closet or a cupboard, being only about five feet high, and twenty-five inches wide.

It is made of our native American timber pine, and curiously carved in alto relief on both sides. It is what is termed a two-panel door. The lower panels contain each the figure of a man. On one side, the face is upraised, as in a prayer or cry: the right hand grasps a serpent as if to strangle him: the left arm holds a spear. On the other, the human figure is drinking from a goblet.

One upper panel contains a thistle, and the other an elegant cypher, interweaving the letters of the Alphapet. Above this cypher stands this inscription, "ye 24 leters." Below it is the date, 1705, M. 10."

The whole thing is in excellent preservation, a curious relic of past ornament, taste, and skill. It may be seen at the Athenæum.

TELEGRAPH AGENT.—The Dover Gazette states that F. O. J. SMITH, Esq., Proprietor of the Telegraphic line between Boston and Portland, has appointed MR. E. O. LAUGHTON Superintendent of the line between the above named places, at a handsome salary: a good appointment; and Mr. Laughton's well known business capacities, will add largely to the reputation of the line, and prove a good investment to the proprietor.

REV. MR. LOVEJOY.—We believe our Rhode Island Correspondent mistakes Mr. Lovejoy's position a little. He opposes the Massachusetts law—but is in favor of total abstinence, according to his professions: though we think his scripture argument, if it proves anything, proves that men ought to drink strong drinks.

We have heard several men who became victims to their principles, reason exactly in the same manner, from the same premises. We hope Mr. Lovejoy will not fall into such a trap—but it would not be strange: as good men as he is, and much more highly gifted, have become the merest sots and suicides,—in a spiritual way too, as they thought.

FRACTIONAL BILLS.—Three banks in Rhode Island have issued fractional bills in large quantities. In the present dearth of change they are found to be a great convenience, and are generally welcomed wherever they can be obtained. About four weeks since, one bank issued $30,000 in fractional bills, not a dollar of which has yet been presented at the bank for redemption. They are a convenience to traders and others who have to make change frequently; but to the officers of banks they must be a nuisance, from the difficulty of counting them. They are not received at the Suffolk Bank.—Boston Journal.

No matter; they will be received by the people who need to make change. The Boston Bee understands that one of the Boston Banks will issue $25,000 in fractional bills, in a day or two, and considers them a great convenience to the public.

THE JAPAN EXPEDITION.—The Washington Union announces authoritatively that the Secretary of the Navy has not countermanded the Japan expedition, but that on the contrary, the administration is making every effort to forward it. The Vermont, ship of the line, has been withdrawn only because she cannot be manned without exceeding the number of seamen prescribed by law for the navy. It is also doubtful whether the Alleghany can be got ready in time to join the expedition.

From this it appears that the numerous despatches from Washington on this subject, making statements and giving reasons, are all falsehoods made of the whole cloth. How dreadfully this world is giving to lying.

LEGISLATIVE.—The House of Representatives of Massachusetts on Friday forenoon, passed to a third reading the bill providing for the indemnity of the sufferers by the mob which destroyed the Ursuline Convent. The amount necessary to pay the damages there sustained was stated to be $50,000, to which sum the appropriation was limited.

A young noodle out in Peoria, Illinois, because his lady love 'wouldn't have him,' got a gun and went in front of her dwelling, put the muzzle in his mouth, and pulled the trigger with his toe, scattering his brains about.—The lady stood in the door way and 'saw him off.' 'Spose there are more of the same sort?

Mr. Slidell has declined the mission to Central America on account of the unhealthiness of the climate. He will be a candidate for the vacant Louisiana Senatorship.

Government, it is said, is about concluding a temporary arrangement of the fishery question, after which it will rush forward a treaty adjusting all pending questions with Great Britain, including reciprocal trade and the navigation of the St. Lawrence.

AMUSING OCCURRENCE.—A most amusing scene (says the Bee) occurred in the Police Court, Boston, on Friday. One Michael Finnegan, a red-herring colored looking individual, sat on the criminal bench, when, all at once, some one intimated that he was "broken out with the small pox." The Court opened its eyes and ears, and looked all sorts of unutterable confusion. At the same time the doors and windows were all thrown open. Following this, Judge Cushing ordered Finnegan to be discharged with all possible speed. The latter took himself out of the Court with light foot, wondering what the fuss was all about. He was as well as anybody—and as capable of appreciating liberty.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Thursday morning Mr. Thomas O. Marshal, of Rockport, Mass., fell head foremost down a side hatchway of the new ship White Swallow, lying at Lewis' Wharf, Boston, striking upon the keelson, a distance of about twelve feet, and breaking in the back part of his head, died almost instantaneously. He had been a Selectman of Rockport and also Deputy Collector, was 58 years of age and leaves a wife and seven children.

A RIVAL DAUGHTER OF THE REGIMENT. One evening of last week, while the seventh regiment, better known as the National Guard of New York city, was on parade, Miss Diver, the daughter of the late Adjutant of the regiment, was introduced, at her own request, and shook hands with every member of the corps present. This child was adopted by the regiment soon after the Adjutant's decease, and is supported by yearly assessments on each member.

SINGULAR RAIN STORM.—On Friday last there was a rain storm before day dawn, in Cincinnati, and when daylight came the pavements throughout the entire city were found to be strewn with a yellow substance, resembling sublimate of sulphur. Several scientific gentlemen examined and pronounced it to be the pollen of flowers, which, they suppose, must have been gathered up in large quantities in the far south, and borne northward by the wind. Many earth worms were also found on the pavements, supposed to have also fallen with the rain.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 8.—Wm. C. Averill, a highly respectable citizen, and principal proprietor of the Springfield Locomotive Works in this city, in attempting to adjust a belt this afternoon, was caught and wound around the shaft, between two drums, and horribly mangled, breaking his arm in several places, and dislocating both knee joints. He has since died.

BOLD ROBBERY IN LYNN.—The Lynn News says:—On Thursday evening of last week, a stranger called at the watch and jewelry store of Mr. Charles Lefavor, on North Common Street, and asked the price of several watches, and also two gold fob chains.—Watching an opportunity, he seized them all and darted out of the store, shutting the door after him, and fastening it. Mr. Lefavour and his clerk were in the store, but before they could get out to give an alarm, the robber had succeeded in getting where he could not be found.

ARTHUR SPRING CONVICTED.—The jury on the second trial of Arthur Spring brought in a verdict of guilty in the first degree.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.

The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 35 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair,—with all necessary barns and out-buildings.

The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.

The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.

Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.

If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. THE KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all minera properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 22 years. A. J. Cousinery, 76 Bond-st. N. Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

SERENADING A YOUNG LADY.—A friend of one of our contemporaries tells the following:

In my young days I was extravagantly fond of attending parties, and somewhat celebrated for playing on the flute. Hence it was generally expected when an invitation was extended that my flute would accompany me.

I visited a splendid party one evening, and was called upon to favor the company with a tune on the flute. I, of course, immediately complied with the request. The company appeared delighted, but more particularly so was a young lady, who raised her hands and exclaimed it was beautiful, delightful, &c. I of course was highly delighted and immediately formed a resolution to serenade the young lady on the following night.

I started, the next night, in company with several young friends, and arrived, as I supposed, at the young lady's residence, but made a glorious mistake by getting under the window of an old Quaker.

"New, boys," said I, "behold the sentimentality of this young lady the moment I strike up the 'Last Rose of Summer.'" I struck up, but the window remained closed, and the boys began to smile.

"Oh," said I, "that's nothing; it would not be in good taste to raise the window on the first air."

I next struck up "Old Robin Grav." Still the window remained closed. The boys snickered, and I felt somewhat flat.

"Once more, boys," said I, "and she must come." I struck up again, "My love is like the red, red rose." Still there was no demonstration.

"Boys," said I, "she's a humbug. Let us sing 'Home, Sweet Home,' and if that don't bring her, I'll give up."

We struck up, and as we finished the last line the window was raised.

"That's the ticket, boys. I knew we could fetch her.

But instead of the beautiful young lady it turned out to be the old Quaker, in his nightcap and dressing gown

"Friend," said he, "thee was singing of thy home; and, if I recollect right, thee said there was no place like home, and, if that is true, why don't thee go to thy home? Thee is not wanted here—thee nor none of thy company. Farewell."

We took our hats, and went home.

FOR THE COMPLETE CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood,

CONSUMPTION!

THE above Expectorant, prepared by an experienced Physician and Chemist, has now become a standard Preparation, and is offered for the COMPLETE CURE of those diseases of the Throat and Lungs, which, if neglected, usually terminate fatally in Consumption. It contains no Opium, Calomel, or any mineral whatever, but is composed entirely of those Roots, Herbs, and Vegetable substances which have a specific influence upon the Lungs and their connected organs. Its immediate effect is to allay all irritation, and gently remove the phlegm and other morbid secretions from the Throat and Air-passages, thus relieving the Cough, by subduing the inflammation and other causes which give rise to it. It is approved of and recommended by Physicians of the highest standing, and may be given with perfect safety to the youngest child or the most delicate female.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, APRIL 12, 1853.

LEGISLATION EXTRA.

After many unsuccessful motions, which have been made in former years, the House of Representatives in Massachusetts, have ordered to a third reading, a bill to indemnify the Catholics and others who suffered loss by the burning of the Ursuline Convent at Charlestown.

On Saturday the affair again came up for discussion, on an order offered by Mr. Underwood of Dennis, providing for the indemnity of all persons, (or their heirs), who have suffered losses by mobs, from the destruction of the tea in Boston harbor to the year 1839.—This motion, after some discussion, was withdrawn to make way for a motion to reconsider the vote whereby the bill for the indemnity of the sufferers by the Ursuline Convent mob was ordered to a third reading. The latter motion went into the orders of the day.

Under the motion which was withdrawn, (but which may be renewed in due time,) should it pass into a law, the owner of the rescued slave Shadrach would present his claim for the value of the fugitive—the anti slavery society would present its bill for damages sustained by the mob "of property and standing:" and an interesting variety of claims would start up, now unthought of.

Nevertheless, we think the claim for the convent, equitable and just. The haughty disdain with which the "lady superior" treated a friendly magistrate's offer to conciliate the mob, was very naturally punished by having her school smoked out: but the mob had no right to take the law into their own hands: and the state ought to pay this damage, as well as all others of a like kind.

PORTLAND CITY GOVERNMENT.

We have already mentioned the choice of Mr. Cahoon, as mayor, and characterized him as a whig, chosen by a union of parties, under the flag of the citizen's ticket. It may be of interest to know something of his character, which we gather from the Portland Watchman. That paper tells us that

"Mr. Cahoon was one of the first men in this city, who as a merchant, abandoned years ago, the rum traffic. When he was Mayor, he exerted himself, and used his influence to induce the city government to petition for the original Maine Law. He went for Mr. Dow last year, and supported him with his vote, and influence. He has frequently presided at temperance meetings, and made temperance speeches. He is a member of Casco Division of Sons of Temperance, and furthermore, he told us if elected, he would enforce the law."

The same paper says,

"It is true that the Anti-Dow men of all parties, and the self-styled liberals generally, went in for Mr. Cahoon; but beyond these facts, there is no proof that Mr. Cahoon has liberal tendencies. The fact that the 'liberals' generally supported him, created suspicions to his injury, with temperance men, and rendered it difficult, for Maine Law men, generally, to give him their support."

It further appears from the Watchman, that Mr. Dow, if he had been declared nominated, would have declined,—and that the Watchman, and probably Mr. Dow, are willing to take Mr. Cahoon "for what he was and is, trusting that he will make a good Mayor, and thoroughly execute the liquor law, and all other laws." The majority of both boards, as far as chosen, are Maine Law men.

We infer from all these statements, and from the returns of votes, that the sober second thought of Portland, sustains both the law and its execution—and that many of the liberals, who are prejudiced against Dow, have voted for Cahoon, who will be as prompt in action as a Mayor, but who has not incurred so much odium as a reformer.

Mr. Soule replied to those who went to congratulate him on his appointment as minister to Spain, that he should return as a representative of the proudest republic in the world, to the very countries in which he had been hunted as a fugitive from the vengeance of tyranny.

We hope he will return to this country from Spain, with as much honor; but do not feel quite sure of it. A cool, deliberate, calculating man, is the proper one for a diplomat. Mr. Soule may possess these qualities; but "fast" men rarely exhibit them.

The Boston Bee says,

"Mr. Soule has declared that he would accept the mission to Spain only on one condition, that he should be invested with unlimited power for the purchase of Cuba. It is fair, therefore, to suppose that the condition has been acceded to, and not unlikely that we shall have a war with Spain."

We hardly credit the unlimited part of it.

PARTNER WANTED.—Among other strange things of the Times, as Advertiser Chronicles in the Journal his desire to "take in" a partner, worth five thousand dollars, and who is competent to edit a well-established city daily. What paper, in the name of the Commonwealth, can it Bee?

We learn by Mail, that we may expect an answer by Post or Courier. While waiting for this, we will look over the Atlas, and question the Traveller, whether any part of the Herald is for sale?

EDITORIAL ACCESSION.

Among the effects of the new administration, we have already Chronicled the fact that Mr. Greene, of the Boston Post, has removed his personal presence to the Custom House, (though he has not given up his connexion with the Post.) This removal has made room and given occasion for re-annexing Mr. Shillaber, (and of course Mrs. Partington,) to the company of spirits which preside over the destinies of the Post and Statesman. As the old lady took her seat, she gave out the following leaf from her carpet-bag. It describes the localities exactly. Carter's Steam Coffee Mill is in the same building with the Post, and the printing-press of the latter is carried by the steam-engine of the former.—Hence the flagrance and raciness of many articles in the Post.

MRS. PARTINGTON BACK AGAIN.

She loitered by the door,
But she didn't speak a word,
And thought she'd seldom known before
Her mind's composure stirred.
She gazed far up the stair—
The stair so dark and grim—
And her specs, so long familiar there,
Were dewy, damp and dim.

And step by step she went
Up the dark and sombre stair,
A tinge of coffee "flagrance" blent
With the wholesome morning air;
Her step was dull and slow,
And a tear was on her cheek,
But 'twas from nought of pain or wo—
Nor grief did it bespeak.

She turned to gaze around
Within the quiet room;
The olden pictures there she found,
And Saunders with his broom—
The cobwebs waved over head,
That long before she'd known,
And Carter's whirling mill, she said,
Had "hominy"* in its tone.

She hung her ridicule
Beside the ancient chair,
And the rappee box, all crowded full,
She laid before her there;
Then she sank upon a seat,
With her finger on her chin,
And smiled benignantly and sweet,
As she murmured, "HOME AGAIN!"

Boston Post Office, April 9.

*It is nothing but justice to suppose that the old lady meant harmony.

GOOD PIGS of choice breed are scarce in this section, and command a high price when a few weeks old, for raising. During the past year, Mr. Samuel H. Rundlet has realized from three litters of one-half Suffolk swine $72.50.—Newburyport Herald.

Gen. Scott, the New York Mirror says, has purchased the splendid residence of Charles Patridge, Esq., No. 128 West 12th street, near 5th avenue, where he will reside in future.—What a wise old man he was, not to resign his commission.

RETURNING THE COMPLIMENT.—Mr. March, speaking of the relief sent to Madeira from Boston, says:

"Long after those who will be kept alive by it shall have gone to their last homes, the very name of Boston will almost be worshipped by Madeira."

This is only returning the compliment, for the name of Madeira has, for a long time, been almost worshipped by the soldid men of Boston.—Providence Journal.

☞ Leonard Huntress, Esq. of Dracut, formerly of this city, is the only County Commissioner chosen at the recent election in Middlesex county, Mass.

☞ The Newburyport Union understands that Prof. Fettel is engaged to take charge of the music at the Catholic Church of that city.

☞ We have just received the April No. of Harper, from Fetridge & Co., Boston, through Mr. J. F. Shores, jr. Among the editorial fraternity, a solitary number of any periodical is generally considered as not entitled to a "notice"—especially when received so "late in the day." However, we'll take our leisure to examine this, as our friends have to send it to us. Crusoe Life, and the Mormons, are interesting matter, abundantly illustrated.

There are 11,000 husbands in Australia whose wives have been left behind.

ANTI SLAVERY LECTURE.

Miss Sallie Holly, on Sunday evening last, addressed an audience of about seven hundred people, at the Temple, on the subject of Slavery, and did not disappoint the general expectation in regard to her high qualifications as an accomplished and eloquent speaker. She appears modest and unassuming, but at the same time proclaims truth like a fearless advocate. The attention with which the audience listened to her lecture, was evidence that she made a deep impression. She touched the tender sympathies of nature, as she portrayed some of the wrongs of the slave, especially in relation to the sale and separation of families never on earth to meet again.—And she insisted, that there is a tender chord in every human heart among us, capable of being touched and moved at the recital of these outrages. She said that the contest going on in this country between liberty and slavery could never end, until the one or the other should perish, and warned us of the fate of the past republics, where slavery corrupted the public morals, debased the public sentiment and thereby paved the way for their downfall. At the conclusion, she announced that she would again lecture at the Temple next Sabbath evening. No doubt there will be a crowded house.

LOCAL.

For the Chronicle.

MR. EDITOR:—As you are aware, a new society of Young Men, called the Mercantile Library Association, has been recently organized in this city. Being myself interested in its success, I have closely examined the provisions and objects of the institution, and am satisfied that if the ideas are properly carried out, it will be the instrument of much good. The name adopted is not so comprehensive as it should be, to express the true intents of the union; it is not proposed to confine itself entirely to the commercial classes, but to admit young men of good character, engaged in all kinds of business, whether professional, mechanical or commercial. To give the society strength and encouragement, it is necessary that the project should receive the aid and encouragement of the employer as well as the employee. Let the master mechanic and the trader urge upon his apprentice and clerk the advantage of joining the association. Good advice from such sources will have much effect in promoting the designs of its founders.

This society is intended to fill a void that has long existed in our city. Young men must and will have some place of resort to spend their leisure hours. If amusement and recreation can be united with improvement, it cannot be otherwise than that all participants should be benefitted, and the influence of that improvement will extend to all with whom they associate. The employers will also be benefitted by the improved qualifications of their clerks and apprentices.

The young men will be benefitted, if they enter into the work zealously, by obtaining a knowledge of speaking, writing and debating, and qualifying themselves, in a measure, for all the duties of free and independent citizens of this republic, upon whose shoulders must fall the duty of directing the destinies of this great nation.

Let parent, guardian, master, employer, and the young men, unite their efforts in this great work, and push it on to a successful termination.

A TRADER.

LAUNCH.—Geo. Raynes, Esq. will launch from his ship yard, this day at about 2 1-2 o'clock, the fine clipper ship WILD DUCK, 800 tons burthen. This will be the fiftieth vessel built by Mr. Raynes, the first having been launched in 1828.

The dimensions of the Wild Duck are as follows:

Length on deck,	160 feet.
" of keel,	154 "
Breadth of beam,	54 "
Depth of hold,	22 "

The ship is sheathed with yellow metal, and is built throughout in the most substantial manner. She is owned by Messrs. Olyphant & Sons of New York, and is to be commanded by Capt. A. G. Hamilton.

NARROW ESCAPE.—On Sunday afternoon, as a brig was coming into the lower harbor, she ran down a sail-boat, containing two men from Kittery, which was crossing from Newcastle—striking the boat midships, and sinking it. One of the men came up in time to catch hold of and get into a large wherry in tow at the stern of the brig, which was instantly cut loose by the brig's crew, and the man rowed to the rescue of his companion, who was pulled in just as he was sinking the third time.

☞ An "interesting" outside—that we give our readers to-day—interesting to some folks at least. Well, we must fill our Boston agent's orders,—and Mr. Palmer is not slow at all in giving them. We recommend our readers to scan those Boston cards well, as it's the last chance they'll get to do so.

Police Court—April 11.

[Before Justice Parker.]

Sylvester Odiorne of Rye was brought before Justice Parker, upon the complaint of Harriet J. Keen, for maliciously damaging the house occupied by her in Rye, by breaking out the windows with stones, &c. on Saturday night. The respondent plead not guilty, and proved an alibi by several witnesses, whereupon the Justice ordered him to be discharged. Hatch, County Solicitor, for State. Wm. H. Hackett for respondent.

☞ A slight alarm of fire was raised on Sunday evening, about 8 o'clock, at the South end, in consequence of the burning of a chimney in Hunking street.

DISMAL CHURCHES.—It is a custom in some of our churches to keep the window blinds almost constantly closed, without regard to the weather. If the day happens to be cloudy or rainy, these churches are as gloomy and cheerless as so many tombs, and all for the want of the blinds being opened.—We had an illustration of this last Sunday forenoon, the church we attended being as dark as a dungeon.

BEEF DEARER.—Beef, says the New York Times, is again advancing in price, occasioned by the large quantities now being shipped to California and Australia.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

THE SENATE RE-CONVENED.—Washington, April 11.—The President has re-convened the Senate. Several Senators had left the city, and others had packed up to leave to-day; they were, however, aroused from their slumbers at midnight by the Sergeant-at-Arms, with a summons to meet to-day at 12 o'clock. A re-organization of the Cabinet is the occasion. The Intelligencer of this morning says that the city is very full. A rumor is current that a new cast of the Cabinet is about to take place, and from the authority assigned to the report it certainly bears a greater degree of probability than often belongs to street gossip. It is is reported that the following changes and nominations are certainly decided upon:

Gen. Marcy goes to England;
Gen. Cushing takes Marcy's place in the Cabinet;
Dobbin is to be Attorney General;
Com. Stockton Secretary of the Navy.
Mr. Benton will be nominated Minister to France.

NAVAL.—New York, April 11.—The frigate Macedonia is lying off Brooklyn Navy-Yard nearly ready for sea, with a complement of about 350 men. It is the purpose of Capt. Abbott to sail to-day, touching first at Fayal or Madeira, and next at the Cape of Good Hope.

A BRAKEMAN KILLED.—John A. Vermoth, 21 years of age, recently from Passumpsic, Vt., was on Monday morning knocked from the Lawrence freight train by a bridge in Andover, and died in one hour. He was married last Friday, and resided in Lawrence.

Cincinnati, April 9.—The Enquirer this morning publishes a communication from Cassius M. Clay, which is extremely severe upon Ex-Secretary Corwin. It has been called forth by the abusive remarks of the latter, relative to the Abolitionists, published in the Patriot.

Washington, April 9.—The Senate in secret session to-day confirmed the few remaining nominations, but transacted no business of special moment.

The President having notified the members that he had no further communications to make, they agreed to adjourn on Monday, at one o'clock.

No nominations have been made for this district. It is understood that such changes as are desirable will be made in about ten days without the assistance of the Senate.

Numerous appointments throughout the country and abroad are to be deferred till the next session, Senators are beginning to leave. They will only formally meet on Monday, and it is doubtful whether a quorum will be present. The office seekers are mostly gone, and the city is once more becoming quiet.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

Mail steamer Illinois arrived at New York on Saturday afternoon. She left Navy Bay on the evening of the 1st, and brings California mails to the 16th of March, two millions ninety-five thousand four hundred dollars in gold dust, and three hundred and seventy-five passengers.

The steamer Prometheus from San Juan via Charleston, arrived at New York on Sunday morning.

The mail by the Golden Gate, which left San Francisco on the 16th ult., was the largest ever made up for the Atlantic. It contained 150,000 letters and 35,000 newspapers.

The Golden Gate was seized at San Francisco for taxes, alleged to be due by the Pacific Mail Company, on the 15th ult. Capt. Knights paid the amount demanded, under protest, and released the ship.

The steamer Isthmus, from Panama, with 275 passengers, arrived at New York on Sunday morning.

A new ocean ship route has been established between San Francisco and the new town of Gardnet, at the mouth of the Umpqua river. The steamer Fremont has been placed on the route.

A fine vein of silver was recently discovered near St. Johns, Monterey county. Six other veins of silver have lately been found in the same county.

On the 2d inst., a man named John Hussey, formerly of Maine, was killed near Canacka Creek, Nevada county, by the caving in of a tunnel.

Two men named George McDonald and —Kinasky were hung at Eureka, Humboldt Boy, for the murder of a merchant and his nephew. McDonald was formerly mate of the propellor Mary Ann.

John Boyd murdered a man in a ten-pin alley at Colusa, on the 6th of March. In twelve minutes afterwards he was hung from the limb of a tree, by the citizens.

Gold is now found in great quantities on the hill sides in the vicinity of Aqua Frio and Mariposa. The miners are said to be better employed there than ever before. Three persons have been known to take out as much as one thousand dollars a day.

The crops throughout California promise a larger yield than ever before.

THE STEAMSHIP TENNESSEE.—The Prometheus reports that all the passengers' baggage on board the Tennessee, (lost on her passage from Panama to San Francisco, on the 12th ult.,) together with a considerable portion of her ship's stores and a part of the machinery, were saved. She had one hundred women and children, who were landed safely. The Prometheus brought over two hundred passengers.

The $800 necessary for the redemption of "Daphne," the wife of William, the body servant of Daniel Webster, has been raised, and the woman is now free. Of the sum necessary, Mrs. Caroline Leroy Webster contributed $217.

This is noble. Mrs. Webster by this act is shewing herself to be a true woman, as well as the widow of a great man.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE,

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

Commissioner of Patents."

COUGH REMEDY!

FOR THE COMPLETE CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood,

CONSUMPTION!

THE above Expectorant, prepared by an experienced Physician and Chemist, has now become a standard Preparation, and is offered for the COMPLETE CURE of those diseases of the Throat and Lungs, which, if neglected, usually terminate fatally in Consumption. It contains no Opium, Calomel, or any mineral whatever, but is composed entirely of those Roots, Herbs, and Vegetable gums which have a specific influence upon the Lungs and their connected organs. Its immediate effect is to allay all irritation, and gently remove the phlegm and other morbid secretions from the Throat and Air-passages, thus relieving the Cough, by subduing the inflammation and other causes which give rise to it. It is approved of and recommended by Physicians of the highest standing, and may be given with perfect safety to the youngest child or the most delicate female.

THE PAPER DON'T SAY.

Mr. Slocum was not educated in a university, and his walk in life has been in by-paths and out of the way places. His mind is characterized by litleness rather than a comprehensive grasp of great subjects. Mr. Slocum can master a paragraph by dint of spelling the hard words in a deliberate manner, and he manages to get a few glimpses of men and things from his little rocky farm, through the medium of a newspaper. It is quite edifying to hear Mr. Slocum reading the village paper aloud to his wife after a hard day's work.

A few evenings ago, father Slocum was reading an account of a dreadful accident that had occurred at a factory in the next town, and which the village editor described in a great many words.

"I declare, wife, that was an awful accident over tew the mills."

"What was it about, Mr. Slocum?"

"I'll read the 'count, wife, and then you will know all about it."

Mr. Slocum began to read:

"Horrible and fatal accident—It becomes our painful duty to record the particulars of an accident that occurred at the lower mill, in this village, yesterday afternoon, by which a human being in the prime of life was hurried to "that bourne from which," as the immortal Shakspeare has said "no traveller returns."

"Mr. David Jones, a workman who had but few superiors this side of the great city of New York, was engaged in adjusting a belt upon one of the large drums—"

"I wonder if it was a base drum, such as has 'E Pluribus Unum' printed on it?" said Mrs. Slocum.

—"when he became entangled. His arm was drawn around the drum and finally his whole body was whirled over the shaft at a fearful rate. When his situation was discovered, he had revolved about fifteen minutes, his head and arms striking a large beam a distinct blow at each revolution."

"Poor creatur, how it must have hurt him."

"When the machinery had been stopped, it was found that Mr. Jones' arms and legs were lacerated into a jelly."

"Well, did it kill him?" asked Mrs. S. with increasing interest.

—"Portions of the duramater, cerebrum, and cerebellum, in confused masses, were scattered about the floor—in short, the gates of eternity had opened upon him."

Here Mr. Slocum paused to wipe his spectacles, and the wife seized the opportunity to press the question:

"Was the man killed?"

"I don't know—haven't come to that yet: you'll know when I've finished the piece."

And Mr. Slocum continued his reading:

"It was evident when the shapeless form was taken down, that it was no longer tenanted by an immortal spirit—that the vital spark was extinct."

"Was the man killed? that's what I want to come at," said Mrs. Slocum.

"Do have a little patience, old 'ooman," eyeing his better half over his spectacles: "I presume we shall come upon it right away," and then went on:

"This fatal casualty has cast a gloom over the village, and we trust that it will prove a warning to persons who are called upon to regulate the powerful machinery of our mills."

"Now," says Mrs. Slocum, perceiving that the narrative was ended, "now I should like to know whether the man was killed or not?"

Mr. Slocum looked puzzled. He scratched his head, scrutinized the article he had been reading and took a general survey of the paper.

"I declare, wife, 'tis rather curious, but really, the paper don't say."

Bulwer says, there is nearly always something of nature's own quality in very young women, except when they get together and fall a jiggling.

SATURDAY'S SENATE. Washington, April 9th.—In the Senate, to-day, on motion of Mr. Hunter, a Committee of two (Messrs. Hunter and Everett) were appointed to wait on the President of the United States, and inform him that, unless he had further communications to make to the Senate, it would adjourn at one o'clock on Monday. Mr. Hunter subsequently reported that the Committee had waited on the President, who had no further communications to make, and the resolution to close the session on Monday was adopted. On motion of Mr. Soule it was resolved that the Committee on Mexican Claims be authorized to file their report after adjournment.—Mr. Seward's resolution, to print debates in the National Intelligencer, was taken up, and a spirited debate sprung up between Messrs. Chase and Weller, on a motion by the former to print them in the National Era, which was finally defeated; no quorum being present, the Senate adjourned.

THE BEST STRIKE YET.—It is said that the keepers of six-cent drinking shops in New York will "strike" for 12 1-2 cents a drink after May 1st. This, the Journal of Commerce well remarks, is the best strike yet, and if the three-centers would strike for six cents a drink, we should have no objection. It would no doubt prove a very healthful kind of "moral suasion."

MAPLE SUGAR.—A correspondent of the Manchester Mirror, writing from Wentworth, N. H., says that far the last eight or ten days there has been a great run of sap, and, from present appearances, the present spring will be more prolific in the manufacture of maple sugar than any season for two or three years past.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13, 1853.

THE OLD BURNT NUNNERY.—In the report of the debate in the House of Representatives in Massachusetts, in relation to the Ursuline Convent question, Mr. Lord of Salem is made to say that "the Committee had made intimate inquiry into the history of the riot at Charlestown, and had found evidence not only that it was a gratuitous one, but that instead of the public authorities doing anything to suppress it, they had acted so as to foment the prejudices which resulted in the destruction of the property. This being the case beyond all cavil, the claim of the sufferers was clearly manifest."

To this, one of the then Selectmen of Charlestown, Mr. Thos. Hooper, replies,

"If the Selectmen of Charlestown were intended to be included in the phrase "public authorities," as one of the surviving members of that Board, I do not hesitate to pronounce the accusation to be slanderous, and "without cavil" (to use the mildest terms) wholly unsupported by the facts in the case."

Mr. Hooper is right. One of the Selectmen made a proposition to the lady Superior, which if accepted, would have saved all the trouble and loss. It was nothing more than to let a committee of respectable men pass through and report all right. But her haughty denial sealed the doom of the nunnery.

The Boston Courier informs us that the Ursuline Convent Bill was discussed at prodigious length again in the House of Representatives on Monday. The vote by which it was on Friday ordered to a third reading was reconsidered by a vote of fourteen. Three amendments were then proposed—which provide for the indemnification of all persons whose property has been destroyed during the twenty years prior to 1839—which were ordered to be printed.

The Courier says, "the friends of the bill are, if anything can be inferred from the speech of the chairman of the committee who reported it, impressed with the belief that it will be rejected."

We have already expressed our opinion that the damages ought to be paid: but if the question were submitted to the people of Massachusetts, we think the claim would be rejected by a two-thirds vote. The people of that state were strongly prejudiced against nunneries and catholic priests, before either appeared among them: and their prejudices have been rather increased than diminished, by the specimens which have since been exhibited. The recent assaults of the catholic press and priesthood, on our common schools, have stirred up and exasperated a feeling against the whole papal system, and against all who favor it. And their constant assumption that they, they only, are the true church, and that all outside their pale are bound to destruction and perdition, appears to the common New England mind so absurd, monstrous and hateful, that the people have no patience to give its advocates a hearing—and would sooner vote to throw their money overboard, than to pay it for rebuilding a convent.

IRON MASTS.—The great success which has attended the construction of tubular bridges has induced some of the British shipbuilders to take up again the question of iron masts. It is stated that tubular masts may be made of iron, stronger and lighter than those of wood, and with the additional advantage that they might slide down one into the other, telescope fashion, while they would require neither shrouds nor stays, leaving room for bracing round the yards to the outermost.

We find the above paragraph in the Boston Courier, not as original, and not credited. We would like to see a mast, made of iron or anything else, strong enough to carry sail on a ship, without stays. But we do not expect to see it, and can hardly imagine it possible.

☞ The Boston Post says, "the telegraphic report about two northern sub-treasurers, and that one had recently advanced a large amount of money to a private individual, can have no application, we are confident, to the office in this city, as we have good reason to know that every dollar for which Mr. Haven is responsible as sub-treasurer, is now in the vault of the office in the custom house."

THE HYDROPATHIC ENCYCLOPEDIA, by DR. TEALL.—This work is in 2 vols, of 550 and 500 pages, published by Fowlers & Wells, New York. Of course we have not read this book through: but during the last three months, we have repeatedly consulted its pages, and always found it abounding in valuable information.

A HOLY TOOTH.—Among the latest news from Germany, the papers state that the pope has presented to the emperor of Austria, through the cardinal and nuncio, a tooth taken from the blessed remains of the Apostle Peter, by the hands of his holiness himself!

ROMANISM.—Conversions from Protestantism to Romanism occur on both sides the Atlantic. The latest that has occurred is that of a daughter of Gen. Robert Desha, of Tennessee, who is at present travelling in Europe.—To go over to the Church of Rome is fast becoming a sine qua non with romantic young ladies who visit Europe from this country.

BEECHER ON THE RAPPINGS

Rev. Charles Beecher, of Newark, at the request of an association of ministers, has investigated the rappings, or spiritualism, and his report is shortly to be published.

The substance of the report is given in the N. Y. Tribune. Mr. Beecher concludes, 1, that the rappings are not the product of mere juggle or intentional imposture; 2, that they have not their origin in electricity, Magnetism or other natural and physical force; 3, that they are not caused by some involuntary action of persons "still in the body;" and 4, that the "assumption that disembodied spirits cannot communicate with persons still in the flesh, is opposed to the whole tenor, not merely of Hebrew and Christian but also to pagan history. The possibility of such intercourse—nay, the fact that it has occurred, has always been believed by the great mass of mankind. The assumption of the moral impossibility of communication between those we call the dead and individuals still in the body, is fatal to the existence of Christianity as a divinely originated faith, and cannot be entertained by any believers, however lax, in the inspiration of the Scriptures." But on the other hand, positively, he does believe, 5, that the phenomena known as Spiritual are really caused by the spirits of the departed, but not by the spirits of the blest. It is essentially one with the demoniac possession whereof the Gospels often speak—that is, by the control and use of the bodily organs of living human beings by disembodied human spirits, incorrectly termed "devils" in our English version of the Scriptures."

And 6, and lastly, he believes that "the fact of the evil character of these modern spirits is demonstrated by their general denial of the Inspiration of the Bible, of the great fundamentals of Evangelical Christianity, their disinclination toward vital piety, &c., &c. We have in the Bible an infallible test of spiritual pretensions, and whatever contradicts any portion of that Book, or denies it the authority and obedience due to the revealed Word of God, is thereby proved false and diabolic."

How it might appear to his association, we cannot say—nor dare we say without seeing it, how strong his back is,—but if the abstract here given is a fair one, it appears to us an exceedingly weak and unsatisfactory solution of the mystery.

The New York Herald, in speaking of the same performance, says,

"Mr. Beecher thought, however, as we think, that a dose of Glauber salts would be found a most excellent remedy for casting out the devils; but he hesitated to recommend it, lest, as he said, the materialists might use the same weapon against all believers in the immortality of the soul. Instead of this effectual means of casting out Beelzebub, he advised his brethren of the ministry to attack the evil with the regular orthodox arms of the Church, if, after a patient investigation, they were satisfied that it would be right to extirpate it at all. And for this paper, which consumed between two and three hours in reading, the reverend body passed a vote a vote of thanks to its author, not committing themselves, however, to a recognition of the sentiments contained in it.

For our part, we have very little confidence in the ability of the Church to grapple with this new and formidable foe by any exercise of ecclesiastical power, but we have every faith in the virtue of the Glauber salts."

LIQUOR LAW IN VERMONT.—Preston Thayer, tavern keeper at Passumpsic village, in Barnet, Vt., was hauled up last week for a violation of the liquor law, and his liquors seized. He claimed a trial by jury, which was granted. The jury disagreed upon the first trial; he was tried again and the second jury disagreed. The case was postponed for a week, the liquors meanwhile remaining in custody.

The correspondent of the Brattleboro' Eagle tells the following story of a witness upon a liquor trial:

"How do you know it was brandy?" asked the lawyer. "Well," replied the ready witness, "I smelled of it first, and then I welcomed about a glass and a half of it." The unexpected verb wholly upset the gravity of court, jury, and the miscellaneous people; and they were not at all assisted in recovering their wonted equanimity by his further testimony that the man who bought the brandy drank of it himself, "till he was quite salubrious."

The Burlington correspondent of the New York Tribune says:

"The Maine Law in the Green Mountain State works gloriously, and what liquor it don't pour into the gutters it drives into the ground, under beds, and into woodpiles. Its moral force now begins to be properly appreciated, and its practical operation comes up to the expectations of its warmest friends."

SENATOR HALE ON BOARD THE SLOOP-OF-WAR GERMANTOWN.—On Friday last, Hon. John P. Hale, the father of the law abolishing flogging in the U. S. Navy, by invitation of Commander Nicholas, visited the U. S. sloop-of-war Germantown. The crew was mustered and the ex senator made a brief speech to them, complimenting them for the high character which had been paid them by their commander and other officers. He was most heartily cheered upon his arrival on board, at the close of his remarks, and again on his departure. We learn from Commander Nicholas that so far as his ship is concerned the law works well; that it is only necessary to whip lazy seamen. The Germantown had none.—Post.

BOSTON, April 4, 1853.

Editors Morning Chronicle:—You will oblige all the friends of the Quintett Club, by giving the following article a place in your paper:

QUINTETT CLUB.—A musical treat. * * * The instrumental part of the entertainment was universally admitted to be excellent, although we are of opinion that a great majority (?) of the audience would have been still better satisfied, had there been less of the operatic and more of the simple music, that they and we could more fully appreciate.—Rockingham Messenger of March 30.

In order to enable the Quintett Club to prepare for the next concert a programme more suitable to "they and we," the Messenger is requested to state what kind of simple music is wished for. But the editor must be made acquainted beforehand with the unfortunate fact that the Irish Washerwoman, the Java March, the hornpipes, and all of the negro melodies, and alas! much more of this beautiful simple music is not yet arranged for the quintett (probably because it was supposed that quintett clubs generally, and the Mendelssohn Quintett Club especially, and their audiences, are not yet so highly advanced in taste.) But the editor may be assured that the arrangement of that music will soon be found necessary, when he continues to work so zealously in subduing and suppressing any opportunity that may tend to make "them" acquainted with, and thereby gradually able to appreciate something beyond his own unimproveable taste. EXCELSIOR CLUB.

We are quite willing that our correspondent above should have a hearing before our readers; and therefore give the article a place.—Nevertheless, we believe a majority of the audience, would, as the Messenger suggests, be better pleased with simpler strains, than with more elaborate and difficult performances, in which the mind may be astonished at the execution, but the ear is not charmed by the melody. These remarks will apply to vocal as well as instrumental performances.—Mrs. Wentworth's singing of the air, "In Verdure Clad," pleased the audience well; but the simplest ballad she sung pleased them better.

BLACK SWAN.—The "Black Swan" sailed in the Cunard steamer Asia on Wednesday. She engaged a first cabin state-room, and was accompanied by her manager, Mr. Kemp, (white,) two serving women, (white,) and a young serving man, (white). She consented to sing for the colored people, provided they would make the necessary arrangements; but they insisted that she should foot the bills and give them the receipts, which she declined doing. Her exit is not unlike that of another distinguished individual under the alias of Alexander Smith.—New York Mirror.

We think the black swan served her black friends exactly right. If they were so greedy as to wish her not only to give her services to their charity, but also to bear all the house expenses,—it was perfectly proper for her to leave them alone in their glory. They see their folly by this time.

CRUEL HOAX.—In our last paper we copied from others the following statement:

Drowned in Connecticut River at Hanover, N. H., 2d inst., Mr. George P. Russell, of Georgetown, Mass., a member of the Sophomore Class in Dartmouth College.

We are pleased to learn, that this whole story is a falsehood—invented by some stupid fellows in Dartmouth College, who had no more sense than to suppose they were doing a bright and witty thing, when they sent the paltry lie to the printing office, for publication. We learn that a letter, exposing the trick, was received by the parents of young Mr. Russell, by the same mail which conveyed the falsehood, so that they were not exposed to the pain of believing in its truth.—Salem Gazette.

WASHING BY STEAM.—A New York correspondent of the Boston Transcript, in describing the new St. Nicholas Hotel in that city, thus refers to the steam washing machine in the basement of the building:—

"This is something new under the sun.—Four hundred pieces are thrown into a cylinder, half filled with water and soap suds. This is thrown into rapid revolution by a small steam engine. Steam is then let into the cylinder under the water and clothes, which raises the clothes out of the water, passing through the pores of the fabric, and out at the top of the cylinder. The clothes are thrown down again by the pressure of steam into the suds, and so on. The changes thus produced by the rapid revolation, and by the passage of the steam through the clothing, washes them perfectly clean in the space of ten minutes. The clothes are then thrown in a body into an other cylinder, and wrung by the revolution of the cylinder: and then by letting in hot air, which passes through the clothing, they are perfectly dried, ready for ironing, in seven minutes. The whole time occupied in washing, wringing, and drying is but seventeen minutes. The advantages of this apparatus are: first, an immense saving of time and expense in washing; second, the finest cambrics can be washed without wearing them out or injuring the texture as is necessarily done by rubbing. I have seen a hand machine in operation, of the same description, (costing from fifty to one hundred dollars) where one woman would do the work of twenty. This is an invention of J. T. King, and they are manufactured at the Novelty Iron Works in New York city."

A CENTENARIAN.—Mr. Joshua Stanford of Dublin, N. H., was one hundred years old on the 27th day of March last. He was born in Sherburne, Mass., on that day, 1753, and has resided in Dublin probably seventy or eighty years. He is able to walk, enjoys pretty good health, and reads without spectacles as he always has done.

The Sultan of Turkey, it is said, has lately granted a large piece of ground for a cemetery of Christians of all communions, and it was expected that he would even defray the expenses of building a wall around it.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

ACCIDENT TO THE EMPIRE STATE.—An accident occurred on board the steamer Empire State, on her passage from New York to Fall River Monday night, which occasioned considerable alarm among the passengers; but which was not of a very serious nature, and did not result in any material damage to property, or any injury whatever to the passengers.

The accident—which occurred when the steamer was off Huntington, about 8 o'clock—was the giving way of the flue, in consequence of which the water was let into the furnace and the fire driven out, so as to ignite the blower. The flames were soon extinguished, with but trifling damage. The boat was stopped immediately and the passengers transferred to the Commodore, which was near by, on her way to Stonington.

The Empire State, we are informed, will resume her regular trips this (Wednesday) evening.

ARRIVAL OF VICE PRESIDENT KING.—New Orleans, April 11.—The United States steamer Fulton, from Matanzas, arrived at Mobile at noon, to-day, with Vice President King on board. Mr. King's health is exceedingly low.

WASHINGTON RUMORS.—New York, April 12.—A despatch from Washington says it is understood that Judge Bronson declines the post of Collector of this port, and that Gen. Dix and Myndert Van Schaick are now talked of for the office.

THREE CENT PIECES.—Philadelphia, April 10.—The Director of the Mint has given notice that the coinage of three cent pieces and their distribution at the expense of the Mint has been discontinued, with the view to a more active employment in manufacturing new silver coin. Over thirty-six million three cent pieces have been coined.

New York, April 11.—A frightful accident occurred at the Navy Yard this morning. The boiler of a dredging machine used in cleaning out the docks exploded, and Patrick McNally, the engineer, and James Smith, the fireman, were killed. The captain of the craft, Mr. Copeland, was blown into the water, but sustained little injury. A boy named Rontad was thrown upon the deck, but only slightly hurt. The machine was blown into fragments.

NAVAL.—Arrival of Sloop-of-War Dale.—The United States sloop-of-war Dale, Commander James L. Lardner, arrived at New York on Thursday morning from Porta Praya, Cape Verd, whence she sailed March 1. She experienced very severe gales during the passage.

The Dale has been absent from the United States nearly thirty-two months, during which time she has been actively employed cruising on the west coast of Africa, from Monrovia down to St. Paul's de Loando, besides being detached from the station for a period of some eight months on important duty at Johanna, one of the Comoro Islands, situated at the head of the Mozambique channel. The Dale has been actually at sea during the cruise, four hundred and fifty days, and has sailed 46,000 miles by log. Not a death has occurred on board of her since she was put into commission.

WASHINGTON NEWS.—More than half the Washington rumors are groundless: and yet every daily paper must publish them. A despatch of the 11th, says:

We learn from undoubted authority that no changes of cabinet officers were submitted to the senate to-day. All the rumors to the contrary are groundless. Mr. Buchanan's appointment was the only thing of consequence done in executive session. There was barely a quorum present, and that was obtained only by vigorous drumming up during the night and morning.

Mr. Soule sent in his resignation to the senate this morning.

The decrees of the first Roman Catholic Council in Canada, which was convened in Quebec, has been approved by the Pope; in consequence of which they were publicly read from the pulpits, and have become virtually the ecclesiastical law of the land. One of those decrees prohibits secret societies. Catholics who have anything to do with them cannot obtain absolution for their sins. Another decree refers to the "mixed schools," which are pronounced "altogether dangerous." All the Catholics are bound to raise unceasing opposition against them. A Catholic Normal School is declared to be highly desirable, etc. The decree against mixed schools is put alongside those prohibiting concubinage and houses of ill-fame, in the hope that such unfair association will bias the minds of the ignorant with the simple, and make them look upon these schools as something very immoral.—Montreal Witness.

DARING BURGLARY.—The house of Mr. Charles W. Engley, No. 9 Lincoln street (says the Worcester Spy) was burglariously entered on Sunday night by means of a ladder placed against the window of the upper tenement in the house which was unoccupied and undergoing repairs. From the second story the burglar descended to Mr. Engley's apartments, entered the room in which himself and wife were sleeping, opened the bureau drawers, and carried Mr. Engley's pantaloons to the room adjoining from which he abstracted a wallet containing $150 in cash and then decamped. The noise made by the departure of the thief aroused Mr. E., who found his wallet minus the contents in the room adjoining, with the papers scattered upon the floor.

Steamship Isabel, at Charleston, from Havana, April 8th, reports that "the lives of the prisoners had been spared. They were taken to the scaffold, when their pardon was read."

The publication of a new Maine Law paper, is about to be commenced at Woodstock, Vt., by Mr. Pratt.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.
THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.
The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 36 feet, two stories high, and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair, —with all necessary barns and out-buildings.
The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.
The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.
Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.
If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.
Epping, March 30, 1853.

LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR

LYON'S KATHAIRON,
For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair, CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.
AS A TOILET ARTICLE,
for giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy, and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.
FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS
It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N. Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

Health and Strength.
SPRING is the proper time of the year to purify the Blood, by taking Medicinal Bitters. We are ever taking sweet food into the stomach, forgetting that the system demands a proper amount of Bitter to counteract the sweet. Among the many articles in the market, none have proved better or of more efficacy than the following:
Dr. S. O. Richardson's Sherry Wine Bitters;
Dr. Pierce's Indian Restorative Bitters;
Dr. Langley's Root & Herb Bitters;
Dr. Atwood's Vegetable Jaundice Bitters
These Bitters are purely medicinal; and are not made for any other object and any person purchasing of the subscriber who is not satisfied, shall have the money returned.

POWDER, SHOT AND CAPS for sale by
GEORGE H. KNOWLTON,
o6 No. 2 Congress st.

The following piece of poetry is copied from the New York Musical World & Times.

THE PIANOFORTE TUNER.

A foe hath come!—to Discord, not to you;
Sweet Music's power is to his labors due;
He makes the pale Piano-keys to dance to
The like accord, that Milton's planets prance to!
The tuneful little nymph might without him,
Hang useless Harp on tall tree's furthest limb!

From lowest Base to highest Treble, he,
Shall equidistant range each sister key;
A perfect stairs, or ladder built of sounds,
True as what square or rule defines and bounds,
To ear as mathematic as Euclid,
Who with his lines and curves such wonders did.

Now opes he wide the casement of the chords,
Then to attack—and soon the barque he boards!
Then, with a Tuning fork for compass, steers
The many-chorded vessel—by his ears.
Seeks, thro' sharp, splashing, throbbing, surges, moans
A sea of rippling, blended, dulcet tones!

His fingers warily glide mid the keys,
Or, now dash to and fro, as he would tease,
The wilderness of pins and chords, among
Which, keys and fingers seem all heedless flung,
To bring th'harmonious, gentle spirit back,—
A pow'r each living man but him—doth lack!

When done, and each chord sings her perfect sound,
Some simple Critic may thy sense astound,
In doubt, or question, if the instrument
Doth better sound for all thy skill hath spent!
Console thyself—cork up thy bottled wrath,
Say "Ah!" and bow,—in silence think of Gath!

Can'st thou, that complex thing, then, tune aright,
And yet te tune thyself art witnout might!
When Discords thro' thy system throb and grate,
Who shall attune thee, save the Power of Fate!—
Which keeps, thro' the eternity of years,
The world in tune, and all the myriad spheres!

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved matcrial.

SPIRITUAL RAPPING CONVENTION.

A Convention of the believers in spiritual manifestations was commenced in Springfield on Wednesday. About 300 were present. Dr. H. F. Gardner of Springfield presided. Revs. John M. Spear, Adin Ballou, and Rev. Mr. Finney of Ohio were present, the latter of whom during the evening made a long address in which he is reported to have broached the broadest doctrines of infidelity. One of the editors of the Springfield Republican had the patience to sit it out, and gives an account of the session, from which we extract a scene:

The spiritual dramatic performance which closed the exercises of the afternoon was a curiosity. A request was made for all to leave the room, who would not be able to sit it through, as the door would be locked, and neither ingress nor egress allowed. The mediums were called to the front seats, and to the stage, all sat down, and then followed a long and solemn silence. Then Rev. J. M. Spear began to go to sleep; his right hand raised, and held tremulously upwards. Then he arose, advanced slowly towards the centre of the stage, and suddenly put both hands to his face, and burst into a most lugubrious bellowing; and as nearly as we can recall it, we will give some of the first of the performances, as a specimen:

Mr. Spear—(Hands to his face—face as red as a cabbage) Boo hoo! Ah-h boo hoo! Oh-h-h boo hoo-oo-oo!!! My father is dead, my mother is dead, and my little boy is dead! I saw them all buried in the grave! And I must be buried in the grave; (Wringing his hands) Boo hoo! Oh where is my mother, where is my father, and where is my little boy? (more blubbering.)

Lady—(Arising and advancing) Your father and mother are here, and little Johnny is here. Don't you see them? Here they are, and here is little Johnny—little curly headed fellow!

Mr. Spear—(More boo-hooing) My father is dead, and mother is dead, and little Johnny is dead. Oh! I want to see little Johnny. Oh! I wish I was dead, too.

Lady—(Kindly.) Here they are—they are not dead, they are living.

Mr. Spear—Little Johnny is dead, I saw him die.

Lady—No, Johnny is not dead.

Mr. Spear—It's a lie!

Lady—Why, here he is. Can't you see him? He lives, and is here by your side.

Mr. Spear—It's a lie! It's an infernal lie! Oh! where is Johnny.

Mr. Finney—(Advancing, and partly addressing the audience,) Here is materialism in its grossest form. (Addressing the lady) —He comprehends you not. His eyes are closed. With the material vision he sees not spiritual realities. He must be taught the very A-B-C's of spiritual being.

Mr. Spear—I want to see Johnny.

Lady—Impatiently sputtering.) Patience! Oh can't you see him?

But enough. In this style, the drama progressed, Mr. Spear persisting in his infidelity and in his desire to plant his peepers on Johnny, the lady determined that he shall see him, Mr. Finney moralizing generally and particularly on material and spiritual things, another gentleman throwing up his hands, uttering all sorts of oracular sayings, and sometimes walking back and forth on the stage, like Bill Christy before commencing a Virginia break down, and a young girl "mixing in," occasionally, with something about the church, which the talkative lady thought was very silly and foolish. Soon the play took another turn, and branched off into Slavery the church, the devil, &c., &c., and at last, "brought up" in no particular place. We regretted to see that Mr. Spear did not get a squint at Johnny, except in dreams to which the good lady conjured him to hold on.

Well, what was it all about? Our vision being still material, we, of course, cannot be expected to be entirely correct in our interpretations, but so near as we understand it, it was thus: Mr. Spear was possessed by the spirit of a superlatively ignorant negro slave. His father and mother were slaves, and so was Johnny. He was in the spirit world, but was so gross and undeveloped that he did not know that he was dead, and had not yet obtained spiritual vision. The spirits around him, in the other forms, were trying to teach him and comfort him. The lesson was (as explained) that undeveloped spirits had to be trained and developed gradually by the ministrations of those more advanced. The expositor also stated that the education of undeveloped spirits was a portion of the new movement in the spirit world, and was participated in more largely there than here. To us, outside barbarians and "infidels" the exhibition looked like a most unmitigated humbug. It was a poor, pitiful, nonsensical, incoherent, hodge-podge, inane, insane, frothy mess of tom foolery.

The Address of Andrew Jackson Davis, in the evening, was read from manuscript, and was rather hum-drum-ish. He was followed by Mr. Finney who exhausted the vocabulary of sarcasm, contempt and abuse, in a continuation of his attacks on the Bible and the church. Had he been inspired by a fiend of hell he could not have been more bitter in his denunciations.

PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1853.

LAW OF DIVORCE.

In the Massachusetts House of Representatives, on Tuesday, as we learn from the Boston Courier, Mr. Dunckleo of Brighton introduced an order, directing an inquiry into the expediency of some amendment of the law of divorce. It is said that the present law operates oppressively in certain cases; particularly where drunken husbands have obtained divorce from wives who have been forced to desert them on account of their dissolute habits, and have again married, while the innocent wives, who are rendered guilty in the eye of the law, cannot again marry. Several cases of this kind of hardship have recently been disclosed to members of the Legislature, and Mr. Dunncleo proposes to remedy the defect by a general law, which shall give the Supreme Court power to authorize wives to marry, in such cases.

The Massachusetts law, and all laws on the subject, should be based on common sense, which declares that when a man is divorced (i. e. divided, separated,) from a woman, she is also divorced from him; and vice versa.—The principles of divorce as laid down by Moses in the Old Testament, and by Jesus in the New, are simple and intelligible. But the Statute Laws of Massachusetts, New York, and some other states, which have attempted to grant one-sided divorces, permitting the remarriage of one party, and prohibiting that of the other, are local as to their operation, and therefore impose no restraint whatever on the dissolute rover, while they often, as in the cases above alluded to, are a useless burden on the more conscientious and pure.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF THE SPIRITUAL MANIFESTATIONS.—We learn that Mr. Christian Suevely, a very worthy and industrious citizen of this borough, has become insane on this ridiculous and absurd subject. This is the first instance that has occurred from this vile and sacrilegious practice in our borough, and has caused a considerable sensation among our people. He has been conveyed to the Pennsylvania Lunatic Hospital, and is now a raving maniac. We trust that this sad result may prove a salutary warning to all who have made a practice of attending spirit rapping meetings, and giving countenance to this base and wicked system of imposition.—Harrisburg (Pa.) Union.

The Harrisburg Union in this short paragraph, lets off a large volley of hard words and phrases, as—"ridiculous and absurd subject," (?)—"vile and sacrilegious practice"—"base and wicked system of imposition."—Perhaps "spiritualism" may be all these: but we would like better evidence of it than the ipse dixit of an unknown editor; and especially of one who talks about an "absurd subject." We can't tell what he means by this phrase, and don't believe he knows himself. He is angry because a good but weak minded man has gone crazy about he knows not what: and we think it is a pity—but such weak are very apt to chase after novelties, especially when they are extravagant as well as novel.

Adventism — spiritualism — mesmerism—Burchardism—all have had their victims,—as well as their believers and votaries who seem to enjoy them intensely. Laws cannot be so framed as to prevent the evil—there is no adequate remedy that we know of, except the "Gospel of Peace," against this form of insanity. And this, unfortunately, is not a popular remedy.

Spanish Quarter Dollars are only intrinsically worth 20 cents. Government is preparing an enormous issue of new quarter dollars. The banks will be supplied next month. The Spanish quarters will then be "called in" at 20 cents. Those old fogies who have been hoarding up Spanish coin had better put it in circulation, or they will lose 20 per cent.—Boston Bee.

Almost any body can "call spirits from the vasty deep," but the question is, "will they come?" If government calls in Spanish quarters at 20 cents, it will be likely to call a long time before it gets any. Many of them are worth 22 or 23 cents for old silver—and in Cuba they are a part of the regular currency. Cuba is not very far off—and vessels go there now and then. So the old quarters need not be frightened, nor the old fogies either.

☞ Mr. Speed has been elected mayor of Louisville, and most of the old officers were re-elected without opposition. The question of granting liquor licenses was carried in the affirmative, and of establishing water works, in the negative. Spirits are more popular there, than water.

HELD ON TOO LONG.—A dealer in Potatoes informs us that at a certain period in the past winter, the market was open here for all the potatoes raised in this region, at about 40 cents per bushel; but the same potatoes, (white) are now only bringing 25 cents, with no prospect of a rise.

A MARE'S NEST WITHOUT EGGS.

Two or three days ago, we had a wonderful rumor, by telegraph, that President Pierce or the new Secretary of the Treasury, had found things going "with a perfect looseness" among the Sub Treasurers of the North, (meaning of course Boston or New York)—and was going to have all the crooked things made straight, forthwith.

This wonder was ruined, as to Boston, by the prompt statement of the Boston Post, that Mr. Sub-Treasurer Haven's strong box was all correct, and that the editor was a voucher.

The New York Express kills off the remainder of the article in this fashion, leaving the nest entirely destitute of eggs.

A statement of difficulties in, and dangers as to, the Sub-Treasury, is of no importance. The Sub Treasurer here (Luther Bradish, Esq.,) has not only character and weight to back him,—but he is one of those men who go precisely according to Treasury instructions.

The statement is this, substantially. The late Secretary ordered in this market the purchase of U. S. Stocks to the amount of over a million of dollars, one half of which was to be bought by the Merchants' Bank, (Mr. Palmer,) and the other half by a broker, or dealer in stocks. A transfer warrant put half a million into the Bank (requiring security,) and $527,000 into a Broker's hands, requiring security in Stocks to the amount of $537,000. The Merchants' Bank could buy no stocks at the Treasury limit, and returned the money. U. S. Stocks (loan of 1847) could be had at 121, but the last market price was 120 3-4, and the difference forbade a bargain. The Broker has bought to the amount of $300,000, and he brought into the Sub Treasury U. S. Stocks, received in return, an equivalent in other stocks deposited for security. About $200,000 more (U. S. Stocks) are ordered to be purchased, when they can be had at certain rates.

The broker is, in the street, understood to be Simeon Draper, Esq., who gave ample security. Out of these simple transactions the statement is made, which we copy elsewhere. The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Guthrie, has known of it all from the start,—and no orders, to make any change in the mode of purchasing U. S. Stocks, have been made known here, in New York.

MR. WEBSTER'S PROPERTY.—In reply to some queries by the Providence Journal, the Boston Courier deems it proper to state that it is now certain that everything at Marshfield which the public would desire to see preserved, as a permanent memorial of the great statesman, will be secured for that purpose, but whether his testamentary wishes in relation to his birthplace in New Hampshire will be also carried into effect, must depend on the further action of his friends.

The Newburyport Union mentions the sale of three tenements in that city, which rent for $230, for $2125; and thinks this "shows that money must be paying well elsewhere, not to seek such an investment." The purchaser, Mr. Blood, is already the possessor of sixty or seventy houses, and "should he continue to increase his real estate for twenty years to come as he has for twenty years past, in his old age he will hold a good share of Newburyport."

The Newburyport Union says that "a merchant who beat a retreat from his quarters in Newburyport, several months since, leaving his creditors to look after some thousands of unpaid paper, has been discovered in a quiet retreat in New Hampshire, passing his time with a young wife whom he has since taken to be the sharer of his fortunes."

PARIS FASHIONS.—"The dress," writes the Paris correspondent of the London Court Journal, "is made considerably shorter than of late, and need not be held in order to avoid the mud. The double-brimmed bonnets of Madame Anais, of the Rue St. Augustine, have met with decided success. The brim is surmounted with a raised with a band of velvet on the outside, imitating a second brim, beneath which is laid a wreath of flowers or a double ruche of tulle. The effect of this novelty is charming—the shadow thrown upon the face by the thickness of this new kind of encadrement, renders every countenance both fair and soft. The hair is turned back under the bonnet, and sometimes two long, thick curls pass below the edge of the bonnet on either side.

This new style of bonnet would be very neat and becoming, especially to a "blonde." The short dresses meet our decided approval. By wearing them, the ladies will be relieved from the duty of sweeping sidewalks, and their skirts and hose will present a neater appearance after a promenade in damp weather. We hope to see both articles adopted.

A woman in Dutton, N. H., recently became the mother of four live bouncing boys at a single birth. At the last advices, the whole crowd were doing not only "as well as could be expected," but rather better.

We suppose this means Dalton, a town in Coos County—a fine healthy, romantic location.

Good Friday having this year fallen upon "Lady's Day," an old prophecy is revived in England, which says—

"When good Friday falls in a lady's lap,
To England will happen some mishap."

Wiseacres are looking out for squalls, and we shall look, by every arrival, for an account of some such about Windsor Castle.

HAYTI.

We do not always understand the characters, and of course not the quarrels, of our near neighbors. This is the case, probably, with regard to most people in this country, as to the recent war between two dark skinned governments in Hayti. A writer in the Boston Daily Advertiser, claiming to understand the matter, speaks highly of Mr. B. C. Clark's late "Plea for Hayti," a book which we have not seen, and says:

It was well known that Mr. Walsh was sent out to Hayti, some year or two ago, in a demi-official character, to attempt, in conjunction with the regularly accredited officials of Great Britain and France, to coerce or intimidate the Haytien Government into a peace with the South part of the island, which had seceded from the empire and erected the republican standard. The correspondence of Mr. Walsh with the Department of State has been laid before the country at the call of the Senate, as also the instructions of the department to Mr. Walsh.

Mr. Clark's later pamphlet entitled "Remarks," was elicited by these papers, and he has, in our view, satisfactorily disabused the public mind with regard to the causes of the attempt to dismember the Haytien empire.

In the correspondence between Mr. Walsh and the Department of State, the contests between the Northern and Southern parts of the island are represented as a "war of races."—Mr. Clark, on the contrary, proves that color had nothing to do with the matter. The writer of this article has visited Hayti, and knows something of its history and present condition. It is true, that the inhabitants of the Northern parts of the Island are "guilty of a skin not colored" exactly like that of the people of the South. Color has

"Stamped a darker, deeper dye

as well as upon their skin.

But the true cause of the outbreak of the spirit of revolt in the South, was the inoculation of their constitution with the spirit of religious liberty. Toleration was a thing which the people of the South did not understand, and could not allow. Persistance in this feature on the part of the Haytiens, drove the Dominicians from the legislative halls, and raised the standard of revolt. And now the Government of the United States are invited to make common cause with England and France, to compel the Haytien Government to expunge from their constitution (and thus make peace with the Dominicians, who can be reconciled on no other terms,) the very principle which in the infancy of Rhode Island, Maryland, and Pennsylvania, has been the subject of so just and general eulogy. Mr. Clark has reviewed the correspondence with fairness and more than forbearance. He has been more than kind in his allusion to "the re-subjugation of a race," that had never been subjugated. It will be seen we think by all who will give Mr. Clark's pamphlet that careful perusal which it deserves, that the Government was guilty of more than a mistake, in meddling at all in the matter. "A gross blunder" is strong language, but we fear that our Government must plead guilty to the charge.

This is exactly as if the Mormons should declare Utah independent of the Union, because she would have no worship there but at the Mormon Temple—and as if Great Britain, France and Spain should compel us to make peace with Utah on such terms. If the late President and Secretary of State did this, it was a blunder, sure enough.

THE NEW AMERICAN COINAGE.

Its provisions may be briefly summed up as follows:

1. The weight of the half-dollar is to be 192 grains.*

1. That of the quarter-dollar, the dime, and the half-dime, to be one-half, one fifth, and one-tenth, the weight of said half-dollar.

3. The new coins, as above, are to be legal tenders in payments of debts for all sums not exceeding $5.

5. The new coins are to be paid out at the mint, in exchange for gold coin at par, in sums not less than $100.

5. No deposits for coinage into the half-dollay, quarter-dollar, dime and half-dime, are hereafter to be re-coined, other than those made by the treasurer of the mint, in conformity with the new law.

6. From time to time there is to be coined at the mint, "conformably in all respects to the standard of gold coins now established by law, a coin of gold of the value of three dollars or units, and all the provisions of an act entitled 'An act to anthorize the coinage of gold dollars and double eagles,' approved March third, eighteen hundred and forty-nine, shall be applied to the coin herein authorized so far as the same may be applicable; but the devices and shape of the three dollr piece shall be fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury."

*Of same fineness as present standard, but about 7 per cent. less in weight.

RATES OF POSTAGE.—It is not easy to keep always in mind the amount of required postage stamps of letters &c., under the laws now in force. The following convenient table of rates gives the information required at a glance, and we present it to our readers, with the suggestion to cut it out and put it in some convenient place to save the trouble of asking and of having to answer the questions about it:

Letters,
Each one-half ounce, under 3000 miles, prepaid, 3c, unpaid, 5c.
Each one-half ounce, over 3000 miles, prepaid, 6c, unpaid, 10c.
All printed matter in general—any thing in the United States.
First three ounces, 1c.
Each subsequent ounce, 1c.
If not prepaid, double these rates.
But—
Newspapers and periodicals—paid quarterly or yearly in advance—
First three ounces one-half cent.
Each subsequent ounce, 1 1-2.

A LADY BARBER.—Miss Caroline E. Putnam advertises herself as a barber in the Salem Register.

LOCAL.

SAD ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday evening, about an hour after sunset as a little son of Mr. Daniel L. Stover aged about nine years was at play with other children, around a cart which was standing on a vacant lot in Hanover street, he was stuck on the head by the cart as the children tilted it up and down, and very badly injured. He remains insensible.

THE NUNNERY BILL DEFEATED.

In the Massachusetts House of Representatives on Wednesday, the bill relating to sufferers by a mob in Charlestown, was debated at length, on certain amendments moved thereto. These were all rejected; and finally the vote on ordering the bill to a third reading was taken by yeas and nays, and rejected by a vote of 120 to 111, majority 9.

Dr. Roberts has been sent to the Georgia state prison for nineteen years, (Gideon Copenhagen for fourteen, and Lewis Clark for four, for robbing an old man of $6500 in silver.

John McRae, postmaster at Fayetville, N. C., has declined a reappointment. He has been connected with the office for fifty-two years, seventeen years as clerk under his father, and thirty-five years as postmaster.

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

Philadelphia, April 12.—The Stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad, by nearly a unanimous vote, have authorized a subscription of $750,000 to the Marietta and Cincinnati Railroad, $300,000 to the Indiana and Ohio Railroad, and $100,000 to the Springfield, Mount Vernon and Pittsburg Railroad.

Washington, April 13.—The Senate executive session, yesterday, was a short one. The condition of our foreign relations was the chief topic of discusion. The unsettled questions with England and Central America will for some time occupy the attention of the Cabinet.

B. B. French has accepted the post of secretary to sign land warrants, with a salary of $1500 per annum, to which Sidney Webster had been confirmed, but has been forced to give it up owing to a pressure of other duties. —N. Y. Tribune.

THE ILLINOIS.—By some error, either in the transmission or typographical composition of the California news per the Illinois, on Saturday night, at New York, relating to the number of passengers of the missing steamer Independence, it was announced that she had arrived in safety. Such was not the fact. At the last dates from San Francisco she had not been heard from.

THE FALL RIVER MURDER.—Murphy, the man who murdered his wife in Fall River, on Saturday night, by binding her, and forcing vitriol down her throat, was in this city, it is supposed, yesterday, and applied for work at the Wamsutta Mills.—New Bedford Mercury.

It is said the woman was drunk when murdered.

HARTFORD.—The Democrats chose Mr. James Hamersly Mayor of Hartford on Monday by 123 majority. The Board of Aldermen stands 3 whigs to 3 democrats; Common Council, 13 whigs to 11 democrats. The contest turned partly on the question of licensing theatrical exhibitions, the friends of which prevailed.

A SAD AND UNWORTHY FATE.—Among the Egyptian curiosities of Dr. Abbott, now exhibiting in New York, are many large blocks of finely sculptured stone. The most beautifully executed of these, representing the return of one of the Pharaohs in triumph from a distant war, dating back nearly 2000 years before Christ, was obtained and transported at great expense. But after resisting the tooth of time for 3000 years, and escaping all the perils of Egypt and the ocean, a heedless carman in New York dumped it carelessly on the pavement, breaking it in pieces. —Am. Messenger.

ABDUCTION.—In the Boston municipal court, the case of Mary Ann Smith and Elizabeth Watson, commenced on Tuesday, was finished on Wednesday forenoon. In this case the defendants are charged with abducting from Newmarket, N. H., a sister of Elizabeth Watson, for purposes of prostitution in the house of Mrs. Smith, in Pleasant street Court, in Boston. The Jury returned a verdict of guilty against Elizabeth Watson, and were unable to agree as to Mary Ann Smith.

SCARCITY OF SEAMEN FOR THE NAVY.—The National Intelligencer, referring to the scarcity of seamen in the navy, says:

Captain Ringgold's squadron, appointed near six months ago for the survey of the Malaysia or Polynesian groups, has not yet sailed, we believe, for the want of seamen to man his vessels; and one of our frigates of the home squadron, after lying in port several months, waiting and trying in vain to ship her complement of men, had at last, not many days ago, to put to sea with half a crew. Does this repugnance to entering our public ships, so detrimental to the public service, arise from inadequate wages or impaired discipline, or both combined? It is a very important inquiry, and deserves an early and serious examination.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says the boot and shoe trade in that city has nearly doubled within five years. The trade is chiefly managed by nineteen different houses, and the aggregate sales are nearly or quite six millions of dollars.

CRASH.—At Williamsburg, on Monday evening, an old building which had been raised and propped up, fell with a tremendous crash, and a boy named Ives, who was passing, was killed by being buried in the ruins. Some other persons were injured.

DEFALCATION.—The school Commissioner of Jo Daviess County, (Illinois,) decamped with $5000 school money in his pocket—went to New York, and took passage for Australia.

"Mr. Jones, don't you think that marriage is a means of grace?" "Certainly, madam, anything is a 'means of grace' that breaks down pride and leads to repentance?" Exit Mr. Jones, under a mop-handle!

The bodies of twenty men were recently found buried in Toulon, in a house occupied by an agent for finding substitutes for the army. The victims were military substitutes, received by the Conseils de Revision; and the man murdered them in order not to have to pay the price of their enrolment.

A BROKER AMONG THE BREAKERS.—The Boston Post says, one of our accommodating brokers was called upon, some time since, by a woman who pretended that she wished to sell the stock of her husband at considerable discount, who was bound for California. She was referred by the broker to a friend of his in Charlestown, who purchased the commodities for $225 that were worth $500, and gave his note in payment, which the one she first applied to cashed for a "consideration" of $80, agreeably to an accommodating way that the brokers have. The goods were subsequently seized as stolen property, and the broker found himself minus some $140 by the operation.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.
The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 36 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair, —with all necessary barns and out-buildings.
The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.
The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.
Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.
If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,
For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.
AS A TOILET ARTICLE,
For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all minera properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.
FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS
It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURSEMOUT, 76 Bond-st, N. Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

A CAPITAL RETORT.—One of the neatest retorts ever given, is that which Erskine met with at the hands of Sheridan. It appears that Lord Erskine declared at a large party that a wife was a "tin canister tied to one's tail." Mr. Sheridan, presented Lady Erskine with the following lines:

"Lord Erskine, at woman pretending to rail,
Calls a wife a "tin canister tied to one's tail;"
And fair Lady Anne, while the subject he carries on,
Seems hurt at his Lordship's degrading comparison
But wherefore degrading? consider aright,
A canister's polished, and useful, and bright,
And should dirt its original purity hide,
That's the fault of the pappy to whom it is tied."

CAUTION.

BY R. G. SAXE.

"Because you flourish in worldly affairs,
Don't be naughty and put on airs
With insolent pride of station!
Don't be proud and turn up your nose
At poorer people in plainer clothes,
But learn for the sake of your mind's repose,
That wealth's a bubble that comes and goes!
And all that proud flesh wherever it grows,
Is the subject of irritation."

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in the and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.
Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can not employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PATENT OFFICE, ———.

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, MASS.
"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,
Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.
The Ladders are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.
☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.
Specimens of the article may be seen at the office of the subscriber.

PROTESTANTISM.

Its moral and religious condition in the sixteenth and nineteenth centuries.

The Newburyport Union contains an abstract of a sermon delivered on Fast Day, in that city, by Rev. Mr. Spalding, of which the following is a pithy extract:

In the 16th century the masses of the people were without the means of education, and deeply superstitious; but almost simultaneously with the propogation of the reformed doctrines was a desire for increased knowledge on the part of the people; and hence the most intelligent populace is to be found to day in Protestant countries. Protestantism proclaimed the open Bible, and schools to teach men to read it. The school system of New England is only the blossoming of the germs planted by Calvin and Luther. Their religious system involved all that has yet been developed, and much more; and by holding men individually responsible for their faith, compelled them to think and study.

While the Catholic church has always had in her priesthood a large number of the most highly gifted and best educated men, the diffusion of intelligence has never been her desire or practice. Hence she wars upon our school system, even where the Bible has been excluded. A short time since Bishop O'Connor of Pittsburg, published a very able and careful manifesto, setting forth the claims of his church; and in the recent municipal election of Cincinnati, Detroit and Auburn, the question of common schools was the only question of importance.

The result of this difference of views in the two churches is easily seen. In Scotland the whole population can read; the instruction of youth is considered as important a part of the religion, as preaching. Official reports from the island of Sardinia show that of 547,112 inhabitants, 512,381 can neither read or write. This island swarms with priests, and has been for ages under their control. In Spain only one person in twelve can read, while in England one-half the men and one-third the women can both read and write.—Protestantism having no temporal head, cannot array itself against science, while with Catholicism the opposite has been the case. The church marks out a line which the people are not to overstep; and woe to him who ventures beyond it.

MARKET MONOPOLY.

The Boston Transcript is analyzing that monstrous monopoly of provisions, Quincy Market, more commonly called Faneuil Hall Market.

The effect of this one great market, under city regulation, is to build up a great aristocracy of market men, who tax the public roundly, that they themselves may grow rich the more rapidly. The Transcript says:

Faneuil Hall Market now contains about one hundred stalls. The gross income from the building, including the basement and second stories, for twenty years after its completion, was from $23,212 08 to $29,718 annually. The average for the twenty years was $26,465. The annual current expenses averaged $3,378 32 for the twenty years. The effect of the ordinances regulating the sale of provisions in the city, in rendering positions in the market valuable, and the great profits which have accrued to the lessees of stalls, can best be inferred by a statement of the bonuses which have been paid for the same. These bonuses have been increasing for years.

Four thousand dollars were paid and received, three years since, for a single stall and part of a cellar, the rents of which together, at the time, were $260 40 per annum, while the interest upon the bonus paid was $240! There is no reasonable doubt of the fact, that the bonus paid for a double stall and cellar under it, to one of the richest market men, was no less than six thousand five hundred dollars. A stall and cellar on the south side of the house were sold some years since for $900. At the last transfer of the stall only, the bonus paid was $3500. From eight years after the market was opened, and the occupants had secured a monopoly of the provision business, to the present time, the sum paid for bonuses on stalls, amounts to the large sum of from two hundred and twenty to two hundred and thirty thousand dollars.

When the above facts were elicited, by an investigation of the subject by a committee of the City Council, the rents of the stalls were raised,—so that the gross income of the building the present financial year will be abont $46,800, and the current expenses will be $4000. Within three years the sum of $13,000 has been expended upon repairs in and about the Market-house. A wise regard for the public interest would dictate that markets should be established to reduce the price of provisions to the citizens, rather than to give the city a large income from the sum invested in market buildings.

All persons who have had business experience must perceive, that but few young men can command the sum requisite to obtain a stall in the market. If, after laboring for years in a subordinate position, and by industry and economy, a young man had acquired a few thousand dollars, his entire capital would be absorbed in obtaining a place to do business in. This manner of disposing of stalls has placed them to a great extent in the hands of those possessing a large amount of capital, and has, with other causes, aided in building up a monopoly.

Faneuil Hall Market, as at present conducted, is in no legal or popular sense, a market. We find that some twenty of the stalls are converted into counting rooms, and are furnished with desks, safes, and clerks, the same as any counting room. The retailing of provisions to the people of Boston is altogether a minor consideration with the occupants.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, APRIL 15, 1853.

CITY CEMETERY.

The first deed on record is that of a Burial Place, which Abraham bought of the children of Heth. And as man is born to die, and as he dies to live again, all nations of men, civilized and savage, have some care for the dust and ashes of their departed friends, and most persons have some choice as to where and how their own remains shall be deposited.

Our fathers, who settled the Piscataqua's rocky shores, provided public burial grounds at an early period of their history, which answered the purpose very well, for about two hundred years. But for the last one hundred years, the town of Portsmouth has done just about nothing on this subject, except to keep the old burial grounds well fenced.

Within the last thirty years, private grounds, beautiful and costly, have been laid out, which are an ornament to the city, and which supply burial places adequate to the wants of the wealthy, the prosperous, the thriving:—but which are at once a heavy tax on a portion of those who buy and decorate them, and also a line of separation between the rich and the poor, which we could wish had never existed. But they are a fixed fact, and we must treat them as such. They are in fashion, and like all fashions, will have their day. Our present business with them is to say, that they provide a place of sepulture for about half the families now living here—leaving the rest to be provided for by the city.

Now it is well known, by all who take any interest in such matters, that the city of Portsmouth must before many years, provide a proper cemetery for the half century we have just entered. It is also known, that lands suitable for such a purpose, within the limits of our city, can be bought at a moderate price; and that a cemetery of proper size, planted with trees, fenced, and duly laid out, to be held forever under the city authorities, would be gradually, but certainly taken up in lots, at prices which would place them within the reach of all, and yet prevent the debt incurred by its purchase from being burdensome to the city.

These are mere hints for a City Cemetery. We hope to see something done on the subject.

THE SUNDAY MAIL.—It is now about a fortnight since the petition adverse to the Sunday mail was placed in the Merchant's Exchange Reading Room for signatures, and yet it contains but one hundred and twelve names. There were few accessions to the number last week.—Boston Chronicle.

Railroads generally run cars only six days in a week—and thus Sunday mails were mostly laid aside for several years. But busy trade and quick news begin to set them again in motion. We do not deem them indispensable, especially in these telegraphic days. But public opinion sets in that direction, and they will be continued, and made more general than now.

It is said that the English Ivy can be successfully cultivated with us. Washington Irving has a vine brought from Melrose Abbey, Scotland, which covers his house at Sunny Side. Mr. Breckenbridge, the successor of the late A. J. Downing, in the employ of the government, on the Capitol Grounds, informs a correspondent of the Westbury American, that it can be cultivated with success in Connecticut. The ivy is found to preserve the building it grows on.

We think it may be so, if the cottage is made of mud, and the roof thached—perhaps so, if the wall is stone, and the roof slate or tile—but a wooden building, covered with clapboards and shingles, must be rotted and rained by a creeping vegetable which keeps it wet.

FAILURE.—Messrs. D. & J. Ames, paper makers, of this city, have gone into Bankruptcy. Their liabilities are large, and so also are their assets, but their business affairs having long been in complicated circumstances, it is impossible to predict what will be the result of a settlement through chancery.—Springfield Republican.

The Messrs. Ames were old standards in the business: have earned a great deal, and ought to be somewhat rich. We are sorry to learn that they are in distress or difficulty.

SUICIDE IN WALTHAM, MASS. — On Wednesday morning Mr. Jonathan Warren hung himself in the shed adjoining the Unitarian Church. Mr. Warren leaves a wife in deep distress. He was a Manufacturer of boots and shoes, and was a quiet and esteemed citizen. Depression of spirits is the cause of this melancholy act.

NO FEMALE BARBER.—The Salem Register says there is no female barber in Salem—and no one advertised in its columns.

FAREWELL CONCERT.—Julia Wheelock is soon to leave Portland for New York. We understand she will give a farewell concert at Lancaster Hall a week from next Saturday evening, which will be the last and only time her numerous friends in Portland will have an opportunity of hearing her in a concert.—Portland Advertiser.

LOCAL.

STORE BREAKERS.

On Wednesday night, the Clothing Store of Mr. Charles E. Myers, at the sign of the monument, in Market street, in this city, was broken open, and robbed of dry goods and clothing, worth, as nearly as can be estimated, one thousand dollars. The store was entered by opening a back window; the goods stolen were mostly new broadcloths, cassimeres, velvets, &c., with a dozen sack coats for boys; and a bag, containing burglars' tools, was left behind. From all the circumstances, it is conjectured that the robbers were experienced and adroit thieves. Mr. Myers has issued a handbill offering one hundred dollars reward for the goods and thief, or half the sum for either. The thieves left the money drawer (containing $10, in change) untouched.

Three or four hat boxes, in the yard back of the store, belonging to Brown, Treadwell & Co. were taken at the same time, and were probably used to pack the goods in.

For the Chronicle.

"BUSINESS OF PORTSMOUTH."

We stated a few days since, that there had been 45 arrivals at this port from the West Indies during the month of March, with cargoes of molasses—a larger number by several cargoes, than ever before arrived here in any one month. We are now enabled to give the amount of their cargoes, viz:—13,684 hhds., 1,079 tierces, 217 bbls., containing 1,706,399 gallons.—Portland Advertiser.

An arrival of a single cargo of molasses in our own port, during the month of March, created quite a sensation among us; instead of the occurrence happening weekly, or even monthly, it is hardly annual. Portland has "thrown off its lethargy," and is now far in advance of us as a commercial city. A few years ago it was a fellow lodger with Portsmouth, and there was great danger that both sleepers would die bed-ridden. A stranger entering our beautiful city, would imagine that some contagious disease had scattered the inhabitants to their graves. Are we thus to remain inactive? shall we lie still and let the dust of ages settle down upon us? shall we convert our public streets into dandelion beds and cow pastures? shall our wharves tumble to decay? shall our capacious store houses remain unfilled? shall we be speechless and silent while the hum of business is heard in our neighboring cities? Answer, ye capitalists and enterprising men of Portsmouth?

W. S. G.

We give "W. S. G." a hearing, though he is not exactly of our mind. Portsmouth does not stand still, notwithstanding all the croaking we hear; and some business is done by her citizens, and that with profit, as the very great improvement evident on all hands in our midst, proves. "'Tis true, and pity 'tis 'tis true," we don't rush business with our enterprising eastern neighbor; but we think a brighter day is dawning—has dawned upon Portsmouth. We certainly should be gratified if our merchants could import heavily to advantage—as we are convinded they could, if proper arrangements were made; and if they don't try it soon, we have no doubt others will. A company of gentlemen from abroad are endeavoring to make arrangements for opening an extensive importing and forwarding business here—and we have no doubt such, rightly conducted, would pay well.—It should be stated that the sugar manufactory in Portland, consumes a great portion of the molasses imported there.

A gentleman residing at Newcastle, and extensively engaged in the fishing business, informed us a few days ago, that since the introduction of shoemaking into that town, the fishing interest had declined, until now he is limited in his operations to the fitting-out of less than half his former quota of vessels, by the difficulty of obtaining "hands." Fishing is generally a profitable summer business, and many a fisherman makes shoes (and thereby money) in winter. Why can't Portsmouth do more of this?

PORTSMOUTH AND MANCHESTER.

We published, the other day, an extract from a communication in the Manchester Mirror, advocating the necessity of granting a railroad charter to connect Manchester with Portsmouth.

This has called out another writer in the Mirror, who advocates the building and completion of roads now chartered. He says,

"If my memory serves me right, in 1849 the Legislature granted a charter for the same purpose, entitled the "Manchester and Candia Railroad." The charter authorizes the company to "build a railroad from any point on the Concord Railroad, or the New Hampshire Central Railroad, in the city of Manchester, through the intermediate towns, to some point on the Portsmouth and Concord Railroad in Candia," a distance of about ten miles.

If we can convince the business men of Manchester that it is of such vast importance to have a direct Railroad communication with Portsmouth, the thing could be done without waiting for a charter.

If the Manchester and Candia Road should be built, and it can be, it could be used for this very purpose of an Independent line to Boston from Concord, via Portsmouth and Concord, Manchester and Candia, and Manchester and Lawrence Railroads. That it would be an advantage to Manchester to have this Road built, I have not the least doubt.

City Council—April 14.

In Board, of Aldermen, a communication was received from Mr. Charles Robinson, in which he expressed himself anxious to prevent all costs of suit, and to settle all differences between the city and himself; for which he proposed a mutual committee of disinterested persons, to whom the subject shall be referred for settlement. The proposition was accepted.

A report was read, from the committee on lands and buildings, recommending repairs on Brick Market, and building a shed on the city farm, &c.—which was recommitted for plans and estimates.

Several bills were passed for payment.

In the Common Council, further time was granted to the committee on elections to report upon the remonstrance of Mr. Downs and others against the right of the sitting members of the Common Council from Ward 2 to hold their seats, on account of alleged illegality in the election. Mr. Bartlett was excused from serving on the committee on elections, on account of illness, and Mr. Scriggins was appointed in his stead.

New School House.—The Joint Committee on School Houses reported that the Gravelly Ridge School House is entirely unfit for use, and they recommended the building of a new school house on the site of the old one, at a cost of $1250. The recommendation of the committee was adopted by both boards.

A petition was presented from J. M. Tredick and 24 others, praying for repairs and enlargment of Bardlett School House—referred to the committee on School Houses, with instructions to report at the next meeting.

A resolution was presented and referred to light the lower Council room with gas.

Adjourned to Wednesday evening to hear the report of the committee on elections.

TRADERS IN PAVED STREET.

One of the traders in that old street still trades there, though the street has been twice new paved since the "first great fire"—and in much prosperity, with a business stronger and better in this city alone, than he formerly had from town and country together, he does not retire, but annexes younger men — son and clerks—moves on with them, keeps up with the times, introduces gas lights, inserts elegant windows of large panes of glass, and makes a general improvement visible throughout, putting a new face on the whole establishment. The same general principles of industry, economy, energy and thrift that have prevailed there, are still to be the basis of future transactions and of future prosperity.

Not only has this store been changed and improved, but several others in the street, indicating the increased and increasing business in dry goods, occasioned, we understand, by the railroad facilities of intercourse with the interior towns in part, by the factories, &c.

A similar improvement has been made in the N. H. Union Bank building, at the corner of Pleasant and State streets, now occupied by Mr. R. K. Oxford as a grocery store.

We must keep up with the times, if we mean to do any business worth mentioning.

☞ The Members of the Mercantile Library Association, are reminded that their regularly weekly meeting will be held this evening, at their room over J. S. Harvey's store.

☞ The expression is often used—"he has a 'sweet tooth' in his head." Capt. Clark, who keeps a confectionery under our office, entertains an idea that we are troubled with a saccharine incisor, and prompted by his benevolent nature, last evening, brought up stairs for our use "quite a smart chance" of candy, nuts, prunes, figs, and some beautiful maple sugar. This olla podrida was flanked by a bottle of small beer—the first in the market. Hope the Captain will do the same thing often.

CARPET FACTORY BURNT.

At half-past two o'clock, on Thursday morning, the three story brick building in Boxbury, Mass., known as the American Carpet Factory, was discovered to be on fire, and was entirely destroyed with its machinery and stock. The Boston Herald estimates the loss at $20,000 on the building, and $30,000 on the machinery and stock,—and reports it as fully insured.

The Boston Journal estimates the loss at $150,000, and the insurance at $50,000. The fire is thought to be the work of an incendiary.

It appears by a letter from Valparaiso dated 28th Feb., that a Chili lady, named Eliza Bravo, is a prisoner or rather a captive among the Patagonian Indians. She was a passenger in the brig "Joven Daniel," which was wrecked three years ago. The Indian Chiefs declared in a conference with Gen. Cruz, that all on board perished. It now proves that the whole crew as well as the male passengers were murdered, and two women made captives.

The Mr. Finney spoken of as figuring in the Spiritual Rapping Convention at Springfield, Mass., is not the Rev. C. G. Finney, of Oberlin, Ohio. The latter is not a believer in modern Spiritualism.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ALPS.

The steam propeller Alps, Capt. Wickman, arrived at Boston on Thursday, bringing dates from Liverpool to March 30, which are four days later than privious advices. The Alps made the passage a little short of fifteen days.

At the Corn market the operations have been limited, confined to the actual wants of consumers, without material change in prices for all descriptions.

Further election riots had taken place at Blackburn. Several houses were attacked and badly injured, and one person very badly beaten. The military were called out to quell the disturbance.

The departures from the port of London for Australian colonies during the week were numerous; among them were several small vessels.

FRANCE.—It is now said that the coronation will not take place before August, and that in fact letters have been received from Rome, stating that the Pope could not leave before then. By some this is considered as an evasion on the part of his Holiness.

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.—The news from the Cape of Good Hope is important. Peace was proclaimed by the Governor on the 14th of February.

Since Gen. Cathcart's return from the Bashto country, after the battle of Berea, there has been no further hostilities. To all appearance, the Kaffir war is at an end.

Washington, April 13.—In the Gardener trial Hon. Thomas Corwin was called for the defence, and examined.

Mr. Carlisle stated that a witness summoned by the defence from New York had been intimidated, and would not come without the Court giving an assurance of protection, which, after some debate, was given.

John R. Kenley, a Captain in the Mexican war, was called by the defence, and testified to having been successfully treated by Dr. Gardiner, while lying sick in the Hospital, at Tampico in March or April, 1847. Gardiner was brought to him as a private physician, acquainted with the diseases of the country.—After a protracted discussion upon a legal point, the Court adjourned.

REMOVAL OF CLERKS, &c.—Seven Clerks on repairing to the Pension office this morning, found upon their desks yellow envelopes containing a printed billet doux, which informed them that their services were no longer required. More removals from the same office are expected to-morrow.

It is reported that Secretary Guthrie has today issued orders to all his Auditors to appoint no more New Yorkers to Clerkships.—The Custom House patronage has been charged to New York in the apportionment of the spoils.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

Steamship Union arrived at New York on Wednesday evening, From Aspinwall via Kingston, with 200 passengers and $200,000 in gold dust. The Union left Aspinwall March 31st, and Kingston April 2th.

On the 9th inst., in lat. 26 12, long. 72, she passed a steamer supposed to be the Georgia.

Among the consignees of specie are Minot and Hooper $1800, and J. M. Forbes $12,000.

Advices from Kingston are to the 5th of April. The news is unimportant. The yellow fever was prevailing to some extent among the shipping.

The ship Australia, from China, with a load of Coolies, had arrived at Trinidad Island.—The A. was only 73 days from China. The Captain reports that he overtook and passed the clipper ship White Squall in Gasper straits, and the Atlantic and Flying Cloud in the South Atlantic.

The Sugar crop of Barbadoes and St. Lucia is likely to run short.

PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Ellsworth, Me., Herald says:

"Ellsworth has distinctly declared herself on the side of temperance. At the town meeting on Monday last, on motion of Andrew Peters, Esq., the citizens, by a nem con. vote, decided to shut up the town grog shop, forthwith; or, in other words, to annul the town agency and have no agent for the sale of town grog appointed for the current year.—Mr. Peters pithily suggested that the plan should be tried for one year, and if the people could not live through it, let them die under it! And none objected. Therefore a decree now goes forth that a glass of rum cannot be legally purchased in the town of Ellsworth."

Vice President King has reached his home, at Selma, Alabama, so feeble that there is no chance of his ever again leaving there. A letter from Havana, to the Philadelphia North American, gives an account of the ceremony of his inauguration, at which there were present a number of American ladies and citizens of the United States, sojourning at Havana.

The ceremony, though simple, was very sad and impressive, and will never be forgotten by any who were present. To see an old man, on the very verge of the grave, clothed with honors which he cared not for, and invested with authority which he could never exercise, was truly touching. It was only by persuasion that Mr. King would go through the ceremony, as he looked on it as an idle form, for he said he was conscious he could not live many weeks.

Dr. Wesselhœft, the founder and director of the widely known Water Cure Establishment at Brattleboro', Vt., is dead. He was a learned and able physician, who did much to exalt the reputation of Water Cure in this country.

Mr. Charles B. Maine, of North Stonington (Ct.) hung himself in his own cellar on Friday of the week before last. He had long been an intemperate man, and his wife had left him; in consequence of which he had become partially deranged.

LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair, CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.
AS A TOILET ARTICLE,
For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.
FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS.
It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURMONT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

LITTLE NELL'S FUNERAL.

DICKENS IN VERSE.—A writer in the Ladies' Repository arranges part of the celebrated description of Little Nell's funeral, in poetical form. The reader will perceive how much the passage gains in force and beauty by the change:

And now the bell—the bell
She had so often heard by night and day,
And listened to with solemn pleasure,
E'en as a living voice—
Rung its remorseless toll for her,
So young, so beautiful, so good.

Decrepit age, and vigorous life,
And blooming youth, and helpless infancy,
Poured forth—on crutches, in the pride of strength
And health, in the full blush
Of promise, the mere dawn of life—
To gather round her tomb. Old men were there,
Whose eyes were dim,
And senses failing;
Grandsires, who might have died ten years ago,
And still been old; the deaf, the blind, the lame,
The palsied;
The living dead, in many shapes and forms,
To see the closing of that early grave:
What was the death it would shut in,
To that which still could crawl and creep above it!

Along the crowded path they bore her now
Pure as the new-fallen snow
That covered it, whose stay on earth
Had been as fleeting:
Under that porch where she had sat when Heaven
In mercy brought her to that peaceful spot,
She passed again, and the old church
Received her in its quiet shade.

Oh! it is hard to take to heart
The lesson that such deaths will teach,
But let no man reject it;
For it is one that all must learn,
And is a mighty universal truth.

When death strikes down the innocent and young,
For every fragile form, from which he lets
The parting spirit free,
A hundred virtues rise
In shapes of mercy, charity, and love,
To walk the world and bless it.
Of every tear
That sorrowing mortalshed on such green graves,
Some good is born, some gentler nature comes.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PROCESS, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing the weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting desease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

Specimens of the article may be seen at the office of the subscriber.

In Poland, in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, the persons convicted of propagating an unfounded tale of slander, militating against the character of an honest individual, was sentenced to place himself publicly under a table in the attitude of a dog—there to bark three several times, and between every barking to declare aloud that "he had lied like a dog."

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.—The Supreme Court of the United States at its session of 1853, has decided the following points:

1. Copy-Right.—A sale by the Sheriff of an engraved plate of a map, does not convey the copy-right. This is not a subject of levy on an execution.

2. Patents.—Any person has a right to demand a copy of a patent from the Commissioner of Patents, on a tender of the fee required by law; and an action will be sustained against the officer who refuses it. The officer is not, however, compelled to comply with such a demand when accompanied with personal insult and abuse; but if another demand be made by the same party in a proper manner, the officer cannot withhold a copy till an apology be made for the prior insult. Ill temper and bad manners do not work a forfeiture of a man's civil rights, (even if he be uncivil.) [Case of Bayden vs. Burke.]

3. Collision at Sea.—In case of accidental collision at sea, when neither is in fault, each party bears his own loss. [Case of ship Washington vs. ship Mary Francis.]—N. Y. Courier & Enquirer.

PRETTY GOOD.—The Western Times "tells a story of a distressed agriculturist." A farmer popped in here on Wednesday last to pay his rent, putting on a long face to correspond with the times. On entering the house he said that times being so hard, he couldn't raise the money at all, and, dashing a bundle of bank notes on the table, "there," said he, "that's all I can pay." The money was taken up and counted by Mr. ——, the landlord, who said, "why this is twice as much as you owe!" "Give it to me again," said the farmer, "I'm dashed if I ain't took it out of the wrong pocket."

At the Carrick races, as Captain King, of the 49th regiment, was leaping his horse over a fence, the animal fell upon him with great force, and he now lies in a dangerous state.

The paper from which we extract the above does'nt mention that the horse was removed from his unfortunate master, but he probably was.—Boston Post.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, APRIL 16, 1853.

RAILROAD TO MANCHESTER.

Two correspondents of the Manchester Mirror, are discussing the comparative merits of two projects, one of which contemplates a Railroad from Manchester to Candia, and the other to Rowe's Corner in Hooksett, the latter styled the Independent Railroad. Last week we published something from "Manchester," who is the champion of the Road to Candia. Now we publish a part of the Reply, by "V." who is in favor of the Independent Railroad to Rowe's Corner.

The Concord road carries all the passengers and freight that now go from Concord to Manchester, the Central gets just none! Would the Central get less with another communication from Concord? The business of the Central road lies in a different direction from Concord. I conceive that that Central would be the gainer by the new road, since it would have a new communication, additional to what it now has, of reaching, by a shorter cut, the eastern part of the State. It would have another market for its capital, lumber and wood, of which "Manchester" speaks so highly. Now, its lumber, its wood, that does not stop here, go to Boston. Would it add nothing to its freight of ship-timber business, to be able to supply the ship-building of Portsmouth the "wherewithal" to set afloat some of the finest specimens of naval architecture that ever graced the water?

"Manchester" says there is a charter from Manchester to any point on the P. & C. road in Candia, a distance of ten miles! But there is a vast difference between 6 miles of easy grade to Rowe's Corner in Hooksett and 10 miles of very expensive and hard grade to Candia. A road from Candia to Manchester would cost three hundred thousand dollars, while one from Hooksett would not exceed one hundred thousand.

For one, I dislike the overshadowing power of the Concord road. I feel like speaking what would be for the interest of the three roads, viz: the N. H. Central, Manchester & Lawrence and the Portsmouth & Concord. The two former centre here in Manchester. The latter should meet them here, and then New Hampshire, after the completion of the Central, west, would be opened to the successful operation of her streams and harbors, and their attendants, mechanical and mercantile pursuits.

"LAW IS—LAW."

That is, an old schoolbook used to say so. But now, what is law in East Cambridge, is not law in Boston.

We stated, some time ago, that a whole batch of liquor law suits from Lowell, were taken on an appeal from the decision of our Police Court, to the Common Pleas at East Cambridge, and by the latter dismissed, on the ground, substantially, that the Police Justice being an inhabitant of the city where the alleged offence was committed, and to which the forfeitures, &c., accrue, is an interested party, and as such, disqualified from trying the cases. The Police Judges in Boston, however, take a different view of the matter, and decide that a similar objection raised against them, has no force whatever.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THIRTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

One hundred and fifty-seven members have been elected to the Thirty-third Congress, leaving seventy-seven yet to be chosen. The political complexion of the members which have thus far been elected, is as follows:—Democrats, 103; whigs, 50; abolitionists, 4. It is a singular fact that the last five States which have elected members of the new Congress, have democratic delegations entire, and that the following nine States have each a complete democratic representation:—

California,	Deleware,
New Hampshire,	Florida,
South Carolina,	Michigan,
Connecticut,	Wisconsin,
Rhode Island.

—One State, Vermont, has an unbroken whig delegation. The following States have not yet held their Congressional elections:—

	Number of Members.	Last Congress. Dem.	Whig.
Alabama	7	5	2
Arkansas	2	1	–
Georgia	8	6	2
Kentucky	10	5	5
Louisiana	4	2	2
Maryland	6	2	4
Mississippi	5	4	–
North Carolina	8	3	7
Tennessee	10	7	4
Texas	2	2	–
Virginia	13	13	2
Total	75	50	28

Missouri, in consequence of the Legislature not being able to re-district the state in accordance with the new apportionment, in time to meet her late Congressional election, has two additional representatives to elect, which will be done by dividing the State temporarily into two Congressional districts, and electing one member from each side of the Missouri river. If the members to be elected should represent their States in politics the same as in the last Congress, the next House of Representatives will stand, giving each party one of the members to be elected in Missouri, as follows:—Democrats 153, whigs 77, abolitionists 4.

The above table, which we copy from the New York Herald, may be convenient for politicians. We suppose the majority for the democratic party will be still larger than is here indicated. It shows pretty clearly, that this party, if it were possible to keep united, would have things all its own way.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

Prejudice—Sketch of the World's Fair—Its architect, Her Fits Von Splutter—Wall street on a stormy day—St. Nicholas attempts to be facetious, and can't.

NEW YORK, April 12, 1852.

Messrs. Editors:

"Fire, famine, and the reeking sword,
That sweep with dismal moan and blasting sway
O'er earth and sea, come not in tones so harsh,
So keen and terrible, to greet my ear,
As that ungracious, drear, and chilling sound,
That speaks the blighting name of Prejudice."

So sayeth Thomas P. Moses, and while I can't help agreeing with him, I must inform mon cher amie and highly beloved Metropolitan, that if he will turn to page 859 of Webster's Quarto Dictionary, he will find the word prejudice defined thus:—"To possess with unexamined opinion, or opinions formed without due knowledge of the facts and circumstances attending the question; to bias the mind by hasty and incorrect notions." It is evident that Metropolitan has applied the wrong word to me, for my language (relative to the World's Fair) was neither hasty, nor were my conclusions drawn with a superficial or imperfect knowledge of facts and circumstances; all that I said cannot be refuted—truth never can. I saw the first spade that was put into the ground, the first pebble of the foundation laid designed to support the "hot house;" and from that time I eagerly perused every paper and paragraph having the remotest allusion to the affair. When we saw it was not a national undertaking, (I am speaking editorially,) and one unworthy of America; that it was a dwarf compared to the palace in Hyde Park—a trenchant burlesqe upon it; when we beheld the metropolis of the United States erecting within its precincts a little receptacle for quack medicines; when the daily, weekly and monthly press teemed with just complaints against the narrow-mindedness of its managers as well as the narrowness of the building, then in the expressive words of Shakspeare,

"We smell a rat."

Those in authority could not select an American architect to construct this Putty Palace—oh, no! they needs must have a foreigner—a little man with a huge mustache; with whom we would not trust the raising of a barn. Well this Her Fits Von Splutter arrived on our shores, and after a useless expenditure of time and paper, produced a plan—very passable—the luckiest hit, perhaps, he ever made in his life. The thing was commenced; "Greek met Greek," bearing hods; boss-masons jostled each other in their flurry and excitement, while crowds of people flocked to see the excavation, and went away hole-y enraptured. Now it came to pass this house of several gables was on the eve of completion—the proprietors had already advertised largely for stuffed sea serpents, &c., when lo! this learned architect discovered that he had made a blunder! that the belfry, the ridge-pole, or something of the sort, was three feet too short! There the matter stands till new rafters are completed. A Yankee carpenter would have been ashamed of such an act, but Mynheer lit his pipe and exclaimed "de tarfle."

It is strange, that in this great market of art, genius and commerce, no man could be found capable of drawing a plan for this building—wondrous strange; so the managers were necessitated to import a live Dutchman, —green as the very ocean he crossed—who has succeeded admirably in retarding the progress, if not entirely crushed their shanty. Yet this petit affair is distinguished by the name of "World's Fair." Thackery says, any man who pretends to be what he is not, is a snob, and we will add, any institution on a par with mock auctions and make-believe insurance companies, that dares to represent itself as the character of a nation, is a humbug of the most unpardonable kind.

The smallest jewels are sometimes the most precious, is an expression unbecoming to my friend, for it is one which little men and little minds console themselves with. Metropolitan, after this lecture, must (as my grandsire used to say to me) behave himself in future.—Enough of this.

There isn't a gloomier place in the "wide wide world," than Wall street of a murky, ill-humored day. The blackest clouds seem always to hover above this spot. Perhaps there is an affinity between them and the dark deeds perpetrated in the thousand and one out of the way little offices which throng this region. Be this as it may, certain it is that Wall street is the most dreary one in the whole city, of a stormy day. As I scribble, I hear the winds rushing through the

and a mournful sound as they play bo-peep behind the stately columns of the Exchange. A streak of stray sunlight falls on the golden cross of the Trinity, and the raindrops patter on the sombre steeple, which looks blacker than before and frowns on the crumbling grave-stones at its base. The winds pipe louder in the dizzy belfry, and the clock with its solemn face tries to look them out of countenance. Down comes the slanting rain in torrents, dissolving the clouds of dust that had like phantoms arisen from the narrow street. The lawyer rushes for his green-baize door; the foppish clerk, after prostrating an apple woman in his flight, gains his high stool by the desk; and even the gouty merchant, who in all his commercial existence was never known to run, now sets off at a dead canter, to the utter amazement of the newsboy who supplies him. The busy thoroughfare, but a few moments since crowded with a thousand eager faces, is now almost deserted.

Such scenes as these are of frequent occurrence,—and very amusing too, when beheld through a window, from a comfortable armchair; but get yourself caught without an umbrella, and far from home, and your spirits which are exhilarated by seeing a neighbor get a ducking, will receive a damper not unmerited.

ST. NICHOLAS.

LOCAL.

ROCKINGHAM AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

Geo. W. Towle, Esq. is obtaining members in this city to the County Agricultural Society, which was organized last fall, at Exeter, under the best auspices for success. The list of members is now large, to which Portsmouth should make an addition of one or two hundred. A payment of one dollar entitles each individual to membership, and by paying five dollars a life membership is secured. The first exhibition of the society will take place at Exeter next fall. What will Portsmouth do? It inclined, she can make as respectable a show of fruit, and garden products as any place in the State, and we are sure the ladies will develope some of their handiwork to grace the exhibition. The agricultural fairs of this State are the most interesting occasions of the year, and we are glad to learn that all classes of the people are becoming interested in them.

MAN DROWNED.—The Newburyport Union states that the schooner Triumph, Capt. Thos. Bayley, arrived at that port on Thursday, from a fishing cruise in the Bay. At ten o'clock that morning, while heaving up anchor, about five miles from the Isles of Shoals, Mr. David Welch, seaman, from Portsmouth, N. H., was knocked overboard by the jibsheets, and drowned. Every exertion was made to save him, but before the small boat could be lowered, he sunk. The deceased was about thirty years of age.

A DOUBLE-HEADED CHICKEN.—A man yesterday showed us a chicken with two beaks, four eyes, and two complete heads on one body. The heads were united by the back parts, only. The chicken had strength enough to break its way out of the shell, but was found dead in the nest when the hen was taken off.

NEW PUBLIC BURYING GROUND.—The citizens of Portsmouth may not be generally aware that provision for a public burying ground was made by the city authorities last year. The lot on the east side of Cotton's Burying Ground, belonging to the city, from which the gravel has been taken, is to be laid out for that purpose as soon as properly graded. It is as near to the central part of the city as any burying ground should be, and the location is good. It is much needed, as the other public places of burial are now generally filled.—Journal.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A Teachers' Institute will commence at New Market, on Monday, April 25th, and continue one week. A corps of able Teachers and Lecturers has been secured. Board, on reasonable terms, can be secured by applying to Rev. Mr. Coggswell, W. B. Small, Esq. or D. Murray, Esq.

Prudential Committees are requested to delay the Summer Schools until after the Institute.

A. H. HOYT,
Commissioner.

☞ In reply to numerous inquiries, since our announcement that Miss Julia Wheelock was to favor the citizens of Portsmouth with another opportunity to listen to her unsurpassed music before leaving for New York, we are now authorized to state that she will be unable so to do. She gives a farewell entertainment in Portland on Saturday evening next, and commences a professional engagement in New York city immediately.

☞ Rev. Henry D. Moore of Philadelphia is to fill the pulpit of the North Church in this city to-morrow.

NAVIGATING THE MERRIMAC.—Measures have at last been taken to buoy out the Merrimac river. The Newburyport Union states that a contract has been taken to provide and set buoys from outside the bar at the mouth of the river, to West Amesbury, wherever they are needed. There will be two outside the bar, and one on each side the channel inside. This will enable vessels to run into Newburyport harbor whenever they can see the buoys.

REMEDY FOR THE YELLOW FEVER.—A correspondent writes:—"A few years ago I fell in company with a very intelligent captain of a merchant ship, who had made many voyages to the West Indies, and also to the coast of Africa, and he informed me that as an antidote to the fevers prevailing in those climates he always took with him a large bottle of finely pulverized charcoal, of which he gave his crew a teaspoonful three times a day in a glass of water, and he never lost a man by the yellow fever, though other ships were daily losing their men. Should any one have faith to try this, with good effect, I hope it may be published to the world."—English paper.

There are three objections to this remedy, viz: that it is too easy, cheap, and natural. If it was costly, strange and difficult, there is no doubt some body would try it.

ANOTHER BLACK CONCERT SINGER.—The Rochester Democrat, in announcing a concert in that city, adds as an attractive feature, that "a negro boy, fifteen years of age, who possesses remarkable musical talent, and excels as a pianist, will appear. This precocious genius comes from New Haven, Conn."

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

FROM HAVANA.

Captain James Otis, of ship Harriet, of Bath, at Havana, publishes the following statement:

On the morning of March 31st, running from the Double Headed Shot Keys, was fired at by the Britanic steamer Devastation. As she was afterwards bound to, he hoisted his colors, and hove the maintopsail aback.

The steamer, after steering several different courses, came up, and told Captain Otis he should send his boat on board, to which the latter replied, "I do not care whether you do or not."

The steamer did send her boat with two officers, and demanded his papers; went below and searched the ship and detained her over an hour with a ten knot breeze. After some further parley the boat left the ship and Capt. Otis filled away upon his course.

Capt. Otis laid his statement before Consul Sharkey at Havana. He says the steamer fired one shotted gun at the Harriet.

STAMPED ENVELOPES.—The stamped envelopes contracted to be furnished the United States Government by Mr. G. F. Nesbitt, of New York, will be ready for delivery by the first of June next.

THE FRENCH MISSION REFUSED.—Washington, April 14.—Robert J. Walker has refused the French mission on account of infirm health.

THE SENATE.—In our telegraphic report from Washington on Monday, it was announced that at the close of the session of the Senate on that day, the President of that body pronounced the Senate adjourned sine die.

The New York Courier of yesterday contained what purported to be a telegraphic despatch from its Washington correspondent, dated Tuesday night, reporting the proceedings of a brief session as having occurred on that day. This was doubtless, either a hoax practised on the Courier or the accidental transmission of a despatch intended to have been sent on Monday. The Washington papers of Tuesday announces the adjournment as having taken place on Monday at one o'clock.—Boston D. Atlas.

Capt. Thomas T. Webb of the U. S. Navy, died suddenly in Norfolk on the 11th inst.—He was a native of Virginia, and entered the service in 1808. His commission as captain dated from 1841.

CABINET CHANGES.—The Washington Union says that "the rumors of changes in the Cabinet are silly fabrications, notoriously untrue, and got up for purposes well understood here." We wish the Union would be more explicit. Who gets up these telegraphic rumors, and for what purpose are they fabricated? The people in other places besides Washington, have a right to know. It is not pleasant to be so often hoaxed by the wires. It was formerly a saying to "lie like a bulletin," but of late the "telegraph" goes far beyond either a bulletin or a "tombstone."—Boston Journal.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

Steamship America brings Liverpool dates to April 2, being three days later than by the Alps.

A slight shock of an earthquake occurred at Breacon, Wales, at 11 1-2 o'clock on the night of the 27th ult.

The colliers of Glasgow struck successfully for higher wages. Also the Liverpool railway clerks and operatives. The movement has extended to Manchester, and most probably over the country. At Southampton and elsewhere merchants are entering into agreements with their clerks to remain with them for a certain number of years. All classes of employees are securing increased remuneration.

Sixty-four ships were up at Liverpool for Australia.

From Ireland the emigration sets chiefly to America.

The address of the Pondon Merchants does not cause them to stand high in public favor. Men of the John Bull stamp say they were but mean Englishmen who would kneel with a petition of peace at the feet of Louis Bonaparte.

Lemuel Goddard, sperm oil and iron trade merchant, has resumed payment.

Arrangements have been completed by the Anti-Slavery Committee to give Mrs. Stowe a public reception in Glasgow City Hall. Addresses will be presented, and a soiree will follow.

FRANCE.—On the 28th a deputation presented to the Emperor the address of the London merchants, expressing friendly feelings to France. The Emperor replied, that he had faith in the good sense of the English people. One time last year he feared the English nation were misled respecting France. He constantly labored to develop the prosperity of France. Her interests were not different from the other civilized nations; therefore, he said, like you, I desire peace, and to make it sure, I wish, like you, to draw closer the bonds which unite our two countries.

The next day the Emperor received a deputation of the English, Atlantic and Pacific Junction Co. The ambassadors from Pera and New Grenada accompanied the deputation. Sir Charles Fox, President of the new company, explained the plans to the Emperor, who promised the undertaking his superintendence, and added—"I am happy to have received your deputation, after that of the merchants of London, who yesterday expressed the strongest sentiments in favor of the maintenance of peace. Those sentiments have at all times been my own."

The Madiai are expected at Paris, where they will be met by a deputation of the London Bible Society.

Col. Hughes had a private audience with the Emperor, respecting the New York exhibition. Col. Hughes suggested the appointment of a French Commissioner to send out articles in a ship-of-war. He was well received by the Emperor.

THIS Refrigerator having been in use for three years, and given entire satisfaction, is pronounced THE BEST now in use. They are made in the best manner, and of the best material, and are a handsome piece of furniture for the Dining Room. For convenience nothing can surpass it. Being constructed upright, and having shelves of slate upon the right and left, dishes can be put in and taken out without displacing others, as you are obliged to do in the Chest pattern; you can have access to your ice at all times without removing anything. This Refrigerator needs only to be examined to be approved. No family should be without this most useful article; it will pay for itself in a short time by preserving your butter, milk, eggs, &c., &c.

LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,
CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.
AS A TOILET ARTICLE,
For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.
FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS
It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURSIGNY, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.
Sold to the trade at a liberal discount, but commissioned in no instance.

SPLIT PEAS.—10 bushels best quality SPLIT PEAS for sale by S. J. DODGE & CO.

CHEESE—100 boxes New York Cheese, just received. For sale by JOHN YEATON.

IS FALLING OVERBROAD CONTAGIOUS OR INFECTIOUS? The marine report of one of the morning papers has this paragraph, which suggests a more serious question than whether saltpetre will explode:

"Ar at St. Jago, 21st ult, barque A. B. Sturges, Avery, from New York (placed in quarantine for 7 days in consequence of having lost a man overboard on the passage)."—N. Y. Evening Post.

Bishop Doane of New Jersey, has issued a pastoral letter to his clergy, informing them that he has again been presented for trial at the House of Bishops, and that the court is to meet at Camden, on the first of September. The Bishop says there are new charges in the presentment, and seems to be astonished at this revival of the matter.

John Hancock, a son of John Hancock, of Revolutionary memory, is living at Boston. He is over 80 years of age.—Albany Journal, &c.

The above paragraph has been floating around too long uncontradicted. Gov. Hancock had a daughter who died in infancy, and one son, John George Washington, who was killed while skating, at the age of nine years. He left no descendant.—Salem Register.

R. P. Letcher, whig, is running against Mr. Breckenride in the 8th Kentucky congress district. PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, held business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Your, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

KEY TO UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

This is a live book: so we judge from a few extracts. Here is an Allegory, which will enable the reader to judge for himself.

"Suppose a fire breaks out in the streets of Boston, while the regular conservators of the city, who have the keys of the fire engines and the regulation of fire companies, are sitting together in some distant part of the city, consulting for the public good. The cry of fire reaches them, but they think it is a false alarm. The cry is no less real for all that. It burns, and rages, and roars, till everybody in the neighborhood sees that something must be done. A few stout leaders break open the doors of the engine houses, drag out the engines, and begin, regularly or irregularly, playing on the fire. But the destroyer still advances. Messengers come in hot haste to the hall of these deliberators, and in the unselect language of fear and terror, revile them for not coming out.

'Bless me,' says a decorous leader of the body, 'what horrible language these men use!'

'They show a very bad spirit,' remarks another; we can't possibly join them in such a state of things.'

Here the more energetic members of the body rush out, to see if the the thing be really so; and in a few minutes come back, if possible, more earnest than the others.

'O! there is a fire!—a horrible, dreadful fire! The city is burning—men, women, children, all burning, perishing! Come out, come out! As the Lord liveth, there is but a step between us and death!'

'I am not going out; everybody that goes gets crazy,' says one.

'I've noticed,' says another, 'that as soon as anybody goes out to look, he gets just so excited—I won't look.'

But by this time the angry fire has burned into their very neighborhood. The red demon glares into their windows. And now, fairly aroused, they get up and begin to look out.'

'Well, there is a fire, and no mistake,' says one.

'Something out to be done,' says another.

'Yes,' says a third; 'if it was not for being mixed up with such a crowd and rabble of folks, I'd go out.'

'Upon my word,' says another, 'there are women in the ranks, carrying pails of water! There, one woman is going up a ladder to get those children out. What an indecorum! If they'd manage this matter properly, we would join them.'

And now come lumbering over from Charlestown, the engines and fire companies.

'What impudence of Charlestown,' say these men, 'to be sending over here—just as if we could not put our own fires out. They have fires over there, as much as we do.'

And now the flames roar and burn, and shake hands across the street, and glare demoniacally out of the church windows.

'For Heaven's sake, do something!' is the cry. 'Pull down the houses! Blow up those blocks of stores with gunpowder! Anything to stop it.'

'See, now, what ultra, radical measures they are going at,' says one of these spectators.

Brave men who have rushed into the thickest of the fire, come out, and fall dead in the street.

'They are impracticable enthusiasts. They have thrown away their lives in foolhardiness,' says another.

It is very easy to imagine how the author of such lines as these, could apply the Allegory to the Churches and slavery. But we refer the reader to the book itself, to see how she actually does it. She makes both ears to tingle.

"SPEAKING OF DOGS," Mr. Editor, reminds me of a story that was often repeated by good Dr. Lathrop, who was for many years the minister of the Cockerel Church, of the North End, Boston. The Doctor was a worthy and pious soul, and one of the last persons in the world who would ever be suspected of laughing in the pulpit; he used to say he never did but once, and then under circumstances which even he thought was excusable.

He was preaching one Sunday in the neighboring town of Newton; it was a very warm day in summer, and all the doors and windows were open. Just as he commenced his sermon, a goat, who happened to be passing that way, dropped in, and amused himself in marching up one aisle and down another, beating the "Devil's tattoo" with his hoofs very audibly upon the floor—much to the discomfort of the congregation. At length a venerable Deacon left his seat, seized the intruder by one of his horns, and led him towards the door. The goat submitted quietly at first, but, before they reached the door, he suddenly stopped and resisted—planting his fore feet forwards, he defied all the Deacon's efforts, who, then, taking him by both horns, attempted to drag him out by main force, but he could not do it, and there they stood, both tugging away with all their force. At length the goat, by a sudden ruse pushed forward, overthrew the poor Deacon, who, falling backwards, lost his wig in the scuffle. Before he could recover himself, the goat marched out with much stateliness and importance, exhibiting as much indignation as a goat could exhibit, while the poor Deacon gathered himself up, replaced his wig, and took his seat again.

The whole affair, said the good Dr., was ludicrous in the extreme. He seemed to think that St. Paul himself could not refrain from smiling at least, on such an occasion.—Boston Transcript.

MOCK AUCTIONS.—A bill has passed the New York Legislature entitled "an act to punish gross fraud and to suppress mock auctions." It contains the most stringent provisions against all the tricks usually resorted to by persons connected with the Peter Funk auction rooms. The first section truly affirms that—

"A failure of justice frequently arises from the subtle distinction between larceny and fraud, and whereas certain evil-disposed persons, especially in the City of New York, by means of certain fraudulent and deceitful practices, known as Mock Auctions, most fraudulently obtain great sums of money from unwary persons, to their great impoverishment,—there being no law to punish such offences." [Here follow the details of the bill.)

The law has been signed by the Governor, and is to take immediate effect.

PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, APRIL 18, 1853.

SPIRITUAL RAPPINGS.

The famous Dr. Coggswell, on Friday submitted to the Massachusetts Legislature an order to the effect "that the Committee on Education consider what legislation, if any, is necessary to protect the ignorant and credulous from the delusive arts of "Spirit Rappers," so called, whose blasphemous assumptions are fearfully engrossing the minds of a large portion of the community, producing insanity, robbing men of their property, destroying domestic happiness, and filling the hospitals for the insane with the dupes of this popular humbug."

The order also provides that it should be made a penal offence for the owner or lessee of any building to let the same for the purpose of holding "blasphemous meetings of Spirit Rappers." The order was adopted.

In commenting upon this matter, the Boston Courier says:

"If this pernicious foolery of "spiritual rapping" cannot be prosecuted as a common nuisance—as it richly deserves to be—or if the knaves who carry on the trade cannot be indicted for obtaining money on false pretences, it certainly does seem necessary to provide new legal protection against this new form of knavery and imposture.

We have laws to punish gambling, and laws which assign the House of Correction to "persons who use any juggling." Now the vile quackery in question is gambling and juggling at the same time, and both of the very worst sort."

If the committee take this matter into consideration and candidly examine into the merits of the "humbug," and make a report based upon reason and sound judgment, great good may be effected; but if they dismiss this matter as "gambling and juggling," without having examined into the facts and phenomena, they will show more bigotry and intolerance, than sound sense. Undoubtedly some persons have been made insane by constant thought of the idea that they can hold converse with their departed friends; but does this result effect its truth or falsity? Whoever has examined the statistics of our Insane Hospitals, will find that a large proportion of the inmates were made insane by religious excitement; but does this result in any way weaken the truths of Christianity? Should preaching Christianity be prosecuted as juggling, because erroneous and extravagant views of it have overturned some weak unbalanced minds, & driven them to insanity & suicide? Certainly not. Let the science of spiritual communication be considered and examined, impartially and candidly, by unprejudiced persons, and if found to be mummery and humbug, then throw it aside. Persecution of any people, without good and sufficient cause, will only serve to strengthen the opinions of doubters, and gain friends from unbelievers.

We are quite sure there is a great deal of trash got off by some professed spiritualists, a little of which we have published—and no less sure that a vast amount of error and folly is put forth as christian truth and wisdom.—But what is the chaff to the wheat? It will not do for us to destroy or despise the latter, because some unfortunates get choked with the former.

For the Chronicle.

PROPINQUITY OF THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.

The time has been when a voyage to these Islands and back again, involved an absence of years, and whoever made up his mind to visit this once distant abode of the poor heathen, bade adieu to home and friends, and with "life in hand," as it was said of the early self sacrificing missionaries, set off amid tears and prayers, with but a remote prospect of ever returning in the body. But lo! a change has come over the face of the earth, and these once distant Isles of the sea are approaching; passages have already been made between San Francisco and New York in eighteen days, and we have the report of a clipper ship from thence to Honolulu in eight days; the whole distance has been accomplished then in twenty six days. What may we not yet see of progress in this travelling age. It does not require a long gaze into the future, reflected in the mirror of the past, to see these Islands among the most fashionable places of winter resort; papers filled with advertisements of the most delightful spots where have been located hotels of the best class, surrounded with tamarind groves, provided with Pacific baths, supplied with light bamboo yachts for excursions among the Islands, and indeed, fitted with all the apparatus for entertaining the fashionable migratory public; when to answer no, to the every day query, "have you crossed this winter?" will prove that you have not kept up with the times; for every one who can afford a trip to the White Hills or Lakes, will find time enough in his six week's vacation to improve "Mr. Barnum or Perham's cheap route"—to shake hands with the Kanakas, and return refreshed with a mind enlarged and body invigorated by the trip to the Islands. *

MORALS OF PORTLAND.

Within the last three years, public attention throughout New England, we may say through most of the free States, has been turned toward Maine, and especially towards the City of Portland, on account of the stringent liquor law of the State, and of its enforcement in Portland, one year, by Mayor Dow, its author.

The public were greatly interested, and temperance men greatly encouraged by the Police Reports, the testimony of the alms-house and jail keepers, and the statement of the city missionary, made a year ago last January. And they were equally interested, in a different way, when Mr. Parris was elected to the Mayoralty, as a liberal candidate, who, as it was hoped on the one side and feared in the other, might not enforce the law. The results, or some of the results of the last year's operations, are to be seen in a recent report, made by Mr. Little, the City Marshal of last year, extracts from which we find in the Portland Advertiser.

They will show, we think, that there is a great deal of moral force in an election, as well as in the spirit with which men enter an office.

The report gives the statistics not only of the liquor law, but of police arrests generally—and it appears that the number of persons arrested during the past year, independent of the violation of the liquor law, has been 430, as follows:

For Larceny 25, Assault and Battery 34, Assault on Officers 9, Breach of City Ordinances 22, Assault of an aggravated nature 3, Breach of Lord's day 2, Disturbing public worship 1, Search for stolen property 4, using obscene language in streets, 1, Highway Robbery 1, Pilfering 1, Gambling 11, Disturbing the peace 2, Adultery 1, Lascivious conduct 1, Threats 2, Obtaining goods by false pretences 2, Possessing counterfeit money 2, uttering same 4, Drunkenness 298, Keeping gambling house 1, For wilful trespass 1.

There were 117 complaints and warrants for violation of the Liquor Law, as follows:

For keeping liquors intended for sale	95
Selling same on 1st complaint	43
Selling same of 2d do	14
Selling same on 3d do	2

The quantity of Liquors seized upon warrants, amounts to 3559 3-4 gallons.

The quantity restored by order of Court, is 907 gallons, leaving 2962 3-4 gallons, which have been destroyed as prescribed by law.

Upon this matter Mr. Little says:

On the 22d day of April last, the City Council passed the following order: "Ordered, That the City Marshal be and is hereby required and directed, to enforce the law of this State for the suppression of drinking houses and tippling shops approved June 2d 1851, and to use all proper and honorable means within his power to bring to justice and punishment all violations thereof within the limits of this city." Every effort consistent with my duty, has been made to carry out this order in its spirit and purpose. In no case have I hesitated to prosecute for violations, when sufficient evidence has exhibited itself, either for keeping or selling, with such results as I am confident will meet your approbation.

That there are liquors still sold here, is obvious, from the commitment for drunkenness and other causes consequent on the too free use of intoxicating drinks, but the business is carried on in such a manner as to defy the efforts of every one disposed or required to carry out the provisions of the law. Most of the traffic is conducted by persons in private houses, thereby rendering it difficult to obtain such evidence against the proprietors as is prescribed in the 11th Section of the law, in order to obtain a warrant of search. The number of grog shops in the city, since the passage of this law, is greatly diminished, and growing every day less under its stringent provisions. Efforts are steadily making, and will continue to be made to break up the traffic here. There is no shop to my knowledge within the limits of this city, where sufficient evidence has shown itself and been produced that intoxicating liquors were there stored and intended for sale, that has not passed through the ordeal of the law.

This extract from the Mrshal's report, (says the Advertiser,) coupled with the number of complaints, warrants, arrests, the amount of liquor destroyed, &c., &c., would seem to indicate a pretty rigid enforcement of the liquor law—and yet, we know very well that serious complaints have been constantly made during the past year, of a retrograde movement from the condition of things during the previous year.

The trouble, in this matter, we think, was in the commencement—at the start. We got a bad start last year, and an impression prevailed, at first, which it was difficult to dispel, that it had been settled that liquor was to be sold pretty freely, and the law not to be enforced except in extreme cases, if at all.—Whether this was a legitimate inference from the circumstances attending the election or not, is a question which we do not propose now to attempt to decide or discuss. It is sufficient for our present purpose that such an impression did prevail to a considerable extent—and it required many arrests and the destruction of much liquor, to dispel it, and we doubt whether it was entirely removed even to the last. No such impression prevails, we think, the present year. Under the present Mayor and City Marshal, it will be well understood that violations of the law will not be permitted to pass with impunity, and we hope the result will be, the verification of the old adage, that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." We hope there will be less complaints, warrants and arrests—less liquor destroyed and much less sold, in Portland, during the present than the past municipal year.

LOCAL.

HOSIERY MANUFACTURE.

The Stocking Factory will not go away from Portsmouth; at all events it will not stay away, though it be hanged, drowned or burnt. Indeed the Manufacture of Hosiery is as really a Portsmouth Craft, as the Manufacture of Ships, though not quite so lucrative.

The stocking manufacture was set up here a number of years ago, we believe about five and twenty, under unfavorable circumstances, and it has had many ups and downs since:—but the grand thing which has kept it alive, has been the steady, industrious, patient character of the workmen, principally English and Scotch immigrants, who came here in the first place merely to weave stockings, but have struck their roots deeply in our soil, and now choose with their descendants and successors, to make hosiery here rather than any where else. The principal stocking factory has been burned, wholly or in part, three times, and started and stopped at least a dozen. But a portion of the workmen, in some way or other, have always kept at work. Portsmouth Hosiery has a good name in the market: and therefore it will sell.

For some time past Messrs. Jarvis & Brother have carried on a snug business in Manufacturing Hosiery, for which we believe they have had a ready sale,—and in which we are certain the reputation of Portsmouth Hosiery has not suffered. We regard their establishment as a fixed fact;—and hope its shadow may never be less.

Besides this, a new Manufactory of the same sort is just now fitting up near the gas works, in the high building formerly used as a sugar house, and afterwards for a time as a stocking factory by Mr. Crane.

Into this building a new company are putting steam power and machinery, a part of which, for spinning, was going in on Saturday,—and we understand from one of the managers that they are to have 30 or 40 looms, of the most modern and approved construction, which of course can turn out a great deal of work, and must employ a great many people. The looms, are, at least a part of them, to be of Mr. Pepper's invention, and made here.

We wish the establishment all desirable and deserved success.

☞ Mr. Augustus Stevenson, a young man belonging in this city, at work on a ship building by Messrs. Currier & Townsend, Newburyport, fell on Friday and broke his arm in two places.

☞ The Dover Gazette "regrets to learn that John H. Wiggins Esq. has declined the office of Associate Justice of Dover, to which he was recently appointed by the Governor and Council." Of course he would decline such an office.

WASHINGTON NATIONAL MONUMENT.—The Gazette states that the citizens of Durham have procured and forwarded to Washington a block of their own granite, six feet long and two feet square, with the name of the town inscribed upon it, to be placed in the great National Monument to the Father of his country.

JACKSON, THE GREAT RUNNER, writes to the editor of the New York Spirit of the Times, that he "will run any man in the world any distance they may be pleased to name, from eight miles to twenty. If no one will run me, I will take £200 to £100 that I run 10 1-2 miles in one hour, or 21 miles in two hours, on a turnpike road, within thirty miles of London." The "Spirit" editor to be stakeholder, and to appoint a referee.

☞ We pronounce as orthodox the assertion of the Boston Bee, to the effect that "a man can get along without advertising, and—so can a waggon without greasing,—but it goes hard."

THAT CHAISE, intended for a gift to President Pierce, by residents of Portland, has arrived in that city. It is a very neat and costly affair, and a credit to the manufacturer, Mr. Kimball of Norway, Me.

A lady of Northampton, the mother of six children, has become a maniac from undue excitement on the subject of the spirit rappings, and has been conveyed to the Brattleboro, Vt. hospital.

☞ "Neptune's Car," is the very appropriate name of a great ship just launched at the Yard of Messrs. Page & Allen, in Portsmouth, Va.

OFFICE SEEKING.—In this city but seven men have yet been found applicants for national appointments—apart from the Naval Officer's place, which most gentlemen of leisure, whigs and democrats, within twenty miles of here, have intimated their desire for, though it pays but $400 per annum—and out of those seven, one for a home appointment, and one for a valuable consulship abroad, are now, and ever have been, whigs, and will be in the future if there is any whig party for them to belong to.—Newburyport Union.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A Teachers' Institute will commence at New Market, on Monday, April 25th, and continue one week. A corps of able Teachers and Lecturers has been secured. Board, on reasonable terms, can be secured by applying to Rev. Mr. Coggswell, W. B. Small, Esq. or D. Murray, Esq.

Prudential Committees are requested to delay the Summer Schools until after the Institute.

DEATHS.

In this city, April 16, William Francis Taylor, aged 18, son of the late Mr. Wm. G. Taylor, of Exeter. He was a printer in the Trumpet Office, Boston, and afterwards in this office; and will be remembered by his late companions for mildness and gentleness of character,—and by those who visited him in sickness, for quiet and patient submission to the hand of a wise Providence.

His remains will be taken to Exeter for interment. Funeral services in this city, this morning at 10 o'clock, at the residence of Rev. T. H. Miller, No. 32 Hanover street. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

In this city, 16th inst, Mrs. Catharine Dennett, aged 69 years, wife of Nathaniel Dennett. The oldest surviving member but one of the North Church in this city, having joined the same in the year 1803.

Funeral this afternoon at 4 o'clock, from the residence of her son, N. Dennett, Jr., No. 5 Dennett street.

In Newburyport, Mr. Samuel Coffin, aged 75.

In Boston, James McAlaster, Esq., Superintendent of the Public Buildings. Mrs. Robert G. Shaw, after an illness of about twenty-four hours.

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.

Washington, April 16th.—Wm. H. Thomas was to day appointed Dep. Collector and Inspector of Washington.

It is reported that a petition, signed by 9000 citizens, was sent to the President to day, in favor of Daniel Ratcliffe for Dist. Attorney of this district, and another signed, by 2000, in favor of Philip Barton, of Kentucky, for the same, was also sent in. The President having intimated that he would give the office to the person who could bring the most names, Ratcliffe is considered sure.

ARRIVAL OF THE WASHINGTON.

New York, April 16th.—The U. S. mail steamship Washington, Capt. Fitch, from Bremen, 25th ult, via Southampton, arrived at her wharf last night.

Owing to the severity of the frost in Germany the Weser was frozen, and the cargo of the Washington had to be conveyed to the docks, in order that the lading of the cargo might be completed. The W. brings over 160 passengers. Her cargo is a very full and valuable one.

New York, April 15.—The packet ship Helvetia at New York from Havre, brings about 150 packages for the World's Fair. The bark Rhodes from Savannah, also brings a number of articles.

A letter from Panama states that George P. Stevenson, Assistant Engineer on the Panama Railroad, was murdered in his bed on the 20th of March, at San Pueblo station. The murderer was an Irish laborer on the Railroad.

BOSTON, CONCORD & MONTREAL RAILROAD.—This road now carries passengers within three miles of Haverhill, and the track is laid some miles beyond there. The cars will run to Wells River by the first of May—and before the middle of July the White Mountain Road, in continuation, will be opened to Littleton.—Concord Reporter.

DIVORCE IN OREGON.—Nine causes for divorce are admitted in Oregon, according to a law recently passed, viz.: adultery, impotency, bigamy, fraud or force in contract, wilful desertion for the space of two years, conviction of infamous crime, habitual drunkenness, cruel treatment, neglect to provide a home on the part of the husband, for six months. The conjugal yoke rests lightly upon the people of Oregon. The judges who decide in the matter of divorce, are likewise to decide with reference to the disposal of the children of the sundered pairs, and the disposition of all property belonging to either—with "strict regard to the respective merits of the parties, and to the condition in which they will be left by such divorce, and to the party through whom the property was acquired, and to the burdens imposed upon it for the benefit of children."—Boston Post.

A most terrible sight recently met the eye of an English diver, who was sent down into the cabin of the steamer Victoria, wrecked a few days since near Dublin, with great loss of life. The diver went down into her cabin once, but nothing could induce him to go down a second time—not all the riches at the bottom of the sea. It should be understood that the bodies of some twenty or more of the unfortunate passengers of the Victoria were never found. The diver says that on entering the cabin he thought that he was in a waxwork exhibition; for the corpses had evidently not moved from their positions since the vessel sank.

There were some eighteen or twenty persons in the cabin, one and all of whom, although dead for days, seemed to be holding conversation with each other, and the general appearance of the whole scene was so life-like, that the diver was almost inclined to believe that some of them were still living. From their various positions and countenances, he thinks they could have had no idea of the disaster, which was hastening them on to so untimely an end. Over and over again the diver said that he would not go down into that cabin a second time. Seldom have we heard a more terrible tale coming from "down among the dead men."

LARGE SHEEP.—Six sheep, bred and fattened by Mr. Wm. Raybold, of Delaware, recently slaughtered, weighed as follows:

	Live weight.	Dead weight.	Age.
No. 1	362 lbs.	269 1-2 lbs.	4 yrs.
No. 2	265 "	213 "	3 "
No. 3	295 "	203 "	3 "
No. 4	273 "	201 "	3 "
No. 5	259 "	181 "	2 "
No. 6	242 "	160 1-2 "	2 "

The 4 yr. old killed 74 3-4 lbs. to the 100 weight, which is the heaviest sheep, and the most to the 100 weight of any ever slaughtered in this country, of which we have any record. The stock is derived from the celebrated South Down breed.—N. Y. Spirit of the Times.

AMESBURY.—The Amesbury Villager says that fourteen families are about making preparations to leave that town and take up their abode in a more favorable location—that is, where laborers are better treated and wages are higher. Many of these families are old residents in our village, having worked here many years and become well settled in life; but since the new dynasty, times and the associations which once clustered around have become so broken up, that "home is no home to them." We are pained to chronicle such events; but if the laborer is not worthy of his hire, certainly the inducements to stay and live upon the "inflexible will" of one man is not very encouraging, to say the least.

PRICES OF TROTTING HORSES.—We recently announced the sale of "Mac" in Philadelphia, for $8,000! We understand that on Saturday last, "Tacony" was sold to a gentleman in the same city, for $6,300!—"Spirit."

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.

The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 33 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair, —with all necessary barns and out-buildings.

The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.

The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.

Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.

If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring and Beautifying the Hair, CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years; cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 25 years. A. J. Conradam, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

EXPERIENCE.

BY MAJOR PATTEN, U. S. A.

About the world I've journeyed much,
I've travelled far and near,
And my experience is such
As you shall shortly hear:
I've seen the worst—I've seen the best,
Of (so called) human kind,
Where all are busily in quest
Of what they never find.

I've known a man who robbed the poor,
And yet was rich himself,
And drove the beggar from his door,
With plat. upon the shelf.
I've seen a judge whom justice sold,
Have heard a gamester pray,
And known a wife that did not scold
"Upon a washing day."

I've known a lawyer plead a cause,
Who never sent his bill,
And known a doctor (not of laws,)
Take his prescription pill.
I've known a tradesman speak the truth,
I've heard a parson swear,
And known a hackman once, in sooth,
Who charged but lawful fare.

I've known a person play at whist,
Who would not play at loo;
And known an abolitionist,
Who did a slave pursue;
To lavish on his offspring wild,
A miser hoard his gold,
And seen a mother leave her child
For stranger's hands to hold.

I've seen a maiden who had slid,
Who had a modest air,
And seen a belle who (seeming) did
Not know that she was fair;
Once on a rail it was my lot
To get a "passage" free,
And on a steamer once I got
A decent cup of tea.

And I have seen, once in my life,
A husband, be it known—
Who did not treat his neighbor's wife
Some better than his own;
And also seen,—I'll be (don't wink)
As gentle as I can,
Some time ago it was, I think,
I saw an honest man.

COUGH REMEDY!

FOR THE COMPLETE CURE OF
Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood,
CONSUMPTION!

THE above Expectorant, prepared by an experienced Physician and Chemist, has now become a standard preparation, and is offered for the COMPLETE CURE of those diseases of the Throat and Lungs, which, if neglected, usually terminate fatally in Consumption. It contains no Opium, Calomel, or any mineral whatever, but is composed entirely of those Roots, Herbs, and Vegetable substances which have a specific influence upon the Lungs and their connected organs. Its immediate effect is to allay all irritation, and gently remove the phlegm and other morbid secretions from the throat and air-passages, thus relieving the Cough, by subduing the inflammation and other causes which give rise to it. It is approved of and recommended by Physicians of the highest standing, and may be given with perfect safety to the youngest child or the most delicate female.

SPRING FASHIONS.

From an article in the Home Journal, on "what we are going to wear," is extracted the following:—

Hats, among other things. The hat, though it is a work of supererogation, the head being the only part of the human body which nature herself has clothed, is, nevertheless, the first of the five great points in a finished costume—the clothing of the neck being the second, the raiment of the hands being the third, the covering of the feet being the fourth, and all the rest being the fifth. Hats are, therefore, the crown and glory of human nature. The fashionable hat is never at a stand-still. It is always expanding or contracting, its brim widening or narrowing, its crown rising or lowering, its shape bell-ing or steeple-ing. For a phase of fashion to make the circuit of the fashionable world requires about two years. Parisian genius produces it; London adopts but varies it; New York copies, yet modifies London; Boston, Philadelphia, New Orleans follow New York,—but each leaves upon the imitated shape an impress of its own; California, Oregon, the Sandwich Islands, Australia take it up at length; and so the fashion goes round the globe.

The present New York hat is large, high, steeple-shaped, with a brim of medium breadth, and much curled at the side. The prevailing London hat is smaller, with a narrower brim, and, therefore, the tendency of the New York hat is towards reduction and abbreviation.—The Spring hat is a knowing hat, and makes an insignificant person look somebody. The extreme curl is much affected by the gay youth of this metropolis. For summer, there are three styles ready for introduction, as soon as the thermometer becomes more settled, namely, long-napped beaver, of various light colors (not white;) felt, for common use, low crowned and broad brimmed; chipstraw, a la amateur yachtmen and boat club, with black ribbon and black edging, quite the sailor-boy. This is all we know about hats, and should not have known so much, but for the obliging communicativeness of those great lights in the hatting world, Messrs. Beebe, Leary, Genin, Knox and James. With regard to caps, their name is legion. They are more worn than formerly, owing to the extreme elegance of some of the late styles. Checked is the favorite pattern for the material.

The ladies are going to give leghorn a turn once more—excellent, durable, venerable leghorn—such as our grandmothers wore, only finer and a million times more becoming in shape. The prevailing desire is to procure leghorns of unimaginable fineness, and accordingly prices have been paid which would be extravagant, only the leghorn fabric will last a generation or two. Fifty dollars is a common price for the better kinds. These bonnets are larger, and cover the face more than formerly, and are adorned with white feathers. They impart a truly pious air to the countenances beneath them, though the amazing breadth of hair to which the ladies are now addicted somewhat diminishes this effect.

The leather bonnets, we may here observe, are not leather bonnets, but are merely trimmed with leaves cut from leather. We have seen several open work straw bonnets from Paris, which are profusely adorned with gold, in the form of leaves, sprigs, etc., which impart a spangled effect. They look very pretty over a pretty face, and when the rest of the attire accords. For dresses, green and lilac seem to be among the favorite colors. Green is the last color to choose for a summer dress; nature should be allowed the monopoly of it, and ladies seen in distant fields should show like prairie flowers, not be lost in the sea of green around them.

Gentlemen will make a better choice. The two colors for coats are to be blue and claret; but when we say claret, we mean claret-y, claret having merely given the hint, and the claret-y shades being as numerous as the brands of claret wine. Mulberry is a favorite shade, as it has the safety of black, without the country-cousin's-Sunday-coat effect of that highly respectable color. Velvet collars still find favor with all, except those who discard everything the moment it becomes general.—They would no more wear a velvet collars, just now, than they would commit piracy or eat with their knives, or do any other monstrous deed entirely inhuman and not to be contemplated without horror.

The pantaloon patterns, this spring, are some of them of an alarming nature. We are puzzled to describe them. We saw one, the other day, which, when made up, will give to the wearer the appearance of walking upon a pair of crosses, one broad stripe going down the front of each leg, and one stripe crossing both at the knees. There is an admirable simplicity in this design. A very favorite style is that which is called the "boot pattern," and the peculiarity of it is, that just at the point where the boot is supposed to begin, the material changes color, becomes either darker or lighter. When the difference of shade is great, the effect is that of a broad, long patch, beginning just below the knee, and terminating only with the garment itself. The patters generally are of the bold and conspicuous sort.

Vests will be somewhat more subdued.—An effort will be made to bring low shoes and metallic buckles into fashion, when the season is a little more advanced. Certainly, of things worn upon feet, a low shoe is the most elegant.

THE DUNNED POET.

The N. Y. Musical World and Times publishes a number of sonnets, witten by Giambattista Casti, a modern Italian poet, which were written under the following circumstances. Casti had the misfortune to borrow three Giuli (of the value of five pence,) from a Roman ice dealer. Casti continued poor, and was unable to repay the money; but the ice dealer had no compassion for the unfortunate debtor. The poet was constantly harrassed by duns, so that he hardly thought of any thing but the Giuli Tre and the inexorable ice-dealer. In these circumstances, it was the sole relief available to his wounded mind to commit the various hardships of his case to verse in the form of sonnets, of which at the least, he compiled two hundred. Signor Casti thus begins to sing his woes:

"I weep as I recall the day my Dun
Lent me those fatal Giuli Tre; he stood
A full half-hour in shilly-shallying mood,
Poising them in his hand—one by one—
Counting them o'er, as first he had begun.
Even then I saw no human likelihood
Of my repaying them—and I still see none.
Small wonder therefore, if I sometimes brood
With bitter tears o'er my dismal fate,
Besonnetizing and bewailing it;
Loathing my food, which at such seasons I
Exert myself in vain to masticate;
And suffering in such style, as makes me fit
For nothing but to—go to bed, and—die!"

Sonnet tenth is full of anger to his creditor:

"I've said forever, and again I say,
And it's a truth as plain as truth can be,
That from a certain period to this day,
Pence are a family quite extinct with me.
And yet you still pursue me, and waylay
With your insufferable importunity,
And for those——infernal Giuli Tre,
Haunt me without remorse or decency.
Perhaps you think that you'll torment me so,
You'll make me hang myself! You wish to say
You saw me sus, per coll—no, Giuli; no,
The fact is, I'll determine not to pay;
And drive you, Giuli, to a state so low,
That you shall hang yourself, and I be gay!"

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, APRIL 19, 1853.

OUR FREE INSTITUTIONS.

Foreigners, as a general thing, do not understand or comprehend them, and are therefore incapable of estimating them at their true value; and moreover, they do not see exactly how one portion of them depends upon another.

One of the most sensible men who ever dwelt among us, Andrew Halliburton, himself a native of "the British Provinces," used to say, No foreigners ever ought to vote in this country; it is enough to let them hold property and do business—their children, born here, ought to vote—but they, (the parents) coming in from other institutions, are liable to aid in overturning those things in our government, which might be the greatest blessings to their children's children.

We have seen many illustrations of these truths, since he uttered them; and in no case has the truth been more clearly manifest, than in relation to free schools.

A general onset has been made against our common schools, in many parts of the country, by one class of foreigners, viz: immigrant priests, who see their craft endangered by the freedom of thought, and speech, and intercourse, which is developed in a common school.

We have recorded one contest on this question, fought in Dover, N. H. We see now, the smoke of another battle in Baltimore.—And the Boston Transcript informs us that there is a great excitement throughout the Western and Middle States in regard to the school question, on account of the recent efforts made by a portion of the Catholic population to secure a part of the public funds for the support of separate schools. At the recent municipal election in Cincinnati, the school question absorbed all others, and the returns show that not a single candidate for any office was elected who was suspected of being in favor of separate schools. The Democratic Mayor received about 1500 majority, while his party associate upon the ticket, for the office of surveyor, who was not regarded as sound upon the question, was defeated by the Whig candidate, by a majority of several thousand votes. The Catholic journals of the city complain that the native born members of their communion did not sympathise with the movement, and refused to even vote for the candidates in their interest. We regard this (says the Transcript,) as one of the best signs of the times. There can, we trust, be no danger that those who have received the benefits of the common free schools of our country, will ever forsake the principles upon which those institutions are based.

We welcome the foreigner to our shores—our laws, as a settled policy, allow him to vote after a merely formal preparation; and of this it were folly to complain—but where he votes to break up our common schools and build sectarian catechising seminaries in their stead, we shall vote against the measure, and right glad are we to find that his children, who know, (as he does not know,) what a blessing free schools are, vote with us, and not with him.

C. W. Denison has been installed as chief clerk in the census office.—Boston Post.

Rev. C. W. Denison used to be a preacher in Boston, we believe, to seamen; is a gentleman of good appearance, affable manners, and genteel apparel; and has figured largely as an editor and politician.

He was first the editor of a temperance paper in Boston; then of the Daily and Weekly Signal, in that city, in which he made the first nomination Gen. Taylor ever received for President; for which service he was rewarded with two good offices under that administration, viz.: Steward at Chelsea, and one connected with the customs in California, both of which he resigned, we know not why.

In the late campaign he was first an ardent Webster man, and started an elegant paper under that flag, in Boston. He was also active, with Rev. Messrs. Hubbard Winslow and Matthew Hale Smith, in getting up "the Webster movement,"—but slid off, we hardly know how, and became an editor of a paper which advocated the election of our present chief magistrate. In consequence of these latter movements, we suppose, he is installed as above mentioned.

We think him to be a well qualified clerk; and if we were to be second, would like very well to have him for the first.

☞ Fayban had a lady-barber at his White Mountain House, last season. Many years ago, and for a long period, the only barber in the town of Gloucester was a female.

Mr. Garrison of Tennessee, was robbed at the City Hotel, New Orleans, a few days since, of $10,000. Another merchant, who was on a trip from Galveston, was robbed of $13,000.

JENNY LIND GOLDSCHMIDT.—Our readers will remember that an absurd story was in circulation a few months since, stating that Jenny and her husband lived unhappily, if they had not positively quarrelled. There can hardly be need for contradicting such a story, but as we have the most unquestionable authority before us, we may as well do so. In a letter written from Dresden, Feb. 10th, by Jenny to Mr. Zachrisson, the Swedish Consul, in New York—a letter of business, and having no direct bearing upon domestic affairs—there occurs the following passage, as we find it in the N. Y. Musical World:

"We are, God be thanked! quite well.—Otto is very good and kind. He labors always, is at home always, is kind always, is the same faithful friend always, thinks only of my welfare and my happiness, and maintains a calm, still courage in all vicissitudes."

☞ Our readers will remember that Mr. John Ball, formerly of this city, met with a severe injury last winter, from a fall, by which his thigh was broken. We are pleased to learn that he is fast recovering. The Salem Register says:

"We had the pleasure of receiving a note, on Saturday, in the well known hand writing of Mr. Ball—the first for a long time. On Friday, he was able, for the first time in eleven weeks, to pen a letter. His numerous friends will be glad to learn that he was enabled to sit up every day last week, and that he is getting along finely.

RETRENCHMENT.—"It is understood the force in the revenue service is about being reduced by dismissing a considerable number of officers for whom there is no employment."

We have understood several such things, at the beginning of several administrations—but we never saw, towards the close of the same, that they amounted to much. To every one dismissed, there was commonly one or two appointed. Perhaps it will not be so, this time.

A SENSIBLE RAPPER.—The editor of the Palmer Journal has been mixing with a circle of rappers, and made a dollar and a half out of the operation, as follows:

"We accepted an invitation to a sitting of spiritualists, the other evening, and were not a little surprised when the following message was spelled out to one of the company—"Pay the printer!" It was subsequently explained through a medium, the message was from the spirit of a delinquent subscriber who owed us a dollar and a half. The friends of the departed paid us without hesitation and the joy of the relieved spirit was manifested by rap, tipping up the tables, etc., etc."

"I PREFER THE STATE PRISON YOUR HONOR."—John Hall, colored, was convicted in the Municipal Court, Boston, on Wednesday of drugging John M. Cood, of Cohasset, and then robbing him in Cambridge street, a few days since. The Judge sentenced him to the House of Correction for two years, when John said, "I prefer the State Prison, your Honor." His preference was gratified, and the sentence changed. He has been in the House of Correct on, and said he had done some service at cutting stone, and now dislikes that place and wants a change.

A THRILLING SCENE NOT IN THE BILLS.—At the Bowery Theatre, New York, one Runnels balances Aymar, who weighs one hundred and fifty-five pounds, on the top of a pole thirty-five feet in height; and, while thus balanced in the air, Aymar goes through a succession of posturings, contortions, &c. On Thursday evening, while performing this feat, Runnels, in walking about the stage to maintain the perpendicular of the pole, approached close to the foot-lights, and for a moment took his eye from the top of the pole to ascertain his whereabouts. In doing this he lost the balance. Aymar was dashed with terrible force directly upon the foot lights, crashing the glass globes with which they were covered, and cutting himself in a dreadful manner.

ARCTIC EXPEDITION.—Dr. Kane has received his instructions for his Arctic expedition from the navy department, and expects to sail by the 1st of May. He goes first to the head of Baffin's Bay, and thence to the Polar Sea. Several of his former companions go with him. For lack of funds, he was not able to lay in so large a supply of preserved food as is desirable. He will probably return, if possible, within eighteen months.

New York, April 17.—A great fire occurred at the Brooklyn Navy Yard this morning, by which a building four stories high and three hundred feet long, occupied as a painters' loft and for the storage of timber, was destroyed. A large quantity of paints, oils, oakum and seasoned timber, was stored in the building, the whole of which was also consumed.—Among the stock destroyed were timbers of Southern pine for a new ship, a frigate and a sloop-of-war, and the frames of four other vessels. During the fire, there were two explosions, supposed of bomb shells, accidentally left on the premises. The total loss is estimated at from $115,000 to $120,000. Several firemen and others were severely injured.—The fire was occasioned by spontaneous combustion.

"BEN BOLT."—A letter has been received from Mr. Ben Bolt, stating that he does most distinctly recollect "Sweet Alice," and that his memory is perfectly clear in regard to most of the interrogatories that have been put to him. Mr. Bolt is in the full enjoyment of a green old age.

The pen with which the signers of the Declaration of Independence signed their several names to that instrument, is now in the office of the Secretary of State, in Washington.

Judge Bronson accepts the collectorship at New York, and Charles O'Connor the district attorneyship.

LOCAL.

ANTI-SLAVERY MEETING.

MISS HOLLEY'S LECTURE.—The favorable impression made by Miss Sallie Holley upon her audience a week ago, drew a larger house on Sunday evening last. The Temple was as full as comfort would allow, at least half being ladies. The lady commenced with reading (and briefly commenting upon) portions of Scripture, in a manner which it would be well for many divines to adopt. Then she offered an extempore prayer—long, finely-worded, devout, impressive. After this, in an able and touching address and earnest appeal for "the poor bondman," a full hour long, she deeply interested her auditors,—receiving close attention to the end. We never knew such sweeping statements as she made—such scathing rebukes—such bitter denunciations as hers, received so quietly.

Miss Holley is decidedly the best lady orator we have heard. She speaks without notes, and with readiness and fluency—and save a little too much of a whining accent, is a very pleasing speaker. She is perfectly ladylike in her deportment—modest and unassuming, yet dignified and self-possessed; thoroughly understanding her subject, and fearlessly proclaiming what she believes to be truth.

She announced a third lecture for this (Tuesday) evening, at the Temple.

THE PANORAMA OF EUROPE.

Among the many complimentary things said of this Panorama, which will be exhibited in this city to-morrow evening, we condense the following:—

Worcester Spy.— We found our anticipations more than realized—not in the common advertising sense, but in sober truth. The painting is a magnificent work of art.

Springfield Republican.—As a work of art, it is believed that its superior has never been presented in Springfield.

Springfield Post.—We passed an evening in viewing this Panorama, greatly to our profit. It was the most beautiful, instructive and interesting exhibitions of the kind we have ever attended.

These are only samples of scores of notices of this work of art. If any reliance is to be placed on the newspapers, our citizens are to be favored with a rich treat.

☞ We learn from good authority, that John R. Redding, Esq., of Haverhill, N. H., is appointed Naval Store Keeper at the Portsmouth Navy Yard.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A Teachers' Institute will commence at New Market, on Monday, April 25th, and continue one week. A corps of able Teachers and Lecturers has been secured. Board, on reasonable terms, can be secured by applying to Rev. Mr. Coggswell, W. B. Small, Esq. or D. Murray, Esq.

Prudential Committees are requested to delay the Summer Schools until after the Institute.

A. H. HOYT,
Commissioner.

N. B.—All who travel by the Boston & Maine Railroad and attend the Institute till its close, will be allowed a free pass on their return home.

The Bunker Hill Monument was twice struck by lighting on Wednesday afternoon 6th, during the thunder storm. The lighting was drawn to the rod and probably no damage was done to the structure. The Aurora says:—"Persons who were in the monument at the time were considerably alarmed at the concussion, and 'thought the monument was going over.' The bottom of one of the rods where it entered the earth was slightly melted, and a gentleman near the top who was passing down and holding on by the iron rail, received a shock from which he did not recover entirely for a couple of hours. The second shock sounded like the crash of a large quantity of glass thrown down inside of the Monument."

A BITE.—Some rogue entered the stable of Mr. Cyrus Pierce, near Pawtucket Falls, a few nights since, doubtless in quest of plunder. A faithful watch dog on the premises attended to his case; and in the morning were found on the stable floor, one coat tail and one human finger—which the owner had left behind him in the "noise and confusion" of the moment. The owner can have the same by calling and proving property.

METHODIST CONFERENCE.—The New England Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church will meet at Ipswich, on Wednesday, April 27—Bishop Janes presiding. An arrangement has been made, by which persons attending this conference may procure tickets from Boston to Ipswich, and back to Boston, for 75 cents—or one half the usual fare. The arrangement also applies to other stations on the Eastern railroad.—Lynn News.

IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT.—We understand that petitions are being circulated in several sections of the State to be presented to the Constitutional Convention soon to assemble, asking in substance that the revision of the Constitution shall exclude forever the right to imprison for debt.—Worcester Transcript.

THE SUSQUEHANNA BRIDGE BILL.—The Maryland Senate has finally passed the bill granting to the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company the right to build a bridge across the Susquehanna River, at Havre de Grace. The vote stood 13 yeas to 3 nays.

DEATH IN THE NAVY.—Midshipman Chas. D. Sparks, of Louisville, died on Wednesday morning, on board the U. S. ship Vincennes, at Brooklyn Navy Yard.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

FROM MEXICO.

New Orleans April 16.—Gen Arista, ex-president of Mexico, has arrived in this city in a brig from Vera Cruz.

There was a rumor in Vera Cruz that Sonora had been again invaded by a party of troops to the number of 1000, under the command of Count Parusosa. There was a great deal of noisy demonstration at Vera Cruz on the occasion of Santa Anna's advent in that city, with illaminations, fireworks, serenades, etc., in the evening.

An escort of 1000 men has left the city of Mexico to conduct General Santa Anna to the capital.

New York, April 18.—It was rumored at Havana that the Spanish government has authorized the payment to George Law of the sum of $300,000 for detentions, losses, &c., connected with the steamer Cherokee. The sum is to be paid from the revenues of the island.

Washington, April 18.—Governor Seymour of Connecticut, has been offered the mission to Mexico, and it is believed he has accepted it.

LATER FROM HAVANA.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The steamer Black Warrior, Capt. Schufeldt, arrived here this morning at 10 o'clock, from Mobile via Havana, having left the latter port on the 12th inst., and brings files to that date inclusive.

On the 11th of April, about 45 political prisoners, charged with insurrectionary attempts, were sent from Havana to Cadiz, to await the decision of the Queen. Before their departure, they were allowed to receive the visits of their friends, as well as presents of money.

A conspiracy had been detected among the prisoners in one of the city prisons. They had procured arms, and had intended to rise upon the keepers. The ringleader was a German, formerly cashier in one of the merantile houses, who had been imprisoned for embezzling the funds of his employers.

General Santa Anna landed at Vera Cruz on the 1st of April, and was received with the greatest enthusiasm, the firing of salutes, and other demonstrations of joy. On the 2d he issued a proclamation to the people of Mexico, in which he makes magificent promises for the regeneration of his beloved country. He started for the capital on the 6th.

ARRIVAL OF THE PACIFIC.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, April 17.

The steamship Pacific, Capt. Nye, from Liverpool morning of the 6th, arrived at 3 o'clock this afternoon, with 65 passengers, among them Gov. Fairbanks, of Vermont.

Both Houses of Parliament resumed their sessions on Monday the 4th. In the Commons, Sir Lacy de Evans gave notice of a call for the correspondence between the British government, Spain, France and the United States, concerning the alleged Cuba annexation project.

The iron steamer Duke of Sutherland, trading between London and Aberdeen, was wrecked on the afternoon of the 1st, in the river Dee, and went to pieces. 12 or 20 persons were drowned.

Alexander Bain, the telegraphic patentee, had a hearing in the Court of Bankruptcy in London on the 4th.

The steamer Great Britain, from Australia, had £553,000 in gold dust, besides large sums in the hands of passengers. The steamer Vulcan and ship New Orleans, from Australia, brought together £140,000 in gold dust.

Potato planting is going on in Ireland under favorible auspices, as to soil and weather.

The London Advertiser says Mazzini is safe, and may be expected in England in a fortnight.

FRANCE.—The difficulties of Switzerland and Piedmont with Austria and Russia threaten trouble. The part taken by France in the question is attributed to the refusal of the Pope to visit Paris, for it is now said that his Holiness has given a positive refusal.

SPAIN.—The United States frigate Constitution arrived at Gibralter on the 23d, in 21 days from New York.

GERMANY.—A letter from Berlin of the 4th says the renewed treaties of the Zollverein were to be signed on that evening. The powers of ratification were in the hands of the Envoys.

The commercial treaty between Prussia and Hanover went into operation on the 5th inst.

PRUSSIA.—The Berlin papers publish a semi official document, stating that among the papers recently signed in that city was a proclamation of a German Republic.

An association numbering 10,000 members had been dissolved by government.

The conspirators detected had extensive stores of arms and ammunition. The conspiracy was to have broken out between the 3d and 6th of April, and had ramifications throughout Germany.

A treaty for the mutual extradition of criminals is announced between Prussia and the United States.

Numerous desertions, had taken place among the Austrian troops along the frontiers of Switzerland.

SARDINIA.—The corvette San Giovanni arrived at Villa Franca on the 27th, with 56 refugees on board. She takes 26 more at Villa Franca, and will then sail for the United States. Government is to feed the refugees, and to give to each 70 francs on his landing in New York.

TURKEY.—Negotiations continue between the Divan and the Prince Menschikoff. The Russian court has addressed a note to Vienna, disavowing any intention to disturb the integrity of the Ottoman Empire.

A SMART OLD MAN.—At a recent fire in New Bedford, Mr. Peter Faben, 72 years of age, after walking to the polls and voting in the city, joined the Engine Company of which he is a member, and travelled to the city and returned home—a distance of eight miles, and worked at the brakes six hours while at the fire, doing as much labor as any member of his company.

Said property is situated within one mile of Market Square, on the line of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, and is a beautiful location for a Boot and Shoe, Carriage, or Hosiery Factory or Foundry. For further information inquire of TOWLE & ADAMS,
Nov. 19. [J2X] City Sales Room, 3 Congress Block, Congress st., Portsmouth.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.

The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 23 by 38 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair,—with all necessary barns and out-buildings.

The house is on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.

The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.

Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.

If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and these can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.
Epping, March 30, 1853.

LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralizes the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N. Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS,
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 23 State street, Boston, Mass.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby all applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection of the application. Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.— Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

Specimens of the article may be seen at the office of the subscriber.

DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

BY MILLERS & GRAY. $4 PER YEAR---$3 IN ADV.

VOLUME 2. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1853. NUMBER 67.

Office, No. 4 Exchange Bldgs., Pleasant St.

DAILY CHRONICLE—$4 per annum, payable half-yearly; or $3 strictly in advance. If payment is made for a year, within six months of the time of subscribing, fifty cents will be deducted.

The Weekly Chronicle.

A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

BOOK, JOB AND CARD PRINTING

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

executed in the best manner, at fair rates.

FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, THOS. W. MILLER.

V. B. Palmer, American Newspaper Agent, is the only authorized Agent for this paper in the cities of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and is duly empowered to take advertisements and subscriptions at the same rates as required by us. His receipts will be regarded as payments.

A SLIP FROM PUNCH.

Hints to Mischief Makers.—Every medal has its reverse—and every meddler deserves to meet with one.

The Press and the Empress.—Several of our cotemporaries appear to question the felicity of the Emperor's marriage. For ourselves, however, we cannot regard them otherwise than as quite a Nappy couple.

The Force of Habit.—A businesss man of our acquaintance is so scrupulously exact in all his doings, that whenever he pays a visit he always will insist upon taking a receipt.

A Knot to be Untied.—It was hoped that Louis Napoleon, after his marriage, would abandon his despotic policy, for having got an amiable wife, it was reasonably expected that he would no longer be wedded to anything objectionable.

Different Grades of Punishment.—If a boy steals a shilling or a pocket handkerchief, he is transported; but if a Railway King helps himself to hundreds of shares, or thousands of pounds, he is simply called upon to refund them.

The Reign of Accidents.—The Times says, "France is no longer governed by established laws or institutions, but by the accidents thrown in her way." In other words, France is governed precisely as if it were an English Railway.

Reasonable Enough.—The Reverend Mr. Stowell announces that he will engage no curate who is guilty of the unpardonable crime of smoking a cigar. The reverend gentleman fairly says, that he does all his own puffing, and that if the curate wants a narcotic, he has only to read one of his rector's sermons. This seems all right enough.

"Love in the Moon."—We see a little work advertised, called Love in the Moon. We cannot speak of its contents, for we have not yet looked into it. But we confess we think the title is a decidedly well chosen one. Love in the Moon seems to us quite in proper sphere, seeing what decided lunatics it makes of all who come within its influence.

A WOLF HUNT IN FRANCE.—A wolf hunt took place lately near Calais. The animal had for five or six years been living upon the mules, sheep, fowls, etc., of the neighborhood, without the previous knowledge or consent of the proprietors thereof, so it was finally resolved to bring the offender to justice. The hunters turned out for that purpose, formed a circle round that part of the wood where he was ascertained to have made his lair, aroused the thieving rascal, and summoned him to surrender. The first messenger crippled the foul thief, but he displayed his mulish disposition by limping off "in the way he hadn't oughter gone," breaking past his enemies, and "making himself scarce." For nine hours he kept his pursuers on the jog, and was at last killed at the extremity of the forest of Vibraye, having received sixteen balls in his body, and some hundreds of slugs.

EFFECTS OF MUSIC.—The effects of music on the senses was oddly and wonderfully verified, during a late general mourning in London. A tailor had a great number of black suits which were to be finished in a short space of time. Among his workmen there was a fellow who was always singing rule Brittannia, and the rest of the journeymen joined in the chorus. The tailor made his observations, and found that the slow tune retarded the work; in consequence, he engaged a blind fiddler, and placing him near the work shop, made him play the lively tune of Nancy Dawson. This had the proper effect; the tailors' elbows moved obedient to the melody, and the clothes were sent home within the prescribed time.

PHILOSOPHY OF SMOKING.—The soothing properties of the cigar are often spoken of by smokers. It is said by them that care flies away upon the wings of the circling exhalation. The idea is our own that the merit does not lie in the tobacco at all, but in the attitude and effort used in smoking, which tend to induce calmness and contemplative quietude.—A sugar cigar is as affective in inducing quiet as a tobacco one, if the above be true, but we are willing entirely that smokers should decide for themselves.—Boston Post.

A MODEL VALEDICTORY.—The most singular valedictory address on record was delivered by Sidney Smith to a young English missionary who was about to proceed to Van Dieman's Land. It was as follows:

"Farewell, my dear friend, farewell! You go to a country where it is the custom of the aboriginals to have a clergyman on their sideboards every morning for breakfast; but let us hope—let us earnestly hope—that you will prove very indigestible to the savage who eats you!"

FREE-THINKERS.—Some socialists have discovered a short path to celebrity. Having heard that it was vastly silly to believe every thing, they take for granted that they must believe in nothing. They therefore set up for free thinkers, though their only stock in trade is that they are free from thinking. It is not safe to contemn them, not very easy to convince them, since no person makes so large a demand against the reason of others, as those who have none of their own; just as a highwayman will take greater liberties with our purse, than our banker.—Colton.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A Teachers' Institute will commence at New Market, on Monday, April 25th, and continue one week. A corps of able Teachers and Lecturers has been secured. Board, on reasonable terms, can be secured by applying to Rev. Mr. Coggswell, W. B. Small, Esq. or D. Murray, Esq.

Prudential Committees are requested to delay the Summer Schools until after the Institute.

A. H. HOYT,
Commissioner.

N. B.—All who travel by the Boston & Maine Railroad and attend the Institute till its close, will be allowed a free pass on their return home.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1853.

TO ADVERTISERS.

☞The Chronicle offers excellent advantages as a means of communicating with the public in this vicinity. We have regular and proportionately-large lists, supplied daily by carriers in our employ, in Newcastle, Kittery, Greenland and Epping; which, with our Daily circulation in the city, and on the Eastern, P. S. & P., and Portsmouth & Concord Railroads, and our Weekly circulation in all the neighboring towns—advertisements being inserted in both papers—affords a very thorough medium of communicating with "the people," at a low rate. m1

SANTA ANNA IN MEXICO.

The great Mexican chieftain arrived in Vera Cruz, April 1, where he was received with great pomp, passing under a triumphal arch inscribed—

"To His Excellency the President, Don Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, 17th March, 1853;" "Liberty, peace and order."

The next day he issued a Proclamation, in which he distrusts and disavows any ability to do the nation any good, unless they unite, and work like men, for themselves. He comes not to avenge his old grievances, nor to help any party to prevail, but to promote union, in which alone he perceives strength.

"Mexicans!" (says he) "too long have we permitted ourselves to be deceived by chimerical ideas. We have lost too much time in intestine dissensions. A sad reality has come to drag us from such a deplorable deception. To what have we arrived at the end of thirty years of independence? Cast an eye over the map of your country, and you will find that a great portion of your territory has been lost. Examine the state of your finances, and you will meet nothing but disorder, abuse, ruin.—What is your credit abroad? What is the opinion which you enjoy in foreign nations? Where is that army in whose lines I have had the honor to serve, that army which gained your independence, in which I glory of having had no small part—that army which I led through the deserts, conquering difficulties which appeared insurmountable, to the frontier of the republic—at whose head I repelled an inimical invasion, and with which I fought—with little fortune, but not without honor—when your capital was occupied by the enemy.

Mexicans, let us become ourselves again.—Let us improve the hard lessons of experience. Let us repair the errors we have committed. Here you have me to contribute my share to this honorable reparation. Toil with me in good faith in this glorious work, and we may still have country, national honor, and a name we will not be ashamed to own.

Soldiers! comrades in arms! Behold anew at your head your old general,—him who has conducted you sometime with glory; him who has not abandoned you in the moment of misfortune; him who bears on his body an honorable mutilation; and who, with you, has exposed his breast to the balls of the enemy in the days of your misfortunes. Listen to a voice which is not unknown to you. Follow your general and friend.

The proclamation closes with expressions of conciliation, union and hope.

But alas for poor Mexico—she has too many soldiers and priests; too few mechanics and merchants. If Santa Anna or any body else could introduce Yankee industry and ingenuity there in large measure—and if the priesthood could liberalize itself,—then Mexico might be something else than a distracted republic, ready to fall a prey to the grasping sister republic which has already laid her hand on so much of the late Mexican territory.

PREDICTION FOR CALIFORNIA.—Wm. G. Bates, who is writing a series of interesting letters from San Francisco to the Detroit Daily Advertiser, in his latest epistle, says:—

For a farmer who does not wish to feed out in one six months the earnings of the other, and who has capital enough, California, I think is the most desirable state in the Union. In winter, so soon as the rain has sufficiently softened the earth, the plowing begins, and continues on till April. This winter the number of acres of land plowed up has been very much larger than ever before. The enormous high price of all kinds of provisions last summer has had a good effect to stimulate agriculture, and in my opinion within two years California will produce her own pork, her own flour, her own necessaries of every name and kind. When this is done, and her gold crop is carried up to $100,000,000 per annum, as it will be within four years from this date, we shall be something of a state. Mark my words, and let those who live remember them. In the year 1858, the exports of California will be larger in value than the entire assessable real property of Michigan, including both your railways.

SEVERE ACCIDENTS.—Next to camphene, says the Boston Courier, our horror is for a circular saw. At Springfield, on Thursday, Sumner Bemis, who was at work over one, reached his arm across it for an oil can, when the teeth caught his shirt sleeve, and brought the arm within their range, tearing it open and severing the arteries. A frightful amount of blood was lost before compression was secured. At Orford, N. H., on Wednesday, Mr. Peck, while engaged sawing lumber with a circular saw, accidentally fell in such a manner as to bring his leg in contact with it, by which it was instantly cut off just above the knee.

GREAT EARTHQUAKE IN THE INDIAN ARCHIPELAGO.—The Java "Bode" publishes a long account of a terrible commotion of nature—earthquakes and seaquakes—in the islands of the Indian Archipelago, which commenced Nov. 26, and lasted until Dec. 22. The destruction was very extensive.

CHOICE OF ADJECTIVES.—Nowhere does a good writer differ more widely from a poor one, than in the selection of adjectives; and at the same time there is no branch of letters in which a writer must depend so entirely upon himself. No rules avail much on this point; for accuracy in this respect could not be secured short of a book full of rules, which could scarcely be remembered. There are a few adjectives, however, which are used every day, with which all the people who read the papers ought to be familiar, and which alas, are too often misused, (not to say abused,) by the printers and editors thereof.

We will mention one, the word perfect.—We have before us, in the shipping lists, an account of a collision in the night time at sea, between the bark Sultana and an Austrian or French brig, with the wind blowing a gale at the time and a heavy sea running—so that the Sultana could not ascertain her name. The S. was struck forward of the fore-rigging, and badly damaged. The unknown vessel lost all her fore-rigging and was left a "perfect wreck" when last seen.

Now a wreck is not perfect. It is a mere wreck, a total wreck, or an utter wreck, but it is the very opposite of perfect.

So of adverbs. It is proper to speak of being perfectly, or imperfectly righteous; but not of being perfectly wicked. We say desperately wicked—dreadfully wicked, and so on.

The tyro in composition would do well to cultivate thought as well as language. It is said of the celebrated Mr. Addison, one of the principal writers in the Spectator, that he never sat down to write even a letter, without a dictionary by his side. He sought for accuracy; and having attained this, perspicuity, ease and elegance came along with it, making him one of the best of English essay writers.

DESPATCH OF BUSINESS.—The last term of the Court of Common Pleas, in York County, Me., was of nearly two weeks duration. During that time but two cases went to the Jury, in one of which they were unable to agree, and in the other a motion for a new trial was made. The docket contains upwards of 700 cases.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION RETURNS.—The Washington Union gives a table of the returns of the last Presidential election, which foots up as follows:

For Pierce,	1,585,545
Scott,	1,383,573
Hale,	157,296
Total vote,	3,126,414

These figures do not embrace the full vote of the country. The actual returns show the following result:

For Pierce, Dem.,	1,607,723
For Scott, Whig,	1,386,934
Webster, Union Whig,	7,436
Hale, Free Soil Abolition,	155,940
Goodell, Abolition,	72
Troup, State Rights,	2,300
Broome, Native,	2,485
Total vote,	3,162,890

The vote polled in November last, although not full in several States, was the largest ever thrown. It exhibits an increase of 290,894 over that of the previous Presidential election in 1848.—N. Y. Herald.

THE LATE STORM AT PHILADELPHIA.—The storm of Thursday afternoon was the most violent which has been felt in Philadelphia for several years, causing much destruction. Three warehouses, extending from Front to Water streets, were unroofed, the tin roofs blown three hundred yards into Delaware avenue, and the walls partially blown down. Edwards' new hotel, Bailey's new store, and a building opposite to the Mint, were also unroofed—the latter coming near to crushing an omnibus full of passengers; the gable ends of some new houses were blown down; also, a derrick, by the fall of which a workman was nearly killed.

"ANTI-VASSAL" MEETING.—The settlers on the several tracts of land in Kennebec, Lincoln and Somerset counties, which have been claimed by Henry Webster, as devisee under the will of Florentius Vassal, whose great-grandson he is, assembled at the Court House, in Augusta, on Tuesday last, and after discussion adopted some pretty fiery resolutions upon the subject of the claim, declaring that they throw themselves on the arm of the State authority for support, and, if that fails, to resort to their "natural, indefeasible, reserved rights."

In Wisconsin a new county has been named Pierce, in honor of the president.

The Liquor Law was defeated in the Legislative Assembly at Quebec, on Thursday, by a vote of 32 to 28.

SMUGGLING LACES.—The New York Times of Saturday says:—"From information recently received by the revenue officers at this port, the firm of Valkenheysen & Hartog, German importers, were suspected of smuggling a large quantity of laces from on board the propeller Alps, and yesterday Hartog, and a sleeping partner of the firm named Volah, were taken into custody and ordered to find bail in $5000 each. William F. Marsden, the purser of the ship, was taken into custody on the arrival of the Alps at Boston, and also held in $5000."

GERMANS IN CALIFORNIA.—A German daily paper is published at San Francisco, the editor of which estimates that there are 45,000 of his countrymen in California, 15,000 of which are computed to be transient, and the balance, 30,000, permanent inhabitants. This, he says, far exceeds the number of any other foreign nation in California.

LOCAL.

HON. JOHN R. REDING, (the reported appointee to the Navy Store Keeper's Office at this station,) is a native of this place, and began his career as a printer, by being an apprentice in the Office of the Portsmouth Oracle, under Mr. Turell's administration; but leaving that place, he finished his apprenticeship in the office of the New Hampshire Patriot, with Mr. (afterwards Governor) Hill, whose sister he afterwards married: having in the mean time become printer and editor of the New Hampshire Republican, at Haverhill, N. H. which he published several years. He has also been a Representative in Congress for this state, and held some other posts of less importance.

THE HOSIERY LOOMS.—We are informed that the new hosiery manufactory in Bow street is not to be furnished with Pepper's Looms, as we stated, but with those of some other inventor and maker.

PORTSMOUTH AND CONCORD.

These two cities are now very near neighbors, as it regards the time and expense needful to go or send from one to the other; and they will be near neighbors as to trade and other intercourse.

An item of news appeared in the last Ports mouth Journal, stating that Messrs. Gilmore & Co., of Concord, were about taking a lease of the stone store and wharf near Portsmouth Bridge, for the purpose of carrying on a wholesale forwarding business. To this item the Concord Reporter responds in the following manner:—

We are glad to see the above announcement, for it is precisely what we have been urging for the two past years. All the heavy goods consumed in the country above Concord and Portsmouth, ought to be imported into the latter city. These importations would mainly be sold here to the country above, and where they could be sold as cheap to the purchaser, and at as good a profit to the seller, as at Boston. Take for instance a cargo of molasses, which would be paid for with a cargo of lumber or ice; raised from the hold of the vessel at Portsmouth into the cars running down to to the wharf,—brought up over the railroad, and deposited in an ample store-house here.—The cargo will not have cost more here, or very little more, than when delivered into the storehouse at Boston, where the storage would cost ten times as much—and being upon the great line travelled by merchants about and above Concord, the goods would be purchased here, and the cost of transportation between Concord and Boston saved. Iron, coal, salt, plaster, lime, salted fish, and even flour and corn from the West, should take this direction, for it costs no more to deliver a cargo of flour at Portsmouth than at Boston. The right sort of men have taken this thing in hand, and if they go ahead with their usual energy, they will build up such a business here as Concord has never seen—a business that will infuse new life and energy into Portsmouth—make the stock of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad pay good dividends, and make Concord the grand depot from which the country above will be mostly supplied. It is a great enterprise and one which can hardly fail of success—and although many may doubt now, yet when they see the experiment fairly tried, they will be satisfied that our anticipations have not shadowed forth one-half its importance.

AN AMERICAN NEGRESS IN THE QUININE BUSINESS.—By the following account from the Tribune, of a visit to a quinine factory in Teduendama, last December, it appears that one of the principal parties in the establishment is an American negress:

"The director, an intelligent French chemist, was domiciled, I was told, with a countrywoman of mine. I found her of pure African blood, and a very favorable specimen of her race. She bore in youth the name of Jeanna Jackson, and thirteen years ago had a mother living in Haverstraw, to whom she said she would gladly send a hundred or two of dollars if she knew he was living. She said that when she left the people were talking of voting for General Jackson and a Mr. Van Buren, but she conjectures the General must be dead by this time. In the interim she has been over Ireland, England, Germany and Russia, as a servant, and is now a lady in New Grenada, and has her white servant.—Of the two persons who can make quinine on a large scale in New Grenada, she is one."

Capt. Tarbox of the schooner Liberty, of Bath, was nearly run over by a drayman at Philadelphia on Tuesday, and his foot was injured by the horse. The driver was holden in $300 bail.

LIFE'S CHANGES.—A lady of this city, who had been over-persuaded by her parents and her lover, whose affection she did not reciprocate, to approach the hymenial altar, on Thursday evening last, plucked up courage when the important question was put to her by the officiating clergyman, and resolutely answered "no," when, by the rubric, the proper reply would have been a faint blush, a soft sigh, and a whispered "yes." The consternation of all parties may be imagined, but not described. Remonstrance was in vain. No, said the young lady, and no it was. The swain was embarrassed but not discouraged. Casting his eyes about the room, he inquired, "is there any lady here who will have me, if so, let her make it known." One arose, and declared her willingness to undergo the infliction. A bargain was instantly struck, the knot was tied as quickly, and the parties have departed for the home of the gentleman in New York.—Cin. Atlas.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

DEATH OF THE VICE PRESIDENT.

The telegraph informs us that Hon. WILLIAM R. KING, Vice President of the United States, died at Cahawba, Ala., on Monday evening.

His health has been so feeble since the commencement of his official term, that the affective news of his death will not cause surprise throughout the country.

Mr. King has been long in public life, and has enjoyed to a great degree the confidence of his own party and the respect of his opponents.

Mr. King is the second Vice President who has died in office. The death of Hon. Elbridge Gerry was the first instance of the decease of a person filling the station.

AN OUTRAGE EXPLAINED AWAY.—The story of an outrage on the American schooner Manchester, by a Spanish ship-of-war, off Cuba, is spoiled in the following manner, by the Havana correspondent of the Journal of Commerce:

"The case of the Manchester would be best shown by a letter of the Captain, addressed to Judge Sharkey, Consul of the United States at Havana, now on file at the State Department. This letter advised Judge Sharkey, that he, the Captain, had drawn upon him for payment of pilotage, and requested him not to pay the draft. The Manchester, through bad navigation, or casualty, had got upon the shoals of 'Buena Vista,' and a Spanish cruiser in the vicinity sent her boats and assisted off the vessel:—the pilot that was put on board subsequently to put her in safe offing, demanded properly his compensation,—and thus was he paid by the complaing Captain. It is true, that while assisting the Manchester to get free of a dangerous reef, the Spanish officers examined her papers, and examined the vessel, but they caused no detention; that was the Captain's doing—or accident. If any thing was discharged from her, it was for the purpose of lightening the vessel for her own safety. It does not make a case for the action of the President of the United States, unless to thank those who did kindly acts which have been badly paid for."

SOCIALIST HOTEL.—The New York Tribune gives a description of a hotel on a new plan, which is to be constructed the present season in that city. Its height will be eight stories, and its ground dimensions 200 feet square, with a court yard in the centre. It is to be arranged in suits of apartments for families, at rates varying from $300 to $1000 per year, and meals can be obtained in the hotel or not, as may suite the taste or convenience of the occupants. The house will accommodate 1000 people, and is designed to complete the innovation already introduced in American domestic habits by the practice of living in hotels, combining as it does, with what is convenient and elegant in that mode of life; a degree of privacy, independence and economy hitherto unknown to it.

FROM HAVANA.—Another ship fired into.—The commander of H. B. M. steamer Buzzard evidently has a taste for active life. It has been mentioned that he overhauled and searched ship Harriet, while on the passage from Savannah to Havana, and now we learn that he committed an outrage upon ship Clara Ann of Bath, and Capt. Hatch on his arrival at Havana made the following statement at the U. S. Consulate:—

"When we were off the Pan of Matanzas, bound to Havana, distant about 30 miles, on last Thursday, 7th inst., saw a steamer chasing us. The steamer fired a blank shot; I was not on deck at the time, but heard it, and immediately went out on deck and found the American Jack flying at our peak, hoisted by order of the mate. Immediately had the Jack hauled down and the American Ensign set.—The steamer continued in our wake for half an hour, and hauled off on the quarter and fired a shot, which struck the water about ten feet from the gangway, and skipped and landed under the bow. My colors had been flying for about half an hour before the second shot was fired. We hove to, and a boat with a lieutenant and ten men boarded the ship.—The lieutenant inquired where we were from, where bound, and what cargo, and said he was in pursuit of slavers. And upon being told they left the ship. We were detained from twenty to thirty minutes. It was a British ship, called the Buzzard.

F. T. HATCH.

Mr. E. Brooks, of the New York Express, writes from Havana, on the 12th:—

"Rufus H. Woods, of New York, a passenger in the above vessel, also swears circumstantially to the same state of facts, adding that "the war steamer chased the Clara Ann, and that the shot struck about ten feet from the gangway, and passed under the bow, the spray from which came on deck," &c.

Mr. Brooks also mentions the rumor that Spain had agreed to mulct Havana $300,000, to pay Geo. Law for the detention of his steamships.

MURDERER ARRESTED.—John Murphy, the fiend who tied his wife to a bed while she was partially intoxicated, and poured sulphuric acid down her throat, has been at work several days for deputy sheriff Hall at Rochester, Mass., who saw his description in the newspapers, arrested him, and took him to Fall River, where the crime was committed.

The "fiend" himself was also maddened by strong drink, without the aid of which, or some other insanity, he could hardly have nerved himself to the performance of a deed so horrible.

It is said that Mike Walsh, one of the members of Congress elect of New York, is lying very dangerously ill.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.

The Mansion house is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 38 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair,—with all necessary barns and out-buildings.

The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.

The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.

Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.

If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair, CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years.—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. Conraroux, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.

POWDER, SHOT AND CAPS for sale by
GEORGE H. KNOWLTON,
o5 No. 2 Congress st.

From the Boston Journal.

Mr. Editor:—The recent agitation in behalf of "Woman's Rights" should be discountenanced by every owner of a beard, because of the ingratitude of the feminine division of humanity. Not long since, some worthy man, impel ed by the benevolent desire to "spare a bruised reed," expressed the opinion that though women were mentally inferior to men, they yet made up for it in affectional superiority; yet what return has been made for this kindness? Read the following atrocity and weep. JEREMIAH.

EPIGRAM.

"Katy, my dear," cried Frank one day in glee,
"The knotty question which has oft thee nettled,
Touching the sexes' inequality,
Some Solon of our day has clearly settled.

'Nature,' he says, 'has giv'n an extra cell
Unto man's brain, (soithone) it most capacious)
And to stone, bid one more fibre swell
Sweet woman's heart, already fond and gracious.'"

"Laugh on," cried Kate, "for sure I can't complain,
Affections multiplied bring joy infinite;
But in thy extra cell, pray where's the gain,
If like the others, there is nothing in it?"
BEATRICE.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting desease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipe for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, forbid and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

COUGH REMEDY!

DR. ROGERS' SYRUP OF LIVERWORT, TAR, AND CANCHALAGUA

FOR THE COMPLETE CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood,
AND ALL OTHER LUNG COMPLAINTS TENDING TO CONSUMPTION!

THE above Expectorant, prepared by an experienced Physician and Chemist, has now become a standard Preparation, and is offered for the COMPLETE CURE of those diseases of the Throat and Lungs, which, if neglected, usually terminate fatally in Consumption. It contains no Opium, Calomel, or any mineral whatever, but is composed entirely of those Roots, Herbs, and Vegetable substances which have a specific influence upon the Lungs and their connected organs. Its immediate effect is to allay all irritation, and gently remove the phlegm and other morbid secretions from the Throat and Air-passages, thus relieving the Cough, by subduing the inflammation and other causes which give rise to it. It is approved of and recommended by Physicians of the highest standing, and may be given with perfect safety to the youngest child or the most delicate female.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

RICHES AND POVERTY.—Paris, Jan. 26.—Yesterday an application was made to the Civil Tribunal, which shows that the vicissitudes in the life of a Lais, as depicted by Eugene Sue and other romancists, are something more than romance. The application was made for authority to expel an old woman, named Henriettee, from an apartment in the fifth story of a house in the Rue Popincourt, which she pertinaciously refused to quit, though she was unable to pay any rent, and had no furniture of sufficient value to guarantee it. The tribunal granted the demand. About thirty years ago this woman was one of the most dashing courtezans of Paris. She had a fine house, kept carriages and horses, lived in splendid style, and spent enormous sums over her toilette. She was then known as the "Belle Henriette," and never drove out without seeing a number of the most fashionable dandies of Paris galloping by her carriage side. For some years gold literally poured in upon her, but her extravagance was so fearful that she spent every farthing. It is related of her, that she one day gave a grand dinner party, and caused bonbons wrapped in bank notes to be presented to each guest; and as the guest refused to take the notes, she collected them and threw them into the fire. In time her beauty faded, and the consequence was, that her admirers fell off, and her fortune diminished. She then had to sell by degrees her jewels and other valuable property, and when the money obtained therefrom was exhausted, she sold all she had. She afterwards fell lower and lower, until, at last, she was reduced to such a state of dreadful destitution, that she could only wear rags, and was glad to earn a few pence by acting as charwoman.—Cor. London Advertiser.

PARISIAN ITEMS.—The article, from an American magazine, claiming a half-Indian missionary as Dauphin of France, has been translated here and published. It is regarded simply as a curious paper. No three rational men in Paris doubt that the Dauphin died in the temple, in 1795. Nobody here commits the folly of fancying that Louis Philippe, safe on the throne in 1841, would have been such a fool as to send his son to America to tell Mr. Eleazer Williams that he (Williams) had the best right to that throne.

Colonel Fremont, the Californian millionaire, who has been in Paris for the last six or eight months, will probably remain there until the autumn. With all his wealth, he is plainly republican in his habits. The only expensive article he indulges in are—horses. His stud, is the envy and wonder of the French. Not even Napoleon has a finer.

Mrs. H. B. Stowe, who (and "small blame to her,) has shown herself wide awake on money matters, has tried to establish a claim in France, under the treaty of 1850, to copyright in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and to all translations. But, as she had neglected the preliminary requirements of the law, her effort has failed, and "Uncle Tom" will not yield her one cent in France.

MR. Aubry, the great Rocky Mountain traveller, made a trip with a party from Sante Fe to California the past winter, with a flock of 3000 sheep. In a letter from him dated "Colorado of the West, Feb. 10th," he expresses great confidence that his animals will be able to perform the remainder of the journey without inconvenience, and states that the prospects of his adventure are very good. He writes: "We travelled a long and very bad road, and crossed several jornados, or deserts, of one hundred miles in length, without water, and of course suffered much. It is not probable we shall retain any pleasant recollections of this trip; and still we had good luck, for we have only lost one of the flock since we left the Del Norte. We found in a mountain near the Gila, the bones of eight or ten persons, who were no doubt murdered by the Indians. Our large party induced them to treat us in a friendly manner."

SINGULAR MARRIAGE.—On the 28th of March, a man hailing from Marblehead, appeared at the City Registrar's office to get a marriage certificate. He was accompanied by his intended, a well known apple-woman of this city. They obtained their certificate and started off in pursuit of a clergyman to finish the ceremony. On their way, however, the happy couple drank so often that the minister, on perceiving their condition, refused to perform the ceremony. Another however was found, who made the two one; but by this time they were both so much intoxicated as to have but little ability to find their way home.

The next day the bride assumed her duties at her usual stand, but was so much intoxicated that she soon fell over, carrying with her her stock in trade, and the police were obliged to put her into the watch-house, where some twelve hours of the honeymoon were spent. This morning the bride appeared at the City Registrar's office to find out the name of her husband, which, in consequence of the various mishaps attending the bridal ceremonies, had slipped her memory. Having been accommodated in this respect, she departed, it is supposed to search for her missing husband.—Traveller, 11th.

CHINA.—The rebellion is gaining ground. Commissioner-General Seu, according to latest reports, despairing of success, has committed suicide, while advancing on the Yangtzekiang, the main artery of the empire, (the possession of which enabled Sir Henry Pottinger to dictate terms, and bring the late war to a conclusion: the rebels have seized upon Wuchang, situated upon its south bank, the capital of Hupeh, causing the Shansee merchants to fly, and putting a stop to all trade; that the next places to be attacked are Han-yang and Kew-kiang, the former a place where large quantities of British manufactures find a ready market; that at every town and place on the river as far as Chin-kieng-foo the Government functionaries are in a state of consternation, and that Nanking is indeed the goal to which the insurgents now express their determination to push on.—China Mail, Feb. 11.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1853.

PROJET OF A LIQUOR LAW.

The Boston Chronicle, the paper established by the liquor interest in Boston to defeat and repeal the liquor law of Massachusetts, has at last brought out the project of its plan for doing all that the law can, to promote temperance. Speaking of the Constitutional Convention soon to be holden in that state, the Chronicle says, editorially:—

"As an humble outsider, we venture to recommend to the convention a provision that shall deprive the legislature of the power to grant licenses. Such a suggestion startles some of our good people, who are self-constituted guardians of the public morals, who never dreamed that a license is nothing more nor less than an indulgence, such as the church of Rome formerly sold to authorize the perpetration of crime; and the present generation is sadly in need of some Martin Luther to post placards on the doors of the halls where our exceedingly moral and religious political conclaves assemble, exposing the absurdity and wickedness of their doctrines. If it be a sin to sell rum or gunpowder, in a moral point of view, a license to sell rum or gunpowder does not lessen the atrocity of the sin, but makes the licenser a partaker in the crime. In some of the states, we believe, there are laws for licensing gaming houses and brothels.

Does any one pretend that the vices thus licensed are of less frequent occurrence in consequence of the licenses? Are they less sinful than if they were committed without the protection of the law? If it be a sin against the moral sense and well-being of society to sell intoxicating liquors, can a license from municipal authority convert the act to a virtue, or make that innocent which is in itself vicious and criminal? If Ahab was justly subjected to the wrath of an offended God, for teaching the children of Israel to worship idols, what treble damnation should be dealt out to those legislators who authorize the commission of an act which leads directly to the perpetration of other acts, that they allege to be the cause of disgrace, poverty, quarrelling, murder and every other crime of which human nature is susceptible?

We may remark, in this connection, that we do not deny (nay, we freely admit) that drunkenness is a vice, and not merely a vice, but a crime,—that needs to be restrained by law. But the man who sells the liquor with which another gets drunk is not the criminal, nor can any analogy of reasoning establish his criminality. If he were so, the same argument would prove the vender of swords and pistols, razors and ropes, or any other implements or instruments with which one can commit robbery, murder, or suicide, to be guilty of those crimes.

But without entering upon an argument of this kind, we only intended, when we began this paragraph, to say that if the legislature has sincerely a wish to stop the progress of intoxication, the method is as plain as the way to market. Let the ancient law, which imposed on selectmen and overseers of the poor, the duty of posting in some public place, the names of all drunkards and such as wasted their substance in tippling shops, and forbidding venders of liquor from selling to such persons as were known to be tipplers and drunkards, be revived or re-enacted.

Let our mayor and aldermen post up a few such notices on the hotels and stores of liquor-dealers, and, we apprehend, the number of drunkards would be essentially diminished,—even of such as may now get drunk legally.

We think of but one evil that would arise from the measure proposed:—Pimps and office-seekers in high life as well as in low, might find their vocation less profitable; but their ingenuity would soon contrive some other method equally respectable and useful, to keep themselves outside of the alms-houses and jails."

☞ A half dozen liquor sellers were before the Newburyport Police Court, Tuesday, for selling without authority; but the cases, at their own request, were postponed to Thursday at 10 o'clock. The business of the Police Court has increased much of late.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Sunday Atlas, writing from Richmond, Va., states that the report that Mrs. Mowatt is about being married to the editor of the Richmond Enquirer, is utterly destitute of foundation.

Then all the editorial puffing of the lady, and stuffing of the gentleman, must go for nothing. What a pity that so much pathos should be wasted.

BUSINESS IN MASSACHUSETTS. — There are, in that state, bills now before the Legislature, which, if passed, will add some eight millions to the banking, and more than ten millions to the manufacturing capital. There are also about forty charters granted to as many Gas Light Companies.

NOT GUILTY.—On Wednesday morning in the Municipal Court in Boston, the trial of Jeremiah Humphrey for manslaughter, in causing the death of Thomas Hussey, three or four weeks since, at the Glendon Rolling Mill, East Boston, was concluded this morning by the jury returning a verdict of not guilty, the ground of acquittal being that the accused acted in self defence.

☞ Brig Inga, (whaler) Capt. Barnes, of New Bedford, is reported to have been captured by the natives of Pleasant Island, one of the Caroline group, who came on board for trade, but rose and murdered the captain and crew, all but two men.

The Senate of Wisconsin has defeated the bill for the abolition of capital punishment, after it had passed the Assembly.

HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS IN BOSTON.

A meeting was held in Boston on Monday evening, by ladies and gentlemen who are in favor of establishing a Free High School for Girls.

Rev. J. T. Sargent was called upon to preside. He stated that the meeting grew out of a meeting held on Monday evening last, where Dr. Hunt delivered an interesting address with particular regard to a High School for Girls. A petition in favor of the establishment of such a school in this city had been drawn up, and had already received a large number of signatures.

One of the ladies read from the Revised Statutes the law in regard to the duty of the authorities of towns containing 4000 inhabitants to establish schools for instruction in the higher branches of literature. Boston, she said had established such schools, but they were not for all, as the law intended, but solely for the male sex.

The Chairman stated that the authorities of Boston were liable to indictment under the statute, for not establishing schools where girls could be instructed in the higher branches of education if they desired; and spoke of the injustice of depriving that class of girls among us, whose parents are poor, of the means o mental culture after leaving our public schools. The girls of rich parents have great advantages in this respect, but the poor girl, after she graduates from the public school, can advance no further.

The meeting resulted in the appointment of six gentlemen and six ladies, to obtain signatures to the petition to the city authorities for the establishment of a High School for girls, and this Committee will report at an adjourned meeting, when a Committee of two will be appointed to present the matter to the city authorities and request a hearing.

There can be little doubt that the movement will be successful.

HIGH BOARD IN BOSTON.—The contemplated rise in the price of transient board, by the principal hotel keepers in Boston, went into effect on Monday. Those who have heretofore charged $2, charge now $2 50; $1 50 houses advance to $2, and $1 25 houses charge $1 50. All the hotel keepers but two, in the city, agree to the arrangement. The Bee says:

"Several of the keepers of eating houses in this city, made a 'strike' on their patrons' dinner plates The rate of meat dishes was raised three and six cents, while on coffee and tea the prices have been raised two and three cents. Let us hope there will be no degeneration in the latter articles."

If a man in Boston has some days to spare, and wishes for a week's board, he can come to this city, have his rides out and back, pay his week's board here at our best houses, and find money in his purse when he gets back to Boston.

IMPRISONMENT OF COLORED SEAMEN.—The United States District Court in this city is about to try the validity of the laws of South Carolina requiring the imprisonment of colored seamen. An action has been brought against the sheriff of Charleston, at the instance of the British consul, to recover $4000 damages for the false imprisonment of Manuel Pereira, a colored British subject.—Charleston, S. C. Mercury.

[This is precisely what Mr. Hoar, in behalf of the State of Massachusetts, proposed to do. Instead of entertaining his proposition, however, those whose duty it was to do so, admonished him that the very suggestion had so aroused the indignation of the people, that it would be necessary for him to escape for his life.—Boston Traveller.

The law itself is unjust and oppressive to the victims—and extremely inconvenient to captains and owners of ships—but it is one of the necessities of slavery, which cannot help being watchful, but must keep up patrols, and enact vexatious laws, and yet have a perpetual feeling of insecurity and suspicion.

The New York National Democrat approves of a suggestion that President Pierce should personally address a letter to Queen Victoria, asking her to give Mr. Smith O'Brien, and his exiled compatriots, immediate liberty.

So do we approve of it. Great Britain asked the release of the Madiai; and it was granted. We asked Spain to release the Fillibusters, and she did so. Now let us ask Victoria to release our Irish brother O'Brien. She will probably do it; and then it will be her turn to ask us to release somebody—we know not who.

PULLING THE WIRES.—In the New York Board of Aldermen, permission has been given several companies to bring their wires through Spring street to the St. Nicholas Hotel. What the next feature of hotel life in this city will be, (says the Mirror) we cannot divine; but should not be at all surprised if the "ways and means" were devised for transacting business in Wall street without having to go down town.

☞ Rev. N. Bouton proposes to publish a History of Concord. The book is to commence with a History of the Penacook Indians, and to close at the time of the adoption of the city charter.

LOCAL.

COMMON COUNCIL.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, April 20.

At a special meeting for the purpose of hearing a Report from the Committee on elections—the committee reported on the Remonstrance of Wm. Downs and others, against the sitting members from Ward 2, that they were not entitled to their seats, in consequence of illegal proceedings.

A debate arose on the merits of the report, which was alleged to be incorrect, by Messrs. Hackett and Claggett, and defended by Mr. Todd, one of the Committee who signed it. The debate was conducted with much interest and warmth, and was closed by a vote; (12 to 8,) recommitting the report to the same committee with instructions.

Whercupon Mr. Todd requested to be excused from serving on the committee—but his request was refused, 11 to 9: however Mr. Todd still declined serving.

BUSINESS ON THE CONCORD RAILROAD.—We were much gratified to observe, on a little trip over this road, yesterday, the heavy freights coming down, of ship timber, trees, iron axles, ploughs, lasts, and a variety of notions—as well as of plaster, and other heavy goods going up from the seaboard. The trade will flow in this current, stronger and stronger. We hope also to see another outlet to this Road, viz. the Independent Railroad to Manchester from Rowe's Corner.

NEW POSTMASTER IN EXETER.—Daniel Melcher, Esq., has received the appointment of Post Master of Exeter, and entered upon the duties of his office. This appointment is entirely satisfactory to all our citizens, says the News Letter.

FAST DRIVING.—The fast men and fast horses about town, had better take heed to their ways. A little girl was run over a day or two since in Market street by a frightened horse rushing through the street, (without particular fault of the driver in this case) and considerably, but not dangerously, hurt. A City ordinance re-enacts the State Law which says:

"If any person shall ride through any street or lane in the compact part of any town on a gallop, or at a swifter pace than at the rate of five miles an hour, he shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this chapter."

"Any person convicted of any offence in this chapter mentioned, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars nor less than one dollar, and shall pay costs of prosecution, and stand committed until the same be paid; or by imprisonment for a term not less than five days nor more than thirty days, in the common jail or in the bridewell of the city; or by confinement to hard labor, the like term, in the house of correction, at the discretion of the Justice or of the court before whom such conviction shall be had."

REMARKABLE LONGEVITY.—In a small graveyard, some four rods square, situated within the limits of Hampton Falls, and on the main road from Exeter to that place, may be found, with a few others, 17 graves of members of the families of Melcher and Brown, and according to the inscriptions upon the head-stones, the aggregate ages of the deceased was 1340 years, and the average age 78 years each.—Exeter News Letter.

NEW MAIL ROUTES.—The following new mail routes, in New Hampshire, were established at the late session of Congress:

From the Station House (on the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad,) at Berlin Falls, passing up the Androscoggin river, via Berlin, Milan, Dummer and Cambridge, to Errol, in Coos county.

From Portsmouth, via Rye, to Rye Beach.

GOING BACKWARD.—The town of Newbury has voted to divide the town into school districts and give the selection of teachers to the Prudential Committees. The school money was placed in the hands of a committee of one from each district, to be appropriated; and the propriety of this arrangement can be seen, when it is known that one district has a hundred families in it, and another but four. In school matters Newbury has now gone back about sixteen hundred years.—Newburyport Union.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.—The New York Freeman's Journal says:—

"At any cost, at any sacrifice, we must deliver the children, over whom we have control, from those pits of destruction which lie invitingly in their way, under the name of Public or District Schools. We must, wherever there are enough Catholics together to render it possible, organize Catholic Schools. Where this is impossible, let parents withdraw their children from these places, where they are certain to learn evil, and probably very little but evil, and, if they cannot have them taught elsewhere, let them be sent to honest labor, or kept from the ways of the destroyer under their parents' eyes. This withdrawal of Catholic children everywhere from the Godless school should be their first step—it is lamentable that it has not long ago been taken. Next we must set to work, patiently, calmly, resolutely, perseveringly, to break off from our necks the yoke of State despotism, put on them by Jacobins, in the shape of the school system in this and other States."

This is the position of those who are trying to arouse the Catholics to a crusade against our free school system. But it must not be supposed that Catholic laymen, generally, take this anti-republican and fanatical position. We perceive that some Protestants incline to be fanatical on this question.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A Teachers' Institute will commence at New Market, on Monday, April 25th, and continue one week. A corps of able Teachers and Lecturers has been secured. Board, on reasonable terms, can be secured by applying to Rev. Mr. Coggswell, W. B. Small, Esq. or D. Murray, Esq.

Prudential Committees are requested to delay the Summer Schools until after the Institute.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARABIA.—Steamship Arabia arrived at New York April 20, from Liverpool, 3 days later. Liverpool markets on the 8th, exhibit no important change in prices of breadstuffs, provisions, or cotton.

Washington, 19th.—In the Gardner trial to-day Col. Abbott was further examined, and diagrams made in part by him exhibited by the defence, which went to show that the Southern boundary of the municipality of Lequinillas, as laid down on the maps heretofore exhibited by the prosecution, was wholly conjectural.

A VERDICT—MR. EVERETT.—New York, April 19.—The jury, to-day noon, returned a verdict of guilty against Fitzgerald, on trial for the murder of his wife.

The lecture of Mr. Everett before the Historical Society is postponed on account of the sudden and dangerous illness of Mr. Everett's wife.

PERSONAL MOVEMENTS.—We understand that Senators Douglass of Illinois, Foote of Vermont, and the late Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Corwin, contemplate a visit to Europe this spring. Mr. Corwin has taken passage in the packet of the 28th of May.

Nathaniel Hawthorne is in New York en route to his consulate at Liverpool. Hon. T. F. Marshall, instead of being "food for worms," is a candidate for the Kentucky legislature

ROBBERY AT FRANKLIN, MASS.—Joel Daniels, Esq., the town treasurer of Franklin, Norfolk County, was robbed on Saturday night of $400.

"As he was foddering his cattle, in the barn, at about 10 o'clock, he was seized by three ruffians who threw him down, tied him, gagged him with a sponge, and threatened him with instant death if he resisted or made the least noise. One of the villains then proceeded to Mr. Daniels' house, which he ransacked, and took therefrom the 'town trunk,' containing about four hundred dollars of the town's money, and many valuable papers.

The wife of Mr. Daniels, who was in bed, saw the robber, and spoke to him, thinking at first it was her husband. He made no reply, whereupon she arose, took another glance at him, and then made her escape through a back window. With no clothing but her night dress, she proceeded to a neighboring house, and gave the alarm. Soon after Mr. Daniels arrived at the same place, having his hands still tied behind him. The neighborhood was soon alarmed, but the robbers had made good their escape."

BUILDING.—We regret to learn, says the Salem Gazette, "that most of the building which was contemplated for the present season in this city, has been postponed on account of the high rate of building materials and labor. The Lynn News anticipates a similar result in that place. The same may be said of Boston and vicinity.

PROBABLY DROWNED.—Mr. Timothy Mansfield, who left Newburyport in a wherry, for his home at Salisbury Point, Monday afternoon, probably fell overboard and was drowned. The boat was found just above Carr's island, and his hat and one oar were in the river. He was about fifty years old.—Newburyport Union.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. John Foss, of Exeter, met with a serious accident on Friday afternoon last. While driving an unruly horse, attached to a wagon, the animal suddenly refused to advance, and commenced backing.—To avoid being thrown out, Mr. Foss sprang from the wagon, and being a heavy man, and striking the ground with great force, both bones of one of his legs were badly fractured, a short distance above the ancle. Mr. Foss is well known as having driven a stage and four, for many years, between Exeter and Boston. Of late years, he has run a coach to the depot for the accommodation of our citizens, and it was while there that he observed the horse in the hands of a boy unable to manage it, and with the desire of preserving the boy from danger, he offered to drive it into town, and thus his kindness proved his misfortune.—News Letter.

BOSTON AND ROXBURY RAILROAD.—A bill was reported in the Senate of Massachusetts on Monday, incorporating John P. Ober, M. Field Fowler and Henry N. Hooper, &c., as the Metropolitan Railroad Company, with a capital of $500,000, and authority to construct railways in the streets of Roxbury and Boston, to such points in either city as the City Councils shall authorize. The tracks are to be so constructed that the cars shall no where approach the side walks nearer than eight feet, except in turning the corners, unless by the consent of all the abutters on the street. The road is to be worked by horse power. The corporation is to last 50 years, unless the city shall desire to buy it out by paying the cost and 10 per cent.

THE FALL RIVER MURDER.—Murphy, who killed his wife at Fall River, was examined there on Saturday, before Mr. Justice Lapham. He pleaded nolo contendere, and has been brought to the jail in this city to await his trial. He is described as a person of rather a low order of intellect, and his stupidity in perpetrating this horrible deed seems to have been about equal to his malice. Mr. Hall, of Rochester, who arrested him, was promptly paid the reward of $200 offered by the Selectmen of Fall River.—New Bedford Mercury.

We learn from the Colonization Journal that the late Samuel S. Howland bequeathed to the Colonization Society ten thousand dollars, to be expended in redeeming and settling in Liberia, individuals and families of slaves.

So far, it is stated that there are about 500 applications for situations at the Boston Custom House. In 1840—when business of all kinds was greatly depressed—the applicants numbered several thousands.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,
For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,
CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralizes the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.
AS A TOILET ARTICLE,
For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.
FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS
It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.
Sold to the trade at a liberal discount, but commissioned in no instance.

POWDER, SHOT AND CAPS for sale by GEORGE H. KNOWLTON,

THE NOVEL READER.

'Twas very sweet of a summer's eve,
To hear her talk and sing
Of stars, and dews, and rocks, and caves,
And all that sort of thing.

I loved her for her mild blue eye,
And her sweet and quiet air;
But I'm very sure I didn't see
The novel in her chair.

I longed to have a quiet wife,
For a noise quite drives me frantic;
But to be a novel-reader's spouse,
Is anything but romantic.

The life long day does Laura read,
In a cushioned easy chair,
In slip-shod shoes, and dirty gown,
And tangled, uncombed hair.

The children look like beggar's brats,
And little have they breeding;
Yet this is one of the many ills
That flow from novel-reading.

For oh! the meals! I'm very sure
You ne'er did see such "feeding;"
For the beef is burnt, and the veal is raw,
And all for novel-reading.

The bed-room's like a very sty,
And the kitchen seems a stable;
The lap-dog litters the parlor o'er,
And the nursery is a Babel.

Ho! youth in search of quiet wife,
Before to the shrine you lead her,
Take care, I pray you, take good care
That she isn't a novel reader!

The following is said to be by an aged sea captain:

"In navigating through this life,
In poverty, or riches,
It fortune sends a head-beat sea,
Just ease her when she pitches."

Health and Strength.

SPRING is the proper time of the year to purify the Blood, by taking Medicinal Bitters. We are ever taking sweet food into the stomach, forgetting that the system demands a proper amount of Bitter to counteract the sweet. Among the many articles in the market, none have proved better or of more efficacy than the following:
Dr. S. O. Richardson's Sherry Wine Bitters;
Dr. Pierce's Indian Restorative Bitters;
Dr. Langley's Root & Herb Bitters;
Dr. Atwood's Vegetable Jaundice Bitters
These Bitters are purely medicinal; and are not made for any other object and any person purchasing of the subscriber who is not satisfied, shall have the money returned.

Refrigerators.

PERKINS'S UPRIGHT REFRIGERATORS.
THIS Refrigerator having been in use for three years, and given entire satisfaction, is pronounced THE BEST now in use. They are made in the best manner, and of the best material, and are a handsome piece of furniture for the Dining Room. For convenience nothing can surpass it. Being constructed upright, and having shelves of slate upon the right and left, dishes can be put in and taken out without displacing others, as you are obliged to do in the Chest pattern; you can have access to your ice at all times without removing anything. This Refrigerator needs only to be examined to be approved. No family should be without this most useful article; it will pay for itself in a short time by preserving your butter, milk, eggs, &c., &c.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.
IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantageous facilities for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.
Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"PATENT OFFICE, ——
"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.
"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

SLEIGHING IN PARIS.

It is somewhat remarkable that while the month of March, was an unusually bright and pleasant one, with us, and even gave us some very mild and spring like days,—a writer from Paris, under date of March 13th, in the Courrier des Etats Unis says:

"The Champs Elysees has been very brilliant for the last few days, when the paths have been covered with a thick carpet of snow, and several sleighs, richly ornamented and magnificently drawn, have been seen gliding over the avenue which extends from the Obelisk and Arc de l'Etoile. Among these we noticed two driven by ladies. One of these was English, between the two ages, that is to say in the age of eccentricities. The other a young Russian lady, dressed with piquant originality, with a figure as distinguished as it was graceful and whose face was demi-masked and deprived of all its poetry, by a superb pair of blue spectacles. 'How can a young woman consent to disfigure herself with such an ornament,' asked the amateurs, the spectators, and the gentlemen who followed the sleigh, spurred on by curiosity.

We recollect in this connection, that last year, a young foreign lady appeared in the Parisian world, encumbered with this frightful addition to her costume. She would have been charming and very much admired without these spectacles, and it was precisely for this reason that she wore them. The blue spectacles had been imposed upon her by a jealous husband, who accompanied incessantly and watched over her with most discouraging assiduity. This worthy German spouse dreaded the gallantry of the Paris dandys, so celebrated in foreign countries. He made these blue glasses the condition of the journey to Paris, which the young lady ardently desired, and it was the inimitable and express condition that she would wear them through her whole visit. If the young lady took off for a moment her tyrannical spectacles, they were to set out immediately for Germany. Did she take them off? The discreet chronicler does not say.

Curious people ask if the young Russian lady was subjected to a similar measure for making her look ugly, by the cruel jealousy of a Muscovite husband. Apprehensions were entertained on this head; but no, the curious had the satisfaction of seeing her appear during the week at the opera, without spectacles, and they were able to admire all the graces of her countenances; moreover, the amateurs learned that she is a very great lady, very rich, and a widow. How many recommendations!

As to the blue spectacles, they are an ornament for the occasion that the driver of the sleigh is obliged to adopt in her exercise to soften the dazzle of the snow, the reflection of which might injure her bright eyes, which by the aid of the glasses and kept uninjured in their clear azure and their gentle brilliancy."

We manage better in Yankee land, and take a part of the twenty four hours for sleighing, when the sun is not troublesome.

A private connected with a British rifle brigade, now stationed in Canada, was "drummed out of the service," last week. A Kingston paper gives the particulars. He had been confined in the jail, for some offence, and, while there, had offered his services to the Sheriff, who wanted a hangman to execute an Indian confined in the same jail. He hung the Indian and received the fee; whereupon his old comrades have disowned him, and had him drummed out of the service. This estimate of "the hangman," which is universal, is significant of something. What does it signify?

"Tom, who did you say our friend B. married?" "He married forty thousand dollars; I forget her other name."

SLIGHTLY MISTAKEN.—A gentleman of Plattsburgh, some years ago, when visiting in Canada, was introduced to an elderly English officer; and on the officer's learning that he was from Plattsburgh, he inquired if he lived there at the time of the battle, and if he knew the name of the officer who stormed the battery on the night of the 10th. The gentleman replied that he was in Plattsburgh at the time of the battle, and that the officer who led the storming party he had mentioned was named McGlassen.

"Will you be so good as to tell me what number of men he had with him?"

"About sixty, I believe," replied the gentleman. The officer looked astonished, and at last said, "Well, sir, I was an officer in command of that battery. I would give more to see Mr. McGlassen than any other man in the world. It was the most complete thing," said he, "I ever saw or heard tell off; for we were quietly at our position when the words—"Charge on the front and rear," broke the death-like stillness, as if a voice from the air had screamed the words. My men ran like mad dogs. I tried my utmost, in the confusion, to bring them in order, but without success for some time; but at last I discovered a body charging in fine style. I placed myself at their head, and anxious to repulse the attack, urged them on with all the energy I possessed; when taking a more anxious look at them, to see what one stood firm, in the surprise, behold! they were a lot of Yankees, who had charged up another way, and I leading them. Then," said he, was my turn to run. Where my men had gone to no one knew. But I rushed pell mell into the woods, over logs, mud and water; then astraddle of some stumps; then bringing up against a tree; over stones, into holes—up and down some times on one end and sometimes on the other. I arrived in camp, about the worst bruised, the worst scratched, the sorest and most frightened individual you ever saw. If you ever," said he, shaking the gentleman from Plattsburg by the hands, "meet Mr. McGlassen, give him my compliments, and tell him that was the most gallant thing I ever saw achieved by any man.

PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, APRIL 22, 1853.

For the Chronicle.

CRITIQUE ON A LATE SPEECH.

Messrs. Editors:—Conversing with a friend, recently, who is noted for accurate scholarship, as well as legal attainments and professional eminence, upon the manifest difference in the extemporaneous remarks and speeches of men who enjoyed the benefits of early and rigid intellectual training, he called my attention to a "speech," purporting to have been delivered by a well known citizen of New Hampshire, last summer, before an ancient and distinguished society of New York city. This "speech" was copied in most of the democratic papers in New England, and usually with the following remarks of the "New York ——," for which paper the speech was reported:—"We publish below the able and eloquent speech of Hon. —— ——— of ——. Mr. ——— is a brilliant orator, and possesses the happy faculty of winning the good opinion of his fellow countrymen."

The first clause of the speech in which the objects of the assembly are briefly stated, is really good, and the thought well expressed. But in the next sentence, when the "orator" slips into the use of figurative language, he is not as happy, and is very far from being correct. We quote:—"The joy which lights up every face, the waving flags, the roar of cannon, drums and trumpets, and the general joy which animates all classes upon the return of the birth day of American freedom, never fails to produce in the mind of the reflecting, patriotic man a review of the thrilling scenes of the revolution, &c."

Let us analyse the above sentence, and see if there is not ample evidence that the mind that dictated such language lacks that precision of thought which is always the result of logical or mathematical, not to say classical training. The first clause beginning with "The joy &c.," is repeated substantially in the phrase "the general joy &c." What can be the difference between the joy that lights up every face, and the general joy that animates all classes? Again, what authority is there for the use of this expression:—"the roar of cannon, drums and trumpets?" Cannon may roar, but drums never do. We speak of the clangor, and flourish of trumpets, but who ever heard of their roar?

This, it may be said, was a campaign speech and further on, in the course of some remarks in regard to the two candidates for the Presidency, occurs the following grammatical solecism: "To those unacquainted with the character of the two candidates, I most respectfully refer them to the evidence of, &c." In the next paragraph occurs the following, in connection with a very fair statement in regard to General P.'s past political career:—"Time has been constantly clustering around him new friends, &c." Can that be said to be a felicitous, or even correct figure? Can time or any thing else, cluster a second object about a third? Grapes, or any fruit may cluster around an object, but neither you nor I can cluster fruit, or friends.

Still further on, speaking of the assurance which that and similar meetings gave of the union of the Democratic party in New York, the orator says, this "assurance has lighted up every New England Democratic face with joy, and filled their hearts with lasting gratitude." Is the word face plural, or can the face be said to possess a heart? The distinguished orator seems to have found in the next paragraph a new kind of cement, for he speaks of "the cementing influence of patriotism!" Again, "though you have drank the bitter waters which have sundered hearts and hands." The verb is in the wrong tense, and there is no way whereby water can sunder hearts and hands, unless it be the means by which a person is drowned, and thus separated from the rest of the race. Water, confined in a rock by artificial means, and then frozen, will often times sunder the mass. It can hardly be conceived, however, in what way water could freeze in the presence of, or in contact with, a Barnburner, whom we are inclined to consider as a hot-headed animal.—The orator was addressing Barnburners, in part, and was evidently pulling the wool over their eyes. Perhaps, however, bitter waters possess a peculiar power.

The speaker rejoices that the Democrats of New York "have formed the glorious resolution of burying all past grievances in the noble exertion to preserve our common constitution, &c." It strikes us that "exertion" is altogether too active for a sepulchre, which we had supposed usually to be a place of quiet and inexertion. It may be that the author of the above phrase is a believer in the modern doctrine of Spiritual Communications, and thinks that some invisible agencies which will not lie quietly in their graves, as is becoming to them in an highly cultivated state of society like our own, walk the earth, their friends having made a great mistake in supposing they assisted to bury them in the earth, when in fact they only concealed them in an exertion to reappear again.

The orator in the latter part of his speech, points us to the nations of Europe. He tells us to "go to sunny France, and there we shall find free thought, free action, and free press, all in chains." A wonderful sight, truly to see a free press in chains! Let the Commissioner, whom the papers say the French Emperor is about to appoint to superintend the articles which may be sent from France to "the Fair" at New York, take care that the above curiosities are not forgotten.

We are next sent to Ireland—or as the orator hath it, to liberty-crushed Ireland! We have heard of slavery-crushed Ireland, but where this new Ireland, crushed with liberty, is located, is more than our limited knowledge of geography is able to determine. The orator says of Ireland, "see them as one of their own nation declared, staining the sweetest scenery ever eye reposed on, bearing through life but insult and injustice, and bereaved of any hope in death, but the heart rending reflection that they leave their children like their fathers to bear an abominable bondage." The reporter says that this sentence was followed by "cheer upon cheer, &c." The words them, their and but are inaccurately used; and how can a "heart rending reflection, &c.," be deemed a "hope in death?" A singular confusion of ideas, indeed.

He says, also, that "the fame of Grecian bravery will never die: their heroic deeds have renowned the plains of Marathon, and, inscribed upon enduring history the glory of Leonidas, &c."—"but the bravery of our countrymen stand well." This may be true, and the verb in the right number, provided the word bravery is plural.

Further on, 'tis said that "sects and creeds will clog no man in his (Pierce's) estimation, for it is cardinal with him that every man shall, &c." Is not this a new use of the words italicised in the last extract? If not, we acknowledge the clog upon our memory. Again, "Each citizen of this republic, wherever his fatherland, will be received and recognized as a brother. Power will never force him to surrender national or private rights." "His administration will, in my judgment, be eminently successful." As the above sentences stand, can any one tell to what the words "him" and "his administration" refer, unless to the word "citizen."

Mr. Editor,—I do not believe that many extemporaneous speakers are aware how inhumanly, in most instances, they murder good English; but that a speech prepared in quiet, and deliberately, to be spoken memoriter, should be so defective in correct grammatical construction, accuracy and definiteness of language, and precision of thought, is astonishing. How few of our public speakers are free, in this respect, from the censure cast upon them by a recent writer in Blackwook! The above criticism is written out of no enmity or ill-feeling to the author of the speech, but simply to show that all speeches are not eloquent or correct because they are delivered with a great waste of breath and exercise of the muscles of the arms.

A DEFENCE OF MISS HOLLEY.

We publish the following at the request of the writer, who wishes to bring it speedily before the public in this form. We deem the letter which he copies, to be intended as a gross personal insult to him, as a well-known philanthropist; but he cares nothing about that—and only uses the contents of the letter as an occasion for a more earnest defence of Miss Holley, and of the cause she advocates.

For the Chronicle.

MR. EDITOR.—The following letter, enclosing several advertisements cut from New Orleans papers, was received a few days since by a friend of the oppressed in this city.

NEW ORLEANS, April 5, 1853.

MR. ——— ———.

SIR:—If you wish to make a good speculation now is the time. You will see by the enclosed advertisements that there is a fine lot of black pork for sale. I should be happy to purchase for you in case you wish to invest. Negroes are rising in price in consequence of the extreme warm weather, which renders it unable for white men to work.

Yours Respectfully, HUMANITY.

[COPY OF ADVERTISEMENTS ENCLOSED.]

NOTICE.—A likely No. 1 fellow; a first rate Sawyer. For sale at 156 Common street.
C. LAMARQUE, JR.

NEGROES FOR SALE.—An uncommon likely family of South Carolina Plantation Negroes, 36 in number, accustomed to the culture of cotton; all from the same plantation. To the purchaser who would buy the gang, a bargain will be given. Call at 156 Common street. CHARLES LAMARQUE, JR.

NEGROES ARRIVED YESTERDAY.—A choice lot of Virginia Negroes received yesterday. Among them are some pretty plough boys and young girls; also a superior blacksmith, acoustomed to all manner of plantation work, and has also worked in repairing machinery, &c. WALTER L. CAMPBELL, Esplanade st., Slatter's old Stand.

STRAYED—From the steamboat Harry Hill, on Sunday last, a negro man, (blacksmith,) named PERRY, 48 or 50 years of age, lame in one leg, very stout and nearly black. It is supposed that he came off the boat and did not return before she left. Any information respecting him, or his delivery to us will be suitably rewarded.
KELLY, CUNNINGHAM & Co., 41 Natchez st.

FIFTEEN DOLLARS REWARD.—Ran away last Friday night, the mulatto boy DICK LONG, about 45 years of age, near 5 feet, 10 inches high, stoop shouldered, and very badly pox marked. The above reward will be given for his apprehension.
Capt. W. J. JOHNSON, 3 Robertson st, 3d District.

100 SLAVES FOR SALE on the most reasonable terms. From the low lands of Virginia and North Carolina. Please call and examine.
J. T. HATCHER, 157 Gravier street,
100 yards in the rear of the St. Charles Hotel.

TWENTY DOLLARS REWARD.—Strayed from the residence of the subscriber, on Poeyfarre street, on Friday afternoon, the 4th inst., a small boy 7 or 8 years old, named JIM, is perfectly white, with straight hair. Had on when he left a white shirt and dark cloth pants, no hat or shoes; is supposed to be harbored somewhere in the city. I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him to my residence, or give me information where I can find him. E. H. PRATT, 13 Poeyfarre st.

MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA NEGROES FOR SALE.—Just arrived and for sale at No. 18 Esplanade st. 100 NEGROES, consisting of a choice selection of Field Hands, House Servants, Cooks, Washers, Ironers, Seamstresses, Carpenters, Blacksmiths, and a fine Painter. All of which will be sold on the most accommodating terms by J. M. WILSON.

You will perceive, by the above advertisements, that it is not all "black pork" or black men that slavery herds together like the brutes, and sells at auction to the highest bidder. The same spirit that will enslave the colored man and barter away his dearest rights, will also enslave the white man when public sentiment is debased enough to sanction it.

And then look at another advertisement—"100 Maryland and Virginia negroes—men, women and children, just arrived." Look at this. Think of it. Here is a trade carried on every day, under the sanction of our government. Yes, our American goverument, which brands the foreign slave trade as piracy, is cherishing in its very bosom this worst of all piracies. These "men, women and children" are torn from their homes in the Northern slave states, carried into the more Southern markets, and there, after enduring the untold agonies of separation, husband from wife, parent from child, brother from sister, are doomed to toil on the rice and sugar plantations where the average life of the slave is but seven years.

Now the question occurs is there nothing for us to do to prevent all this iniquity, sustained by the government of which we form a part. Is it not "needful to have a deeper sympathy awakened?" Is it not strange that we do not "know how to apply a remedy?" Is it not amazing, that there should be a professed disciple of Christ who can see nothing to approve and admire in the spirit of the devoted Christ-like woman who has been among us so eloquently pleading the cause of a million and a half of her sisters who are robbed by this guilty nation, of everything sacred to the heart of woman? Would it not be better for those who can see that "these reformers are not always the most discreet in their modes of enlisting the feelings of the community in behalf of the oppressed," to point out a more "discreet" and hopeful mode of action, and engage in it themselves, instead of finding fault with those who are doing the best they know how, to accomplish this great work, and instead of giving their whole influence in favor of a party and a government pledged to continue these atrocities? I have no sympathy with the feeling that the overthrow of the slave system of this country is among the "impossibilities." "Is there no balm in Gilead; is there no physician there?" I believe there is power in gospel truth, faithfully proclaimed, to destroy all sin. A SUBSCRIBER.

LOCAL.

City Council—April 21.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—Application was made for a Gas Light, corner of Wentworth and Pleasant streets.—Referred.

The Gas Light near the Post Office was surrendered to the city, and accepted.

The Committee on School House reported on repairs and enlargement of the Bartlett School House in School st.—whereupon Ald. Stackpole was appointed a committee to examine the premises, and make an estimate of the cost.

The following gentlemen were appointed Superintendents of Burial Grounds:

Ivah N. Rugg, North;
Josiah H. Wilson, Pleasant street;
John W. Durgin, Point of Graves;
William Ilsley, Cotton's.

Voted, That Jefferson Hall be placed under the care of the City Messenger.

In Common Council, the report of the committee of elections, which had been recommitted, was again brought forward, and sustained by the chairman of the committe, (Mr. Todd) in a speech; the report was accepted.

A debate now arose on the adoption of the resolution offered by the committee, vacating the seats of all the members from Ward 2, on account of the alleged informalities in the ward meeting. The resolution was supported by Messrs. Todd, E. J. Leighton and Nelson, and opposed by Messrs. Hackett, Haven, Brewster, and Claggett.

Before taking the question, the President decided that he should not entertain any motion, or allow a vote from the persons whose seats were contested.

From this decision the occupants of the disputed seats appealed—but the President refused to entertain their appeal, but would put the question if offered by any member from Ward 1 or 3. The chair was sustained in his decision, 11 to 1.

Mr. Hackett then made a request that his appeal and the decision of the chair be recorded—which was granted.

The resolution was then adopted by a vote of 11 to 1,—ejecting the whole delegation from Ward 2—members from that Ward not being allowed to vote.

Mr. Claggett then gave formal notice that he should claim his seat as a member of the Common Council of last year.

The debate on the subject was earnest and exciting, and the spectators, who were numerous, remained till the close of the session, which lasted till past 10 o'clock.

[The above decision leaves the Common Councilmen from Ward 2, of last year in possession of their seats for this year also—as there is no provision in the Charter for a new election.]

PANORAMA.

The Panorama of Paris, Switzerland and Rome, now on exhibition at the Cameneum, is an excellent painting of its kind, and is said to be accurate and life-like as a delineation and view of the objects and prospects represented. Mr. Hine, the artist and delineator, explains the panorama in a manner which interests and instructs the beholder.

The exhibition is worthy of the public attention and patronage.

☞ The exercises of the new Library Association, last Friday evening were of a very interesting character; the members all shewing great willingness to do whatever duty is assigned them. The names of twelve applicants for membership were presented. The Association meets again this evening.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

INDIANS TO BE PUNISHED.—Independence, Mo., April 20.—Lieut. Heath, in command of Fort Atkinson, has determined to attack the Cheyenne Indians, in consequence of the latter having murdered a soldier on the plains last winter and refused to surrender the murderers. The force of the garrison is small, consequently the contest will be unequal, as the Indians are 5000 strong, and the result is feared. Lieut. Heath has notified the Adjutant of the 6th military department of the difficulty.

New Mexico is quiet. Gov. Lane has not returned from his southern tour.

NOTICE OF MR. KING'S DEATH.—Washington, April 21.—The President has ordered all departments closed to-day, as a mark of respect to the memory of the Vice President. Badges of mourning have been placed on the Executive mansion, and public places. Salutes will be fired at noon and sundown.

FUNERAL OF THE VICE PRESIDENT.—Charleston, April 20.—The funeral of Vice President King took place at Selma to-day, according to the rites of the Episcopal church. Rev. Mr. Platt officiated, and delivered an eloquent sermon. Col. King's last moments were calm and peaceful.

MARRIAGE,

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions would entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in her power to bestow, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair,

CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.

AS A TOILET ARTICLE,

For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its incontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all mineral properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.

FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS

It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents. Sold to the trade at a liberal discount, but commissioned in no instance.

POWDER, SHOT AND CAPS for sale by GEORGE H. KNOWLTON, o5 No. 2 Congress st.

Rather a strict disciplinarian was the "boss" carpenter of whom we "hearn tell" a few days since. "Boys," said he, "when the bell strikes for noon you can drop your work; but when the bell strikes for one o'clock, I want you to take it up again." It was not long before the bell struck for noon, as one of his hands was driving a nail, he immediately dropped his hammer, leaving the nail half driven. When the bell struck for one he completed the driving of the nail. This was more satisfactory than the performance of another workman who was on a ladder some 25 or 30 feet from the ground, with a bundle of shingles on his back, when the bell struck. He immediately let them go and started for dinner. As the market reporters say, shingles had a downward tendency about that time. At one o'clock he commenced gathering up the scattered shingles. "Boys," says the boss, "we will make carrying shingles an exception to our rule."

AGRICULTURAL MEETING AT CHESTER.—An agricultural meeting was held at Chester, on Monday evening last, which was very fully attended. The meeting was addressed by H. F. French, Esq., of this town, and Thomas J. Melvin, Esq., of Chester, and the remarks of the gentlemen were received with manifest satisfaction. After the meeting, seventeen persons subscribed as life members to the Rockingham Fair."—Exeter News Letter.

Two men are now imprisoned in Morris county jail, New Jersey, on a charge of having murdered Rodolph Kendig, the circumstantial evidence against them being very strong. But it is now said that Kendig is alive, in Chicago, and that he will appear at their trial to swear that he has not been murdered by anybody.

"Two "bloods" of Troy, got so drunk in Albany on Sunday week, that one of them set fire to his clothes, with his cigar, while returning home in a carriage, and the flesh of his breast was burned through to the bone; and he was so stupified with liquor that he was at the time ignorant of his mistortune.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.
PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which preserves the "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.
The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co., of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

WORKING TOO HARD.

The Northern Christian Advocate has a leader on Diligence and Business, from which we take the following paragraph on excessive industry:

"There is an opposite error equally fatal—we mean excessive industry. Work—hard work—is necessary under all circumstances. But then no man is justified in working himself to death. It is as unwise to work always without intermission, as it is not to work at all. Thorough application must have its occasional pauses, or the energies of life give out. Rest is necessary, and there is always time to rest. Those who say they have not time to rest, show that they do not understand their business. As well might a teamster say he had no time to rest and feed his team, or an engineer, that he had no time to procure wood and water for his engine.—Many of our laboring population wear themselves out, not with hard work, but with continual work. They delve and delve till nature flags for want of rest. The bow is bent and kept bent, until its elasticity is destroyed.—Thousands make themselves prematurely old, or bring on incurable diseases by this foolish and mistaken plodding. Over-working is a vice—there is no merit in excessive toil. The man who breaks down his health by overdoing, is as foolish as the engineer who lets on steam enough to produce an explosion. Diligence must be distinguished from never ceasing, unregulated application."

Doubtless the Christian Advocate is right, but how can this incessant work be avoided? The present are times, when, with gloomy poverty on one side of him and inordinate demand for all his time on the other side, the workman can have no voice in the matter at all. He has no independent will to exercise in the premises; he is bound to the wheel, and must go round with it, though he die. The Advocate talks well, but it seems to us like the "be ye warned and be ye fed" philanthropy, or like that of Dickens' baronet, whose recommendations were so benevolently given to poor Trotty Vech, that he should pay up always at the beginning of the year, when the poor fellow had n't a sixpence to bless himself with. Men should not work so hard—that is truth;—but the remedy—the remedy.—Carpet Bag.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE MATTERS.—The workmen are now commencing on the Observatory, which is destined to add so much to the excellent astronomical advantages afforded by the College. Professor Young, a model teacher and a profound scholar in the department of astronomy and natural philosophy, sails for Europe on the 27th inst., in the America. He is expected to procure from eight to ten thousand dollars worth of apparatus and books for the different departments of the College. He will be accompanied by his son, Mr. Charles A. Young, member of the senior class, an acknowledged scholar.

It is learned by the order of exercises for commencement, now out, that the highly popular serenade Germania Band, is to afford the music, and that Old Dartmouth has reserved a place in her greatest days for a eulogy upon her own greatest man. It seems very appropriate that Mr. Choate's eulogy, should take the place of the oration before the United Literary Societies. Tuesday evening, July 26, Rev. R. S. Storrs, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y., is expected to address the Theological Society, and on Wednesday forenoon, July 27, Hon. Ogden Hoffman, of New York city, is expected to address the Phi-Beta-Kappa Society. The graduating exercises will come as usual on the following Thursday.—From Correspondence of Traveller.

It is stated that Harlow Case, Collector at Sandusky, Ohio, has absconded with some $20,000.

ARISTOCRATIC NOTIONS.

"Remember, Kate, that Mr. Brown
Is not to be invited,
Our parties are select, of course,
All parvenues are slighted.

Within our doors one always finds
People of rank and station,
None but the elite, the upper ten,
The highest in the nation.

I wonder now why Harry Dash
Pays Brown so much attention,
I'm sure his name among my friends
I'd be ashamed to mention.

His clothes have not the Paris cut,
His manners are ungainly,
And "second-rate" upon his face,
Is written very plainly.

Yet Dash the fellow always treats
With much consideration,
But I shant send this nobody—
Would you?—an invitation."

"O, Mama, to be sure I would,
For all the "ten" who've met him
Are trying with their might and main
At their soirees to get him.

He's all the rage, his family
Rank high I do assure you,
They lived in town some years ago,
Among the best, I'm sure too.

And papa says his father used
To keep a coach and four, ma,
And that a better, kinder man,
He never met before, ma.

"O well, dear Kate, if that's the case,
A note you may indite him.
If they are friends of your papa's,
Of course we must invite him."

"O friends they are, for when Papa
Was but a needy tailor,
And he and you the livelong day,
Worked hard as any sailor.

This man so kind gave him the means
To take a store in town, ma,
And Papa says that all he's made,
He owes to Mr. Brown, ma."

The tailor's wife turned pale and red,
So strange were her emotions,
I hope she saw the danger in
Aristocratic notions.

PRICE OF GAS.—A committee of citizens of Charleston have been engaged recently in investigating the price paid for gas in various cities, who report the following as the result of their investigation:—New York city, $3 per 1000 feet; Brooklyn, 3.50 per 1000 feet; Philadelphia, city proper, the works being owned by the city, $2 per 1000 feet; Kensington and Northern Liberties, $3.50—reduced recently; Newark, N. J, $3.50; Washington city, $4; Boston, $3; Baltimore, $3.50; New Orleans, $4.50; Savannah, $5 per 1,000 feet; Augusta, seven dollars per 1000 feet. Louisville $3 per 1000 feet; Portsmouth $3.50 per 1000 feet.

VILLAGE PRECINCT.—The inhabitants of the village of Dover, hold a meeting on Saturday next, to act upon the question of establishing a village precinct for the extinguishing of fires. We suppose this course is calculated to remove one very important argument which would in all probability be brought before the Legislature, at its June session, in favor of dividing that town.—Great Falls Journal.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,
AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, APRIL 23, 1853.

REMARKS ON LIQUOR LAWS.

In the Daily Chronicle of Thursday we copied in full the project of a Liquor Law, from the Boston Chronicle, because we wish to place before our readers a fair view of that side of the question, shall we have a prohibitory law, or one as nearly prohibitory as we can get?

We now offer some remarks on the article, and mention first, that we believe the Boston Chronicle is in error in regard to the licensing of brothels in this country. No State or City in our Union, to our knowledge, has a law of this sort.

Some of the most ultra temperance men we have ever known, have advocated the doctrine that no licenses should be granted, for exactly the same reasons given by the Chronicle. Indeed a great portion of our temperance men think the old license system did much evil in New England, by making the traffic legally respectable. If honorable to sell, it could not be dishonorable to buy and drink—and so the way was paved through moderate drinking, down to excess and misery.

The old system of posting drunkards, here proposed to be revived, was tried for many years, and found wanting. Not only so, it had an operation positively bad. It inflicted a shame and a stigma on the relatives of the drunkard, on his wife, his children, parents, brothers and sisters; and thus punished and tormented the innocent and deserving, often far more than the guilty.

Besides, the old law was not executed impartially, and could not be now, unless society should be entirely reconstructed. It would be pretty easy to proscribe the poor drunkard, who had no influential friends: but not so so easy to post an honorable, or reverend, or excellent, or rich person, who had made himself a sot. Yet such persons must need restraint quite as much as any, and in the former day they were sometimes overtaken in their fault and exposed; though they more commonly escaped punishment, exposure and reproach. The whole subject does not seem to us quite so plain as "the way to market,"—but on the contrary abounds in practical difficulties.

One of them, to us a very great one, is the apparent impossibility of executing a prohibitory law against the possession and sale of spirits as a drink, while the country is full of them in the form of alcohol, for hatters, dyers, and druggists, and to be used in burning fluids of every grade.

Above all, let us say, that we do not (as the Boston Chronicle does) deem drunkenness a crime, though our laws call it so, and treat it as such. To our minds, the drinking of strong drinks, is the crime or folly, and drunkenness the punishment, or consequence of the drinking. We approve, therefore, of putting our drunkards on the town farm, where they are kept away from liquor, well fed, and made to work—but should not approve of putting them in jail, fining them, nor (worse than all) exposing them by posting, so as to wound the hearts of their friends.

We have, however, not very strong confidence in human laws on the subject, either as applied to the vender or the consumer: but if a strict license law, or a prohibitory law can be enforced, and keep intemperance somewhat in check, the community will be the gainer; and if a proper view of the evils of intemperance, and of the folly of dram-drinking, could become general, the gain would be still greater,—and the remedy more adequate to the disease. The evil is fearful—and the well being of society calls for a due consideration of the subject, and for a reasonable treatment of it, by every well wisher to the peace of families, the happiness of individuals, and the welfare of the community.

WHO DID IT?—The New Hampshire Patriot speaks of the late unsuccessful attempt in Massachusetts, to pass a bill to pay for the nunnery, as if its defeat were a political manœuvre, and says, "the oppponents of the measure (mostly whigs) invariably try to excite religious prejudice against it, and they always charge its friends with 'courting the Paddies,' and being actuated by a desire to secure a party influence by the passage of this bill."

The statistics of the vote on the test question, we think, do not bear out these suppositions. The yeas were, whigs 56, others 55. Nays, whig 65, others 55: absentees, whig 27, others 30.

These figures show a pretty even division of all parties; and our actual knowledge of the case justifies the assertion that religious, and not political prejudice, prevents a just settlement of this old claim. The principal champion of the bill, Mr. Egan of Boston, is a Catholic Irish Whig. And of the Boston delegation, all whigs, thirty voted in its favor.

NO SLURRING.

We have heard several men who became victims to their principles, reason exactly in the same manner, from the same premises.—We hope Mr. Lovejoy will not fall into such a trap—but it would not be strange: as good men as he is, and much more highly gifted, have become the merest sots and suicides,—in a spiritual way too, as they thought.—Portsmouth Chronicle.

We did not expect such a slur from you, Mr. Chronicle. Because a man believes the liquor law is wrong in theory, and worthless in practice, surely he is not on the road to ruin. You are not enough of a fanatic to believe in such a proposition as this.—Boston Chronicle.

No: we don't believe it; we did not say it; and nothing was farther from our thought than a slur on any body. But when we had read Mr. Lovejoy's scriptural argument, which if it proves any thing, proves that men ought to drink strong drinks,—our thoughts at once recurred to one of our friends, like Mr. Lovejoy a clergyman and a pastor, highly esteemed and of rare talents, who could defend his indulgences by scripture, against all the fanatics, but who did not and could not defend himself against the consequence of his indulgence, viz., loss of reputation, place and ministry. It made us think of other like cases, where the victims were less talented perhaps, but not less worthy, and their fall not less sad. Under the influence of these feelings, we expressed the hope that Mr. Lovejoy would not practice as he preached on this subject, for if he did, we feared the consequences. We have watched many such cases, and their history, as written on our memory, is a sad one.

☞ On Tuesday afternoon the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the Christian Chapel on Tyler street, Boston, was performed with appropriate services. A large number of persons were present. The services were commenced by prayer by the Rev. Edward Edmunds. Then followed a statement of the history of the church from its origin to the present time. After singing by the choir, and the ceremony of depositing the box beneath the corner stone, the address was delivered by Rev. Mr. Holmes of this city. The pastor read a list of articles contained in the box, among which were the newspapers of the city, the record of the church, &c. The church is to be a small but neat edifice, and will cost about $18,000. It will contain ninety pews, and will probably be completed in August next.

CRIMES AND DEATHS IN NEW YORK.—We learn from the New York Herald, that Fitzgerald and Neary, both under sentence for murdering their wives, did the deed in a drunken state; and Neary's counsel urged as a plea for acquittal, that he did it in a paroxysm of delirium tremens. The same paper informs us, that a fourth man (named Charles Miller) of the five drunkards who were put into a noisome cell in the Toombs, has died. One woman died in the same way, on the same night.

A WORD FOR TREES.

"Set out your ornamental trees,
And you shall ere long reap
A harvest of cool shady leaves;
They'll grow the while you sleep."

Messrs. Editors:—Now is the time for transplanting trees. A little attention and labor, with but a trifling outlay, will furnish every one with a memento of good taste; and if fruit trees, a promise of fruit for years to come. How many vacant, uncultivated spots lay idle from year to year, where a tree, (a thing of beauty,) might be growing, and turning the juices of the earth into delicious fruit. How many houses with exposed and undecorated front, would be rendered quite picturesque by the arrangement of a few ornamental shade trees to relieve the barrenness of its exterior.

Who would not rather look upon an old house—even if moss were growing upon the shingles, and Time's finger marks were upon the door,—with a loving green old elm, gently caressing with hanging boughs the roof, than upon a starch, stiff, bran-new, white, two-story house, without relief for the eye, except in the bright greenness of the blinds. Exposed to the sun and wind, its unrelieved newness has none of the pleasing associations that cluster around the old mansion and its now old trees, beneath whose shade the sunny summer afternoons of happy childhood were enjoyed.

To a house, trees are like children to a parent. When by the heat of years the house has grown grey, the trees are still flourishing in strength and beauty, with extended arms to protect it from the storm; and long after the old house has gone to decay, they mark the spot where once our fathers lived.

As I have said, Messrs. Editors, now is the time to select, transplant, and care for these blessings to mankind. Without trees, Paradise would have been a desert: with trees, even this thorny and bramble-cursed earth shall yet become a Paradise.

A TAX BILL.—On Thursday evening, in the Common Council of Boston, an order was passed to assess $1,485,000 on polls and estates, for the year's expenses from May 1,1853 to April 30, 1854.

SCHOOL OF DESIGN.

The Fine Arts are encouraged and destined to flourish in the City of Portsmouth, as well as those more substantial and useful. Thus we shall soon be as able to draw a beautiful picture as we now are to build a noble ship; as able to paint a lovely flower as to weave a delicate stocking. These we will continue to do, and yet not leave the others undone.

Young ladies who wish to qualify and perfect themselves in the elegant accomplishment of drawing, will consult Mr. Meinerth's brief advertisement in our columns, for the time of commencing his new School of Design—the object of which is not only to teach scholars to copy the pictures made by others, but to design and execute works of their own, either from nature or imagination.

Specimens of Mr. Meinerth's drawing, including landscape, faces, flowers, and embroidery patterns, may be seen at the window of Mr. Shores' Bookstore, at which place may be had a programme, giving all needful particulars.

AN ERROR.—In our editorial note on the Common Council, in Friday's Chronicle, we stated, that the decision which declared the election void, of the Councillors for ward 2, also rescated the members for last year, in their places for this year, as there is no provision by charter for a new election. The latter statement is an error; for the 14th section of the charter provides, that, "whenever a vacancy shall occur [in the Common Council] by death, resignation, or otherwise, [the Council] may order a new election."

☞ Yesterday afternoon, about 6'oclock, we had a smart shower, accompanied by "the rolling thunder," the first of any note, for the season.

☞ Among the Revenue officers just discharged from service, are Lieuts. John A. Underwood of New Hampshire, and R. A. Morrill of Maine.

MUSICAL CONVENTION AT CONCORD.—The members of the Suncook Musical Association will hold a semi-annual meeting, at the Baptist Meeting House, in Concord, commencing on Wednesday, April 27th, at 10 o'clock, A. M., and continue in session three days. The exercises will be conducted by Prof. B. F. Baker, of Boston. A concert will be given by the association on the last evening of the session, assisted by Mr. L. H. Southard, pianist, and Miss H. E. Bond, vocalist, of Boston. All singers, and others interested in the advancement of the noble cause, are respectfully invited to take part in the exercises.

Extensive arrangements have been made for the accommodation of singers from a distance, free of charge. Singers that have the Melodia Sacra, are reques ted to bring them

NEWBURYPORT MILITARY.—Amos Poor, jr., has been elected Captain of Company A., 1st battalion Massachusetts Rifles, vice B. P. Poore, promoted to Major; and Moses P. Stanwood, Third Lieutenant. The Union states that "both the rifle corps formed in this vicinity last fall, are in a thriving condition, and actively making preparations for the summer duty. Several have suggested the formation of a third rifle company in this city, and we think that it only needs to be started to succeed."

ANOTHER ERROR.—We have said the Whig party was dispersed; the free soil papers have pronounced it dead. But it's all a mistake; for the Eastern Argus, an influential democratic paper, says "But, democrats, don't mistake us. This old party is not killed. Cat like, it has at least nine lives."

CLAMMING has become quite a business at the mouth of the Merrimack; some fifty or seventy-five men being daily employed in digging, to supply bait for the fishing towns, and for the market at home as well as to be sent abroad, hermetically sealed. About thirty men from Hampton and Seabrook, where the clams have failed, have taken up their quarters in the shantees at Black Rocks, and generally the clammers are doing well, averaging at least their dollar and a half a day. Formerly the digging was better at Ipswich and Rowley; but since the laws have prevented digging there, the clams have failed; and our flats by use have become better. Twenty-five acres of clam flats will now pay as much for the same labor, as twenty-five acres of average upland.—N. B. Union.

LIQUOR CASES.—The several liquor cases which were assigned for a hearing in the Newburyport Police Court, Thursday, were further postponed for hearing on Monday next. Geo. Haskell, Esq., of Ipswich, has been retained in behalf of the government, and Otis P. Lord of Salem, has been retained for the defence. These prosecutions are exciting much interest, and a large crowd will be in attendance when the examinations take place. —Union.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A Teachers' Institute will commence at New Market, on Monday, April 25th, and continue one week. A corps of able Teachers and Lecturers has been secured. Board, on reasonable terms, can be secured by applying to Rev. Mr. Coggswell, W. B. Small, Esq. or D. Murray, Esq.

Prudential Committees are requested to delay the Summer Schools until after the Institute.

A. H. HOYT,
Commissioner.

N. B.—All who travel by the Boston & Maine Railroad and attend the Iustitute till its close, will be allowed a free pass on their return home.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

ARRIVAL OF THE CRESCENT CITY.—New York, April 22.—The Crescent City, from Aspinwall, 12th, arrived this morning. She brings no mails or papers from the Pacific.

John C. Hilton, a passenger, died on the homeward trip on the 22d ult. He belonged to Massachusetts.

A party of ladies and gentlemen from South America were robbed during the journey across the Isthmus, of a large amount of money and valuables. The robbers had been arrested and confined at Aspinwall, awaiting their trial.

The Crescent City brings 135 passengers.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY VACANT.—The office of Vice President of the United States is now vacant, and will remain so until the next election of President and Vice President. The President of the Senate pro tem (who is now Mr. Atchison, of Missouri,) is not Vice President by reason of the death of that officer. He is merely the presiding officer of the Senate, and the constitution makes no provision for filling a vacancy in the Vice Presidency. But "in case of the inability or death of both the President and Vice President of the United States, the President of the Senate pro tempore, and in case there shall be no President of the Senate, then the Speaker of the House of Representatives for the time being, shall act as President of the United States until the disability be removed or a President shall be elected." This is according to the act of Congress of March, 1792. The powers and duties of the Vice President and the President of the Senate pro tem., are precisely the same, except that the latter votes as a Senator and has the casting vote.

FOR OREGON.—Among the "Talk on 'Change," of the New York Herald, it appears that—

A merchant who had returned from the west stated that the emigration to the Pacific side of the continent would be very large the present spring. Numbers were preparing for the overland route to California, and yet more for the territory of Oregon. It appeared that the government grant of 640 acres (a mile square) of land, allowed to each family actually settling and cultivating it for a term of years, was operating as a strong inducement in favor of emigration to Oregon.

CAST IRON PAVEMENT.

This new kind of pavement has stood the test of the frosts and rains of last winter, in Howard street, Boston; and is highly spoken of by a writer in the Courier.

The cylindrical boxes of which it is composed are one foot in diameter,—but can be made larger if desired,—and are divided by partitions into cells of various curves and angles. The grooves and interstices, radiating from the centre, prevent the possibility of slipping, and form angles over which the wheels of vehicles roll diagonally, occasioning no more jarring or noise than when going over a plain surface.

Having now been laid in Howard street about five months, during the inclement season of winter, whatever doubts and fears may have existed, in regard to the action of the weather and frosts, are by this time dissipated. From a recent examination by the city authorities, it was found to be in as perfect a state as when first laid.

MR. KING'S WILL.—It appears, that last winter, before leaving Washington, Mr. King made a will, giving the principal part of his estate to his poorer relations. He also left, in writing, two requests for President Pierce, both of which were complied with—one was, the appointment of Thomas Toulmin as Postmaster at Mobile; and the other, appointing Mr. Sanford as Collector of the same port.

Of the one thousand men who formed the New York regiment in the Mexican war, only sixty are now alive, and but about forty are able to earn their living.

It may be all true: but we don't believe more than half of it. We do not see how any one can tell accurately where so many men are, now that they bound together by no common tie.

The employees in the Rope Works of Thos. H. Dunham, Fifth street, South Boston, struck on Tuesday for the ten-hour system and better pay. They were all immediately discharged.

NEGRO STAMPEDE.—25 negroes ran away from their masters in Boone County, Ky., on the night of the 2d inst. Among those who have lost their servants are two ministers of the gospel. The Aurora Banner says that some weeks before their departure, one of the slaves procured and read to his comrades, "Uncle Tom's Cabin;" and it is supposed that the beauties of Canadian freedom, as pictured by Mrs. Stowe, were the inducements of the flight.

SUNK BY GOLD.—Mr. Van Austen, one of the steamer Pemaquid's passengers, fell overboard in the San Juan river, on the last trip. He had so much gold about him that he never came up. The men-of-war's men of the Cyane fished three days for the body before they found it. It had $1500.

All the clothing merchants of Rochester, N. Y., except three, have acceded to the demand of the seamstresses for an advance of 25 per cent on their previous prices.

Petitions are in circulation for signatures in different parts of the State of Mass., to be presented so the Constitutional Convention, asking that in the Revised Constitution imprisonment for debt shall be forever excluded.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving, Restoring & Beautifying the Hair, CAUSING it to grow luxuriantly, and giving it a soft and curling appearance, of the most delightful character. The KATHAIRON neutralises the effects of disease, climate, and old age, in preserving and restoring the Human Hair, even after a Baldness of many years,—cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, and its natural impurities,—immediately relieves sympathetic attacks of Nervous Headache, and cures all cutaneous diseases of the skin, such as Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Itch, &c.
AS A TOILET ARTICLE,
For giving the Hair a rich, soft, glossy and curling appearance, nothing has been discovered to compare with its uncontested—its incontestible virtues. It imparts the fragrance of the most delightful and exotic flowers, and is free from all minera properties, or any substance which can color the skin, or stain a lady's hat.
FOR BALD OR GREY HEADS
It is pre-eminently beneficial. "The Kathairon restored my hair after a baldness of 12 years. A. J. COURTRIGHT, 76 Bond-st. N.Y." This admirable preparation can be had of all reputable dealers, throughout North and South America, and the Islands of the Ocean, in large bottles, for 25 cents.
Sold to the trade at a liberal discount, but commissioned in no instance.

Country Residence and Farm For Sale.

THE well known and elegant seat, late the residence of General LAWRENCE BROWN, with the FARM of about 200 acres. This is allowed to be the most elegant country seat between Portsmouth and Concord.
The Mansion House is three stories high, 44 by 44 feet, with an L 26 by 36 feet, two stories high; and a piazza on the east side of the house, which were added the last season, and all in good repair, —with all necessary barns and out-buildings.
The house stands on an eminence from which is a beautiful view of the surrounding country.—The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad runs a few rods front of the house, and the depot is near by.
The whole will be sold together, or in parts, to suit purchasers. Any person desirous of such a place will find this a great bargain, the Farm being the best of soil, well divided into wood, tillage and pasture; fenced mostly with stone wall, and very convenient.
Most of the purchase money can remain to suit, and a plan and terms made known upon application to WILLIAM F. LAWRENCE.
If any person not wishing as much land as the whole of this farm, there are customers that want lots, and there can be sold from it 50 or 100 acres.

MARRIAGE,
Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1234, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, and since the Act of 1836) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

GENTLE HAND.

BY T. S. ARTHUR.

I did not hear the maiden's name; but in my thought I have ever since called her "Gentle Hand." What a magic lay in her touch; it was wonderful.

When and where, it matters not now to relate—but once upon a time, as I was passing through a thinly peopled district of country, night came down upon me, almost unawares. Being on foot, I could not hope to gain the village towards which my steps were directed, until a late hour, and I, therefore, preferred seeking shelter and a night's lodging at the first humble dwelling that presented itself.

Dusky twilight was giving place to deeper shadows, when I found myself in the vicinity of a dwelling, from the small uncurtained windows of which the light shone with a pleasant promise of good cheer and comfort. The house stood within an enclosure, and a short distance from the road along which I was moving with wearied feet. Turning aside and passing through an ill-hung gate, I approached the dwelling. Slowly the gate swung on its wooden hinges, and the rattle of its latch, in closing, did not disturb the air until I had nearly reached the little porch in which a slender girl, who had noticed my entrance, stood awaiting my arrival.

A deep, quick bark, answered, almost like an echo the sound of the shutting gate, and sudden as an apparition, the form of an immense dog loomed in the doorway. I was now near enough to see the savage aspect of the animal, and the gathering motion of his body, as he prepard to bound forward upon me. His wolfish growl was really fearful. At the instant when he was about to spring, a light hand was laid upon his shaggy neck, and a low word spoken.

"Don't be afraid. He won't hurt you," said a voice, that to me sounded very sweet and musical.

I now came forward, but in some doubt as to the young girl's power over the beast, on whose rough neck her almost childish hand still lay. The dog did not seem by any means reconciled to my approach, and growled wickedly his dissatisfaction.

"Go in, Tiger," said the girl, not in the voice of authority, yet, in her gentle tones, was the consciousness that she would be obeyed; and, as she spoke, she lightly bore upon the animal with her hand, and he turned away and disappeared within the dwelling.

"Who's that?" A rough voice asked the question, and now a heavy looking man took the dog's place in the door.

"Who are you? What's wanted? There was something very harsh and forbidding in the way the man spoke. The girl now put her hand upon his arm, and leaned with a gentle pressure against him.

"How far is it to G———?" I asked, not deeming it best to say, in the beginning, that I sought a resting place for the night.

"To G———?" growled the man, but not so harshly as at first. "It's good six miles from here."

"A long distance: and I'm a stranger, and on foot," said I. "If you can make room for me until morning, I will be very thankful."

I saw the girl's hand move quietly up his arm, until it rested on his shoulder, and now she leaned to him still closer.

"Come in. We'll try what can be done for you."

There was a change in the man's voice that made me wonder.

I entered a large room, in which blazed a brisk fire. Before the fire sat two stout lads, who turned upon me their heavy eyes, with no very welcome greeting. A middle aged woman was standing at a table, and two children were amusing themselves with a kitten on the floor.

"A stranger, mother," said the man who had given me so rude a greeting at the door: "and he wants us to let him stay all night."

The woman looked at me doubtingly, for a few moments, and then replied, coldly:

"We don't keep a public house."

"I'm aware of that, ma'm," said I; but night has overtaken me, and it's a long way yet to G———."

"Too far for a tired man to go on foot," said the master of the house, kindly, "so it's no use talking about it, mother; we must give him a bed."

So unobtrusively, that I scarcely noticed the movement, the girl had drawn to the woman's side. What she said to her, I did not hear, for the brief words were uttered in a low voice; but I noticed that as she spoke, one small fair hand rested on the woman's hand. Was there magic in that gentle touch? The woman's repulsive aspect changed into one of kindly welcome, and she said:

"Yes, it is a long way to G———. I guess we can find a place for him. Have you had any supper?"

I answered in the negative.

The woman without further remark, drew a pine table from the wall, placed upon it some cold meat, fresh bread and butter, and a pitcher of new milk. While these preparations were going on, I had leisure for a more minute observation. There was a singular contrast between the young girl I have mentioned and the other inmates of the room; and yet I could trace a strong likeness between the maiden and the woman, whom I supposed to be her mother—browned and hard as were the features of the latter.

Soon after I had commenced eating my supper, the two children who were playing on the floor, began quarrelling with each other.

"John! go off to bed," said the father in a loud peremptory voice, speaking to one of the children.

"Do you hear me, sir? Off with you," repeated the angry father.

"I don't want to go," whined the child.

"Go, I tell you, this minute!"

Refrigerators.

PERKINS'S UPRIGHT REFRIGERATORS.

THIS Refrigerator having been in use for three years, and given entire satisfaction, is pronounced THE BEST now in use. They are made in the best manner, and of the best material, and are a handsome piece of furniture for the Dining Room. For convenience nothing can surpass it. Being constructed upright, and having shelves of slate upon the right and left, dishes can be put in and taken out without displacing others, as you are obliged to do in the Chest pattern; you can have access to your ice at all times without removing anything. This Refrigerator needs only to be examined to be approved. No family should be without this most useful article; it will pay for itself in a short time by preserving your butter, milk, eggs, &c., &c.

FRACTIONAL BILLS.

CAUTION.—The Providence banks have issued fractional bank bills of the denominations $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75. Some of these bills may find their way into this State. If so, the following words of caution may not be ill-timed. Our Revised Statutes, (chap. 140, sec. 12,) provide, that "if any person shall bring into this State any bill or note issued by any bank not established in this State, or by any person, of a less denomination than one dollar, or of any denomination between one and two, two and three, three and five, five and ten, or ten and twenty dollars, with intent to put such bill in circulation in this State, or to cause or permit the same to pass the same, or if any person shall pass or offer to pass any such bill or note in this State, directly or indirectly, such person so offending, shall be punished therefor by fine not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars.—Nashua Gazette.

The public convenience demands change in some form—and the people of all our towns are put to inconvenience for want of it, every day. Our legislature need not repeal the above law, if they will only authorize some of our own State Banks to issue change bills.

We are happy to perceive that there is no fine for receiving this fractional currency; and we take this opportunity to say that we are ready to receive any quantity of fractional or other good bills, in payment for papers or advertising. They will pass in Maine, and we believe also in Massachusetts.

If silver change does not speedily increase, they will be likely to pass in New Hampshire, even among the men who made the law, unless some provision is made for paper change by our own legislature.

DEDICATION.—A new Catholic Church, St. Josephs, was dedicated on Sunday, the 17th of April, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Arch Bishop Hughes preached the sermon.

The grand idea of the sermon was, An Infallible Church (or rather Priesthood) teaching obedience rather than knowledge, by authority rather than by reason or argument.—He says:

"The first characteristic, therefore, of the church of Jesus Christ upon the earth, is that it is a teaching church, and a teaching church not by virtue of superior learning—not by any of the elevated powers of intellect upon the part of those who may be called to the office of teachers—but teaching by virtue of a divine and infallible authority. * * The church of Christ, from the beginning, has been a teaching church, and not a reasoning church—not a speculative church, not a church of opinions, not a church of contradictions, but a church of unity, because it is founded upon the divine commission to teach; and that commission, coming from one divine source in its whole extent, must necessarily be the same; and therefore there is no room for disunion, no ground for contrary doctrines."

A large portion of the sermon is in the same strain, and closes as follows:

"I would say to the parents who will occupy seats and membership in this church, to learn at least sufficient to be able to communicate to their children that certain positive knowledge that the Son of God appointed his twelve apostles to shed abroad throughout the world. Teach your children by words and example; and let the first and strongest impression made upon their minds be, that God has distinguished them, by calling them into the membership of the true and one holy Catholic church, in which there are no opinions, no private judgment, but one divine, universal, and unbroken authority, competent to teach."

This covers the whole ground:—whatever the priests say, that the people must believe and do: authority is every thing; reason, opinion, learning, are nothing.

AN ARTFUL DODGE FOR LIQUOR.

A letter written by an apothecary in Portland, Me., a short time since, says:—

"A man came rushing into my store a day or two since, as if something dreadful was the matter—with eyes stared wide open, and his countenance flushed and excited. He grabbed off his hat, and ran in behind the counter where I was, and exclaimed with such emphasis that my hair stood on end:—'For God's sake, friend, do look on top o' my head! what is it—what's on my head?' I looked, and told him I saw nothing. He yelled out—'Why you fool, can't you see I've got HAIR on my head!'—and then turned on his heel and ran out of the shop again with great speed. I stood meditating for about five minutes, when, on looking about me, I espied that two pint bottles of alcohol had disappeared."

A MIXED MARRIAGE.—In New York 19th inst. Prof. William G. Allen, of Mt. Granville, N. Y., was married to Miss Mary E. King, daughter of Rev. Lyndon King of Fulton, N.Y. The professor is a colored person, and the lady white: and they are the same couple whose marriage was once prevented by a mob, near the place of their former residence.

☞ The Steamer Dover will commence her regular trips on Lake Winnipisseogee on Wednesday next, 27th.

"SWINETTE."

Under this queer title, our jocose brother of the Charlestown City Advertiser, describes a locomotive engine after the following fashion:

"In passing the crossing at the Fitchburg depot, yesterday, we saw a locomotive being unloaded, and learned that its destination was Indiana. Although it was manufactured at the Boston locomotive works, yet it was a cheap and rough affair, contrasting strongly with the polished machines of the Fitchburg road. It was named "Swinette," and marked "N. C. R. R.," and the boiler was decorated with a painting upon a neat panel of iron.—Upon the upper edge of the panel was the word "Swinette," and the painting was that of a "Hoosier" in blue homespun unmentionables and slouched felt hat, bearing beneath his arm a young pork, whose tail possessed one of the most genteel kinks or quirks imaginable, and the end of it was inserted in the Hoosier's mouth. Both the machine and the painting were novelties of no mean character, and attracted a large number of the curious. We did not learn the immediate destination of the locomotive, but presume from the painting that it is to drive a pork train through the Hoosier villages of Indiana; and the pig's tail being inserted into the man's mouth, we must also presume, that it is symbolical of "we smoke em."

FROM NEW MEXICO.

By the way of New Orleans, we have received important intelligence from New Mexico. The accounts state that Gov. Lane has issued a proclamation claiming the Mecilla Valley as a portion of American territory.—The Governor asserts that this valley had been erroneously left out of boundary by Commissioner Bartlett, and he had therefore given orders to Col. Sumner to proceed to the spot with an armed force and take possession. Col. Sumner, however, it is stated, refused obeying the instructions. In the meantime, the Mexican authorities, having received notice of Governor Lane's purpose, sent a large body of soldiers with orders to resist, at any sacrifice, all attempts to take the valley, which the government of Mexico looks upon as a portion of its own possessions. When the above account left, much excitement prevailed.

COMPLIMENT TO AMERICAN SEAMEN.—The British government has sent to Mr. Crampton, the British Minister, a gold medallion likeness of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, and a gold pocket chronometer, for Captain Nye, of the steamship Pacific, and a gold mounted trumpet and £10 sterling for the mate, and £10 for each of the six men who volunteered their services, and saved the crew and passengers of the British bark Jesse Stevens, wrecked some time since. The presents are to be distributed through the State Department. They are honorable both to the givers and receivers.

☞ In the Legislature of Massachusetts the petition of Jonas W. Clark and others, colored persons, to be incorporated as a military company, was on Saturday granted leave to withdraw, by the Committee on the Militia.

☞ It is reported that William Jackson, Esq., has been appointed Postmaster at Rochester, vice Gilbert Horney, removed.

NEW AND VALUABLE INVENTION.—Mr. Cyrus Baldwin of Manchester, the ingenious inventor of the Bag-Loom now used in the Stark Mills, where five thousand seamless bags are daily manufactured, has invented two looms of wonderful construction. The important advantages of these looms can be thus stated: They have entirely a new shuttle motion, so that the shuttle can be stopped without stopping the loom. They do away with the use of cams, levers, treadles, pickers and race-rods, thereby saving seventy-five per cent of oil used about the old looms. What is not less important, perhaps, they can be used for weaving all kinds of fancy goods, with from one to twenty harnesses. Mr. Baldwin is a practical machinist, and overseer of the Repair shop.—Mirror.

TWO GREAT DISCOVERIES.—We are told that two important discoveries have recently been made in the manufacture of oil and the production of light. Although probably known to quite a number of persons, the details have not yet been spread before the public. If we are correctly informed, the oil is obtained with singular economy and abundance by an improved process in the distillation of coal; while, with a like degree of economy and abundance, benzole, which is also one of the products in the distillation of coal, is, by an improved apparatus, converted into gas for illumination.—Boston Transcript.

A correspondent of the Boston Times says that a member of the legislature went smelting on Saturday night, in company with a brother fisherman, and the two together caught the enormous number of seven thousand smelts. Instead of attending to his legislative duties on Monday he remained at home peddling his finny prizes at eight cents a dozen. Should he draw his two dollars for that day, or will he plead sickness and inability to attend.

The sailors belonging to one of the war vessels in Pensacola harbor, lately committed some disorder in the city, which arrayed the citizens against them. In the conflict which ensued, Mr. Sierra, the Mayor, killed one of the sailors, and was himself seriously injured.

We see by the reports of the police courts of the city of Louisville that Judge Joyes instructed the police to arrest all boys perambulating the streets at a late hour at night, unless they can show good cause for being out. His Honor said that if parents could not keep their children at home he would take care of them.

LOCAL.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

A correspondent, whose legislative experience and legal knowledge, qualify him to speak in the case, sends us the following expression of opinion on the recent action of the Common Council. It is worthy of perusal, and perhaps of answer. If any of our readers learned in the law and precedent, are disposed to enter the lists to defend the ruling of the President and the action of the Council, our doors are open.

We have our own doubts as to the correctness of the proceedings with regard to the adjournment and declaring of the vote afterward, but none as to the integrity of the moderator. Informality only is the charge.

For the Morning Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—Upon the question whether the officers in Ward Two were legally elected, we now express no opinion; but we do say that in point of law, the Common Councilmen declared to be elected in Ward No. 2, after being qualified and taking their seats at the board, had a right to vote (as they had continued to do prior to the last meeting,) until their seats were declared to be vacated; and that the vote of a bare majority in depriving them of it, was an illegal act, in violation of the rights of the people.

In our State Legislature, no instance can be found where the sitting member (who of course has been qualified) has been debarred the right to vote when his right to his seat was contested. We believe that such is the established rule in all legislative bodies. He is allowed to vote, not merely on account of his personal interest in the office, but to protect the rights of his constituents. And it cannot appear that he has no right to vote before his seat is legally vacated.

If the mere act of contesting a person's right to his seat, should cut off his right to vote, then any or every sitting member, by that process, might be debarred. Should the sitting members of ward number two in this city contest the rights of the sitting members of the other two wards, could the decision referred to be deemed legal, one third of the members of the Council could vacate the seats of those of the two other wards.

If the Legislative rule be correct, it is a legal inference that the decision of the bare majority of the Council in vacating the seats of the members from Ward 2, is clearly illgal—because it cannot appear that such would have been the decision had all the members been allowed to vote. Indeed, the debarring a minority of their right of suffrage, would render illegal the proceedings of any corporate body.

A WELL SPENT HOUR.

We hope everybody who can will visit the Cameneum while the Panorama of Paris, Rome, the Alps, &c., is on exhibition there. It is decidedly the best panorama ever exhibited in this city; and Mr. Hine, the artist, describes and explains the chief points of interest and attraction, in such a manner as to instruct and please his hearers. Many scenes in ancient and modern history, both sacred and profane, are brought forcibly and pleasantly back to the recollection of the spectators, as this splendid work of art passes in review before them. Much valuable information is to be gained from such an entertainment as this, and none will regret improving the opportunity now offered them.

On Sunday the 17th, Mary Elizabeth, a little daughter of Mr. Hardacre, of this city, aged two years and eight months, set her clothes on fire in the momentary absence of her mother, and was so badly burned as to cause her death on the following Friday.

☞ "The wind" on Friday night, razed a new house-frame which had just been raised by Mr. Woodbury Mason, on the corner of State and Winter streets—damaging it and the cellar wall considerably.

SUGGESTION FOR THE GOOD OF ARCHITECTS.—For the advancement of Architecture—in art in which we are rather backward—our principal public edifices ought to be now and then rebuilt, to which end it is expedient that they should be occasionally burnt down. This object will be best accomplished by their being so constructed as to be liable to catch fire, and it is satisfactory to reflect that the requirement in question is very generally fulfilled by the arrangement of the flues in these buildings, which for the most part, is such as to distribute not merely warmth, but fire all over them. There exists, in many of them, heaps of old musty records, not only involving tedious legal questions about property, but also holding out temptations to impertinent historical inquiries, tending to augment our present cumbrous stock of knowledge, already so troublesome to acquire. As it would save much laborious discussion if this rubbish were all consumed, let us hope that no alterations may be made in the present contrivances whereby the lumber-rooms containing it are kept warm—when they are not kept wet. Because there is some, though not much fear that some other means will be adopted for warming these, and other offices and national structures, seeing that the devouring element, the other day, committed arson and high treason together at Windsor Castle.—Punch.

There are 100 applicants for the Consulship at Honolulu—among whom are nine ex-Governors.

ATHWATER'S PATENT BANK NOTES ECLIPSED.—A one dollar bill of the Bank of Hartford County, Connecticut, of the Modern issue, which have been announced as a sure preventative against alteration, was taken for ten dollars at one of the banks in Boston on Thursday. The alteration was so neatly made, that the bill passed through one bank without detection, and few business men would hesitate to take the bill for ten dollars. It would thus appear that the boasted security of the lathe work on these bills is of no practical utility to the public.—Traveller.
